Right-of-Way Committee Is Named By City

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council Monday appointed a committee to seek acquisition of right-of-way property to develop Independence Boulevard into a major thoroughfare.

The road will serve as a link between Pleasure House Road at the north and the future Virginia Beach toll road on the south.

It would become one of the primary routes to and from the future Pembroke Square Shopping Center, planned as the largest single commercial complex in Tidewater, which will house a new 15-acre Sears Roebuck store site.

The shopping center is to be built at the intersection of Virginia Beach Boulevard and Independence Boulevard just west of Princess Anne High School and close to Pembroke Manor.

City engineer Charles Kiley told council the road would require a 100-foot width with setback lines 90 feet from the center line on either side.

The city owns sufficient right-of-way along some portions of the route but will need to acquire more space in other areas, Kiley said.

Paper Drive Aids Hospital

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Auxiliary to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach held a called meeting Monday morning at the Thunderbolt Motor Lodge to make final plans for a paper drive to be held during the month of October.

Mrs. P. H. Allen and Mrs. Harold Kellam, co-chairmen of the drive, named three special chairmen.

They were Mrs. Willard Ashburn, volunteer workers; Mrs. R. E. Doyle, telephone; and Mrs. Sidney S. Kellam, publicity.

The drive will start Wednesday and continue through October 30.

Newspapers will be collected in a booth at the corner of 33rd Street and Atlantic Avenue every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Persons wishing to donate old papers are asked to tie them in bundles and drop them off during the designated hours.

Proceeds from this project will be used to purchase air-conditioning units for the present hospital building and equip the pediatric service of the present and proposed hospitals.

Local residents are urged to support this drive.

Clubs Will Hear Kellam

VIRGINIA BEACH—Sidney S. Kellam, Virginia Beach political leader and vice president of the Tidewater Development Council, will serve as a panel member at the Tidewater District, Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs meeting October 16 at the Williamsburg Lodge in Williamsburg.

The panel will discuss "What's New in Virginia." Kellam's specific topic will be "Industrial Development—A Key to Greater Progress."

The program will follow a luncheon at 12:15 p.m.

Other panelists include Dr. James B. Fankhouser, assistant commissioner of Dept. of Mental Hygiene and Hospitals; Senator E. Almer Ames and Mrs. Anne Kligore, mayor of the City of Hampton.

Museum For Beach Proposed

VIRGINIA BEACH—The possibility of a museum in Virginia Beach was suggested to the Beach Executive Council of Civic Associations last week and the idea was well received by the organizational representatives.

Outlining the museum proposal was Zida, owner of the Nautilus Shop and well-known authority on fossils and shells. She stressed the great need of school children for displays of not only specimens found in this area but interesting items from all over the world.

"If Virginia Beach had an adequate place to display these treasures it would be a tremendous help to science and biology students as well as a tourist attraction," she pointed out.

Zida has opened her own shop to students for the past several years so that they could study the various forms to sea and plant life. But the facilities there are inadequate, she said, for very large groups.

She also goes into the schools and speaks to the youngsters about the various exhibits. She estimates that she spoke to over 2,500 students last year and expects that figure to reach 4,000 or 5,000 this year.

She pointed out that this area is rich in fossils dating back millions of years and displayed a perfectly preserved clam that the Smithsonian Institute confirmed to be 20,000,000 years old.

Most of the representatives attending the meeting, held at the Cavalier Hotel, agreed that a museum would greatly benefit the resort city. Zida said she would donate some of her displays to start a museum.

"This would be one of the biggest booms we could have in this area," Dr. O. M. Wakefield, past president, said, "and I hope more civic groups will invite Zida to speak to them and consider this idea."

The CCA will elect officers at the October meeting and they will be installed Nov. 16 at an inter-club meeting of memberships of all CCA organizations to be held at the Cavalier Hotel.

Chairman Lee Chambers named Dr. Wakefield, Ed Johnson and Pete Boshier to a nominating committee.

Mrs. V. K. Almond Jr., president of the Virginia Beach - Princess Anne Junior Woman's Club, told the group of the need for a sprinkler system at Camp Civitan. She invited other civic organizations to aid the Junior Woman's Club in supporting this project.

Announcement was made of the following planned events: Little Theatre presentation Oct. 10-12 and 18-19; art exhibit, Oct. 24-26; Civic Chorus at Galilee Episcopal Church, Nov. 10; and the Cabaret Follies at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center Nov. 1-2.

Organizations represented at the meeting were Kiwanis, Junior Woman's, Princess Anne Woman's, Lions and Exchange Clubs and the Art Association, Civic Chorus and Little Theatre.

BBB Issues Warning On Sales Pitch

NORFOLK — The Tidewater Better Business Bureau issued an alert warning to residents this week to be cautious about salesmen offering to display aluminum siding on homes for a discount or commission.

Bureau Manager Charles A. Martek said a local firm is using the display home scheme to sell siding.

He warned that a salesman may claim to represent a well-known aluminum company and will offer big discounts or large commissions for using homes as samples of the firm's work.

"Such big discounts are usually taken from inflated prices and the large commissions are rarely paid," he said.

Persons approached with such an offer are asked to contact the Tidewater Better Business Bureau at MA 7-5653.

Governor Proclaims C of C Observance

VIRGINIA BEACH—Governor Albertis S. Harrison Jr. has proclaimed October 6-12 as Virginia Chamber of Commerce Week and 135 Chambers throughout the state will take part in the observance.

The Virginia Beach Chamber is planning several special events, including open house of its new headquarters during the entire week.

Now located in a modern office in the Professional Building at 25th Street and Pacific Avenue, the Chamber expects to have all of the interior decorating completed by that time.

Past presidents of the Chamber have been appointed as a sheeting committee for this event. They will make spot announcements over Radio Station WBOF and will be on hand to greet guests during open house.

These past presidents include Roy Smith (1936-38); R. B. Taylor (1940-44 and 1946-47); R. Lee Page (1944-45); W. W. McClanahan (1949-52); John H. Bell (1952-54); Claiborne R. Bryant (1954-55); James L. Kitchin (1955-56); Harold B. Kellam (1956-58); Frank D. Tarrall Jr. (1958-60); John W. McCombs (1960-61); Albin R. Mathies (1961-62) and the present president, Reid Egan.

Four of the past presidents are now deceased: Edward M. Hardy (1938-39); W. F. Crockett (1939-40 and 1947-48); James P. Guzy (1945-46); and Lester B. Shelly (1948-49).

The governor's proclamation points out that the Chambers have had an active role in the industrial, tourist, business and civic life of the state and have contributed much to the development of its cities, towns and counties as better places in which to live and do business.

It also states: "Today, Virginia has, and is indeed proud of, its 135 Chambers, representing a total membership of more than 50,000 people. These members, led by outstanding Virginians, are devoting their time and energies to the improvement of their respective areas and to the benefit of the residents of every section of the Commonwealth."

The governor urges all citizens to participate in this observance and to familiarize themselves with the important work done by the Chambers of Commerce.

Elks to Sponsor Football Trip

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach Elks Lodge 2268 of the B.P.O.E. has announced that it will sponsor a trip to Washington, D. C. on Sunday, October 13 for the Redskin-Philadelphia Eagle pro football game.

Buses are scheduled to leave the lodge building at 18th Street and the Oceanfront at 7 a.m. and return that night. A package price of $17.50 per person will include transportation, game ticket and a buffet dinner at the Washington Elks Club.

Reservations for the trip must be made by Wednesday, October 2, through the club secretary or club manager at 428-9454.

Canal Route May Hinge On U. S. Findings

VIRGINIA BEACH—Proponents of a canal linking Rudee Inlet with the Inland Waterway are hopeful that studies by federal biologists will support their plan.

The canal, one of several proposed for Virginia Beach, would extend from Rudee Inlet at the north to the Inland Waterway, via North and Back Bays, at its Southern end.

For several months the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Dept. of Interior has been preparing a study on the effects of salinity in these predominantly fresh bodies of water. Results of the study are expected to be released soon.

If it is determined that more salinity would benefit the growth of aquatic plants in the bays, the canal might provide an ideal means of obtaining it.

Rudee Inlet Authority chairman Frank Kellam said Wednesday that extra salinity in the bays as a result of the March 7, 1962 storm appeared to help plant life there. This indicated the advantages the canal could have, he said.

Kellam and other members of the authority toured the routes of three proposed canals linking Lynnhaven Bay, North Landing River, North Bay and Rudee Inlet.

U. S. Soil Conservationist Aubrey N. Holmes, a long-standing proponent of the canals for drainage purposes, outlined the suggested routes on maps and aerial photographs and then led the group on a tour of the areas where the canals might be dug.

The Rudee Inlet Authority is seeking to establish a marina for fishing and pleasure craft at the inlet. If the canals became a reality, yachtsmen traveling north and south on the inland waterway would be able to use the facilities there.

It has been estimated that the canal system and marina would attract a majority of the yachtsmen using the Inland Waterway to Virginia Beach.

Included in Wednesday's tour were Kellam, vice-chairman L. Stanley Hodges, authority members Charles O. Peale and James H. Kabler, George Langley of Langley and McDonald, engineering consultants to the Rudee group, and conservation aide John Wilson.

Holmes said the canals would be dug to a depth of eight feet and would be 75 feet wide at the surface.

Heads Club

Virginia Beach Circuit Court Judge Richard B. Kellam (above) is the new president of the Norfolk Executives Club. Judge Kellam was elected Friday to succeed Jesse A. White. The next meeting of the club is to be held October 15 with Robert Kazmayer as the speaker.

Lutherans Sell Building

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd was sold last week to a Virginia Beach motel owner and plans are now underway for a new church building on Laskin Road.

Wilson R. Chaplain, owner of the Colony and Courtney Terrace Motels, purchased the oceanfront site and building from the Lutheran congregation and plans to build a new motel there late next summer.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new church, to be located on Laskin Road between Linkhorn Park and Friends Schools, was held Sunday.

Bids for the building will be opened Thursday at 4 p.m. in the offices of Oliver & Smith, supervising architects. Milton L. Grigg is the architect.

Target date for the new church is July 1, 1964 and until the building is completed the congregation will continue to meet at the present church.

Was First Church Located at 18th Street and Oceanfront, the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd is the site of the first church built in Virginia Beach. The original building still stands behind the larger building and is now used for Sunday School classrooms.

When first built it served as an interdenominational church. It was later purchased by the Episcopal Church then bought by the Lutherans in 1956.

The property has 105 feet facing the ocean and 150 feet extending to Atlantic Avenue. The sale price has been recorded as $69,000.

The transaction was handled by Roland Hyde of Larasan Real Estate and Insurance Co. through the Virginia Beach office at 25th Street and Pacific Avenue.

Break Ground for Vakos Motel

Mayor Frank A. Dusch got behind the shovel Thursday to break ground for the 50-unit Viking efficiency motel being built by City Attorney George Vakos and brother John Vakos at 27th and Atlantic Ave. The new three-story motel will feature a two-story wing housing a second floor pool with a removable roof. Opening date is scheduled for April 1, 1964. Left to right: Mayor Dusch and John and George Vakos. (Baldwin Photo)

Solon Unworried Over Mistake

VIRGINIA BEACH—Congressman Thomas N. Downing has erroneously been given the incorrect middle initial of "E" in a brochure presently being circulated in Virginia Beach... but it isn't worrying him.

Prepared by Larasan Realty & Insurance Company, the brochure carries an organizational chart of Virginia Beach's city government. Downing represents this area's First Congressional District.

A letter of apology and a copy of the brochure was recently sent to Downing in Washington by Larasan Agent William R. McKnight.

Downing fired a letter right back complimenting the firm on its useful brochure and ended up by saying: "I would not worry about the new middle initial—as long as the 'E' stands for Elected."

TEEN TOPICS . . .

By Lucy S. Oliver
Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

"I just don't know where my money goes. Somehow I never have enough for the things I really want."—How often do we say this as we watch our allowances and/or hard-earned money slipping through our fingers.

Well—let me just say that you are not by yourself. Everyone has money problems. It is just that some have worse problems than others—and it is not always because some have more money to begin with.

Don't kid yourself with that "just naturally thrifty" line. There is no such thing. Nobody is born thrifty—you just have to learn how to make the most of what you have whether it is money, clothes, or time!

What is this thing called thrift? Thrift is a short word but it is broad and "stretchable." The thrifty fellow is one who manages well—his time, his effort, and his money.

In terms of money, thrift is good management without penny pinching or nickel nursing. Granted, you may feel the need to squeeze a dime now and then. But—the fellow who saves money by squirring out of his share on a party or a candy bar and never offering one on his own is not thrifty—he's a plain tightwad. And you probably know one.

The idea behind thrift is to spend your money so that you will have a reasonable amount of what you want now plus something for the future too. What it actually means is that you give up frittering away money or things you don't really need and want in order to save for what is really important.

Evaluate is a big word, but the use of the process of weighing and deciding what is important to you is of the utmost importance in everything you do. You can't really expect to get all you want out of your money unless you make the effort to really decide what you want most and then work toward that goal.

I know, I know—though of this preaching—here are some suggestions for ways to keep your pennies accounted for:

1. Buying things just because you think you might use them some day may mean that the cost of the things you buy and never use will add to the cost of what you did use, so be careful about bargains.
2. Shopping around for prices is advice frequently given but seldom heeded. You try it.
3. Buying for quality based on price is not always good management. For instance, in the clothing line, if you indulge in a suit that you know is going out before you get your full money's worth maybe you need not spend quite as much on the article.

In deciding how to spend your money, you need to plan in advance so that when the temptation to purchase something impulsively strikes you can rely on your previous thinking to keep you to decide whether or not to buy.

Remember that if you buy your clothing out of your allowance, or have some other major expense, you will have to plan ahead to have enough money for such purchases in the spring or fall. You will also have to plan for Christmas and birthday gifts.

Think about keeping "long-range" money a little removed from temptation, in a separate savings account, for instance.

Now then. Out of the money you get from your earnings or allowance or both, set aside the amount you need for such things as church, school lunches, books, organization dues, etc.

The art of being thrifty comes in when you can decide what you really want to spend and to save for and then stick to your plan. And saving is important. You will be amazed how steadily savings will grow if you consistently add to them.

Money management can be a real challenge and fun. You will never be prouder than when you stick to a plan that is suited to you for spending your money. "A penny saved is a penny earned." The satisfaction of earning your own money is no greater than the satisfaction of spending what you have earned carefully for what you want to buy.

Supper Will Benefit Club

BAYSIDE—Plans are in the making for a pancake supper and hootenanny sponsored by the Junior Women's Club of Bayside for the benefit of their Scholarship Fund. The affair will be held on Saturday evening, October 12th, on the lawn of Mrs. Nina Hobbs' home on Tyndale Court.

Several talented local musicians have agreed to come and entertain with some folk songs. Scanton Kenworthy is in charge of the musical program.

Special guest, Miss Amparo Sanchez, Columbian Exchange Student attending Norview High School, will offer a few renditions on her 12 string guitar.

Adult and childrens tickets are available from any club member or by calling ticket chairman, Mrs. Raymond Arnold, 497-5710.

Kempsville Club Has Workshop

KEMPVILLE — A workshop highlighted the first meeting of the season of the Kempsville Heights Garden Club last week.

The workshop was conducted by Mrs. A. H. Culpepper for members of the hostess club and guests from other nearby clubs.

School Setting For Club Meet

MALIBU—The first fall meeting of the Malibu Garden Club was held recently in the cafeteria of the Malibu Elementary School.

Guest speaker was Mr. Gifford of the Winn Nursery who showed colored slides on horticulture and landscaping. An interesting highlight of the showing was a visual trip through the gardens of the Adam Thoroughgood estate.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 8th at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Donald Brittingham, 3048 Alcott Road, in Malibu.

Mr. Hayes of the Cavalier Nursery will speak on "Fall Planting". Judges will be the Lynnhaven Garden Club on "Fall Arrangements".

W. T. COOKE P-TA MEETS

VIRGINIA BEACH — The W. T. Cooke School P-TA will hold its second meeting of the 1963-64 school year Monday, October 7th at 8 p.m.

William Robison, assistant Supt. of Division of Instruction for Norfolk City Schools will speak on "The Role of Parents in Obtaining Quality Education."

An Open Letter To All Parents:

Dear Parent:

If you have a child in your home this letter is especially important to you.

At the beginning of a new school term, you, as a parent, and we as ophthalmic practitioners should be particularly concerned with the vision of our children. A recent report from the Better Vision Institute points out the need for this concern with statistics that show that one out of every four children today needs eye care or a new prescription.

Periodic eye examinations are important to the well-being of every child. They should be as routine as other aspects of health care. Only through regular professional eye care can a child's visual problem be determined at an early stage and the necessary steps be taken to correct it before it gives rise to other and often greater problems.

If your child has not had professional eye care recently, we urge you to make an appointment now for him to have a complete eye examination. Good vision as he starts the school year can be his most important asset.

We owe this to our children.

Local Club Women Back From Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH—Ten Virginia Beach clubwomen attended a board meeting of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs held recently in Roanoke.

They included Mrs. Foster I. Gilbert, president of the Tidewater District of the VFWC; Mrs. Philip H. Russo, state chairman of the Community Improvement Program; Mrs. Cam Farmer, state chairman of the Permanent Headquarters Fund; Mrs. Arthur B. James, president, and Mrs. Gilbert Keene, immediate past president, both of the Cape Henry Women's Club.

Also, Mrs. J. Douglas Wilson of the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach; Mrs. W. H. Twiford, president, Ocean Park Women's Club; Mrs. J. Kirkland Scarborough, president, Bayside Junior Women's Club; Mrs. V. K. Almond Jr., president, Virginia Beach - Princess Anne Junior Women's Club; and Mrs. Peter A. Mani Jr. of Baylake Pines, president, Norfolk Junior Woman's Club.

Mrs. Farmer presented the state president with a Virginia Beach Freedom 7 pin from City Manager W. Russell Hatchett and extended an invitation to hold the 1966 board meeting in Virginia Beach. Next year's meeting will be held in Richmond.

Since the VFWC has no permanent headquarters, a plea was made by Mrs. Farmer, chairman of this committee, to sponsor fund-raising projects to obtain sufficient money to establish one. She suggested such projects as a cruise party, hootenanny or working as "waitresses-for-a-day."

Fire Auxiliary Meeting Tonight

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Virginia Beach Fire Department will meet tonight at 8 p.m. at the Fire Station.

Plans for the annual fireman's covered dish supper, to be held later this month, will be discussed.

At the last meeting Mrs. Virginia Jessup, president, welcomed Mrs. William Haggard as a new member.

All members are urged to attend tonight's meeting.

TAHBW Holding Wig Exhibition

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Tidewater Association of Home Builders Women's Auxiliary opened its fall season with a Wig Fashion Show and luncheon at the Bay Harbour Club September 25.

Mrs. Irma Koser of the Town and Country Shops discussed and displayed the current wig fashions.

Wig selections ranging from silver blonde to brunette modeled by Mrs. Angie Nunn, Mrs. Carol Noona, Mrs. Arlene Dobkin and Mrs. Theima Baron.

Several changes were made in state-wide contests sponsored by the VFWC. The fine arts contest is now open to only non-professional artists and modern, abstract or non-objective was named as a new category.

The Vogue Sewing Contest, once sponsored by the VFWC, has been deleted and an inter-club contest from district, state to national has been adopted in its place.

Rose Society Planning Show

NORFOLK—At a recent meeting of the Tidewater Rose Society, William B. Harrison, president, announced that plans have been completed for the "Rose Show" to be held October 12th and 13th in the Administration Building of the Norfolk Botanical Gardens.

This is the first flower show to be held at the gardens and will be of great interest to amateur and beginner rose growers. The Rose Show Staff under the Chairmanship of William B. Harrison and Dr. M. I. Krischer have made plans to interest the public of all ages in the Artistic and Horticultural and Educational Divisions of Rose Growing.

Mr. Harrison has appointed the following: Judging Chairman, Mr. E. D. Duval; Arrangement Classes, Mrs. E. D. Duval and Mrs. William B. Harrison; Publicity, Mrs. Edward Tippe; Television and Radio, Dr. M. I. Krischer; Staging, Frederic Heutte and Staff; Classification, J. R. McAvoy and J. E. Eller, Sr.; Prizes and Awards, Dr. M. I. Krischer; Financial, Charles Turri; Special Exhibits, George Bonney; Tickets, A. J. Ayo; Property, Leon Johnson and Joseph Berryman, Jr.; Educational, Fred D. Wallace; Hostesses, Mrs. Marion Ott; Registration, Edward Tippe; Posters, Garland C. Ames; Artistic Division Clerks, Mrs. N. T. Haynes; Music, Mrs. Chas. D. Turnbull; Artistic Division Entries Committee, Mrs. J. E. Eller; Placement, Mrs. H. S. Keimling; Chairman Judges Luncheon, Mrs. M. I. Krischer; Artistic Division Staging, Mrs. James D. Bingham; and Tellers, Mrs. E. W. Hoffman and Mrs. J. A. Turentine.

Two Wins, Two Loses Grid Score

VIRGINIA BEACH—Virginia Beach and Princess Anne High Schools, two of the city's veteran football teams, came through with impressive victories last week, but the two newcomers, Kellam and Cox, fell before more experienced foes.

The Seahawks of Virginia Beach delighted their followers with a convincing 35-6 win over Norfolk Academy, Princess Anne, following its established pattern of dropping its opening game to Great Bridge, continued to improve and made Granby its second victim of the young season, 22-6.

Ferguson High of Newport News scored in every period to down a game, but outclassed Cox eleven Friday night by a score of 32-0. All Ferguson scores were made by Bob Scharnus.

Kellam met Chuckatuck at the Virginia Beach stadium Saturday night and it was too much weight and experience as the Kellam Knights lost their first game, 20 to 6.

All teams will be in action again this week.

CAVITATION—MARINE NUISANCE AND THIEF

By HANK BOWMAN

Most standard dictionaries don't include the word "cavitation". yet cavitation is a marine phenomenon that steals thousands of dollars from pleasure boatmen each year and detracts from their pleasure. Many boat owners don't know anything about this marine pest or have any hint that some of the annoying sounds, a large portion of their fuel budget and even some of their repair bills may be due to the formation of air cavities in the water passing through their boat's propeller.

A marine propeller acts as a water pump. It draws water through its blades forcing a high velocity spiral stream into the mass of water behind. This thrusts the boat ahead. Since water is many times more dense than air, the introduction of air into the propeller stream results in a loss of thrust or propeller efficiency. The propeller skips and fails to produce its intended thrust, turning inefficiently like an auto's wheels spinning on glare ice. This is cavitation.

On some boats suffering propeller cavitation, the phenomenon is only noticeable in turns at fairly high speed. This is usually caused by underwater accessories such as drive shaft, rudders, struts, keel or excessive marine growth causing a vacuum or partial vacuum forward of the propeller. Since nature abhors a vacuum, air is drawn from the surface of the water to fill the cavities.

Cavitation may usually be corrected by increasing propeller size: diameter or pitch or both. The outboard owner can often eliminate cavitation by decreasing the angle between transom and drive shaft housing, by dropping the motor in a notch or a pin hole with the mechanism provided for that purpose. Cavitation, too, may be caused by the propeller operating too close to the surface in less dense water. On an outboard this is corrected by reducing the height of the motor mount board.

Too much deadwood, that is an overly generous keel or a keel extending too far aft, also can cause disturbance. This, too, calls for a larger propeller or a modification to the keel.

Beach Pigeons Win N.C. Race

NORFOLK—Pigeons belonging to Rollin Bender, a salesman with Marshall Rambler of Virginia Beach for the past 3½ years, won first place in a race from Raleigh, N.C., to Norfolk, Sunday.

The birds were released in Raleigh, N.C. at 10:30 a.m. and traveled the 155 air miles in three hours and 15 minutes. The speed was recorded at 1386.503 yards per minute.

Bender is one of 22 members of the Norfolk Pigeon Club and is vice president of the Tidewater Concourse Pigeon Association which includes clubs from Elizabeth City, and Newport News and two from Norfolk.

Many of the Norfolk clubmembers are residents of Virginia Beach. Their lines of work range from seaman to professional men but all enjoy flying pigeons as a hobby.

Bender has been raising and flying pigeons for about 23 years, he said. Birds used in concourse races are generally pedigreed birds from strains originating in France and Belgium, Bender said, and pointed out that their ancestors were once used by Julius Caesar and the Egyptians. Pigeons later proved their usefulness during World War II when the first word of the Normandy Invasion was sent by carrier pigeon.

One special pigeon, called "G.I. Joe," flew specifically for General Eisenhower. Second place in Sunday's race went to Horace Dailey of Bay-side. Adam Mayan of Norfolk won third and fourth places.

Boating Course Offered Here

VIRGINIA BEACH—The first class of the U. S. Power Squadron will be held next Monday night in the Virginia Beach High School following registration held here the past Monday night.

It was pointed out that it is still not too late to register for the boat handling course. Classes will be held each Monday night in the school for 12 weeks. About 40 attended the registration meeting this week. Class hour each Monday is 8 p.m.

Whether you choose to believe it or not, perhaps as much as 95 percent of headaches have no source in the head at all. Tension is the most common cause, and the pain results from a release of "pain substance" in the nerve ends of the scalp at a time when arteries in the head have become dilated.

Reading, television, poor ventilation and driving can cause this, as can too-long preoccupation with one subject, missing a meal and fever.

However, if getting prescriptions filled is somewhat of a headache, may we suggest a cure? Rely on the prompt, courteous service at BARR'S REXALL PHARMACY, 17th & Atlantic Ave. Phone GA 8-1211. Free prescription delivery.

Beach Dog Wins Title

VIRGINIA BEACH—A Virginia Beach bird dog has won the $1,000 open all-age stake in the U. S. Chicken Championship, a field trial run on prairie chickens at Solon Springs, Wis.

Rigajig, a five-year-old pointer male owned by A. L. Lipitt of Virginia Beach and handled by Phil Brouseau of Barrwell, S. C., beat out 40 dogs to win the open all-age stake.

In 1961, Rigajig won the International Pheasant Championship at Kildare Plains, Ohio.

WRONG PLAYER
An account of the Demons-Chargers Midget League football game, which appeared in last Tuesday's edition of the Sun-News, credited the wrong player with the heavy scoring. Of the 21 points the Demons racked up against the non-scoring Chargers, 20 of them were made by Brodie Entwistle. The Sun-News regrets this error.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

A Payroll Tax is Unfair And Unjust to the People

Last week the League of Virginia Municipalities, in our opinion, properly turned down the proposal of Norfolk City Manager Maxwell that there be a payroll tax on people working within the city.

"Grass Roots Opinion"

PITTSBURGH, PA., LIBERTY LEDGER: "Now there is more money, but the old idea of thrift has been abandoned..."

DUNSMUIR, CALIF., NEWS: "Profits... are the keystone of the American economy, although since the early days of the New Deal there has been a persistent effort to denigrate them."

ONTARIO, ORE., ARGUS-OBSERVER: "In view of national surpluses for many basic food crops, it seems that unified withdrawal of new reclamation would be in order."

FLORENCE, ALA., HERALD: "It was the Ford car that first carried us from the country to the city, from the city to the country. It carried a man to see his neighbor, a boy to see a girl, and whole families to see places once hidden by horizons."

CUERO, TEX., RECORD: "Accidental death, as a result of swallowing poison, is increasing each year. You may not realize it, but more than 600,000 children—each year—swallow some kind of poison."

BEDFORD, IND., TIMES-MAIL: "President Kennedy's recent order—issued without the consent of Congress—may open up more troubles than it will solve. The President has ordered that all companies engaged in government contracts, and all contractors doing government work, must hire more negro workers..."

well to place a hardship on the citizens of Virginia Beach.

The tax is unfair, unjust and unlawful. We are glad the League of Virginia Municipalities was aware of this. It proves, however, that Virginia Beach must forever be alert to the protection of its interests and the Sun-News congratulates its officials for their opposition to this tax.

CANTON, N. C., ENTERPRISE: "We have freedom of the press and we must keep that right. In freedom, though, there is duty. It is the duty of the press to keep people informed..."

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "History is filled with the abysmal failures of dictators who resorted to the overthrow of law as a cure-all for social ills. That's not for us. The law, in America, not only must remain supreme; it must be kept abreast of the ever-changing times lest democracy be outdistanced by less responsible systems."

ODESSA, WASH., RECORD: "How many of us realize the vast returns we get from helping develop a strong community? Communities flourish because the people living there keep faith. People have not hesitated to make their initial investments. They invest in a home, in a business, in friendships, in living conditions. There are those who are short sighted and fail to see that a community needs keeping up just as surely as does a home."

DE PERE, WIS., JOURNAL-DEMOCRAT: "A special presidential council on the Older American has concluded that the man or woman over 65 has become almost a second-class citizen. He may be hale and healthy, but he can't get insurance except at exorbitant rates, he can't make his ideas known (except in higher professional levels) he is becoming more and more excluded from family councils, he is thrown into institutions and deprived of his liberty on the barest excuses..."

Despite the outpouring of new "wonder" drugs, man's ancient enemy, tetanus, has not yet succumbed to a cure. Even so, death from tetanus, or "lockjaw" as it is commonly called, is "almost entirely unnecessary," says Raymond L. White, M.D., Director of Environmental Medicine for the American Medical Association.

Beach Seeks Junior Miss

PRINCESS ANNE—Once again the search for Virginia Beach's Junior Miss is underway.

This contest, sponsored by the Princess Anne Junior Chamber of Commerce, will culminate October 28th when the winner is chosen at Princess Anne High School.

Announcement of the contest, a very popular contest last year, was made by Marvin Price, Chairman of the JayCees Pageant Committee.

The local Junior Miss title is given to the high school senior between the ages of 16 and 19 years of age who best typifies the ideal American teenage girl.

Local girls attending Princess Anne or Virginia Beach High Schools, may obtain entry blanks at their respective school offices or from any Princess Anne JayCees.

The winner of Virginia Beach Junior Miss will be presented a Junior Miss Trophy and other awards to be announced later. She will also travel to Roanoke for the state finals.

The state winner will then compete in the national finals in March at Mobile, Alabama.

The national winner shares in the $14,000 America's Junior Miss Scholarship Fund.

National sponsors of the America's Junior Miss Pageant, Inc., are the Coca-Cola Company, Bobbie Brooks, Inc., and Eastman Kodak Company.

P.A. Jaycees Behind Local Option Project

PRINCESS ANNE—The Princess Anne Junior Chamber of Commerce last week adopted a resolution favoring local option on the right to vote on whiskey-by-the-drink.

The Virginia Beach Jaycees adopted a similar resolution last week and the Bayside chapter is expected to take action in the near future.

The three Jaycee chapters are also expected to sponsor either a mock election or petition booths sometime in November.

The Princess Anne resolution states that Jaycees believe it is the "privilege and duty of a civic organization to express itself on matters affecting the basic rights of individuals" and it is an organization that "believes in the right of citizens to govern themselves through their voting franchise."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to Governor Albertis Harrison Jr., Lt. Gov. Mills Godwin, all members of the General Assembly and local news media.

STORE ADDITION VIRGINIA BEACH—An addition to the 31st Street Colonial Store is now underway.

Cost of the brick and block construction is estimated at $20,000.

PERMITS APPLICATION PEMBROKE—Terry Construction Company has applied for building permits to construct 15 more residences in Pembroke Manor.

The permits total $232,500. The houses will be brick and frame.

500 Expected At Baptist Meeting

VIRGINIA BEACH—More than 500 persons are expected to attend the Baptist Unity Conference Friday and Saturday at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center.

This conference will necessitate two changes in the regular weekend schedule at the center, Promotional Director Bill Lillyman said.

The popular Cabaret Teen dance will be cancelled Saturday night but will be resumed next week as planned.

The only roller skating hours over the week-end will be Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m., he said.

COURT CLOSED

VIRGINIA BEACH—This city's Municipal Court and Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court will not be held on Oct. 16, 17 and 18.

Judges J. Davis Reed and L. Travis Branch will be out of town those dates attending judicial conferences and the annual convention of Municipal judges in Roanoke.

JOSEPH A. HORTON, III

SHEPPARD AFB, Tex. — Airman Third Class Joseph A. Horton III of Virginia Beach, is being reassigned to McConnell AFB, Kan., following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course for missile electricians.

Airman Horton learned to install, operate and maintain the Titan II missile electrical systems. The airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Horton, Jr., 407 Maryland Ave., Virginia Beach, is a graduate of Virginia Beach High School.

Tetanus Deaths Unnecessary, Says AMA Health Official

Despite the outpouring of new "wonder" drugs, man's ancient enemy, tetanus, has not yet succumbed to a cure. Even so, death from tetanus, or "lockjaw" as it is commonly called, is "almost entirely unnecessary," says Raymond L. White, M.D., Director of Environmental Medicine for the American Medical Association.

Puncture wounds are a common cause of tetanus.

Tetanus is caused by a deadly poison emitted by certain bacteria which contaminate certain types of wounds—especially puncture wounds, or wounds with imbedded dirt. The bacteria itself cannot survive long enough in the open air to infect wounds. But its spores or spores can.

Tetanus spores are usually produced by bacteria growing within the air-free intestinal tracts of mammals, including man, and reach the ground in animal manure. Within the inert material, bacteria cause no harm to their host, other than to serve as factories for the production of spores.

—three injections four weeks apart, followed within six to twelve months by a booster dose. To maintain this protection, additional booster shots are necessary every four years.

"Protection," he said, "should begin early in life—one to two months after birth—for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities. "But adults need protection too. With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spore of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make better use of our good sense, get immunized and keep immunized."

LOCAL BOOKLET TO GET NATIONAL GUIDE AWARD

VIRGINIA BEACH—Guide Magazine Group, a national representative for guide book publications, has informed the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce that their publication, The Virginia Beach Guide, has been selected to receive the National Guide of the Month Award.

Roy La Mere, Executive Director of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce who edited the publication, stated that the book was in competition with over 200 similar publications from all over America, Canada, Bermuda, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

The Selection Committee met in New York last week to judge the many publications. Although the award was based on publications of 1963, the Virginia Beach Guide will be honored nationally next July by being named The Guide of the Month in July 1964.

La Mere stated that at that time several hundred copies of the book will be distributed to other publishers, advertising agencies and travel agencies throughout the country with a story about the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce and its award winning publication.

The letter informing La Mere of this singular honor from Mr. Donald L. McCuen, Chairman of the Selection Committee, says in part "among the magazines where there was unanimity of opinion, was THE VIRGINIA BEACH GUIDE, and you have been selected to receive the award of the month of July, 1964. The whole staff here sends its congratulations to you on a periodical that is among the top in its class. Keep up the good work—you make all GUIDES in North America hold their heads up higher and strive to emulate your success."

Beach Man Teaches At Witness Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH—James R. Berry, an associate minister in the Virginia Beach congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, has been invited to participate on the program of a three-day Ministerial Training School to be held in Newport News, October 4-6.

Mr. Berry, who has been associated with the local congregation for the past 27 months, is a native of the Virginia Beach area and serves as a study conductor in the local congregation.

The meeting of the Watchtower Society of Brooklyn, New York, for ministers located in Virginia Circuit No. 1, will feature ten hours of practical instruction designed to help individual ministers up-grade their door to door ministry and improve their home Bible study teaching techniques.

Berry said that each of the more than twenty-two thousand Witness congregations conduct a Theocratic Ministry School for all members and the Friday evening session will present a "model" school complete with student speakers.

Berry, who will demonstrate a student speaking assignment, said, "there is no graduating from these congregation ministry schools for ministers of God, for Witnesses of his name and Kingdom, there is no end to learning and improving and keeping up to date in ones ministry. The school in Newport News is part of our continuing education."

He said the local congregation school is open to anyone and offers schooling and training to anyone desiring to become a minister. The courses cover a study of religious doctrines, Bible research, public speaking, door to door ministry, and conducting home Bible studies.

Other highlights of the meeting Berry said would be a Baptismal and Ordination ceremony on Saturday afternoon, and at three o'clock Sunday, a public lecture on the subject, "The Bible Triumphs in a Scientific World."

Paul R. Ruggles, a district representative of the Watchtower Society from Brooklyn, New York Headquarters, will conduct the school and deliver the public lecture.

Concert Series Dates Listed

WILLIAMSBURG—The schedule for the 1963-64 William and Mary concert series to be held in Williamsburg has been announced. It includes:

October 29

Opening the series is Grace Bumbly, the twenty-six year old Mezzo-soprano from St. Louis. Making her American debut at the White House in January, 1962, she has won unanimous acclaim in a coast-to-coast tour for her flawless technique, remarkable range, and dramatic stage presence.

November 22

John Browning's Piano recital will precede his appearance as soloist with the Richmond Symphony by three days. The twenty-eight year old American has won every major musical competition in the United States and Western Europe. He was recognized as one of the foremost virtuosos of what Life Magazine called "The Take-Over Generation" last September.

February 14

The first full-fledged ballet company to appear on the stage of Phi Beta Kappa Hall will be the arrival of the National Ballet of Canada, one of the three leading troupes in the Western World. Established in 1951, this internationally acclaimed company of eighty dancers and musicians will perform a program chosen from a wide repertoire of works by classic and modern choreographers.

March 20

Performing in March will be the Fine Arts Quartet, acclaimed for both eloquent playing and unity of musical purpose, which has been chosen by the State Department for the third consecutive year as one of the United States "musical ambassador" groups to tour Europe and the Soviet Union.

April 10

The final event of the series, unavailable on subscription without the others, is a jazz concert by the Charlie Byrd Trio. The classical guitarist and his trio will play music from the Bossa Nova to J. S. Bach. The plays will include four productions of the William and Mary Theatre, one presentation by the National Players and one presentation by the Canadian Players, who will be performing at the College for the sixth consecutive year.

Theatre Productions

Under the direction of Howard Seaman, associate professor of fine arts at William and Mary, the college theatre group will present "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, on October 31, November 1 and 2; "Lola," a musical written by Richard Westgate Miller and Arden Bing, on February 27, 28 and 29; and "Richard III" by William Shakespeare, on April 23, 24 and 25.

The Canadian Players will be seen in William Shakespeare's Henry IV, part I, in a single performance on Saturday, November 23. The National Players will perform on Monday, March 9, in Oedipus Rex.

World Series On WAVY-TV

All World Series games will be televised in color for the fifth straight year when the NBC Television Network and WAVY-TV, Channel 10, covers baseball's Fall classic—the nation's number one sports attraction—starting Wednesday, October 2.

The 60th World Series will open in the Yankee Stadium, home park of the New York Yankees, who have clinched their fourth consecutive American League pennant—their 28th in 42 years, and 13th in the last 15 years.

The Series shifts after two games to the park of the National League pennant-winner—(Los Angeles Dodger Stadium.)

Here is the schedule of telecasts for the 60th World Series as announced by NBC-TV Sports:

Wednesday, Oct. 2—at Yankee Stadium, 11:45 a.m.

Thursday, Oct. 3—at Yankee Stadium, 11:45 a.m.

Friday, Oct. 4—Open Gate For Travel.

Saturday, Oct. 5—at Dodger Stadium, 2:45 p.m.

Sunday, Oct. 6—at Dodger Stadium, 2:45 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 7—at Dodger Stadium, 2:45 p.m.

Tuesday, Oct. 8—Open Gate For Travel.

Wednesday, Oct. 9—at Yankee Stadium, 11:45 a.m.

Thursday, Oct. 10—at Yankee Stadium, 11:45 a.m.

* Games to be played if necessary.

All Series games will be preceded by "World Series Spotlight". Air time for this program will be at 11:30 a.m. for all New York games and 2:30 p.m. for the games that will be played in Los Angeles.

Vern Jones To VPI Bureau

PORTSMOUTH — Vern Jones, news director for WAVY Radio and WAVY-TV, has resigned his position with Tidewater Telecasting, Inc. to accept the post of bureau chief for United Press International in Washington, D. C. His new position is effective today.

In his new assignment Jones will head the UPI bureau that is responsible for coverage of the White House, Capitol Hill and other federal government affairs in the nation's capital. The Washington office will also cover nationally important stories along the Mid-Atlantic seaboard. In addition to covering news events, the bureau will also handle the distribution of newsmag in the United States and to overseas points.

Jones, a veteran news broadcaster for more than ten years, joined the WAVY news staff in 1959 as a radio and TV newsman and was named to the post of news director in 1960. Prior to his association with WAVY he was news director at WHYN, Springfield, Mass. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society; National Press Photographers Association and in May of this year was elected second Vice President of the UPI Broadcasters of Virginia.

He resides with his wife and daughter at Sylvan Beach, Bay-side Borough.

Council Requests Hurricane Study And Beach Erosion

WASHINGTON — A resolution requesting a survey of the Virginia Beach shoreline in the interest of hurricane protection and beach erosion has been submitted to the House Public Works Committee but is now awaiting a report from the District Engineers.

The resolution was submitted to the committee by Congressman Thomas N. Downing at the request of Virginia Beach City Manager W. Russell Hatchett on behalf of City Council.

Downing forwarded the request for the survey to Charles A. Buckley, chairman of the House Public Works Committee, in August.

The resolution has now been sent to Lt. Gen. Walter K. Wilson Jr., director of Civil Works and Chief Engineer. He has informed Downing that the report to the committee will be made at the "earliest practicable date."

Emergency Measure Exists

Since the March 7, 1962, storm, which did so much damage to Virginia Beach's seawall and sand dunes, an emergency wooden bulkhead has been used to strengthen the damaged areas.

Constructed by the Corps of Engineers, the bulkhead is strictly a temporary measure and does not provide protection against the more severe hurricanes and southeasters.

City Hall Gets New Switchboard

PRINCESS ANNE — A second switchboard is expected to double the telephone service to Princess Anne Court House, Yarmok Land, Princess Anne Telephone Co. owner-manager, said Wednesday.

The new switchboard has already been installed but will not be in operation for about two weeks until a transfer key can be installed, he said.

The transfer key will allow one operator to manage both boards while the second operator is taking a break.

The new board is located adjacent to the old one in the Police Department building.

Land said the company is also going to divide the extensions on both boards so that the operators can pick up the calls faster.

A new rotary operation during the daytime hours will permit callers to dial one number but get service from nine lines, Land said.

City Council has given the three telephone companies that serve the enlarged Virginia Beach area until July 1964, to eliminate tolls throughout the city.

The additional service to Princess Anne Court House will not eliminate tolls to that borough, Land said, but will offer toll-free calls only to the courthouse.

"But we expect this new switchboard to take care of the telephone traffic to the governmental offices until next year," Land said.

Under Public Law 71, the Corps of Engineers has been making a rough preliminary study of this problem and have indicated that Federal assistance may be obtained in constructing a replacement for the existing seawall.

However, the Chief of Engineers has indicated that all studies under Public Law 71 should be completed as soon as possible since no further funds under this authorization is expected.

City Council has now requested a more detailed study under Public Law 87-87, which states that the Secretary of the Army may authorize surveys of coastal areas in connection with hurricane protection and related purposes, provided particular areas request the surveys through resolutions to either the Senate or House Committees on Public Works.

If Virginia Beach should obtain authorization of this study it would permit the Corps to make a detailed investigation regarding the proper type of protection, the cost, its worth and economic feasibility, the amount of funds to be spent by the federal and city governments, how much it will cost the city each year to maintain the project and other factors.

Motel Directory Is Underway

VIRGINIA BEACH — The first call for space reservations in the 1964 64-page Accommodations Directory is in the mail, according to Laura Lambie, who produces the resort's booklet for distribution by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce.

In light of the Chesapeake Bay-Bridge Tunnel's opening in the spring, it is most important to resort interests that the 1964 booklet be ready for distribution in March, Mrs. Lambie said.

This will be the fourth edition of the pictorial information piece which is sent out by the Chamber in answer to all the inquiries from the city's advertising program.

The booklet has a four-color cover, specific information on things to do and see, events, transportation schedules, a map showing roads coming into the Tidewater area and a mileage chart.

There are 16 pages with color photographs of accommodations and 48 pages in two color. Fifty-two advertisers participate in the booklet, making it self-supporting.

Serving on the booklet committee are John McCombes, Albin R. Mailhes, Mrs. Lucy Trafton, James Kantapanos and Stanley Martin.

LITTLE THEATRE TICKETS ON SALE

VIRGINIA BEACH — Season tickets to the Virginia Beach Little Theatre's productions went on sale this week at the box office of the Courtyard Playhouse on 17th Street. The box office will be open every morning from 9 a.m. to noon until the opening of the first show, Oct. 10, according to Bob Maul, ticket chairman.

Both season tickets and general admission tickets will be sold. Anyone desiring to order tickets after 5 p.m. may do so by calling Mrs. William Grant at GA 8-6665.

Maul said that several hundred applications for season tickets have been sent out and may be returned to Mrs. Grant, 100 Ivy Drive.

Season tickets for each of the season's three plays cost $5.00 per person. General admission is $2.00 per play.

This season's plays are as scheduled: "Happy Birthday" October 10, 11, 12, 18, 19; "Class Menagerie", November 21, 22, 23, 29 and 30; "Waitz of the Toreadors", February 13, 14, 15, 21 and 22.

Reassessment Hearings Set

PRINCESS ANNE — Hearings on real estate reassessment in Virginia Beach Borough being conducted by state tax men this week have produced no major complaints to date, according to Claude Neff of the state Dept. of Taxation in Richmond.

The hearings, to be completed this afternoon, are being held in the School Administration Building for the purpose of allowing property owners to discuss their assessments with the tax men.

Homeowners were notified by cards listing the assessed value placed on each parcel of land and improvements and specifying the time and place of the hearings.

Next to be notified will be residents of Kempville, Bayside and Lynnhaven Boroughs.

The real estate is being assessed at 36 per cent of true value, Neff said, and the tax rate applies to each $100 of assessed value.

Norfolk Not Enthused Over New Water Rate

NORFOLK — A water rate of 22 cents per 1,000 gallons was submitted to Norfolk officials Wednesday by the joint Virginia Beach-Chesapeake Water Negotiating Committee but there was little indication that Norfolk City Council would accept the latest proposal.

Norfolk Mayor Roy B. Martin Jr. said the rate would be brought before council but indicated it was well below what Norfolk could sell water for if they expected to make a reasonable return on their investment.

The water survey compiled by Malcolm Pirnie Associates has stated that Norfolk could sell water to the two neighboring cities for 22 cents and still make a profit but Norfolk officials deny this.

Ernest Whitlock, a Pirnie engineer who attended Wednesday's meeting, said that Norfolk's profit is well above what most other communities make on their water supply.

Norfolk City Manager Thomas Maxwell took exception to this statement. "You haven't made an independent study of the cost. It isn't merely a problem for engineers, but is also a budgetary and accounting problem."

Virginia Beach political leader Sidney S. Kellam suggested that since there is such a great difference between the rates arrived at by Norfolk and the other two cities, a third engineer be brought in.

Maxwell did not believe this was the solution. "Any competent engineers would reach the same figure if they started from the same basis and premises," he stated.

Mayor Martin also indicated that if a third engineer should come up with an even lower figure it would not be acceptable to Norfolk. He said Norfolk is selling water to Virginia Beach now for less than what they should and mentioned the possibility of a future increased rate to Norfolk residents.

"If we make less revenue off water we will have to make it up someplace else," he said.

At the end of the meeting, which lasted little less than an hour, Martin said that if Norfolk City Council should approve a meeting of the engineers representing Norfolk, Virginia Beach and Chesapeake, "it could be arranged."

Attending Wednesday's meeting were: Virginia Beach—Kellam and Kempsville Councilman Swindell Pollock; Chesapeake—Councilman G. A. Treakle and Treasurer William Forbes, Circuit Court Clerk and Committee Chairman George Cross; Norfolk—Mayor Martin and Maxwell; and Whitlock.

The proposal, as submitted by the joint committee, reads:

(1) That an interim agreement be entered into immediately between Chesapeake, Virginia Beach and Norfolk for extending water services, as needed, by the City of Norfolk, the residents of Chesapeake and Virginia Beach. Arrangements should be made to permit main extension for this interim period with final main ownership held in abeyance until agreements are finalized. This will not result in future loss to either party as developers will pay the full initial capital costs and Norfolk will be well-paid for the water.

This agreement is to remain in effect until supplanted by a new and more permanent contract.

(2) In the year 1962, gross receipts of Norfolk's water system were $4,700,989 and excess revenue over operating costs were $2,394,099. Consumers in Virginia Beach and Chesapeake used about 18 per cent of water supplied by the Norfolk system and paid about 28 per cent of the gross revenue. The average cost of production and delivery of water in 1962 was 18.186 cents per 1,000 gallons. This figure includes operating and maintenance costs and interest and amortization charges. It also includes all costs related to supplying retail water, including distribution system maintenance, meter reading and billing. Based on figures shown on Water Department reports, the average cost of producing wholesale water, including debt service charges, was less than 15 cents per 1,000 gallons for the past 3-year period.

At present, Norfolk supplies water in the city and outside the city in excess of 40,000 cubic feet per quarter to commercial and industrial establishments for approximately 22 cents per 1,000 gallons for quantities between 40,000 and 100,000 cubic feet per quarter and about 18 cents per 1,000 gallons for larger quantities.

It is obvious from the above figures that Norfolk can sell its water at its borders at approximately 22 cents per 1,000 gallons and make a substantial profit above operating expenses and debt service costs.

The Joint Water Committee of Chesapeake and Virginia Beach would recommend the payment of 22 cents per 1,000 gallons for wholesale water sold to the City of Chesapeake and Virginia Beach by the City of Norfolk at the boundary lines of Norfolk for a 15-year future period, such period to begin January 1, 1968. This would permit Norfolk to continue to use its raw water supply, transmission and treatment facilities, and the filtered water storage and transmission facilities which are within its borders to full advantage. It would also permit Norfolk to realize a profit of at least 50 per cent above average costs of operation and debt service.

(3) A fair and reasonable basis for acquisition of water distribution systems in the two cities, which are now used by Norfolk to supply water, should be determined.

LAKE SMITH WATER LEVEL WORRIES RESIDENTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Several residents of the Lake Smith area appeared before City Council Monday to complain of a drop in the lake's water level which has turned their waterfront property into marshland.

The trouble, they contended, the Lake Smith water level was installed between Lake Smith and the Little Creek reservoirs on the opposite side of Va. 166. The new culvert replaced a series of smaller pipes and drained water from Lake Smith at a greater rate, they said.

Before the larger culvert was opened the Lake Smith water level was normally 16-24 inches higher than at present.

One home-owner, Joseph A. Edone, told council that after the culvert was opened his waterfront property "converted itself to marsh, then mud and muck."

Beach Hospital's First TRIPLETS BORN TO MOTHER OF SIX

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Percy D. McKowan Jr., the 33-year-old wife of a meat cutter, gave birth to two boys and a girl just before noon Wednesday at Virginia Beach Hospital.

It was the first triple birth recorded at the 15-year-old hospital.

The babies, who had not been named Wednesday afternoon, were delivered at 11:45, 11:50 and 11:55 a.m. They were not weighed immediately but their weights were estimated at 5.4½ and 4 pounds by Mrs. Ola Dyer, head nurse. The little girl was the second delivery.

The McKowans are also the parents of six other children: Margaret 15, Donald 13, Andy 10, Greg 9, Tiena 8 and Kathy 5. The family lives at 9341 Kim Terrace in Malibu, Lynnhaven Borough.

The father is a meat cutter with Farm Fresh Market in Norfolk.

Mrs. McKowan and the three infants were reported in "satisfactory" condition. The babies have been placed in Isolotes for the time being, Mrs. Dyer said.

Attending the mother during the delivery were Dr. John Crawford and Dr. Ross Kazakis. The babies are under the care of Dr. John M. Mapp. All are Virginia Beach physicians.

The McKowan triplets were the second multiple birth in the hospital this week. Mrs. Everett H. Irby of 406 49th Street gave birth to twin girls Monday.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has designated the second week of October of each year as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week; and

WHEREAS, for the seventeenth consecutive year, public support for and interest in the employment of otherwise qualified but physically handicapped workers is being urged; and

WHEREAS, thousands of these workers have already demonstrated that handicaps are not an insurmountable barrier to efficient and productive labor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Frank A. Dusch, Mayor of the City of Virginia Beach, do set aside and proclaim the week of October 6th through 12th, 1963, inclusive, as EMPLOY THE PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED WEEK and urge all men of business and industry to make a conscientious effort to employ disabled veterans and other handicapped citizens whenever their abilities will suffice to do the job as well as a non-handicapped worker.

Given under my hand this 1st day of October, 1963.

Rabies Clinics Give 2,129 Dogs Shots

VIRGINIA BEACH—About 2,129 dogs were inoculated against rabies at clinics held throughout the city the past two Saturdays. Mack Owens of the Public Health Department reported Tuesday.

There were 1,207 shots given this past Saturday at five locations.

Broken down by areas, this figure includes: Aragon, 315; Creeks, 259; Sestack, 183; Civic Center, 247; and Thoroughgood, 205.

The clinics were sponsored by the Health Department and the City of Virginia Beach.

Oyster Bowl Has Trip Planned

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club will sponsor a bus trip to the annual Oyster Bowl football game in Norfolk on October 19.

Chartered buses will leave the club at 11:30 a.m. that day for the game which pits Navy against V.M.I. Following the game there will be a buffet-dance at the club.

Reservations should be made through Club Manager George Barnes at GA 8-3131.

Easy Company Dinner With Pears

Delicately spiced fresh Bartlett pear halves complement a husky-broiled slice of ham in this elegant, easy-to-fix main dish. Warm some rolls and toss a salad while the ham is broiling. With a made-ahead dessert, dinner's on the table in a jiffy.

California Bartlett pears are in some markets through October and even later. Buying tip: Select yellow-skinned pears to eat within a day or two. Green-skinned pears are fully mature and will be just as flavorful as those bought yellow-ripe if you store in a paper bag for a few days at room temperature.

HAM WITH SPICED PEARS

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar
1 stick (8 inches) cinnamon*
1 teaspoon whole cloves*

4 pieces (1/2 inch each) ginger root*
8 fresh California Bartlett pears
1 slice (3 lb.) center cut, ready-to-eat ham

Combine all ingredients except pears and ham in large saucepan; bring to boil. Pare, halve and core pears. Add to hot syrup and cook gently, turning occasionally, until fork-tender. Remove from heat. Cover and cool in syrup overnight. Brush ham with syrup. Broil, turning once and basting, to brown both sides. Stud pears with cloves and serve with ham. Makes 12 pear halves.

* Or 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon and 1/2 teaspoon whole ground cloves and ground ginger.

Cavalier CAPERS

PRINCESS ANNE—After two successive football victories for the Cavaliers, Princess Anne meets Churchland on the Tractors home field.

The Annual Staff undertook a different sort of project recently. With the help of Jane Harrison, Judy Cronk, Sandy Leslie Russell Parke, Jay Ferguson, Leslie Russell, Rodney Clabo, Lonnie Gallagher, and Larry Dowdy, the Annual Room was converted from a dark, dingy gray to inspiring shade of blue.

A District Keyette Meeting will be held at Princess Anne High School Oct. 8. Kellam, Maury, Norview, and Granby will be represented.

This year's Trinity Hi-Y officers are Beverly Andrews, president; Jennifer Camper, vice-president; Jane Harrison, secretary; Carol Blythe, treasurer; Leslie Russell, reporter; Barbara Flowers, corresponding secretary; and Brenda Esson, chaplain.

Students interested in joining the Junior Civitan Club may obtain an application from any Junior Civitan member. Annuals are currently on sale for $5.00.

The SCA recently set up a school spirit Committee. Schedule for foyer decoration by individual clubs has also been completed.

'64 Junior Civitan Officers are Richard McAndrews, president; Kathy Huggins, vice-president; Carolyn Armstrong, secretary; Vic Gregor, treasurer.

Athena Tri-Hi-Y's recently elected officers are Jean Brown, president; Pam Tompkins, vice-president; Jeanette Robinette, corresponding secretary; Betty Ray MacLaughlin, recording secretary; Sandy Adams, Treasurer; Linda Variett, parliamentarian; Pat Fordrey, chaplain. Athena's new sponsor is Miss Tucker, PA's new Art Teacher. Miss Tucker is a graduate of Virginia Beach High School, Longwood College, and also a past Tri-Hi-Y member at Virginia Beach.

BP&W WEEK PROCLAIMED

Mayor Frank A. Dusch of Virginia Beach was presented last Friday, October 27th with a certificate officially proclaiming that the week of October 6 to 12 will be designated as National Business and Professional Woman's Week.

Mrs. Rose Bissett, Real Estate Broker of Birchwood Gardens, presented the proclamation to the Mayor for his signature. Mrs. Bissett represented the Princess Anne BPW of Virginia Beach.

The Princess Anne BPW was organized in 1960 and the first president was Mrs. Rose Lee Mergler formerly of Princess Anne and now a resident of Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Mergler is an honorary member of the Virginia Association.

The club gives an annual scholarship award to worthy high school students in the Virginia Beach area, and among other charitable projects, recently donated a EKG Machine for the coming new Virginia Beach Hospital.

The National Federation has a membership of 170,000 and the International BPW clubs cover twenty-four countries.

The National BPW club will hold a district function on October 5th at the Hotel Chamberlain

For Women Only— If You Ask Me By Betty Deal Home Demonstration Agent

Well, how are things in Tidewater? I read where you had lots of rain. We have not had any but it looked like we would get rain today when I came from the library last night. It is clear today and just lovely.

I had already known by reading that a football player's age was determined by the condition of his legs. I have learned that the condition of a graduate student's legs is very important too. The campus is large and you must do a lot of walking especially while getting things arranged for the quarter. I enjoy walking and I am having lots of enjoyment now.

Recently, I have had occasion to do some reading on textiles. One of the points discussed was the increase in the number of fibers. The reason for textile chemists doing the work which results in a new fiber is to correct some defect or deficiency in an old one. No one fiber can do everything, of course. However, if one undesirable property of a fiber can be made desirable, we benefit.

It was also suggested that there may not be a lot more new fibers developed. The improvement as mentioned above is expected to continue. Also the appearance of new combinations and blends is expected to continue.

I had a real disappointment last week. I couldn't find another football "idiot" to go to Winston-Salem for the Tech-Wake Forest football game.

Guess who will be at Roanoke for the Harvest Bowl game this Saturday yelling her head off? Me!

Tax Rate Reduction Should Follow Increased Assessments

Notices of the new real estate assessments are being mailed to the taxpayers in the city this week and it is understood the new assessment figures represent 36% of market value.

Residents of the Borough of Virginia Beach experienced this reassessment a few years ago and the new figures being released, in most instances we have observed, show a further increase in assessment. The Sun-News believes it a good policy to have all property in the city properly, accurately and equally assessed. However, we remind the city council and other city officials that when the merger election was held it was generally understood that there would be no increase in taxes because of the merger.

In the case of the Borough of Virginia Beach and the same should apply to all boroughs in the city the tax rate should be lowered to compensate for the increase in the assessment. As an example, the tax rate in the Borough of Virginia Beach is now three dollars. If the assessments are up 10% the tax rate should be reduced accordingly so that next year the taxpayers would not have to pay additional taxes.

We hope, therefore, the council will let the taxpayers know at once that the tax rate will be reduced when the assessments are increased. By making this announcement now instead of waiting until the spring of 1964 the public can be reassured they will not have any great increase in taxes.

Specialists At Work

There was a time when a stock exchange was an institution of mystery.

That time has passed. Wider knowledge of economic matters on the part of the public has helped. Also some 17 million people, largely in the middle-income brackets, are now stockholders, and their number steadily increases.

The stock exchange, as is generally realized, is a place where one can buy or sell listed securities at any hour of any business day. The price is determined, and solely determined, by what a prospective seller demands and a prospective buyer is willing to pay. And the exchange does much more than offer that essential function. Due to its complex, enormously efficient mechanism it is a stabilizing influence in times of stress.

Such a time last occurred in May, 1962. Prices moved drastically and volume was enormous. Without one of the most important elements within the exchange mechanism, and one of the least known and understood, a person who wished to sell might not have been able to do so. That element is the specialist. Without going into the intricate mechanisms of his work, he is the professional who by conducting transactions at strategic moments keeps the market fluid and effective under all conditions, including the most difficult. He can't control price, of course—no one can. But he can and does make sure that a market exists and that all orders will be consummated.

This is just one example of how the exchange services a free enterprise economy. It provides a certain market for stocks. Without such a market few would be willing to invest.

"Elastic As A Rubber Band"

Certain words seem susceptible not only to varying usages and definitions, but opposed ones. Such is the word "welfare".

As Lawrence Fertig writes in his "Prosperity Through Freedom", "The word welfare is as elastic as a rubber band. It can be stretched to cover nearly everything that goes on in a country. In fact the word has been stretched to its limit by Congress and the Supreme Court in their interpretation of the clause in the Constitution which says 'Congress shall have power . . . to . . . provide for the . . . general welfare of the United States.'"

So much has been said about the necessity of government providing welfare that most people rarely think it is they themselves—as individuals and as voluntary groups—who really provide for the welfare of the country.

This simply affirms the fact that everything must have a source—and the source of welfare is the people. They must pay for it, one way or another. When a contribution is voluntary it means that they are willing to do it. When it is taken from them by the government, through taxation, debt, and deficit spending, they have no say in the matter. Thus, all of us may be forced to pay for projects to which we are diametrically opposed.

Paper Drive Will Help Build Hospital

The Auxiliary to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach launched a scrap paper drive Wednesday to raise funds for construction of the new hospital. Mrs. Preston Hix (left), Auxiliary president, and Mrs. P. H. Allen and Mrs. Harold Kellam (right), Auxiliary co-chairmen, are shown with Mrs. Hix. Bundles of paper will be accepted at the vacant service building at 33rd St. and Pacific Ave. between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays to accept bundles from contributors. MARKET REPORT

The following is reprinted from the Fortnightly Review. It is made available to the Virginia Beach Sun-News by Anderson & Strudwick, investment firm at 3110 Pacific Ave., Virginia Beach, and is prepared by their New York correspondent, Carl M. Loeb, Rhodes & Co.

SAFETY IN NUMBERS

What is in store for us in the coming year? The nearly 200 members of the American Statistical Association attending the Economic Outlook Luncheon last month took on the whole a rather constructive view. Only 2% of the respondents to the annual poll anticipated a downturn in the business cycle this year, while more than half thought no reversal likely in either 1963 or 1964. Those expecting a softening in 1964 chose the second and third quarters as the most logical starting time. A profit squeeze, inventory imbalances, chronic unemployment, and balance of payments difficulties were considered probable causes of the next recession, as, if, and when, while deficit spending, disarmament, tight money, and inflation did not figure prominently on the list of potential troubles. Three-quarters of those present envisioned Gross National Product rising throughout 1964, and including those less sanguine about the outlook, the average selection put GNP in current dollars at $598.2 billion by mid-1964, 3601.4 billion by the end of that year, and the FRB Index of Industrial Production at 127.7 and 128.1 at these respective dates. About 80% of the respondents held that in 1964 the consumer price index would rise modestly, unemployment stay about the same or increase moderately, the balance of payments problem remain as is or worsen, and taxes be reduced. Opinions were about equally divided about the wisdom of having raised the discount rate; 42% thought that the Federal Reserve will raise the discount rate again in 1964; and more than half approved of the monetary policies currently pursued. Asked about their longer-term views in the light of the economy's performance in the Sixties so far, only 12% stated that they had lowered their projections for 1970, 53% had kept them unchanged, and 35% had raised their sights.

BEHIND THE ESTIMATES

The most recent crop of business statistics makes us inclined to believe that if the above projections err it is on the side of conservatism. Barring disappointment on the tax front, the current momentum should be strong enough to carry us well into 1964, and the fact of tax relief should still be sufficiently more potent than its anticipation to provide an additional life. True, the FRB index for August at 125.6 was slightly below the 126.5 high-water mark of July but this modest decline as well as the slight drop in the incoming business of durable goods manufacturers is adequately explained by the unusually heavy concentration in August of model changeovers in the automobile industry and the further running off of excessive steel inventories accumulated earlier in the year, factors not fully taken into account in the seasonal adjustment feature of the Index. With steel production tending upward and auto makers scheduling 811,000 passenger car assemblies for October, a rebound in industrial production is virtually assured. And there are plenty of signs that the business recovery is still displaying remarkable vigor. Consumer spending has picked up momentum stimulated by the rise in income, particularly discretionary income. Construction activity is holding at record levels. Capital outlays are moving up encouraged by improving end demand and buttressed by high corporate liquidity and rising cash flow. And while inventories have grown somewhat, they have barely kept in step with mounting consumption and remain well below the levels that could be justified by final sales. A slight firming of industrial prices in many areas after months of erosion also reflects healthy demand.

IT PROFITETH MAN

Perhaps the most encouraging feature from the point of view of business and personal investment is the performance of corporate profits during the second quarter of 1963. At an annual rate of $51 billion before taxes corporate profits rose $2.7 billion above the first quarter to the best level in two years. And if an estimated $2.5 billion of additional depreciation resulting from liberalized rules is taken into account, even the record second quarter of 1959 ($51.9 billion), which also benefited from the accumulation of steel inventories, has been left behind. After-tax profits at an annual rate of $26.8 billion were at an all-time high with or without allowance for the depreciation change. We are witnessing here not only the effects of higher volume, but for once a more equitable sharing of gains. Labor has been somewhat more restrained than in the past when it has only too often claimed all the increment from greater productivity or more; business has been satisfied with a slight improvement in profit margins; and the resulting relative price stability has enabled the consumer to translate rising incomes into greater unit demand. It is too early to judge whether such reasonableness, which redounds to the benefit of all participants in the economic process, will continue unaffected by the temptations of fuller utilization of resources.

THE VIEW FROM 743

Withal, what we are headed for looks more and more like well-sustained, sturdy prosperity, neither threatened by early reversals (barring internal or external political upsets) nor likely to develop into a full-fledged boom since, if nothing else, the exigencies of our balance of payments situation would compel prompt monetary and other restraints should excesses develop. Are such prospects overdiscouraged by a stock market which at a new high of 743.60 is above the previous top of 734.91 reached in December 1961? Probably not. In the first place at this level the Dow-Jones is selling at 18.9 times estimated 1963 earnings of $39.40 and 10.9 times cash flow of $68.35, while back in 1961 the multiples were 23.1 and 12.8, respectively, of actual 1962 results. Moreover, the movement of the Averages obscures the fact that while some shares have performed spectacularly, many good stocks are still selling well below their previous records. Also, while speculative interest has increased, there is an absence of the exuberance which was so pervasive in 1961 and set the stage for the subsequent break. And the public reentering the market appears to show greater sophistication than in the days of the wonder stock and new issue craze. Nevertheless, while a constructive attitude toward equities is warranted, caution and selectivity should continue to guide investment-policy.

State Educator To Speak Here

VIRGINIA BEACH—Miss Anne Doble Peebles, a well-known Virginia educator, will speak to the Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club Tuesday on "Virginia Education—Its Problems and Progress."

The meeting will start at noon at the Bay Harbour Club on Laskin Road.

Miss Peebles, a past president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, is a member of the State Board of Education, the Virginia Educational Assistance Authority, the Advisory Legislative Council, the Virginia CARE committee, is secretary of the State Alumni Society of the College of William and Mary; and is secretary-chairman of public education for the Virginia Division, American Cancer Society.

WEEK SET OCT. 6-12

EMPLOY HANDICAPPED

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mayor Frank A. Dusch has proclaimed the week of October 6 through October 12 as "Employment of the Physically Handicapped" week in the City of Virginia Beach.

Bridge-Tunnel Near Going On Television

NORFOLK — A $16 second-level bridge-tunnel project in building the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel is being shown on television. The project will connect the two ends of the bridge-tunnel and are engineering in construction.

Campbell's job requires him to inspect every inch of the 12.2 miles of concrete trestle that link the bridge-tunnel's four main-landed, two tunnels and two steel bridges with the shores of Chesapeake Bay. Near the start of the three-year project, Campbell's employers decided he needed to move faster than his feet could carry him. They bought a second-hand bike, and Campbell started taking it out to his job by boat in the morning and bringing it back by boat at night.

Fishing boat captains stared in surprise at sight of a bicycle rider pedaling along the half-finished bridge miles from land and with no other vehicle in view.

Most of the machines used in building the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel have been specially designed gangs ranging in cost to more than a million dollars each. The incongruity of a small, ordinary $15 bike in such company intrigued reporters, and Campbell was written up first by the Norfolk newspapers, then by a national news syndicate. Last month he and his bike were pictured in a nationally distributed Sunday newspaper supplement. That's where producers of "To Tell The Truth" spotted him and invited him to appear on the show.

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I have always been a man who was easy about family life. It is well known by all and sundry that I am especially wild about figures like 36-22-36, this will come as no news to the people who know me. What I'm talking about today, however, are other kinds of figures.

I saw in the paper the other morning that we now have a hundred sixty million people in this country and that ain't all. The population is growin' at a rate you wouldn't believe. I figure that this kind of information doesn't really come as a shock to anyone who has observed the large quantities of children racing about, and it sure ain't news to the delivery rooms of hospitals, which are operating on a thirty-hour day just to get the job done.

This is good news for everyone, say the economists. More people to buy things, and even the fat men—those hard souls—look on such an increase as not just new people; but as new taxpayers.

There is one family, however, which is probably still in shock at their little contribution to the population explosion. Their name is Fischer, and they live in Aberdeen, South Dakota. Mrs. Fischer has caused the whole world to sit up and take notice. These folks had five children before 'the most recent blessing. I would hate to play poker against this family. Anyone who is capable of doubling the size of a family with five of a kind is not the best opponent in a game of chance.

I'm sure that everyone wishes them well. I guess that Mrs. Fischer will get over it in time. Mr. Fischer, like all fathers, will talk about this for the rest of his natural life. It figures. Fathers with one baby are sort of hard to get along with for about a month or two.

There was a picture article about this fine family in one of the large news magazines last week. I hope you saw it. If you didn't you missed one of the best pictures ever published. There is a large color plate of the mother, lying in bed. Haunting on the bed post is a little sign which says, "ABSOLUTE BED REST". If that isn't the understatement of the century I never saw it.

I hope Mrs. Fischer takes it easy in that hospital. When she gets home she won't be able to lie down and rest for quite a while—say the next thirty years.

Virginia Beach Midget League Football Round-up

6-MAN
Demons and Rams Remain Unbeaten in Midget Action

The Virginia Beach Demons lowered the boom on the Knights from Princess Anne Plaza, 45 to 13 in the Virginia Beach Jaycee and Sports Club sponsored Youth Football League Saturday. The Demons, led by Brooks Entwistle, scored in every period and were never really threatened by the Knights. In the third period Steve Pryor and Lawson managed to score twice and saved the Knights from a shut-out. The Demons displayed a well-balanced attack and in doing so rolled up the highest point total of the young season. On defense Kenny Newcomb and Davis Goldshur spearheaded the Demons while Lawson, Pryor and Powers led the Knights.

The Rams dropped the Jaguars from the ranks of the unbeaten as Pete Thomas scored 8 points to lead the Rams to a 9-0 victory. The Rams got good defensive action from ends Ricky Albino and Gary Brownlee. The Jaguars claved at their opponents but young Mike Branch could not get his charges into Ram territory. Time and time again Pete Thomas and company threw back the Jaguar offense. The Rams took a 2-0 half-time lead in the third period punched over a touchdown from the 6-yd. line to culminate a 60-yd. drive. Steve Johnson scored the extra point.

The Panthers opened defense of their crown with a new coach and system but they picked up where they left off by beating the Plaza 32-0. Mike O'Brien, last year's outstanding Midget, made his debut, an auspicious one, by scoring 13 points and leading the Panthers. Ben Sessions played a fine game and contributed to the cause by crossing the goal line twice. The Owen-coached Plaza squad was led by John Grady.

Chargers Take First Place in 8-Man League on 21-7 Win

The Chargers, led by Steve Townsend and Jerry Cheplain, spotted the Blue Devils a 7-point lead and then came back in the second half garnering 21 points to score their second victory of the season. The Blue Devils jumped into a 7-0 lead on the hard running of Bob Waring but were unable to contain the swift Chargers in the second stanza. Chargers contributing to the scoring were Cotton Markert and Terry Hines. Gary Harvey, Blue Devil captain, stood out on defense.

Birchwood Area Football Games Draw Interest

BIRCHWOOD—Intermediate football games in the Birchwood, Thalia and Plaza, Malibu area have caused considerable excitement for the boys, girls and their parents participating in these events.

At a recent game played by the Thalia Eagles and Plaza Intermediate teams held at the Kempville Junior High Field, a large turnout of enthusiastic parents were present. It was not only the game, but parents and friends came to see the Thalia Cheerleaders a group of girls between the ages of eleven through thirteen, which was one of the highlights of the evening.

The Thalia Cheerleaders consist of twenty-two girls sponsored for the last two years by Mrs. H. R. LeBlanc, wife of a navy lieutenant, stationed at Little Creek.

It is her enthusiasm and untiring effort that increased the Cheerleaders from ten to the present twenty-two. This year after a number of fund raising efforts, she has seen to it that they now have colorful and attractive uniforms. Dressed in black skirts, gold blouses, gold knee socks, white neck scarves, and jacket of white with the letter "T" in gold and black, the girls have performed and delighted the audiences.

Members of the "Thalia Cheerleaders" are: Debbie and Pamela Dyke, Lynette Kelly, Judy Hemming, Kathy Drews, Karen Scarborough, Candy Gamble, Eve Able, Linda Hill, Joline and Marianne Barr, Julie Knick, Susan Cavender and Suzanne Stratton all of Birchwood.

Margaret MacKenzie, Carolyn Carrier, Helen Spence, Betty Davis, Uta Ward and Donna Throckmorton all of Thalia. Ludvina Allen, and Peggy Simer of Malibu.

Afternoon Playgrounds

Feature Volleyball

Volleyball leagues are being formed at Malibu and Seatack playgrounds. In an effort to get competitive situations for girls, these two playgrounds are forming net-activities competition and encourage all girls who are interested to sign up with their directors. Volleyball leagues for boys are also being formed to take care of the boys not involved in football. For the past month, the city's elementary physical education program has been featuring net-game activities and it is hoped that the interest and skills acquired will culminate in a carry-over to the after-school leagues.

During the past week there were several exciting football games at Pembroke playground. On Thursday the Vikings beat the Colts 26-6 and on Friday the Dragons beat the Chargers 7 to 6. In intra-playground games Kings Grant beat Shelton Park 34-0 and Thoroughgood 33 to 12.

Remove Nail Polish Requires

Have you spilled nail polish on your dress or rug? Mrs. Anne Sterling's fabric care tip for today warns us not to use nail polish remover to get the spot out. Many fabrics today are made of synthetics and nail polish remover will dissolve them. For the safest method, Mrs. Sterling, Director of Consumer Relations for the American Institute of Laundering, suggests these fabrics be handled with professional care.

The "action" is provided by the type of V-8 engines that have made Mercury the new performance champion of the medium-price field—demonstrated in open competition including the most recent Pikes Peak Climb. A 390 cu. in. V-8 is standard, a 427 V-8 optional. And only Mercury offers you two entirely different styling choices in one great car.

Mercury delivers more than the usual in all these ways: more performance, with the more responsive engines in its field. More leg room, head room, and entry room. More trunk space—11 suitcases big (71.1 cu. ft.) and a far greater styling choice: easy Marauder styling (above) or unique Breakaway Design (right), with the only rear window that opens for ventilation. Easy cleaner in rain or snow. LINCOLN-MERCUARY DIVISION MOTOR COMPANY.

FOOTBALL ANCIENT SPORT IN HISTORY

No game demands more teamwork strength, courage and alertness or provides a more thrilling spectacle than football—king of autumn sports in the United States.

It's a safe bet that few games have as lively a history.

Football is an ancient sport. A game called harpaston was played by the Spartans as early as 500 B.C. In this game a ball was kicked, passed, or carried across the opponents' goal line, according to researchers for Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia.

Strikingly similar to a modern football was the follis, used in Roman games. It was made of leather and inflated with air, but evidently was propelled by foot, not by hand and arm.

A game called calcio, a modified form of harpaston, enlivened medieval tournaments in Italy. The players, 27 on a team, used line and backfield formations similar to those of football today. Princes, soldiers, and "the noble ladies and the people" cheered for their favorites.

A brawl-like kind of football was played in England as early as the 10th century and by the 12th it had become a national problem. The game was making London a bedlam. In addition, it was diverting yeoman from archery, the sport that fitted them to defend England. Hence football was banned by municipal laws and royal edicts beginning in 1365 when Edward III decided to prohibit the game for military reasons.

Football was not fully reinstated until the 17th century when Charles II allowed many diversions formerly prohibited. A survey published in 1602 recorded that goals were set three or four miles apart and two or three parishes united to play others in games that sprawled over the countryside.

The sport began to take definite form at boys' schools. Some even drew up rules. These allowed the ball to be kicked, but not carried, toward the goal.

One November afternoon in 1823, something strange happened at Rugby, a famous boys' school. The score was tied in a football battle between two class teams. Drak was settling. Suddenly a player named Ellis "with a fine disregard for the rules of football as played in his time took the ball in his arms and ran with it" across the goal line. The score was not allowed. The event made history, however, and began Rugby football from which the American game is directly descended. A tablet at Rugby commemorates Ellis' exploit.

By 1863 the new game of Rugby had become very popular. Those who clung to the old idea that football should be played by kicking the ball met in London and formed the Football Association. Thereafter this game was known as "Association football" or "soccer," a jumbled abbreviation of the word association.

Soccer still holds to the Rugby style of game and uses a round ball. The ball, after being put in play, may not be carried or touched by the hands or arms, except by the goalkeeper. It is advanced chiefly by kicking and dribbling with the feet. A kick is scored when the ball is kicked underneath the crossbar of the goal posts.

Rugby, the parent of intercollegiate football, is little played in the U. S. In the British Isles, however it is so important that disputes over rules are taken before an international board composed of representatives from the Rugby Unions of England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. Rugby resembles the American game in that the ball is oval and may be advanced by carrying, passing and kicking. It differs notably in having 15 men to a team and in placing a higher premium on field goals.

Football probably was brought to America by the English colonists who established Jamestown in 1607, Compton researchers point out. An inflated pig bladder usually served as the ball for these early games. Women played, too, because throwing and passing were more important than kicking.

Early in the 19th century, football games were played at Harvard and Yale to determine class supremacy between freshmen and sophomores. The "games" were hardly more than mass rushes and "slug fests."

In 1860 authorities at Harvard and Yale ended these brawls and Harvard students held a mock funeral for "Football Fightum."

An important step toward making football a recognized sport was the organization of the Oneida Football Club of Boston in 1862. The founder of this "first organized football club in the U. S." was Gerrit Smith Miller.

First Football Game Between Colleges

The first American intercollegiate football game grew out of rivalry between Princeton and Rutgers. On Nov. 6, 1869, the contest took place at New Brunswick, N. J., and Rutgers won 6 goals to 4. The game was played with 25 men on a side. A few days later Princeton won at its home field, 8 goals to 0, but rivalry between the two colleges became so bitter that school authorities forbade a third and deciding game.

In 1875 Harvard and the McGill University Football Club of Canada introduced the Rugby principle of running with the ball. The two teams played part of one contest under Harvard (soccer) rules and the remainder of the same under the Rugby rules of McGill. Rugby impressed Harvard players so favorably that they decided to abandon what was called the "somewhat sleepy type of game" then played.

By 1876 the right to run with the ball was generally recognized.

Here are other milestones from football's lively history noted by Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia:

In 1873, the University of Michigan challenged Cornell and arrangements were made to play at Cleveland, 30 men on a side. The proposed game never took place because Andrew Dickson White, then president of Cornell, ruled: "I will not permit 30 men to travel 400 miles to agitate a bag of wind."

In 1880, Walter Camp, the "father of American football" persuaded the rule makers to reduce the number of players on a team from 15 to 11 and to replace "scrum" with scrimmage, whereby the ball was put into play either by kicking it or snapping it back. The position of quarterback was also created in 1880.

In 1896, A. A. Stagg helped organize the Western Conference or Big Ten which pioneered in setting up and enforcing eligibility rules and amateur standards.

In 1901, Fielding H. (Hurry-up) Yost, football coach at the University of Michigan produced a famous team built around a freshman, Willie Heston, which scored nearly a point for each minute of play. It amassed 550 points in 11 games and kept its opponents scoreless.

In 1906 the rule makers revolutionized the game by barring all mass plays and introducing the forward pass which led to a more open style of play.

More spectacular than either Stage or Yost was Glenn S. "Pop" Warner who took over the football team at the Carlisle Indian School in 1899 and subsequently introduced the unbalanced line with single and double wing backs to create what was called the "Warner system" of play.

Professional football started at Latrobe, Pa., in 1895, the National Football League was formed in 1921 and in 1960 the American Football League began play with teams in eight major cities.

Council Passes Water And Sewer Bonds

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council Monday approved a $500,000 bond issue of which $300,000 will be used for water and sewer improvements. City Manager W. Russell Hatchett said the water and sewer bonds would be revenue producing.

Presumably these funds would be used after the city reaches an agreement with Norfolk on the cost of bulk water and distribution lines owned by Norfolk in Virginia Beach.

Hatchett said the additional $150,000 would be spent on the construction of a new central garage for city vehicles and engineering surveys for future highway construction.

Council has authority, under the city charter, to issue up to $800,000 in bonds annually without a referendum.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1963

View Of Virginia Beach

By Doris Padrick

Supermarkets are super, you will all agree. But for all their glitter and glamour and grandness, you may find one ingredient missing that used to make the trip to the grocery store more than just a necessity to get through with as quickly as possible.

Neighborhood grocers knew their customers and cared about them, and they were friends. If you have been looking for that type of store, you will find it on 23rd Street, between Atlantic and Pacific Avenues in Virginia Beach borough — the SEASIDE MARKET.

Mr. R. S. Marshall and Mr. E. L. Rose began their association along with the late H. L. Gregory (former city councilman) over 20 years ago, and they have built their business of customer satisfaction with great attention to detail, quality merchandise, and the employment of pleasant sales personnel.

Recently, the many loyal customers of the Seaside Market were very distressed to learn that their store was to be sold. If you have not yet heard, the good news is that Mr. Marshall has decided to carry on with the store the same as always. Mr. Rose is retiring and all happiness is wished for him. But it is strongly suspected that, though retired, his friends will see him often still be found lurking somewhere around those well-stocked shelves.

For those of you who do not know of the fine reputation of this very special neighborhood grocery, carry your next list to 23rd St. You will be glad you did. For you will find, not only a personal welcome from Mr. Marshall, but a store full of items few other stores bother to stock. And if there should be a special item you do not find and you become a regular customer, it will be obtained for you, no matter how little call there may be for it from others.

At first glance it may look like any other store, but as you take the time to wander through, you will find, along with the usual brands, an uncommon amount of special gourmet foods and spices and preserves. There is a smoke house on the premises, as well as a clean kitchen where hams are baked and the savory delicatessen foods are prepared fresh daily. Sausage is made from the same original formula concocted by Mr. Gregory years ago. This store is also the Virginia Ham Company which specializes in Virginia cured hams. These special hams are shipped all over the country, cooked or raw as well as being sold locally. Christmas is a busy time as customers reorder year after year. Their meats are of only the highest quality and are kept refrigerated separate from the fowl.

Delivery of orders is part of their service and charge accounts are a privilege of regular customers. This store does not feature competitive prices nor specials as the chain stores often do. The Seaside Market is designed around the customers wants and needs, individually and personally.

The personnel who serve you have been with Mr. Marshall and Mr. Rose for a combined total of 172 years which should speak for itself. The attitude of everyone connected with the Seaside Market is friendly—with the customer, with each other, and with the boss.

If shopping has become a dreaded chore for you, you could turn a tiresome day into a special occasion just by coming to the Seaside Market. Old customers are treasured and new customers are welcomed.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS INDEX SHOWS RISE

WILLIAMSBURG—Business and economic activity in Virginia continued to show year-to-year growth in August, according to the Virginia Business Index Report. However, the rate of growth declined somewhat in comparison with activity so far in 1963. The Report is published monthly by the Bureau of Business Research of the College of William and Mary under the direction of Max B. Jones.

A comparison suggests that a peak in business and economic activity may have been passed in late spring or early summer. With the exception of utilities and newspaper advertising linings, the percentage change in all indicators showed less growth in August than in the cumulative eight-month period of this year.

For the third consecutive month, building permits registered a year-to-year decline, down 19.3% from August of 1962. This reflects a relatively greater decline for August than for the eight-month cumulative period, down 11.8% from the first eight months in 1962.

By contrast electricity and water consumption stood out with 12.3 and 8.8% year-to-year gains respectively. Bank debits, up 5.4%, and retail sales, up 3.5%, also reflect continued year-to-year gains.

Miss Day Is Program Finalist

RALEIGH, N.C.—Miss Ann Dorsey Day of Virginia Beach, a senior at St. Mary's here, has been named a national semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program.

There are 13,000 semi-finalists throughout the nation in the program, which represents two-thirds of one percent of the high school seniors in the United States. Miss Day formerly attended the Country Day School for Girls in Virginia Beach where she was an honor student. She is a member of the senior class at St. Mary's.

Miss Day is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nere E. Day of Virginia Beach. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Julian S. Lawrence of Virginia Beach.

Small Talk

By Joe Small
Virginia Beach High School

Last Wednesday, the 25th of September, the Inter-Club Council of Virginia Beach High School held the first meeting of its 1963-64 session. Preceding over the meeting was school vice-president Bart Theberge. The faculty sponsor of each club was also present along with Mrs. Darst, Student Co-operative Association sponsor, and Mr. J. M. Helmer, Virginia Beach High School principal.

The charter of the Inter-Club Council provides that each of the clubs of Virginia Beach High School must have a representative, preferably the club president, present at each council meeting. Failure to comply with this stipulation leads to the dismissal of the guilty club's president.

Presently there are nine clubs in action at Virginia Beach High School each of which was delegated some duty at this council meeting. The Tri-Hi-Y Club, this year headed by Lynn Costenbender, was given charge of the Easter Assembly while the Y-Teen club, headed by Wanda Crustfield, was delegated the Christmas Assembly. The upcoming Thanksgiving Assembly will be directed by the Junior-Citizen Club, headed this year by Spencer Lott.

It was decided that all clubs this year shall be responsible for 2 bulletin boards, one each semester. The first of which will be left to the initiative of the Future Teachers of America Club. It was also decided that the National Honor Society, headed by Jack Tucker, shall be responsible for the flag raising ceremonies from September 30th until Oct. 11th.

The Inter-club Council plans a meeting once a month at which each club is expected to be represented. At each meeting the presidents of every club are additionally expected to submit both oral and written reports of their club's activities. Although at this time the I. C. C. has no definite sponsor, it is speculated that Mr. Shalkford, the new high school chemistry teacher, shall donate his services.

DEY PTA OPEN HOUSE

GREAT NECK—The John B. Dey School P-T-A will hold "open house" Tuesday at 7 p.m. A short business meeting will start at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

Registration for P-T-A membership will be held during the evening.

Officers for the group are: Mrs. Edmond Reesep, president; Mrs. Richard Schindler, vice president; Mrs. Garland Layton, treasurer; and Mrs. Robert Imer, secretary.

Mutual Grounds Beautified

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association has just completed extensive improvements to its office at 3201 Pacific Avenue.

A new maintenance building has been constructed, with the architecture in keeping with the main building. Site improvements include extensive plantings with trellises, bird baths and other adornments, adding to the attractiveness of the business area.

President Clayton Q. Nugent explained that the Virginia Beach project is in keeping with the firm's continuing policy of making Mutual Federal offices pleasing and inviting in appearance to the areas they serve.

The Pacific Avenue office of Mutual Federal was opened in 1955. A second Virginia Beach office at 9415 Virginia Beach Boulevard was opened in 1962.

GREEN THUMB CONTEST HONORS SHARED BY PEMBROKE NEIGHBORS

PEMBROKE — The Green Thumb Contest at Pembroke Manor recently closed and was won by two close friends and neighbors.

Taking honors for first place was Mr. and Mrs. Hubert M. Winfield, and second place, Mr. and Mrs. Asa B. Nelligar.

"We've known each other for years and we do everything together," Mrs. Nelligar said about her neighbors, the Winfields. "We bow together and last spring we placed first and second in the tournaments too."

The Winfields and the Nelligars planned their gardens together. They passed friendly hints, new information and prize slips, back and forth.

Their hard work showed in their gardens which in both cases were accented with Scarlet Sage and banded with white petunias. The judging of the contest included points for lawn care, all over planning and coordination between house and grounds.

The Winfields live at 4616 Crown Point and the Nelligars at 4624 Crown Point. Third place went to Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Luxford of 4701 Valley Forge and 4th place to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lumbert, 416 Kellam Road. The block winners were Mr. and Mrs. William I. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Bierbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hearsom, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Massie, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maquire, Mr. and Mrs. Garland C. Price, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Chester H. Crossman, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Corning, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Hunyer, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Botone, Mr. and Mrs. James Morales and Mr. and Mrs. Monte P. Howell.

All winners received certificates and the first prize was $75.00, second $50.00 and third and fourth were $25.00 each.

Cavalier Asst. Manager Named

VIRGINIA BEACH — Lewis M. Williams has been named assistant manager of the Cavalier Hotel and Beach and Cabana Club, according to an announcement by General Manager Charles S. Krummel.

Williams, who is presently manager of the Westwood Club in Richmond, will assume his new duties November 1.

Before moving to Richmond in 1961, Williams was reservations manager of the Cavalier and executive secretary and reservations manager of the Sir Walter.

From 1953 until 1961 he was employed in the front office department of the Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur Springs, West Va., and served as assistant reservations manager there from 1957 until 1961.

A native Virginian, Williams was born in Covington and attended schools there.

Thalia P-TA To Meet Tuesday

THALIA — The Thalia Elementary School Parent Teachers Association will hold its first regular meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, October 8th at 8 p.m.

The event will be "Open House" for parents and teachers so that the parents will have a chance to visit their children's classrooms and get acquainted with their new teacher.

First grade mothers will be hostesses for the occasion and serve refreshments.

Mrs. R. C. Hancock, Publicity and Scrap Book Chairman with the assistance of Mrs. Paul L. Chevalier, Jr., are in the process of compiling a year book program to be presented to the parents at this meeting.

Secretary Course Attracts 14 at P.A.

LYNNHAVEN — Fourteen girls are presently enrolled in Princess Anne High School's secretarial science course, according to P.E. Stewart, Vocational Office Training Coordinator for the school.

This is the second year this program has been offered at Princess Anne. Last year's 20 graduates have all been placed with reputable firms and are now working as fulltime secretaries, Stewart said.

Open only to high school seniors or postgraduates, the program offers students the opportunity to earn while learning. Classes are conducted at the school until 1:30 p.m.; then the students are free to work in the afternoons. They are required to work at least 15 hours a week.

All enrollees must have passed elementary courses in basic business and two years of typing. Students preparing for stenographic jobs should also have completed one year of shorthand with a grade of C or better.

Enrollees have their choice of either stenographic work or bookkeeping. The stenographic course also offers training in various office machines.

Vocational Office Training benefits the students by preparing them a career through on-the-job supervision but it also enables them to determine if office work is what they are best suited for.

One of last year's students found that she did not enjoy office work, Stewart said, and changed her courses to better equip her for nursing school.

This program is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Public Schools but the cost of the equipment, which amounts to about $5,000, is shared by the State Board of Education.

Once a student is placed in an office as a part-time employee, the VOT coordinator checks once a month with both the student and employers.

"This way any problems that might arise can be ironed out," Stewart said. "If a student is performing inferior work in one area we can stress that weak point during the school training period."

Fire Prevention Week Oct. 6-12

VIRGINIA BEACH — The week of October 6 through Oct. 12 has been designated "Fire Prevention Week" in Virginia Beach.

In recognition of the work of our fire departments and the need to practice fire prevention methods, Mayor Frank Dusch this week issued an official proclamation designating the period as "Fire Prevention Week."

"While we are particularly cognizant of fire prevention at this period of the year it is absolutely essential to the well being of a community to practice fire prevention throughout the year," the Mayor stated.

ENJOY NATIVE PLANTS THROUGH WISE USE

"You cannot eat your cake and have it" is a familiar expression; however, such is not the case with our natural plant life. We can enjoy the use of our wild flowers and still have them, if we do so thoughtfully. This is what we mean by conservation. Use the plants wisely so that we can have them and they can perpetuate themselves. Some plants are not very productive and should be picked or transplanted very sparingly, if at all. Others may be used more freely.

The vegetative cover provided by native plants, or what we term "natural vegetation" is one of the earth's basic assets. Animal life could not exist in a world devoid of plants, and man himself is entirely dependent upon plants for his existence. The vegetation of the past ages developed the coal and oil which are essential in our lives today. The soils of our farms owe their fertility to the vegetation of the past.

While agriculture has made great progress in developing cultivated plants which produce more luxuriantly than their native ancestors, native plants are still of great importance to us. Much of the plant materials of the manufacturing and agricultural industries still comes from native vegetation. The very common native plants are derogatorily called weeds. While weeds do trouble us in our fields and gardens at times, they are useful in many ways. Commonly, they are exacting in their soil requirements, and they quickly take possession of denuded areas or abandoned fields, thus helping to prevent soil erosion and general erosion. Organic matter from their decay adds material in developing the soil. Brown-edge has been considered by some people as a pasture and hay field pest. In reality, it is a blessing as many areas of eroded land have been saved from extensive erosion by brown-edge. When brown-edge begins to appear in a pasture, it is "hand writing on the wall," signifying that fertilization and improved management is needed. Many of our drugs are derived from plant materials. Even the most showy of our ornamental plants have been developed from wild ancestors.

Since our native vegetation is of so much importance, it behooves us to conserve it through proper usage and protection. Plant conservation consists of the wise use of the vegetation and of the individual species which make it up. In developing a program for plant conservation we cannot compile a definite list of plants to be used, since no one list would fit all sections of Virginia. Even if the same plants are present in two sections, the conditions under which they grow may vary so widely as to require very different methods as to their use. The following set of rules outlines good plant conservation practice, for all sections of the state:

1. Do not destroy the vegetation that is available by clearing, burning or otherwise before consulting the wildlife which upon the land, and the character of the area, the underground and surface water, and the soil. Avoid needless destruction and too severe a loss of nature's balance between man and animal life.

2. Do not cut, strip or use native plants for gross decoration. Do however, use the use of holly, mistletoe, and the use of Christmas trees, and the use of native plants for decoration.

3. Do not pull all, or even most, of the leaves on a plant when gathering flowers. Remember that the leaves serve as the kitchen of the plant, and that they prepare a large portion of the food required by the roots and other parts of the plant. When one gathers the flowers of yellow lady's slipper, or wild lilies, most of the leaves are taken, thus weakening the roots and remaining parts.

4. Do not pull all, or even most, of the leaves on a plant when gathering flowers. Remember that the leaves serve as the kitchen of the plant, and that they prepare a large portion of the food required by the roots and other parts of the plant. When one gathers the flowers of yellow lady's slipper, or wild lilies, most of the leaves are taken, thus weakening the roots and remaining parts.

5. Do not pull all the flowers of a plant. After the flowers come the seed; therefore, always leave enough flowers for a good crop of seed. Seed are important for the perpetuation of the species. Also bear in mind that seed of native plants are often nature's provision for food for wild animal life through the winter season.

6. Do not transplant native plants thoughtlessly. Consider carefully the environment in which you find the plant thriving. Can you give it the same conditions on your home grounds? Plants which have grown in their native haunts often have spreading root systems, hence cannot be as readily transplanted as can nursery plants which usually have a more clustered root system.

7. Help others to acquire a true appreciation of native plants and set the example by following a program of conservation. Appreciation follows understanding. By encouraging plant study we can insure that school children and others will develop an interest in and a love for our native plants.

8. Preserve and protect interesting plant habitats and natural areas. Through the activity of clubs or other groups, hunt out unspoiled areas where one finds an unusual assortment of native plants. In places of the kind establish a native plant garden, if the area is small, or a plant reservation over a large area, thus preserving a typical vegetation as well as species of plants. Introduce other native plants of the surrounding region. Use such areas primarily for educational purposes in clubs, schools and the public.

Your Social Security

Your social security provides a basic protection against three major lifetime "risks": old-age, disability, and death.

It is important to remember that the program provides this three-way protection—that is, not only for retirement benefits in old age, but also for individual and family payments if you become too disabled to work, and payments for your family if you should die.

You may write to the nearest Social Security Office for two free publications that will help you to understand the types of protection you are buying with the social security taxes you are paying:

Booklet 35—"Your Social Security"—which explains simply the main facts of the program.

Leaflet 855—"Social Security Benefits"—which explains how you earn social security credits, how many credits or units of coverage you need for benefits to be payable, and how to estimate the amount of your benefits.

Service Men In The News

KENNETH L. NIMMO ALFRED A. EGE, JR.
PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (PHTC)—Marine Private Kenneth L. Nimmo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Nimmo of 5308 Virginia Beach Blvd., Virginia Beach, completed basic training recently at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. after which he will report to Camp Lejeune, N. C. for advanced infantry training.

The intensive recruit training covers drill, bayonet training, physical conditioning, parades and ceremonies and other military subjects.

He spent three weeks on the rifle range, firing the M-14 rifle and receiving instruction in other infantry weapons.

Recruit training prepares him for further specialized training in a service school or for duty with a Fleet Marine Force unit.

SHAW AFB, S. C. — Cadet Alfred A. Ege Jr. of Virginia Beach, a member of the AFROTC unit at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, has completed four weeks of indoctrination in various phases of operations at this base. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ege of 744 Careen Drive, Virginia Beach. The cadet will be eligible for appointment as an Air Force second lieutenant upon completion of AFROTC training and graduation from college.

RICHARD D. BARBA
QUANTICO, Va. (PHTC)—Marine Richard D. Barba, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Barba of 625 Lake View Dr., Virginia Beach, completed course for senior platoon leaders July 20 at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va.

The summer course trains college students seeking commissions as Marine officers. The senior class is attended by graduates of junior classes during previous summers. The course covers the individual responsibilities of leaders, tactical control and employment of combat units.

Those completing the course will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve upon graduation from college.

Health Hints

Ever have a backache? Almost everyone does now and then. All the way from a dull, uncomfortable ache to sharp, almost incapacitating pain.

Some physicians credit soft beds, soft chairs and the other comforts of modern civilization with an increase in the number of persons who suffer from low back pain, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Once called lumbago, back pain is often caused by poor posture, obesity, ill-fitting or inappropriate shoes, a sedentary life, over-strenuous work, or participation in sports. It may also be due to disease not directly relating to the back or to injury or strain.

Low back pain may occur at any age but it seems to bother middle-aged persons most. It occurs in both sexes and in all races, and is more common with people who do work that requires stooping or lifting.

Good posture of the entire body is important in preventing low back pain. Sit with the head, shoulders, and trunk erect. When standing, the spine should be straight. Not the military "ramrod" posture, but straight.

A soft, saggy bed and low, soft chairs contribute to backache. Chairs, ideally, should be firm, straight and have the contour of a normal back.

A low-heeled shoe is best for standing or walking. High-heeled shoes tend to throw the posture off balance and increase strain on the lower back. Loafers, ballet slippers and sneakers also may lead to backache if worn extensively.

In lifting heavy objects, keep the back straight and lift with knees and thigh muscles, rather than bending over and straining the spine.

Like many other ailments, backache may be aggravated by emotional tension or anxiety.

Treatment of backache varies with the cause. When it's due to strain, usually rest, heat and a pain reliever will help. Massage, used in moderation, may help relieve discomfort. Your doctor may also recommend exercises to strengthen the muscles of the back and to improve posture.

Backache is a common ailment among Americans. If your back pain persists, consult your physician.

Boys and Girls—how about becoming a Junior Astronaut? How? Well, take a quarter from your allowance or earnings and buy a United States Savings Stamp, at school or your post office. Savings Stamps lead to Savings Bonds—and they lead to big things in your future. What's more, when you buy your first stamp you'll receive a certificate, signed by the seven Mercury Astronauts, making you a Junior Astronaut. So buy Savings Stamps now!

SUNDAY SCHOOL
Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER
OCTOBER

THE announced subject of a sermon in a Methodist church in New Orleans some years ago was OCTOBER IN THE MOUNTAINS. I did not hear the sermon but I surmised that the sermon and golden hour of October in the mountains had put the preacher in the mood and vision of the Psalmist who, about 3000 years ago, wrote, "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth His handwork."

JUST A THOUGHT:
The human race has survived and prospered through ability to adjust to changing times and changing situations. This is something we should remember next time we recognize so many individual problems as to make the future appear bleak and hopeless.

October is the halfway house between summer and winter, in which dwells the physician who applies a balm for the burns of summer and stimulant for the ice and cold of winter. It is indeed a blessed experience when one is wont to shrug the shoulders and say "There is a touch of fall in the air." Especially after such a summer of we have had this year.

Let us be thankful for the healing days of October in which we can retrieve, as it were, some of the time and effort we lost when it was so hot that we thought we might fry an egg if we set it, broil in the sun at noon. Let us not forget that man is an animal that can survive in every land from pole to pole. While this mammal or that may be found only in certain areas and migrating birds ride out changes of season, man is found in every place from the haunts of the polar bear to the jungles where the roar of the lion is heard.

Of Interest To Veterans

It is no longer true that widows of World War II or of Korean Conflict veterans are not eligible for pensions on the same basis as World War I widows, according to William J. Powers, manager of the Rosemary Veterans Administration Regional Office. Prior to July 1, 1960, widows of World War II or of Korean Conflict veterans were eligible for pension only if the veteran had a definitely ascertainable service-connected disability at the time of his death. No such requirement existed for World War I widows.

Powers said congressional legislation changed this, however, and since July 1, 1960, the availability of widows of all three periods of military service has been equalized.

Second, the pension requirements now are: (a) The deceased veteran's husband must have had at least 90 days of service, part of which must have been in a combat zone, unless discharged sooner for service-connected disability, or he was receiving or was entitled to receive compensation or retirement pay for a wartime service-connected disability, and, in all cases, had been discharged under conditions that were not dishonorable. (b) The widow's income is not more than $4,000 annually (or, with a child in the care of the veteran, not more than $3,000 annually) and she and the possessor of an estate are not to be considered as having any other income that is reasonable or likely to be within the limits of the law.

Widows of World War II or of Korean Conflict who had been discharged prior to 1960 and who were found to be eligible under the new law should file if they believe they are entitled to be within the limits of the law.

WHY DOES GOD CARE?
We are so tiny in the vastness of space, so drab in the grandeur of nature. Why does God care about each one of us?
This question has always plagued the mind of man. It will probably never be completely answered to his satisfaction until he sees and believes the evidence of man's importance to God; Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels.
It remained for Jesus Christ to reveal the love of God—Sunday - World Communion Day - Christians will unite in the sacrament which is their richest experience of the glory and honor God has given.
The world over, men will rejoice in the Divine Love, so far-reaching, that God gave His Son for humanity.

HOW AT POPULAR PRICES!

 So much for the mechanics. Next, let's put some art in vegetable cookery. Do you know, for example, what a little basil can do for vegetables? Here is an herb of the mint family with a flavor which is sweet, warm and with a pungent undertone. It gives a tantalizing fragrance to a number of vegetables. Italian cooks have made "basilico" outstandingly famous as a flavoring for all tomato dishes, but it's equally good on zucchini, snap beans, eggplant, spinach, green peas, Swiss chard or lima beans, just to stay in the vegetable category. (A delicious addition to lots

THE MIXING BOWL - "It's Fun To Cook"

When many of our vegetables have vitamins and children from A to Z, the good vegetable diet should never have to leave her family to eat them. Because they're good for you? Father and the boys will reach for seconds if vegetables are colorful, good tasting and easily prepared.

Vegetable dietary rules are simple. Cook quickly, only add crisp-tender, hard vegetables in the last boiling added water so will keep them from sticking. Cook green vegetables in salted water for several minutes, then cover to finish cooking.

ITALIAN FRESH SNAP BEANS
 1 lb. fresh snap beans
 1/4 cup olive or salad oil
 1/4 cup dried green sweet peppers
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon instant minced garlic
 1/8 teaspoon onion flakes
 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
 1/2 teaspoon basil leaves
 2 tablespoons water
 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 Wash snap beans, drain, cut off tips and cut into 1-inch pieces. Heat oil, add beans, green pepper, salt, instant minced garlic and onion. Cover and cook 5 minutes over low heat. Add black pepper, basil and hot water. Cook, covered, 20 to 30 minutes or until beans are tender, watching carefully to prevent beans from burning. Serve hot with Parmesan cheese sprinkled over the top.
 Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

MARINATED ZUCCHINI
 3 zucchini squash, each 7" long
 1/4 cup olive or salad oil
 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
 1/2 teaspoon instant minced garlic
 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 1 tablespoon parsley flakes
 1/4 cup wine vinegar
 1/4 teaspoon basil leaves
 1/2 teaspoon sugar
 Wash zucchini and cut into slices 1-inch thick. Fry in hot oil until lightly browned. Drain on paper towels. Place squash in a bowl. Combine remaining ingredients in a saucpan. Heat to boiling point and pour over zucchini. Cover. Marinate at least 12 hours in refrigerator. Serve cold as needed. This dish will keep several days in a covered bowl in the refrigerator.
 Yield: 6 servings.

HERBED BAKED WHOLE EGGPLANT
 1 large (1 1/2 lbs.) eggplant
 1 teaspoon basil leaves
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 2 strips crisp bacon, crumbled
 4 tablespoons olive oil
 Wash eggplant, wipe dry and cut a thin slice from each end. On one side make 4 lengthwise slits. Combine basil, salt, black pepper, instant minced onion, bacon and 2 tablespoons of the olive oil. Put an equal amount into each slit, using all the mixture. Place eggplant in a baking dish, slit side up. Pour remaining olive oil over the slits. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour or until eggplant is tender. Split eggplant lengthwise and serve at the table from a platter.
 Yield: 6 servings.

HERBED SPINACH
 1/2 cup dried green sweet peppers
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 pkg. (10-oz. each) frozen spinach
 1/2 teaspoon basil leaves
 1 teaspoon instant minced onion
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon sugar
 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
 Sauté sweet pepper in butter or margarine. Add spinach, basil, instant minced onion, salt and sugar. Cover and cook until spinach is defrosted and hot throughout. Add black pepper and mix well. Serve hot.
 Yield: 6 servings.

While we're chatting about vegetables—let's not forget the potato. Potatoes may appear to be "only starch", but actually their mealy whiteness is well provided with a variety of vitamins & minerals as well as carbohydrates. It has been shown that an adult can maintain good health for months on nothing but potatoes and a small amount of fat. While not high in protein, the protein they do contain is of high value, having all eight essential amino acids. Further, the potato is 92 to 95% digestible. It has long been the main reliance of Europeans and its value is attested by the robustness of the Irish, Scandinavians and Germans.
 Potatoes are low in fat and this is why they are traditionally served with a nice dash of butter. This also is why potatoes by themselves are not high calorie, a modest 97 per medium sized baked potato.
 Because potatoes are so popular with children as well as grown-ups, here are savory potato recipes from the test kitchens of the United Fruit Association designed to appeal to the whole family.

SHEPHERD'S PIE
 1/2 cup cooked, sliced fresh carrots
 1/2 cup cooked snap beans or peas
 1/2 cup diced celery
 1 1/2 cups diced cold cooked meat (lamb, veal, beef or pork)
 2 tablespoons flour
 1/4 cup cold water
 1 cup stock or hot water and 1 bouillon cube
 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
 1/4 teaspoon ground thyme
 2 cups hot fluffy mashed potatoes
 Combine carrots, peas, celery and meat. Blend flour with the 1/4 cup cold water, add to the 1 cup stock or hot water and bouillon cube. Stir and cook until thickened. Add onion, salt, black pepper and thyme. Add to vegetables and meat. Turn into a 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with mashed potatoes. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 30 minutes or until potatoes are flecked with brown.
 Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

FRANCONIA POTATOES
 6 medium-sized potatoes
 1-inch boiling water
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
 Wash and peel potatoes. Place in a saucepan with 1-inch boiling water and salt. Cover, bring to boiling point and cook until about half done, about 25 minutes. Remove from heat, drain and roll in melted butter or margarine. Place in a pan in which meat is roasting (beef, veal, lamb or pork). Bake about 45 minutes or until potatoes are tender and lightly browned.
 Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

BAKED POTATOES
 6 medium-large potatoes
 6 pats butter or margarine
 Salt to taste
 Ground black pepper to taste
 Select good baking potatoes of uniform size. Scrub well and remove blemishes. Wipe dry and pierce each end of potatoes with a pointed knife or skewer. Place in a baking pan and bake in a preheated very hot oven (450°F.) 30 minutes or until potatoes are tender. To test pick up potatoes with a clean towel and press with fingers. If soft they are done. Cut a gash in tops of potatoes and press upward. Serve with butter or margarine sprinkled with salt and black pepper to taste or serve with one of the following creamed mixtures.

CREAMED TUNA FISH —
 Melt 1/4 cup butter or margarine in a saucepan or hot extra flavor use the oil in which tuna fish is packed for part of the butter or margarine. Blend in 1/4 cup flour. Add 2-1/4 cups milk and mix well. Stir and cook until of medium thickness. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper and a 6-ounce can tuna fish. Heat only until hot. Serve over hot baked potatoes.
 YIELD: 6 servings.

CREAMED DRIED BEEF:
 Replace tuna fish in the above recipe with 1/4 pound dried beef. Since dried beef is salty, reduce salt to 1/4 teaspoon. YIELD: 6 servings.

CREAMED CHICKEN: Melt 1/4 cup butter or margarine in a saucepan. Blend in 1/4 cup flour. Add 1 cup chicken stock and 1-1/2 cups milk. Stir and cook until thickened. Add 1 teaspoon salt to taste, 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper and 1-1/2 cups diced cooked chicken. Heat. YIELD: 6 servings.

MEAT & GRAVY: Stir and cook 1 pound ground chuck and 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion in a skillet until meat is gray and begins to brown. Add 2-1/4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt and cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Blend 2 tablespoons flour with 1 tablespoon cold water. Add and cook until thickened. Season with ground black pepper to taste. YIELD: 6 servings.

Dallas Scene Of Teenage Event

The third annual "Miss Teenage America Pageant," a 60-minute special events program culminating in the selection of Miss Teenage America 1964, will be broadcast live from the State Fair Music Hall, Dallas, Texas, Friday, Nov. 1, (10:00-11:00 P.M., EDT) on the CBS Television Network. The program, being presented on the Network for the second successive year, will be sponsored by The Procter & Gamble Co., Inc., represented by Benton & Bowles, Inc. (This special broadcast will pre-empt "The Alfred Hitchcock Hour" on that date only.)

Bud Collier, host of "To Tell the Truth," will preside for the second year as on-stage master of ceremonies. Joining him, also for the second year, will be Allen Ludden, moderator of "Password," who will be the television host for the program. Seventeen-year-old Darla Jean Banks of Fresno, Calif., the present Miss Teenage America, will officiate at the naming of her successor.

Paul Levitan, Director of Special Events for the CBS Television Network, will produce the broadcast. Associate producer is Clarence Schimmel, with Vern Diamond as director. Richard Ellison is the writer. Charles Meeker, Jr., is the producer of the "Miss Teenage America Pageant."

More than 50 finalists, ranging in age from 13 to 17, from communities all over the United States will be gathered in Dallas for the pageant. Each must be an accredited high school student with more than average grades. The judges' final selection will be made on the basis of such factors as awareness, poise, level of achievement and personality projection as well as appearance and talent.

There will be two awards during the course of the broadcast: the Miss Teenage Talent Award and the title itself. The young lady who becomes Miss Teenage America 1964 will receive a full four-year scholarship at the college of her choice.

TV STAR SERVES AS PARADE HEAD

RICHMOND—James Drury, star of the television series "The Virginian," will be grand marshal of the 15th Annual National Tobacco Festival in Richmond Friday.

More than 100 groups of bands and marching units from Virginia and neighboring states will participate in the 8-mile route parade. More than 25 floats will also be featured.

Church's TV Program Has Long Life

TV programs may come and go but "This Is The Life" goes on forever! At least, so it seems. When The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod launched its popular series of religious dramas in the fall of 1952, no one dreamed that the church body, already well known for its 1100 station Lutheran Hour network, was launching one of the most durable TV programs the industry has seen.

Not only has "This Is The Life" proved one of the hardest of TV perennials, being on the air every week for eleven years without interruption; it also ranks among the most televised programs in the world today.

Currently carried by some 350 stations in the United States and Canada, the program is also reaching out into foreign fields—Africa, Asia, and South America. Recently carried it pierced even the Iron Curtain, when three stations in Finland began airing it on a weekly basis, and beaming it beyond her borders into Russia.

Professionally produced in Hollywood but paid for out of the mission treasuries of The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, "This Is The Life" is a dramatic portrayal of Christian faith and life in action. Many of the programs series have received national acclaim, being granted Freedom Foundation Awards, as well as various commendations from Christian groups. It is on the air both winter and summer and enjoys a weekly audience well up in the millions.

The series will begin its 12th season on Sunday, October 6. In Virginia Beach the program is carried by WTAR-TV, which has carried the series since its first release, back in 1952. Sponsoring "This Is The Life" here at the Beach, is Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, of which Rev. Elmer Medley is pastor. Prince of Peace is expecting to dedicate its new educational unit at King's Grant within the next month.

For 1964... Comet announces a car that's every bit as hot as it looks...

Comet Caliente

This is the beginning of a new kind of Comet. Hot, husky, handsome—top series in Comet's '64 lineup. Engines range up to a 4-beat Cyclone 289 cu. in. V-8 in all Comets.

"Caliente" means hot... In Spanish. And this new Comet speaks the language. It looks hot. And it is! Your choice of four engines provides the punch. The topper is a big Cyclone 289 V-8—most responsive in Comet's field. More choice.

New Comet offers 3 series... the top-of-the-line Caliente, and the economical 202 and 404 series. Ten models... all bold and racy. A wide transmission choice, too, including a smooth, silent, new Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic—unmatched at the price.

Elegance at a compact price. Prime example of Comet's new elegance is the Caliente, with the warm look of walnut on the interior trim... plus lavish biscuit-pattern upholstery.

Power steering... power brakes... AM-FM radio... air conditioning... every luxury option is available in the new Comets. You can even get... but not ask your Mercury dealer about it. Soak it up!

COMET A Mercury Product.

OIL BURNERS ADJUSTED
Comprehensive burner service contract covers annual check-up and adjustment plus other cost-saving services

OUR COMPREHENSIVE BURNER SERVICE CONTRACT helps guard you against heating worries. And it can lower heating costs these three important ways:

1. By making sure your burner is cleaned and adjusted for peak efficiency—to help give you maximum heat from every penny of fuel.
2. By catching little troubles before they can become big ones. A small adjustment or repair in your heating system now may save you many dollars later on.
3. By insuring you against unexpected repair bills — by helping to protect you against heat interruption.

For complete details about our burner service contracts — and about our many other services — call us today at the number below.

Phone Credit Cards Being Widely Used

VIRGINIA BEACH—The use of credit cards for long distance telephone calling is growing rapidly. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia reports that while in 1957, 28,600 Bell System Credit Cards were issued in Virginia, more than 63,500 are now held by C&P users. In the same period, the number of phone calls made by credit card holders has jumped from some 80,000 to over 210,000 a month.

The increasing popularity of the telephone credit card, according to L. F. Patrick, local C&P manager, is due to the convenience and simplicity with which long distance calls can be made by people when they are away from the office or home. It also provides an easier method of maintaining records on telephone calls.

Bell System Credit Cards are frequently used by residential users as well as business customers. Many firms have found the telephone credit card most convenient for their executives, salesmen and other key people who have occasion to travel. Here in Virginia, some of the larger companies have distributed several hundred to their personnel.

In making business appointments, salesmen and others use their telephone credit card to call ahead to distant city firms. This permits better planning of their itinerary for the day, thus saving time for themselves and the distant party. Many trucking companies provide their drivers with a credit card so that they can check on pickups, deliveries and for calling in cases of emergencies.

Virginia's Art

in the collection of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

Age of Elegance

The 18th Century is known, not only as the Age of Elegance, but as the Age of Craftsmanship. Why it bore these two titles is obvious from the intricately wrought silver stand and cut crystal chandelier pictured here. This Heuliez crier, made in Paris in 1776, sums up in its fluid Rococo lines and glistening faceted glass, the spirit of the Court of Louis XVI and Marie-Antoinette—a spirit which would soon vanish with the French Revolution. This very recent addition to the collection at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, through the Glasgow Fund, will soon be placed on exhibition in the European Decorative Arts Gallery at the headquarters building in Richmond.

Hilltop Area Growing As Medical Site

HILLTOP—Plans for a third medical facility near Hilltop were disclosed over the week-end when a Virginia Beach architect announced that a Medical Center is proposed for a 4-acre site on First Colonial Road.

William Edward McClurg, architect for the project, said that a 6-story doctors' building will soon be constructed about 1 1/2 miles north of Hilltop.

The building, estimated to cost approximately $400,000, will contain offices for doctors, dentists and other medical professionals, he said.

Acquisition of the 4-acre site was handled by H. O. Brown, Virginia Beach real estate broker.

The site is located on the same side of First Colonial Road, formerly called Mill Dam Road, as a proposed $750,000 100-bed nursing home for elderly patients.

It will be across the road from the planned $2,100,000 General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

Ground breaking for the Medical Center is tentatively scheduled for early spring and construction is expected to take about 18 months. It should be completed about the same time the new hospital is ready for occupancy.

The top five floors will contain 25 individual suites which will be designed to suit the needs of the tenants. The lower level will have a lounge and facilities for prescription drugists.

The site will be landscaped with formal planting areas at the base of the building and special features will include an illuminated fountain and reflecting pools.

Adequate parking space will also be provided, McClurg said. The recessed masonry and glass walls on the first floor will create a protected walkway around the base of the building.

Moore Construction Co. of Virginia Beach will build the center. John A. Hoffman & Associates will be mechanical engineering consultants and Joe D. Glenn Jr. will be structural engineer.

Master Auto Ice Contest Winners Named

PLAZA—Winners of the Master Auto Service Corporation contest to guess the melting time of a 80,000 pound pile of ice were announced this week by Robert L. Fletcher, manager of the firm's newest store on Virginia Beach Blvd. near Princess Anne Plaza.

The contest was held in conjunction with the promotion and activities for the Sept. 23rd to 25th Grand Opening of the MASC winner of the first prize of $250.00 was Lt. R. L. Venable, of 5049 Laffay Drive, Virginia Beach. Second prize winner of $100.00 was Mr. K. T. Calder, of 1818 Shelby Lane, Virginia Beach. 14-year old Danny Price, of 400 Appian Avenue, Princess Anne Plaza was winner of the $75 third prize.

The Virginia Beach Blvd. location is the third branch store for Master Auto Service Corporation in the Tidewater Area.

Ground Broken For New Church

VIRGINIA BEACH — Ground-breaking ceremonies for a new Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd building were held recently at the site located between Friends School and Linkhorn Park School on Laskin Road.

Construction on the building is scheduled to get underway in the near future and the target date for its completion has been set for July 1, 1964.

The present building site at 18th Street and Oceanfront has been purchased by Wilson R. Chapman who plans to construct a motel there next year.

Until the new church is built, the congregation will continue meeting at the present building.

On hand for the ground-breaking ceremonies were Thomas B. Bunting, chairman of the building committee, Dr. J. Luther Mauney, president of the Virginia Synod of the Lutheran Church of America, and Rev. John David Keister, former pastor of the church.

Rev. Keister was the first and only pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, which was organized in 1954. He recently accepted a position as chaplain and professor of religion at Roanoke College.

The church is presently without a pastor.

Traffic Victim Condition Good

THALIA — An 18-year-old Thalia girl, injured in a 2-car accident Sunday night, was reported in "good" condition Monday morning at DePaul Hospital.

Judith Downing was a passenger in a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Christine S. Downing of 908 Bryan Lane, when vehicle was struck by a car driven by Charles B. Kelly of the USS Lawrence.

The accident occurred about 8 p.m. Sunday on Route 58 at the Thalia intersection.

Police Capt. R. H. Stone said Monday that Kelly's car was headed west and was traveling at a high rate of speed in the east-bound lane when the collision occurred.

Det. Carl West was attempting to overtake the Kelly car because it was speeding and on the wrong side of the road when it struck the Downing car.

Kelly has been charged with reckless driving, Stone said.

The accident was investigated by Det. West and Patrolman Richard Basnight.

Sundown Is Time To Slow Down Driving

Repeating the slogan that has become the watchword of the Virginia Beach Safety Bureau's Night Driving Hazard program, Chief Reeves E. Johnson today warned Virginia Beach motorists that speed and darkness are a deadly combination. The program is being conducted in co-operation with the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

"By speed, I don't mean 60 or 65 miles per hour—or even 40," the Chief explained. "I mean a speed that's too fast for driving conditions. And dusk or darkness are conditions that call for traveling at a much lower speed than you would travel on the same road in daylight."

Chief Johnson warned that many motorists are taken unaware by the earlier dusk of October. These motorists drive by the clock and do not slacken their speed as darkness creeps up.

"Obviously," the Chief said, "a car going at a low speed can stop in a shorter distance than one going faster. This is a vital point in the night driving picture. In dusk or darkness a driver can't see as far ahead as he can in daylight. In fact, on a very dark road he can see only the length of his headlight beam. For safety's sake, then, he should travel at a speed that will make it possible for him to stop within the distance covered by this beam."

Chief Johnson also advised motorists to have their cars checked regularly, since split-second response is a must for night driving. "And, of course," he said, "alertness is double important at night. Pedestrians, cyclists, and other motorists are all more difficult to see at night. If the motorist is on the look-out he's more likely to see them in time to avoid an accident."

Motel Owners Elect Kitchin

VIRGINIA BEACH—James L. Kitchin, owner of the Idlewhyle Inn & Motel, will be installed as president of the Virginia Beach Hotel, Motel, Cottage and Apartment Association Oct. 16.

The installation will take place during a dinner meeting at the Americana Motor Hotel.

Other new officers include Mrs. George Leary of the Homestead, vice president; Grace Laxton of the Avalon Hotel, secretary; and Roy Neil of the Sea Horse Inn, treasurer.

Mother & Triplets Doing Fine

Mrs. Percy D. McKowan Jr. of Malibu went home Saturday and left her 6-day-old triplets at Virginia Beach Hospital but they are expected to be released later this week or early next week. They have been taken out of the Isolettes and are doing fine. The triplets, two boys and a girl, were born to the McKowans last Wednesday. It was the first triple birth at Virginia Beach Hospital. Third Group Supports Planned Racetrack

PRINCESS ANNE—Community support of the stock car racetrack planned for Princess Anne Borough has gained rapidly over the past few weeks.

The latest group to publicly announce support of the track is the Virginia Beach Hotel, Motel, Cottage and Apartment Association.

The track had previously been supported by the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Virginia Beach Automobile Dealers Association.

Plans for the 1 1/2-mile oval asphalt track, the only one of its size in Virginia, was announced early last month by Douglas I. Shelton of Colonial Realty Co., track agent.

The racetrack and its 50,000-seat grandstand is proposed for the northeast corner of Princess Anne and Sandbridge Roads.

Estimated cost of the land is $350,000, Shelton said, and construction of the track will cost about $1,200,000.

Groups favoring the project have stressed the need for the large concrete grandstand, which could be used for many other events.

Roy Lettore, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, said earlier that the stadium would "provide us with a place for professional football and that would bring people from all over the country to Virginia Beach... we could fill our motels every week-end."

He pointed out that because of lack of ample seating capacity, the Chamber has had to turn down two proposals within the year that would have nestled the resort much national publicity. The two events would have been televised from Virginia Beach.

Gene Meekins, president of the Automobile Dealers Association, has also said that the track would

Antique Show Set Oct. 24-27

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Fifth Annual Antiques Show and Sale will be held Oct. 24-27 at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center under the sponsorship of the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach.

The annual event has gained in popularity over the past four years until it now ranks as one of the most outstanding antique shows in the state.

All display areas have already been reserved from dealers all over Virginia and nearby states and some will come from such distant states as Connecticut, Ohio and Florida.

Among the more valuable displays will be found an original Whistler etching, an original George Inness oil painting, signed and authenticated, items from the estate of Civil War Governor John Gregory Smith, authentic presidential china with the seal of the United States and many, many more.

The displays will also feature large and small pieces of furniture, guns, pewter, glass, silver, brass and other antique pieces, as well as old carnival glass which, though not considered antique, are a tad this year with buyers.

A large selection of new books on antiques will be offered for sale early, by popular demand, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company will again feature its exhibit depicting a way of life in yesteryear.

Mrs. Zida Artrip, lecturer and consultant on shells and fossils, will demonstrate the painstaking work of restoring marine "antiques." Mrs. Artrip, owner of the Nautilus Shell Shop, is also a poet of some renown.

Proceeds from the show will be used to complete the club's $17,500 pledge to the planned General Hospital of Virginia Beach, which will construct and furnish the new hospital's chapel.

The show will be opened from noon to 10 p.m. Oct. 24-26 and from 1 to 6 p.m. Oct. 27. This year's food specialty in the Hospitality Corner will be sweet potato pudding.

State Park May Double Capacity

LYNNHAVEN—Seashore State Park may double its camping facilities by the time next vacation season rolls around. The park's new superintendent, Johnny A. Ligon, said Thursday that he hopes to add 200 new campsites by that time.

"Several hundred campers had to be turned away from the ranger at Bear Creek Lake Recreation Area in Cumberland County, arrived in Virginia Beach Sept. 13 to assume his duties at the park.

Ligon says he enjoys working with campers. "They represent all walks of life and come from all parts of the world. They're quite a variety of people," he said.

His wife, Marjorie and their three children live with him at the park. "The kids have been having a wonderful time with all the sand and seashells," he said.

Ligon replaces former park superintendent W. W. McNeill who will become superintendent of the larger Pocomantas State Park near Richmond.

In addition to his duties at the park Ligon also has under his jurisdiction two wildlife areas on the eastern shore. These are state-owned Parker's Marsh near Onancock and Wreck Island just offshore near Oyster.

Ligon plans to visit the two areas soon to survey their possibilities for recreation and will continue to make periodic checks there.

POLICE BREAK BURGLARY RING; HEARING TODAY

VIRGINIA BEACH—Four adults and three juveniles are scheduled to appear before Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court Judge L. Travis Branch today on 43 charges of burglary.

Police said that the seven have worked together in various burglaries, involving at least 11 places, since October of last year.

The four adults have been identified as Lyman A. Charles, 22, of 1127 Carver Avenue; General Lee Turner, 23, of 1905 Washington Avenue; Floyd Overton, 18, of 1917 Washington Avenue; and Richard Paul Davis, 18, of 136-A S. Bird Neck Road.

Det. E. L. Knowles said last week that only one of the group, a 17-year-old, has participated in all the burglaries. The youth has been charged with six burglaries, one attempted burglary and two petty larcenies.

The first break in cracking what police have described as a burglary gang, came Sept. 24 when four youths were involved in a traffic mishap while fleeing an attempted burglary.

At that time police were led on a 90-mile-an-hour automobile chase along Potters Road that ended when the speeding car

RUTH OLIVER WINS IN SEWING EVENT

BAYSIDE—Ruth Anne Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Oliver, Winchuck Road, Virginia Beach, was the second place winner in the recently held "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest sponsored by the Virginia Wool Market Association and the American Wool Council held last week at the Hotel Jefferson, Richmond, Va.

Ruth Ann Oliver

Ruth Anne and her mother journeyed to Richmond to enter her green wool shift dress, made with a jacket and attached skirt, but they didn't wait for the awards to be given as they were rushing to her cousin "Billy" Oliver's wedding. Ruth Anne was surprised and pleased to hear of her good fortune.

In talking to her about the contest, she said that she heard about it through her 4H Club work and the assistant County Agent, Mrs. Lucy Oliver, helped the girls with this project.

Other girls from Virginia Beach taking part in the contest were: Miss Pat Brickhouse, Sharon Braun, Susan Braun, and Theresa Pecoski. They are all students at Princess Anne High and Kellam High.

The Awards Program was held September 21 at the Jefferson Hotel at which time the winners were awarded ribbons. They will receive wool as their prizes.

Ruth Anne is presently serving as president of the Bayside Community 4H Club. According to her, the 4H clubs are trying to reach everyone now and not just the farm young people. Citizenship, Safety, and Leadership are just a few of their projects.

Although history often paints a glowing picture of Egypt's contribution to the early days of medicine, the simple truth is that the Egyptians looked a great opportunity to speed up the painfully slow progress of ancient medicine.

There is no denying that the Egyptians brought embalming and mummification to a high degree of perfection. However, the nature of mummification which saw their art practiced on untold millions of their people, gave no impetus to pathology for the Egyptian neighbor observed nor dissected. Hence, as Egypt on the threshold of great medical advance stopped just short of further knowledge which would have been a notable legacy to posterity.

CITY FOOTBALL RESULTS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach's undefeated, co-defending champions in District One, Group Two, projected themselves right back into the title picture with a thrilling 20-14 triumph over James Blair last Friday night.

Blair jumped into a 14 to 0 lead early in the second period and the Hawks went to work to knot the score at 14-14 at half-time.

In the final period Virginia Beach scored the clincher, but failed on the extra point try.

It was the first defeat for Blair and the first time they had been scored on this year.

In other games locally Cox edged Kellam in a thriller, 12-7, at the Cox high school stadium. The winners scored on a pass play with only 88 seconds left on the clock.

Princess Anne defeated

Churchland in a wild scoring contest at Churchland. The difference was a field goal with the final score reading P. A. 29, Churchland 26.

Union-Kempville rallied to down Mary N. Smith, 21-7. UK pulled twice in the final period to pull away from its VIA rival.

Of Interest To Veterans

Earlier this year Congress granted a 10% increase in dependency and indemnity compensation to the children and dependents of men who died in service or of service-connected conditions. Nothing was done at that time for the widows of the service-connected dead because their compensation is tied in with the pay of active duty servicemen.

At this time it appears almost certain that the widows of veterans whose deaths resulted from service will realize about a 10% increase across the board. The Senate Finance Committee has passed a House approved measure to increase basic monthly indemnity compensation by $6.00, and the pending military pay raise bill is expected to meet with little opposition.

Under present law widows of service-connected deceased veterans are paid $112 monthly plus 12% of the basic pay of the deceased. Under the new bills this rate would be increased to $120 plus 12% of the pending military pay increase.

Widows of non-service-connected dead veterans are not affected in any way.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th Street and Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, between the hours of noon and 4 p.m.

THE GENTLE ART OF DOCKING

By Hank Bowman

Several years ago my wife and I were returning to New York City on a large cruise ship. Scuttlebutt was quickly confirmed that there was a tug strike in New York Harbor.

Passengers formed pools, betting whether the captain could successfully dock the huge ship at her berth without the help of tugs.

To the disappointment of those who laid their money on the destruction side of the board, our skipper brought his unwieldy craft in unaided as though he were docking a 16-foot runabout.

The captain had studied wind, tide and current carefully. He maneuvered into the proper spot at the right time so that all three factors worked for him.

A knowledge of the basic principles of the effect of propeller rotation, rudder, wind, tide and current will help any small boat handler.

All power boats steer from the stern. When the wheel of a boat is turned to the right the stern swings to the left.

The bow will move in the direction of the wheel's turn. The stern, instead of following docilely in the path of the bow as the rear wheels of an automobile follow the front wheels, will swing in the opposite direction like a car skidding broadside.

Any boatman should take this into consideration and not delay too long in steering away from an obstacle or the stern of his boat may clobber it even though he clears it with his bow.

Inboard helmsteers should be particularly aware of the direction of rotation of their boat's propellers. A right handed propeller is one which, viewed from the stern, turns in a clockwise direction.

Inboard boats so equipped will usually back down to the left, the stern moving to port, sometimes despite rudder position.

Left hand rotating propellers will cause an inboard to arc to starboard in backing.

Golf Tourney At Oceana NAS

OCEANA—The Oceana Naval Air Station will hold its Amateur Open Golf Tournament October 17-18 at the NAS Oceana Golf Course.

Prizes totalling $600 in golf merchandise will be awarded in each of three divisions competing in 18 hole medal play.

The divisions will use ¾ handicaps as follows: A Division, 0-6 handicaps; B Division, 7-16 handicaps; C Division, 17 and up.

Entries must be accompanied by a five-dollar entry fee and should be made by noon, October 15. The course will be open for one free practice round October 14, 15, and 16.

Judicious use of the throttle can offset this steering shortcoming of the single-engine inboard. For example, in a boat which is difficult or impossible to back to starboard, give the boat hard left rudder, then rev the engine for just a second in forward gear. This will kick the stern in the desired direction without giving the boat headway. Then back down.

Both wind and current can give an alarming momentum to a boat. If you are broadside to the wind and current, there is no means to brake their action so have fenders ready.

Whenever possible a docking approach should be made against the effect of wind or current, whichever is stronger, preferably against both.

If you must dock with wind and current adding to your momentum, come in slowly with wind and current astern. Use your engine in reverse gear as a brake.

New Waterfowl Guide Released

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A new, full-color waterfowl guide, "Ducks at a Distance," has been released by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and it looks like a natural for the bookshelf of every waterfowl hunter, especially in view of the many species restrictions in this year's regulations.

Deviating from the classic "bird book" approach, the 24-page booklet portrays the birds in attitudes most commonly seen by hunters, stressing identification by shape, color pattern, voice, flight patterns, rising views and flock formations.

Illustrated by noted wildlife artist Bob Hines, the booklet shows waterfowl in their fall migration plumage rather than the breeding plumage more often used.

The guide's usefulness is not limited to hunters as most bird enthusiasts strive to identify waterfowl under the same adverse conditions which face the hunters. "Ducks at a Distance" is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. for 25 cents per copy. For the convenience of clubs and organizations, a 25% discount is allowed on bulk orders of 100 or more copies.

Burkhardt In Golf Finals

CAVALIER—Defending champion Orion Burkhardt used a par on the 20th hole to edge past Wise Ames in the semifinals of the Cavalier club championship tournament. Tom Ptkin gained the other finals berth by defeating Al Rostus, 2 and 1.

Ames rallied from behind with a neatly-executed birdie two on the 18th to square the match. He sailed a No. 3 wood tee shot over the edge of the lake and on to the green 12 feet from the cup. He holed the putt for the birdie.

On the 20th, Ames lost when he hit his second shot into a sand trap and needed three to get down.

N. Fallwell (85-7-78), Roy Market (78-0-78) and Neal Boucher (77-4-77) won the weekend blind draw.

The summaries: Championship Flight (Semifinals)—Orion Burkhardt def. Wise Ames, 1 up, 20 holes; Tom Ptkin def. Al Rostus, 2 and 1.

First Flight — Bob Davis def. Cox Joyner, 2 and 1; G. B. Law def. John Taylor, 5 and 4.

Second Flight — Dudley King def. B. T. White, 4 and 3 (finales).

Third Flight — Bill Ferrell def. C. Dove, 2 and 1 (finales).

Fourth Flight — D. Simmons def. Jim Moody, 5 and 4 (finales).

Area Travel Exhibit Planned

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—A large regional display designed to promote tourist attractions in Maryland, Delaware and the Tidewater section of Virginia to some 125,000 potential area visitors will be a feature of next spring's annual Philadelphia Travel and Vacation Show.

The colorful mass exhibit by local areas was assured this week when the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel announced its participation in the huge April 4-11 exposition in Philadelphia's Convention Center.

Visitors will be attending the exposition from the four-state area of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

The show will feature a large array of entertainment and exhibits from the fields of travel, vacation, recreation and the outdoors. Also highlighted will be an international stage show starring professional entertainers from tourist spots around the nation and world.

Safeguarding Business Independence

In the United States, some 13,000 commercial banks perform a manifold variety of services. Much of this activity is of broad and butler importance to almost everyone. Yet the average person is not aware of it.

A major banking function is to even out the peaks and valleys between production and consumption. A good share of the Main Street business across the land is done on credit. Car dealers buy shipments of automobiles now to sell later. Stores must build up stocks which are sold over a period of months, and sometimes years. Farmers need fertilizer, seed and equipment to produce crops for sale later.

So it goes. There is hardly a transaction of significance, affecting small businesses or large, little towns or great cities, that doesn't involve the use of credit somewhere along the line. That is the function of the great American banking system. Then, to come down to the individual, banks offer other and necessary services. They provide, at reasonable cost, the wherewithal to build a home, to buy a car, and to meet a sizeable list of wants and needs.

The nation now is thinking in international terms. Its commerce is world wide. Here, too, credit must be one of the roots of achievement and growth. This means an enlargement in the role of commercial banking, but no basic change in policy. As Paul B. Trescott writes in his recently published book, "Financing American Enterprise," "... the kind of performance needed to meet the new challenge of the world economy is what has always been required for growth and progress within the domestic economy: As much as ever, we need enterprise and initiative in the business world, combined with financial institutions which will supply capital where it is most needed to give scope and effectiveness to these qualities."

Private commercial banks are a primary protection against greater government domination of the peoples' business affairs. If the financial facilities of competitive banking were not available, individuals and businesses would have to look to government for such services at great cost to the freedom and initiative that built our past and can secure our future.

Go-Ahead Industry

There is abundant opportunity for pleasant, constructive and profitable careers in retailing for young people with the right kind of aptitudes and education. And leading retail businesses and organizations are taking an active part in stimulating interest in their industry, and in providing concrete encouragement for promising young employees.

As an example, the National Association of Food Chains has announced the award of 55 scholarships for study in three college food distribution programs. A number of other retailing and supplier organizations are cooperating. Most of the young men who have been chosen are presently employed by food retailers, and will leave their jobs in September for the colleges, where they will spend nine months. Opportunity in this field, of course, is not limited to the food branch of the retail industry. Variety stores, department stores and every kind of retail outlet all offer excellent inducements. Major retail business today needs a long list of skills, many of which require special education or abilities. And the road to the top is open—it's a fact that large numbers of the top executives in typical chain and retail stores began at the very bottom. Merit took them up the rungs of the ladder.

Here's a go-ahead industry which young people who are considering a variety of possible careers would do well to investigate.

Former Resident Makes History In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—A former Virginia Beach resident recently gained wide publicity in the San Diego area for becoming the first woman in that city's history to be sworn into the Army by a Navy officer.

Miss Anna Sliger, 24, a graduate of Princess Anne High School in Virginia Beach, was sworn into the Army by her father, Lt. Cmdr. Glenn Sliger, USN, (ret.).

A detailed story of the ceremony appeared in the San Diego Union newspaper.

The article quoted Miss Sliger as saying she had investigated all the Armed Forces in 1961 and was ready to join the Army in San Francisco when she learned she was only three credits short of graduating from San Francisco State.

So she gave up the idea and went home to Point Loma where she has been doing graduate work at California Western University. She has also been working in the drama department of Harvey Junior High School there as a teacher's aide.

Miss Sliger was sworn in as a second lieutenant. She plans to devote at least two years to the Army and hopes to go into recreation and entertainment work on a European assignment through the Army's Special Service program.

Parents Visit Midshipmen

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Three Virginia Beach midshipmen had a welcome change of pace in their summer training at the U. S. Naval Academy when their parents visited them in August.

They are: M 4/C Ashley J. Beavers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Beavers of 8502 Ocean Front; M 4/C Alan L. Nilsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Nilsen of 201 Lone Pine Rd. and M 4/C Pierre C. Webb, son of Navy Capt. and Mrs. Charles D. Webb of 1808 Wakefield Drive.

The visit was made during Parents Open-House Weekend at the Academy. The weekend gives the midshipmen preparing to enter the Academy for the first time an opportunity to explain their new way of life to their families.

The understanding gained by this visit of the midshipmen's problems enables their families to better assist them during their four years as midshipmen.

The midshipmen entered the academy on June 26 for probe summer training which prepares them for Academy life. Upon graduation in four years they will be commissioned ensign in the Navy.

Galilee Men To Meet Wednesday

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Men of Galilee will hold their first dinner meeting of the Fall season on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall of the Church.

Rev. Crigger of the new Mission Church at Princess Anne Plaza will be the guest speaker. Plans for the year's programs and projects will be discussed, with any new ideas welcomed.

This year, for the first time, the men will prepare their own dinner through committees and the ladies of the church will decorate and serve.

All new men of the church are especially urged to attend and make themselves known.

Show Judges To Meet Monday

All Bellamy Manor residents are urged to attend.

By Paul B. MacLean

"Success is counted sweetest by them who've succeeded..."

Success is something we all strive for at one time or another and in our own manner. Unfortunately, we tend to pay success too highly a price; to attach to it a significance of attainment which puts it beyond reach of all but a very few. Success, actually, is relative. It is on many levels and knows many shades. It is, by degree, within the reach of all.

NORFOLK WATER TO FLOW THROUGH VIRGINIA BEACH LINES

FINAL ACTION NOW UP TO CITY COUNCILS' VOTE

VIRGINIA BEACH—Next week may become one of the most important weeks for this resort city since the voters decided last year that Virginia Beach should merge with Princess Anne County.

The water situation, the largest issue facing the enlarged city since the merger, may come to an end at scheduled meetings of both Virginia Beach and Chesapeake City Councils.

The joint water committee for the two new cities Wednesday accepted Norfolk's proposal to supply water to the cities at the established rate for the next five years.

This is providing, of course, that the cities do not establish their own water systems during the 5-year period and that they purchase the Norfolk-owned water lines located within their boundaries.

The committee's acceptance must now be passed by both Virginia Beach and Chesapeake City Councils before it becomes effective.

Virginia Beach Council is scheduled to meet Monday at 2 p.m. and Chesapeake is scheduled to meet on Tuesday. It is expected that the committee's recommendation to accept the 5-year offer will be presented to the councils at these meetings.

If the two councils pass the recommendation, water should soon be flowing to the subdivisions that have suffered an 18-month drought while negotiations have been underway.

The joint committee has accepted the proposal, now the ball will be passed to its city councils. Will they endorse the committee's decision? Probably so. The committee was appointed by both councils to find a solution to the water problem, which it has done, and it hardly seems feasible that the councils would now disregard the committee's decision.

According to Mayor Roy B. Martin Jr. in his letter to the committee, Norfolk City Council has already expressed willingness to enter the 5-year agreement with the other two cities if they accept Norfolk's terms on purchase of water lines.

Since the committee has accepted the proposal as presented, it would indicate that the only legal standing in the way of a final agreement is notification from Virginia Beach and Chesapeake City Councils that they are in accord with the terms of the contract and the committee's decision.

The meetings Monday and Tuesday should ring the curtain down on the controversial water issue and bring to an end the biggest problem facing the two new cities.

King's Grant League Elects New Officers

KING'S GRANT — Charles P. Eldridge III has been elected president of the King's Grant Community League.

The election took place at the first meeting of the season when the group celebrated its first birthday with a light buffet dinner.

Other new officers include Charles W. Taylor, vice president; Mr. James B. Hutchinson, secretary; and L. J. Britton, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are Carlyle Rivenhach, Lloyd Onley, Hugh Saul and Dr. Curtis L. Hall Jr.

The league has several projects underway and plans were outlined at the first meeting. Included in the projects are beautification of Lake Forest Park; the possible formation of an athletic league for children in the area; and a feasibility study on acquiring a larger plot of land for the future construction of a community league building.

King's Grant residents interested in working on committees for these projects are urged to contact any of the officers or directors.

Church Victim Second Time

PLAZA — Thieves broke into the Princess Anne Baptist Church Tuesday night for the second time in about three months.

The Rev. Melvin J. Hughes, pastor, said the thieves apparently entered the church by crying open a window in the nursery. He said nothing had been taken because there "was nothing there to take." The church has not kept petty cash in the building since the last robbery, he explained. At that time thieves made off with $12.60 in small change.

The pastor's study was broken into in Tuesday night's burglary and the cabinets and drawers were ransacked.

Rev. Hughes said there was about $25 damage to the building.

Classes Still Registering

VIRGINIA BEACH—Registration is still open for the Monday night Safe Boating classes although the first class got underway this week.

The classes are sponsored by the Lynnhaven U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and are held in the Virginia Electric and Power Company auditorium at Arctic Ave. and 18th St. each Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Alfred A. Brown, Auxiliary Commander, said that persons wishing to take the 8-lesson series may register next Monday if they like because this week's registration was below expectations.

"The first lesson was devoted mostly to registration, so late comers will not have missed too much," he said.

Only 15 persons showed up Monday night. The classes are designed to accommodate 40.

The series will cover fundamentals of safe boating, basic small boatmanship, marine first aid,

CURTAIN RISES TONIGHT ON 'HAPPY BIRTHDAY' IN NEW PLAYHOUSE

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Happy Birthday" seems an appropriate title for the first play of the Little Theatre season. Especially so since the play opens tonight in the Little Theatre's new home at 203 17th St.

Members of the Little Theatre have been working since early summer, renovating the old movie theatre in the Courtyard on 17th St. The curtain will rise there for the first time tonight at 8:30 p.m.

"Happy Birthday," a comedy by Anita Loos, will star Jane Garrison who was last seen at the Beach in the Sandpiper's presentation of "Brigadoon."

The show will run five nights: three performances beginning tonight and ending Saturday, and two performances the following Friday and Saturday. All performances are at 8:30.

The first two nights are sold out to near capacity according to the theatre's executive committee who produced the first show.

"We have been delighted and gratified at the response of the citizens of Virginia Beach," says Bill Britton, president of the group.

Tryouts for the second show of the season, "Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, will be held Oct. 14 and 15 at 8 p.m. at the Courtyard Theatre. The play will be directed by Larry Williams, with set design by Herbert Harrell.

"All those interested in trying out for this play are requested to come to the theatre and read for the casting committee," says Sam Hakim, casting chairman.

Johnson In Texas City

HOUSTON, Tex. — Chief Reeves E. Johnson of the Safety Bureau of Virginia Beach is among some 3,000 law enforcement executives attending the 70th Annual Conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police which will be concluded today in Houston.

Delegates to the 6-day conference represent a membership of more than 5,000 from the U. S., Canada and 74 other free world countries.

Workshops and seminars on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday covered many phases of police work, including personnel leadership development; juvenile delinquency and youth crime; arrest, search and seizure; civil rights; policing controlled-access and liaison between police and industrial security officers.

GREAT BOOKS TO BE DISCUSSED

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Great Books Discussion Group will get together at Country Day School, 3603 Atlantic Ave., tonight at 8 p.m., to discuss Virgil's "Aeneid."

John Gaskin will lead the discussion.

The selection for October 24 is St. Thomas Aquinas' "On Man," to be led by Mrs. A. E. Lukasik.

Interested persons are cordially invited to attend. For further information, call Mrs. Leo Hoarty, GA 8-1066.

Tragedy Prevails In City's Juvenile Court

BY RUBY JEAN PHILLIPS

VIRGINIA BEACH—The small room sits behind Municipal Court in a new wing of what will probably always be known as Princess Anne Court House but is now officially City Hall, out of the way of most traffic that parades in a relentless stream through the building's halls. Its walls are devoid of the usual office decor that attempts cheerfulness.

This is the private hearing room of the city's Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court and it is here that youngsters must face up to their mistakes, whether they be minor or major, and couples, too often attempting a solution to marital problems they secretly know cannot be solved, seek the advice and ruling of a third, disinterested party, in this case Judge L. Travis Branch.

The cases that come before this court can be both irritating and heartbreaking. Irritating when parents or married couples fail to see their own mistakes; heartbreaking when a child is caught in the tragic aftermath of a broken home or has fallen into a misdeed that obviously originated from lack of parental love, discipline or interest.

Whatever the case, there is sadness and emotion and usually tears as the accused becomes aware of the embarrassment and pain he has brought upon himself and those he loves.

Joint Water Committee Accepts Norfolk's 5-Year Contract Offer

By Bob Baldwin

VIRGINIA BEACH—Water negotiators from Virginia Beach and Chesapeake agreed Tuesday to accept the proposal of Norfolk Mayor Roy B. Martin, Jr. to enter a five-year retail water contract. The agreement, if approved by the city councils of the three cities involved, will start water flowing for the first time in 18 months to private sub-divisions in Virginia Beach which have been without Norfolk water during the long-standing dispute.

In a letter to Martin from Charles B. Cross, chairman of the joint Virginia Beach-Chesapeake water negotiating committee, Cross said his committee agreed on the following:

● That Norfolk would extend service to new customers on lines to be added to the distribution system at the same rate now charged to existing customers.

● That neither the City of Virginia Beach nor Chesapeake would establish its own water system for a period of five years.

● That the two new cities agree to purchase at a fair appraised price all water distribution lines owned by Norfolk in their cities at such time as they establish their own water system.

The agreement was in reply to a letter from Martin to Cross earlier this week in which Martin said that Norfolk's City Council was willing to enter a five-year contract under those conditions.

Under the agreement, any new lines in the new cities would be constructed by Virginia Beach or Chesapeake without cost to Norfolk. Norfolk would continue to provide service to its existing customers in Virginia Beach Borough and elsewhere at the present rates during the five-year period.

Norfolk's offer of a five-year price below 30 cents per thousand gallons would require Norfolk's taxpayers to make up the deficit contract was in marked contrast to its original 25-year offer made by City Manager Thomas F. Maxwell in February, 1962. Since that time Norfolk has offered to sign a 10 or 15 year pact.

Martin's latest offer was made following a meeting last Wednesday between Norfolk officials and the joint water committee. At that time Virginia Beach and Chesapeake offered to buy water from Norfolk at a bulk rate of 22 cents per 1,000 gallons to redistribute to their own citizens.

In proposing the 5-year contract, Martin emphasized that any through some other source. Martin said City Council was willing to accept a shorter term contract in view of what is termed a "long and unfortunate stalemate."

Juniors Will Hear Singletary

THALIA—The regular monthly meeting of the Cavalier Jr. Woman's Club will be held at Thalia Methodist Church tonight at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker for the evening will be James D. Singletary, Jr. His talk "Parents of Adequate Children" will bring out the need of parents to seek guidance in directing their children in the development of their personalities.

Mr. Singletary is the executive director of the Norfolk Council on Alcoholism, of the Tidewater Association of Mental Health, and of the Tidewater Cancer Society. He is a graduate of William and Mary College and of Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, and of Richmond Professional Institute. He attended the University of Illinois and Columbia University. He is a clergyman and holds a Masters Degree in Vocational Rehabilitation counseling.

It is hoped that no member will miss this fine talk.

The main business of the evening will be to elect delegates to the Tidewater District Meeting of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held in Williamsburg on October 16.

Because members of Jr. Women's Clubs graduate each year, new members are always welcome. Anyone interested in joining with the Cavalier Jr. Woman's Club in their various community projects, please contact Mrs. Walter H. Harper, 140 North Pine Tree Drive in Thalia.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Much Is At Stake

The Securities and Exchange Commission's newly-issued report on the workings of the stock markets should not, in the words of that agency's chairman, "... impair public confidence in the securities markets. . . ."

Those are pleasant words. But this report (which runs to 2,100 pages), many of them dealing with extremely technical matters) is critical of some long-established stock market procedures and practices. A number of the recommendations, should they be followed, would result in significant changes in institutions which serve some 17 million investors and which, over the years, have made an excellent record in initiating reforms.

No one objects to regulations needed to curb abuses. If new ones are now in order, they should be imposed. But there is certainly reason to doubt if regulation can be 100 per cent effective in eliminating every debatable action, whether major or minor, without producing inertia, lack of enterprise and, very likely, lack of responsiveness to changing conditions. This is true as a generality and it is certainly true of regulation of securities markets. As the New York Times observes, in a very moderately worded editorial, "The report is primarily motivated by the laudable desire of protecting the public, but the economy—and the public—is best served by a liquid and responsive market which requires a certain degree of speculative activity and a wide variety of competition. On this score there is some question that the study takes full account of what makes the market tick."

Much is at stake here—for that "liquid and responsive" market of which the Times speaks is essential to the stimulated industrial investment we all want.

It's A Bargain

It certainly won't surprise anyone to be told that the prices of just about everything we buy and use have increased in the last 10 years. Specifically, general commodity costs rose by an average of 13.1 per cent in the 10 years ending in 1962.

But there are exceptions to the trend. Gasoline, which practically everyone uses every day, is one of them. The average service station price for a gallon of regular gasoline (excluding taxes, over which no one in the oil business has any control) was 4.3 per cent less in 1962 than it was 10 years before.

This speaks volumes for the efficiency of the industry. It must pay higher wages, higher exploration and drilling costs, higher prices all along the long line from well to retail outlet. But it has found ways and means to offset those increases, and to pass savings on to the tens of millions of American gasoline consumers.

It also speaks volumes for oil's competitiveness. Every element in the industry, right down to a small town service station, competes for business and customer favor every day of its life. And the competition is not limited to price. Quality and service are major competitive weapons too.

It's often said that gasoline is a bargain. The statistics prove it.

Council Need Stressed Among Woman's Clubs

BAYSIDE — The President's Council meeting of the Tidewater District Woman's Clubs was held Thursday, September 26, at the Portsmouth Woman's Club.

One of the guest speakers for the meeting was Mrs. Miles Winters who talked on the advantages of having a Presidents Council, which enables the presidents of the Womens Clubs to get together and know each other better. She also said that the Council can serve as a clearing house for ideas in Womens Club work and that all clubs should be encouraged to bring more of their members to the council meetings.

The group voted to push as a special project "A uniform age for issuing teenagers driving permits." A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

Mrs. W. H. Twiford, president of the Ocean Park Woman's Club, pinch-hitting for Mrs. Cam Farmer, Permanent Home Chairman of the Tidewater District, talked on the need for funds for the Permanent Home which has been planned for Richmond. She suggested ways that the clubs could step up their funds for the Permanent Home.

Youth Group Attends Rally

BAYSIDE—The Youth Fellowship of the Bayside Christian Church chartered a bus and twenty-eight members of the Youth Fellowship attended a Rally on Sunday afternoon, October 6, at Bethlehem Christian Church, Suffolk.

Virginia Beach Clubs and their representatives at the meeting were: Mrs. Arthur James and Mrs. Gilbert Keene from the Cape Henry Woman's Club; Mrs. Chester Bamforth, Mrs. Richard Humphires and Mrs. E. L. Hudgins from the Kempsville Woman's Club; Mrs. J. Douglas Wilson, Princess Anne Woman's Club; Mrs. W. H. Twiford, Ocean Park Woman's Club; Mrs. T. R. Burnett, Mrs. R. A. Arnold and Mrs. H. B. Slough, Bayside Junior Woman's Club; Mrs. C. Samuel Mason and Mrs. V. K. Almond, Jr., Virginia Beach Junior Woman's Club.

CIVIC LEAGUE TO DISCUSS PLAYGROUND

POINT O' WOODS—The Point O' Woods Civic League will meet at Eastern Shore Chapel Monday at 8 p.m.

Plans for a proposed playground for the community will be discussed. One and a half acres of land have been donated to the league by the developer, E. F. Goldrich, for the playground.

All members are urged to attend this important meeting.

BASKIN IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I ain't counted, but I betcha that the amount of money that has been lost by people betting against the Yankees would be enough to bail the Government out of debt. Mr. Kennedy and his brothers could then go on back up to the land of the bean and cod and play touch football, — or count their money — or do whatever the heck they were doin' before they decided that we needed them to tell us what to do about everything under the sun.

I've even have made a few wagers and carried home an odd dollar or two by taking the Yankees against a member of that rather large segment of the population who will put down hard cash in the hope that the Yankees will drop dead.

I even have a wife at home who hates the Yankees down to their spikes and who goes into a decline when they win. She won't even watch them on television. Instead, she spends game time sticking pins in wax dolls that resemble Maris and Mantle. She has done such a good job this year that the American Association of Witches and Warlocks has asked her to head up their club. Both Mantle and Maris have been out most of the year, and what she did to Maris during the series shouldn't happen even to a Yankee.

Yesterday was the day to end all days for the Yankee Haters of that World. Those Bums beat them four straight, and the powerful Yanks couldn't beg but four runs total. The Yankee haters would gladly stomp the country for Mr. Koufax, Mr. Podres and Mr. Drysdale should they decide to take the country away from the Kennedys. Now that I think about it, that ain't no bad idea. They certainly couldn't do any worse, and any threesome that can throw like that would have no trouble throwing Bobby back to Big Joe and Rose.

I can't claim that I knew this was gonna happen. I'd love to, but I didn't. I thought those Bums would drop dead and the Big City Boys would drift home. They didn't, though. They looked pretty sad. It was worth it. The old-fashioned Yankee hater has had his day, and I—for one—sure am glad. Maybe now they'll stop talking about Yankee Luck.

Just you wait until next year!!

Your Social Security

Quarterly social security tax returns must be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue by the end of October, 1963, for the previous three months, Harvey J. Ridinger, Social Security Field Representative for Virginia Beach, reminded employers today.

It is important that social security tax returns be filed on time and that they be complete. They must show the correct amount of earnings paid each worker during the quarter and his correct name and social security number. Otherwise, the worker and his family may not be fully protected in the event of the worker's disability, retirement, or death.

Earnings of employees of a trade or business must be reported each quarter regardless of the amount of wages paid. Cash wages of domestic employees and other household workers must be reported by each employer who pays cash wages of $50 or more to an employee during the calendar quarter.

Employers who have questions about their quarterly social security reports, or have need for tax reporting forms, should get in touch with their Internal Revenue Service Office. Questions regarding social security benefits or other information on social security should be directed to the nearest Social Security Administration office.

Training School Each Thursday Fish Rodeo

BAYSIDE—Rev. Earl Farrell, pastor of Bayside Christian Church accompanied by Mr. Roy Twiford, Frank Treadway, Don and Tom Liverman, and Mr. Harold Williams attended the Churchmen's Fellowship meeting which was held in Franklin, Va. According to Rev. Farrell, two hundred and fifty men were in attendance at the Rally.

Delegates from the church will attend the Fall Rally of the Pilgrims Fellowship which will be held Sunday afternoon October 6, at Suffolk. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Smith, Jr., are counselors for this group.

Several women of the church will attend the Fall Rally of the Woman's Fellowship which will be held Thursday, October 3, at Suffolk.

Bill Simmons, Field Secretary, was guest speaker.

The Leaders Training School continues each Thursday night at the Bayside Christian Church at 7:30 p.m. and is open to all members.

Sponsored By Beach Group

LYNNHAVEN—The Virginia Beach Angler's Club will conduct a Speckled Trout and Rock Rodeo, Sunday, October 13th at Lynnhaven Inlet. This event will be open to the public for a $1 entrance fee.

Headquarters will be at Poole's Fishing Center and contestants may register starting at 6:00 a.m. with the registration booth closing at 11:00 a.m. Fishing hours will be from 6:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. with weighing in to follow.

Contestants are required to use rod, reel and artificial lures and may fish only one line at a time. Eligible fish must be at least 12 inches long to qualify for a prize. Lynnhaven Inlet and its tributaries which include Lynnhaven River, Broad and Linkhorn Bays and Long Creek constitute the fishing areas of the contest and anglers must fish from boats. Those desiring to reserve boats in advance may do so by contacting Winston Athey at Poole's.

Prizes will be awarded to the anglers catching the largest of each species and the most of each species. Other special awards will be made at the discretion of the tournament committee.

CAPT. DAVIS NEW CARRIER BOSS

BAYSIDE—Capt. Richard J. Davis of Bayside will relieve Capt. Harry L. Hartly Jr. of command of the aircraft carrier USS Randolph (CVS-15) today. Capt. Hartly will assume new duties in the office of the Secretary of the Navy in Washington.

Capt. Davis is holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with Gold Star and the Navy Commendation and various campaign medals, including the Korean Presidential Citation.

He resides with his wife and three children, Suzanne, Carolyn, Linda Victoria and Stephen Clark at 1705 Westfield Road, Bayside.

KELLAM, HAWKS OPEN RIVALRY HERE FRIDAY

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Kellam-Virginia Beach football game Friday night at the Virginia Beach Stadium tops the local scholastic grid schedule this week. The game will be a home game for Kellam although it will be played on the Seahawk gridiron.

at Shelton Park

The amazing Seahawks put on a dazzling display last week to upend favored James Blair in one of those come-from-behind affairs. The Hawks rate a strong favorite over Kellam, but the Black Knights have given a good account of themselves in this, their first varsity season. They lost a heartbreaker to Cox last week in the final few seconds after leading 7-0 most of the way.

Virginia Beach is undefeated in District One, Group Two play. Their Coach, Carlton Bowyer has described them as "amazing". He says "we still don't have anything."

As usual Princess Anne is rolling along after its opening loss to Great Bridge. The Cavaliers trimmed previously undefeated Churchland, 29-26, last week mainly on the strong passing arm of Buster O'Brien and the kicking of Charlie Carr.

Cox, winner over Kellam last week, plays at home Friday night.

MEMBER-GUEST GOLF TOURNAMENT STARTS

VIRGINIA BEACH—The first annual member-guest golf tournament is scheduled for the Cavalier Golf and Yacht club this weekend, it has been announced.

Two-man teams will compete in the two day event. Each member will play with an out-of-town guest.

First round of play is scheduled for Saturday and the second and final 18 holes will be played on Sunday. There will be low gross and low net winners.

Pigeon Race Results

VIRGINIA BEACH—Brooke Entwisle was the winner of a pigeon race which started at Chester, S. C. Released at 6:30 Saturday morning, the birds reached Virginia Beach at 5:25 p.m. in the 300 mile race. Thomas Chappell of Norfolk placed second.

CITY FOOTBALL RESULTS

6-MAN MIDGETS
Demons Upset Rams
A 75-lb. Demon by the name of Brooke Entwisle scored twice Saturday to upset the previously unbeaten and unscored - upon Rams 13 to 6. Entwisle scored once in the first quarter on a swing pass from David Goldschur and again in the second on a 2-yd. plunge to wrap up the third consecutive win for the unbeaten Demons.

The Rams scored their only TD in the second period on an end sweep by Steve Johnson which culminated a 60-yd. drive after the first Demon score. Martin Thomas and Gary Brownlee led the Rams on defense in the second half as they held the Demon attack to zero. Beau Killen and Tony Marsh gave Entwisle the support he needed as they combined on several nice gains in the second half.

Mariners Swamp Chargers
The Mariners got hard running from Chris Wall and Butch Palmer as they crashed the win column 33 to 6 over the hapless Chargers. Steve Snow scored the first TD of the season for the Chargers as the fourth quarter came to a close. Bill Almond helped spearhead the assault on the Charger squad.

Raiders Over Knights
The Raiders pulled a surprise attack on the Knights as they piled up 14 quick points on the strength of Ed McQuilkin running and the passing of Gray Hodgson. Teddy Todd scored two extra points after each of McQuilkin's TD runs. The Raiders were surprisingly lax in the second half when they fumbled on several scoring drives.

8-MAN MIDGETS

Chargers Fall To Hornets
The Hornets stung the Chargers for 19 points in the first half, then spent the second stanza fighting for their lives. The Hornets, leading 19 to 0 at halftime, barely managed the final 19 to 16 win as the Chargers, led by Moe Walcott and Chap Chaplain, came roaring back. Walcott scored twice in the second half but it was not enough to cop the Hornets' 19 point lead. Mike Tripton, Fred Farcey and Eddie Lockman were the first half but each scored in the first half but that was all the Chargers allowed. It was a case of too much too soon for the Chargers. The win put the Hornets in a tie with the Panthers for the top spot and dropped the previously unbeaten Chargers to third place.

The Panthers spread their scoring evenly as they scored 14 points in each period to completely smother the hapless Blue Devils. Mike O'Brien and George Fulcher were the big guns in the Panther attack as they personally accounted for 46 of the 56 points. Pete Gallagher, Johnny Johnson and Bob Wareing were the work horses of the Devils' attack, with Wareing going over twice. Chris Fannee and Phil O'Brien played well for the Panthers.

Bayside Ladies Visit E. Shore

BAYSIDE — Mrs. W. H. Tivford, president of the Ocean Park Woman's Club, Mrs. Cam Farmer, immediate past president and Mrs. A. F. White, past president of the club journeyed to Eastern Shore Virginia Friday, September 27, to visit some of their fellow club women in their project "Hands Across The Bay." They were met at the ferry by Mrs. C. W. Carlson, president of the Young Woman's Club Cape Charles and Mrs. L. K. James, Tidewater District Chairman, of poetry, literature and drama. They proceeded to Parkley where they were joined by Mrs. E. T. Daisey, of the Woman's Club of Accomac County.

These Eastern Shore Club women had planned on taking the Bayside clubwomen on a sight-seeing tour which they did. They proceeded up Route No. 13 to the famous Chincoteague Island. After touring the island they proceeded to Assateague Island where they enjoyed a picnic lunch on the beach. Assateague is the sight of the proposed new National Seashore Park. They drove around the island and took pictures of the wild ponies, cranes and old Assateague Lighthouse which is still in operation.

Bayside Lions Hear Adams

BAYSIDE—The Bayside Lions Club met Wednesday night, October 2, at 7:00 p.m. with the president, Charles McCoy presiding.

Program chairman for the evening, "Mac" Wilkins, presented guest speaker, Ray Adams, who gave an interesting talk on the activities and aims of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He stated that the Jaycee organization is perhaps the fastest growing organization of its type in the world. They have groups in 76 countries or territories with a total membership of over 350,000. They are proud of the large number of men who have moved up to prominent positions in both government and industry—about 20% of congress and about 20% of Virginia legislators were formerly members.

According to Adams the Jaycees are quite different from civic organizations. Their aim is to use the community as a workshop and thereby to influence philosophy of the citizenry in making the community a better place in which to live. He stated that his organization in many ways may be considered a conservative group—sometimes opposing such things as increased veterans benefits and supporting such things as the Hoover Commission's recommendations.

Adams also talked about some of the interesting new techniques which are being used by modern analysts in the business world. He told of some of the work of depth psychologists in which they have been able to greatly increase sales by using psychology in advertising.

Hugh Barnes reported that the club's golf outing which was held at Kempsville Meadows on September 25 was a big success. A large number of Lions and their guests turned out.

Marshall Tolle announced that the club will have "Ladies Night" at their next meeting, October 18, with cocktails from 6:30 until 7:00 P.M. and dinner at 7:00 P.M.

"Charter Night" will be observed at "Ladies Night". International Counselor, Horace Simmons, who was District Governor when the Bayside Club was chartered will be special guest along with International counselor Lewis Dillon, who was president of the Southside Lions Club and sponsored the Bayside Club.

The present District Governor and his cabinet will be guests at the meeting also. Special awards will be given charter members and perfect attendance pins will also be awarded.

Family Night Series Started

BAYSIDE—"Family Night Program" was instituted by the Bayside Baptist Church on the first Wednesday night in October. It proved such a success that the church will continue with Family Night on each Wednesday night. The program will get underway with a "pot luck" supper for all the members of the family at 6:00 p.m. This will be followed by meetings for all age groups at 6:30 p.m. including the Sunday School Workers Conference, Junior G.A.'s, Crusader R.A.'s, Sunbeams and World Friends. A nursery and library will be open during the evening and a supervised Study Hall will be held for all not in meetings.

Rev. Thomas E. Miller, Minister of Education will preach next Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. using for his topic "The work of the Minister of Education." This will be the beginning of a series of Sunday night sermons.

MISS DeFOE NEW MUSIC DIRECTOR

BAYSIDE — Lorraine De Foe, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James De Foe of Bayside Baptist Church, will be installed next Tuesday night at the Ocean View Baptist Church as music director of the Y.W.A. Group in the Virginia Beach Association.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1963

View Of Virginia Beach

By Doris Padrick

Who you know and what you know may be important factors in becoming successful in your endeavors . . . but knowing the right person to give answers to your questions could mean much more!

Most people tend to circulate among a limited number of friends and acquaintances, all of whom are usually in the same age bracket, the same income bracket, and with the same general employment interests. And since no one group of persons know all the answers to all situations that arise, you may find yourself with a question that puzzles you. Who can help?

If you are upset over a Federal matter and feel the urge to write to Congress, do you know to whom you address your recommendation or complaint? Senators Harry F. Byrd and Almer Ames take care of Virginians, and Congressman Thomas Downing represents you from First Congressional District.

Member of the House of Delegates in the State Legislature is P. B. White, who lives in Virginia Beach.

Perhaps it is a local matter . . . you want to find out about a zoning change? Or it could be an infraction of the zoning regulations for your neighborhood (but you are not sure) — Take your problem to the City Planning Commission, Alexander Mason Garage, at City Hall.

Do you want to vote? But you don't know whether you are eligible to become a registered voter of the city . . . who will give you this information? Mrs. Anna Cotton, the general registrar at City Hall.

City Hall telephone number is 340-8030.

If you want to go into business for yourself, do you know how to go about it? What are the rules you must follow? Contact the Tidewater Better Business Bureau in Norfolk. If your funds are limited, how would you arrange for financial help? The local banks have various types of loans and they will work with you to make available the funds you may need. However, if you have only an idea and no security, you may have to find private backing.

Business and financial matters require that you have a lawyer for your own protection. Call the Attorney Referral Service at MA 2-9614 to be directed to the type of law counseling you should have.

If owning a farm has been your dream, but you have no agricultural background, do you know what rural authority you should contact? E. R. Cockrell Jr. is the Agriculture Agent at City Hall.

Living in a resort area could inspire you towards an idea for a resort attraction . . . how do you find out if your plan is feasible and would be of benefit to the area and profitable to yourself? Roy LaMere, the executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, is happy to be consulted.

Frank W. Cox is the Superintendent of Schools, and whether your question be about administrative policy or personnel requirements or general information, he can give you the answers, or direct you to who is more directly connected with the problem.

We don't like to think about emergencies, but you can cope better with them if you know who is available to help you. The Volunteer Fire Dept. is GA 8-9122 and the emergency Rescue Squad can be reached at 828-9121. If your emergency isn't of the urgent type, but you want a doctor, call the Physician's Exchange GA 8-1602.

Tony Perkins Dropped In On 'Birthday' Cast

VIRGINIA BEACH—When the curtain rises on the Virginia Beach Little Theatre's presentation of "Happy Birthday" tonight, the cast will undoubtedly show the results of some expert advice and criticism from the talented young movie actor, Tony Perkins.

Perkins, who gained such wide recognition for his unforgettable portrayal of the psychopathic killer in the chilling film "Psycho," paid a surprise visit to the Courtyard Playhouse during recent rehearsals.

The famous actor was visiting the home of Carroll Kennedy, one of the cast members, and had decided on the spur of the moment to see how the rehearsals were going.

Arriving late one evening, Perkins was introduced to the 21 Virginia Beach actors and impressed his enthusiastic audience with his cordial and unaffected manner.

He was dressed informally in Bermuda shorts and heavy sweater and was sporting an overly long haircut from his recent filming of "The Fool Killer," in which he portrays a shell-shocked Civil War soldier.

The male members of "Happy Birthday" were especially impressed with Perkins' next picture commitment, "A Doraable Fool," which will give him the distinction of being the first American leading man to star with Brigitte Bardot.

He left shortly after his visit here for France, where the film is to be shot.

Perkins was familiar with "Happy Birthday" and was quite interested in the local interpretation of the famous play. But he was even more interested in the work done by Little Theatre members in remodeling an old movie theatre into the unique new Courtyard Playhouse.

He chatted with all the actors, asked the dimensions of the stage, walked about checking angles, tapped on the walls and inquired about acoustics.

After an autograph signing session, he stepped out of the spotlight, so to speak, and lounged quietly against a wall, and watched the rehearsals with sincere interest.

When asked if he had any advice for aspiring young actors, Perkins replied "Don't do it," explaining that acting was so very different from all other professions.

"If a man is a talented author, he is published. If he is a fine doctor, he has a large practice. But this is not the case with actors. There are many talented actors in the world but most of them never make it," he said.

Though Perkins was not actually "born in a trunk" in true theatrical tradition, he does come from a famous, talented family. His father, Osgood Perkins, was a well-known actor. Young Tony began his own stage career in 1946 in summer stock and made his first movie, "The Actress," with Spencer Tracy in 1956.

Stamps To Buy Wheelchairs For Handicapped Children

VIRGINIA BEACH—Area residents have been asked to participate in a Gold Bond stamp drive to obtain much-needed wheelchairs for some of the handicapped children in Tidewater communities.

The drive is being conducted by the Parent's Council of United Cerebral Palsy of Norfolk, Inc.

Many of the children who will benefit from this drive have no mode of transportation other than the wheelchair. Some of the children are home-bound because the wheelchairs they have are not collapsible and cannot be fitted into cars.

Still others have no wheelchairs at all. A 29-year-old girl who must wear long leg braces; a 14-year-old boy with restricting braces; a 15-year-old girl who has been confined to her room for seven years because she had no wheelchair.

The list of needy cases goes on and on, and the Parent's Council of UCP is seeking to reduce these tragedies through the stamp drive.

Under the Gold Bond Stamp Group Project, the wheelchairs will be obtained through a point system.

Filled stamp books, donated to the Council, will bring them 700 points. Books redeemed at the gift centers by individuals can also be used for points if the person will ask for a Validated Gift Project Certificate for each book turned in. The certificates are worth 10 points each.

And how many points are needed? It takes 53,200 points for each wheelchair, so the Council greatly needs the public's support.

Persons wishing to donate stamp books or validated certificates are asked to mail them to: Parents' Council, UCP of Norfolk, Inc., 431 E. Brambleton Avenue, Norfolk, Va.

Or Virginia Beach residents may contact Mrs. N. H. Palmer at GA 8-1605.

Little Witt Palmer doesn't need a wheelchair, but he promotes the drive that will benefit less fortunate children who do.

Ross Mayo, Or Was It Mayo Ross?

PLAZA—With the Smiths, the Joneses, the Browns or maybe even the Whites it could happen, but when you take names like Mayo and Ross, twist 'em around, mix them up and find two men with the names in different sequence and meeting each other, then that's really a coincidence.

But it did happen at the Virginia Beach Blvd. store of the Master Auto Service Corporation one night this week when a customer, Mayo Ross, of 6304 Colgate Avenue, Norfolk, found himself being waited on by Ross Mayo, 309 Hospital Drive, Virginia Beach, the store assistant manager.

Bus Hired For Concerts

VIRGINIA BEACH—Residents of Virginia Beach Borough will be able to attend the Norfolk Symphony concerts this season without having to "face the boulevard."

A special bus has been hired for the purpose of carrying music lovers to and from the concerts and will leave the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center at 7:30 p.m. on the evening of each performance. Persons desiring a seat on the bus to attend the first concert October 26, may reserve a seat by calling Mrs. Kathleen Hall, 428-8861, before October 25.

Oral Polio Program On Nov. 10

VIRGINIA BEACH—Doctors in three medical societies are urging everyone to wipe out polio in Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and Chesapeake.

They called attention to a mass oral immunization program scheduled for Sunday, November 10 and Sunday, January 12. It is sponsored by the Norfolk County Medical Society, the Virginia Beach Medical Society and the Portsmouth Academy of Medicine.

A statement, issued by the three societies, follows: "As you may know, medical ethics prohibits doctors from advertising their services. However, there are times when doctors will raise a group voice to promote medical services that unquestionably deserve public attention, particularly programs of preventive medicine.

"It's a sad fact that campaigns to protect your family from disease are not often effective as they could be . . . simply because some people do not take advantage of available immunization.

"Presently, your doctors are engaged in an immunization program, with full approval and complete cooperation from local pharmacists, Parent-Teacher Associations, nurses and many other civic and fraternal organizations, to eradicate polio from the cities of Chesapeake, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach.

"On Sunday, November 10, 1963 thousands of these volunteers will set up over a hundred vaccine "feeding stations" to make immunization as easy as possible for you and your family.

"We, the doctors in your communities, strongly urge that you take advantage of this program and make every effort to get your entire family to one of these stations. The program requires only two feedings and the second will be held on January 12, 1964 at the same locations. There will be requested a contribution of fifty cents per dose, to cover costs. No one will be refused.

"Please make a note of these dates, November 10, 1963 and January 12, 1964 and join with us in eliminating polio from our communities.

"A nursery will be provided during the revival services.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services.

Whitehurst Elected To State Office

E. L. Whitehurst, Supervisor of Weights and Measures Division of the City of Virginia Beach, has just recently returned from attending the 29th Annual School and Convention of the Virginia Weights and Measures Association held in Roanoke, Virginia, September 25-27, 1963, where he was elected Third Vice-President of the Virginia Weights and Measures Association.

This newly established division is headed by Chief Reeves E. Johnson as a part of the Bureau of Safety.

Such conferences Whitehurst said are held for the purpose of discussion of problems and their solution with regard to new weights and measures devices, new testing equipment and keeping abreast of the problems of manufacturers, the public consumer and the merchants.

This conference is the most important gathering of weights and measures officials held in the State of Virginia. More than seventy officials who are representatives of the city, county and state government assembled for this session.

HAND-CARVED CANE IS UNIQUE FAMILY HEIRLOOM

Waldor Mowen with family heirloom.

BIRNECK POINT — In the 83rd and final year of his life, D. H. Mowen molded from the branch of an orange tree a walking cane that is richly carved with the highlights of his life.

The work was tedious, for he had to use sharpened bicycle spokes as carving tools. But, despite the long hours of intricate work, he made not one but five of the lovely canes . . . one for each of his sons.

One of those canes is now in the possession of his grandson, Waldor Mowen, a resident of Birneck Point, who hopes to pass it on down through the family for generations to come.

The text on the 3-foot cane, though abbreviated, reads like a page out of history, giving mention to such facts as the writer's enlistment in the Maryland Volunteers during the Civil War, President Lincoln's assassination and the trial that followed.

Much careful planning undoubtedly went into the creating of the piece for the spacing is meticulously perfect. And the precisely carved letters are so beautifully controlled they belie the age of the writer.

Mowen believes his grandfather patterned the cane by winding ribbon around it for spacing then free-handedly carving the letters with the sharpened bicycle spokes and a small screwdriver.

The text reads: "To W. R. Mowen by his father D. H. Mowen who was born Nov. 28, 1839. Enlisted in Co. I, 7th Md. U. S. Vols. Aug. 28, 1862. Wounded May 8, 1864. Taken to Mansion House Hospital, Alexandria, Va. Transferred to Co. A, 12th Regt. V. R. C. Jan. 1st 1865. Heard President Lincoln's last public speech. Called out the night of his assassination. Reviewed his remains at the White House. Detailed on duty at the trial of the conspirators. Discharged July 5th 1865. Carved this cane at Daytona, Fla. in 1922. Joined the Evan. Luth. Church 1857. A.F.A.M. 1866. I.O.O.F. 1890."

The old gentleman died in 1922 and about all his grandson remembered of him was his regal manner and "white pointed beard." But he has passed on, through the five hand-carved canes, the Mowen heritage and family pride.

Oceana Squadron 'Inherits' Bees

No—those aren't men from Mars—they are Robert L. JUDD, ADJ3 and Charles B. TAMPLAIN, AN of VA-64 trying to tempt bees into a makeshift beehive. The bees arrived in an A4C transferred to VA-64 from VA-43. The Bees were not listed on the Aircraft logbook so it is assumed VA-43 is giving a little something Extra with their aircraft now-a-days.

The bees are now in a new hive behind the Black Lancers line shack. CDR Fran BABINEAU has given permission for the bees to be added to the "Black Lancer" inventory—provided of course that their tails are painted black—the squadron color. (Navy Photo)

SIGN FOR FALL

Many of us no longer see the typical signs of fall that we used to see. I am referring to stumps of corn, with orange ripe pumpkins in the field. Still, we can see evidence that fall is on its way, and I am not talking about the fact that the furnace cuts on almost every night.

When we begin to see signs of harvest in the color changing from green to orange and red on the trees, we are beginning to think of football games, winter clothes, Halloween, but it is also one of the major periods of work for the farmer and homeowner. Let's cover a few of the things that might be of interest and importance.

Conditions on the Farm

Virginia Beach farmers have almost completed the corn harvesting season, and the crop was better than any of us ever suspected. Yields are very good, and we continue to lead the State in corn production, as we have been blessed with more rain fall this summer than any other area of the State.

Permanent pastures are again looking very good. Grass has turned green and is beginning to grow. This may make it possible for later grazing this fall than we normally would expect. Supplemental pastures have been seeded now for sometime, and these are looking good. In fact, some pastures are being grazed, while others are being clipped for dairy feed.

Sweet potato harvest is getting underway, with several producers already completed. Those that have completed their harvest are those producers which started their crop in May, and produced the Centennial variety. Sweet potatoes are still small on those farms where the sprouts were set after the first of June, and potato harvest will probably get underway around the 10th or 15th of December on a large scale.

Some early soybeans are showing some indications of getting ready for harvest, particularly the Hill variety. These should be ready in about a week or ten days, with the major crop starting around the first of November.

Small grain seeding is getting underway, on a full scale. Oats and barley are now germinating, and farmers are preparing the land for wheat seeding on a large scale. This operation will very likely be completed around October 20.

Feeder Calf Sales

Just as you harvest corn, a beef calf crop must be harvested too. Beef cattle producers are getting their calves ready for two forthcoming Feeder Calf Sales; one at Petersburg on October 10, the other at Smithfield on October 19. Beef cattle are an important enterprise on about forty farms in Virginia Beach, and a great number of our cattle go into these two Feeder sales. Other cattle are sold for feeding purposes here in Virginia Beach.

ON THE HOME FRONT

From now until cold weather, we will see a lot of activity in the yards of our homes with most of this activity coming on Saturdays.

You might like to know that you are approaching the end of the best period for seeding rye grass, and the longer you wait the heavier should be your seeding rate. Under normal conditions, we recommend ten pounds of rye grass per 1,000 square feet. For better coverage than you normally expect, sow the grass in two or three different directions. This will eliminate those bare spots that we ordinarily miss by sowing grass in one direction only. A cyclone type seeder or pull type sprayer seeder normally provides the best coverage. It's not too late to fertilize your lawn with nitrogen. I expect to do mine this Saturday. Nitrogen on a fescue lawn will give a green color through the fall and winter months, and generally will not give an over-abundance of growth, and this is the kind of seed that I like to get into.

ANOTHER MERGER

The Southampton-Princess Anne and Coastal DHA Associations officially merged on October 1, to form the Southeastern Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Officers elected were: John J. Coglianor, President; R. H. DeFord, Jr., Vice-President; Melvin Wenger, Secretary & Treasurer. Federation Directors elected were: W. Clark Fleming, and J. A. Barlow.

Supervisors of the Southeastern Association are Carroll Hoose, formerly of the Coastal Association, and Bill Warner, of the Southampton-Princess Anne Association.

There are forty herds in the seven-county-city association.

MARKETING ASSOCIATION SET ANNUAL MEETING DATE

The Princess Anne Marketing Association, which deals primarily in the marketing of sweet potatoes, has set October 31 for its annual membership meeting, according to Levi Whitehurst, Chairman of the Board. All members are invited to attend, and are urged to bring other sweet potato growers to the annual meeting.

The normal sweet potato marketing season gets underway the week before Thanksgiving.

Virginia's Art
In the collections of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

Painting with Gold

Before Johann Gutenberg's invention of printing with movable type, hand-lettered manuscripts were individually illustrated or "illuminated" by artists. Generally commissioned by wealthy patrons or monarchs, they were often as rich as their owners. The Adoration, for example, subject of this miniature mural painting by a Franco-Flemish artist of the early 16th century, was executed on a page of expensive vellum, with its bright colors heightened by pure gold. Perhaps the unknown artist did not completely understand the technical aspects of perspective for he has partially hidden his figures under massive garments, or placed them in doorways or behind walls in the manner of earlier northern artists. His delightful and delicate scene of The Adoration has been added this year to the collection of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond.

The Mixing Bowl

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Can A Light, Modern Breakfast Be Adequate?

Orange juice, corn flakes, milk, bran muffins and butter—a "Better Breakfast Month" breakfast.

A basic breakfast pattern has been developed as a specific tool to encourage better breakfast habits. A basic cereal and milk breakfast pattern contains just five commonly eaten foods—fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. For most people, average servings of these foods supply one-fourth of the day's food needs. During the Iowa Breakfast Studies, it was demonstrated that a basic cereal and milk breakfast supplying one-fourth of the day's calories and protein is superior in maintaining mental and physical efficiency, in the late morning hours, when compared to larger or smaller morning meals. So, a light, modern breakfast can be adequate—as well as economical, convenient, and easy to prepare—when built on a basic cereal and milk breakfast pattern.

Better Breakfast Bran Muffins

2 cups whole bran cereal	1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 1/4 cups milk	1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup molasses	1 teaspoon soda
1 egg, beaten	1/2 teaspoon salt

Soften cereal in milk and molasses about 5 minutes. Add egg; stir well. Sift together flour, soda, and salt. Stir dry ingredients into bran mixture just until dry ingredients are moistened. Fill greased medium size muffin pans, 2 1/2 x 1 1/4 inches, about 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven (400°F) until done, about 15 minutes. YIELD: 1 1/2 dozen muffins.

Eggs are good breakfast fare as they're high in protein, and a delicious never-fail omelet made in the oven will feed four to six in a family. Bacon and milk are used along with the eggs so the omelet is extra nutritious, and Tabasco, the spicy liquid red pepper, seasons the dish "just so." Every good cook knows the bland flavor of eggs needs Tabasco, and the liquid seasoning is ideal in egg cookery as it blends smoothly and invisibly into the beaten egg mixture.

The omelet takes about a half hour to bake and requires no attention, giving you ample time to set the breakfast table and prepare toast and juice. If you're serving tomato juice, a few drops of Tabasco for extra zip.

Oven Omelet

8 slices bacon
5 eggs
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
2 cups milk
Parsley (optional)

Cook bacon; drain and crumble into bits. While bacon is cooking, prepare eggs. Beat eggs until light and foamy. Beat in flour, salt and Tabasco. Add milk and beat again. Grease bottom of 1-quart casserole with bacon drippings. Sprinkle crumbled bacon over bottom of pan. Add egg mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375°F) 30 to 35 minutes until egg mixture is set. Garnish with parsley if desired and serve immediately. YIELD: 4 to 6 servings.

September was Better Breakfast Month. Did you celebrate the occasion of the important meal—breakfast?

Let's make every month "Better Breakfast Month" and start the family on their daily routines properly and well fed. Every mother knows best that breakfast is an important meal for school children (and adults), and it's a wise discipline to follow after the lazy days of summer. Studies prove that when breakfast is skipped, work output is less, mental reactions are slower and muscular fatigue increases.

Now—for another meal-time flurry of activity—lunch time! As the school year settles down into a normal routine, one of the first things to lose its sparkle is the school-day lunch. Lunchtime can be a real problem in those areas which do not have school food service, for lunch must be brought from home. It takes ingenuity to plan varied nighttime school meals day after day which satisfy food energy and nutritional requirements, yet appeal to youthful appetites at the same time.

Modern food wraps, such as Handi-Wrap plastic lunchbox wrap, help to solve lunch-packing problems. A wrap which protects flavor and freshness, provides leak-proof protection and allows you to see clearly what's inside is one of the handiest "school supplies" on your kitchen shelf.

Here are some lunch-packing tips from Handi-Wrap to help pack a more satisfying school lunch.

- Children between six and 10 years old require 1700-2100 calories per day, depending on height, weight, body structure and activity. One-third of these food requirements should be met by the school lunch.
- Avoid bulky sandwiches and heavy foods in a packed school lunch—these are more likely to end up in the waste basket. Cut sandwiches in small sections and peel, section and wrap food separately for ease of eating.
- Include nutritious snacks in the lunchbox to discourage children from too many sweets. Such foods as dried prunes, raisins, peanuts, corn chips, tomato slices, carrot sticks, celery, cereal cookies or cereal snacks are healthful and pleasing.
- Pattern a packed lunch after the Type A school lunch meal which includes:
 - 1/2 pint whole milk
 - 2 ounces meat, fish, poultry or cheese or 1/2 cup cooked dried beans, peas or soy beans or 1/4 cup peanut butter
 - 6 ounces or 1/2 cup of raw, cooked or processed vegetable or fruit
 - 1 serving bread, muffin or other hot bread made of whole wheat or enriched cereal
 - 2 teaspoons butter or fortified margarine

CHEVY II—For practical people. Chevy II with new V8 power* tops all thrifty cars for fun-on-a-shoestring. Stretches the shoestring further with 4- and 6-cylinder engines. Chevy II's six models in two series all act like they're bigger, more expensive cars!

CORVAIR—For fun-loving people. More fun than ever from Corvair's new bigger engine! Same Corvair handling and riding ease with a dressed-up '64 look in 9 models—including the 150-hp Turbo-charged Spydler!

CORVETTE—For sports-minded people. Corvette now rides softer, smoother—but loses none of its gusto because its big V8 offers versions from 250 to 375 hp*!

Want to get together with other car-loving people? Go see your Chevrolet dealer... he likes all kinds!

See five entirely different lines of cars at your Chevrolet Showroom—CHEVROLET, CHEVELLE, CHEVY II, CORVAIR & CORVETTE

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER
COLUMBUS DAY

There is a story of an Englishman who took a train for New Orleans from New York. Accustomed to the short railway journeys of his "light little island," it was not very long before he asked the conductor how long it would be before they reached New Orleans. Evidently the conductor replied that it would be a long time.

JUST A THOUGHT:

There is nothing like travel to make one appreciative of the fact that home is a pretty good place after all, and, as well, that there is a great, wide world out beyond our own city limits.

All day long the train rushed on, across several states each of which is about the size of England. Then night came and the train rushed ahead through the darkness. In the early morning Mobile was reached, and several hours later, running close to the gulf coast and crossing the deep gorges, one of the outlets of Lake Pontchartrain, and New Orleans was sighted. When the grand train rolled into the new Union Station and the Englishman had taken a taxi for a hotel, the car was held up by a parade. When the visitor inquired about the parade, the driver said it was Columbus Day. "Columbus Day, eh? What did he do?" "Discovered America! How could he have missed it?"

May the doubts exaggerated great country indeed reaching from sea to shining sea, and from the Great Lakes on the North to the Gulf of Mexico on the South. "Breathes there a man with soul so dead who never to himself hath said, 'this is my own, my native land?'"

THEY can't open the door

It's a fact every parent must face!
The Church is eager to provide our children with religious training. And our children need this training. But THEY can't open the door.
We must come with them. We must worship every Sunday... and take an active part in the classes and activities of the Church for adults — not for ourselves alone.
For a child values supremely the example of his parents. If they love their Church — he loves it too! If going to Church is too much trouble for them — it's too much trouble for him too!
God gave us these little souls to love... to nurture... to raise to Christian manhood and womanhood. And God gave us churches... to enrich our lives and theirs.
And God gave us doors... to open!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every parent should attend services regularly and support his child's daily.

THE WEEK'S LETTER:

"I have been a year and a half since I have gone with Bill. We didn't stop 'going together' because we didn't care for each other—we like each other a lot—but because I wasn't allowed to go out with him in his car. I am 17 now and he has been going with another girl. I have heard directly and indirectly, that he still likes me and wants to take me. He means very much to me and is among my dearest and most frequent thoughts. I have been told by our school counselor that I am too sensitive and serious-minded. Perhaps this is true, but in this day and age a girl has to have seriousness in order to stand on her own two feet. Frequently a tear is shed and often serious words are spoken, but I do miss him so much and think about the fun we had together in the past. I have gone with other boys, but I still feel like Bill was much more than I expected. Will he ask me out again? Should I accept? Will things be different? Will he have changed, or anything?"
OUR REPLY: We change from day to day, all of us. We grow older—and should get smarter, although this doesn't always hold true. The teenager should change more in a year and one-half than an adult naturally. But, it is difficult to define exactly what "change" means. Bill should be older and wiser, still "fun" to be with, if the right "changes" have taken place. If Bill still likes you, he will probably ask you to go out, if you still like him, you will probably accept. If he likes you enough, he may be old enough to realize that "sitting on a porch swing with the right" girl is far better than riding around in a car with just another girl. If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation you want to make, write to us at FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WRITERS' SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

Shakespeare's 'Tempest,' To Be Televised

William Shakespeare's "The Tempest," starring Maurice Evans, Richard Burton, Roddy McDowall, Tom Poston and Lee Remick, will be telecast again in color on NBC's "Hallmark Hall of Fame" Sunday, Oct. 20 (6-7:30 p.m. EDT). The production, a repeat of Feb. 3, 1960 was adapted for TV by John Edward Friend. The production was designed by Rouben Ter-Arutunian.

George Schefer was the producer-director of "The Tempest" and music for the production was composed and directed by Lehman Engel.

Evans, who plays Prospero, had made five other appearances in Shakespearean plays for "Hallmark" prior to this portrayal of the exiled Duke of Milan. Critics hailed his performance as Prospero in glowing terms—ranging from "clear and fine" to "dignified, commanding."

As the brutish Caliban, Burton also won notice for his "sullen and oddly appealing" portrayal. McDowall as the faithful spirit, who attempts to aid Prospero in regaining his rightful throne, was cited in numerous reviews for his "eerie and ethereal makeup—a supreme work of art," as well as for the dramatic portrayal itself, hailed as "appealing" and a strange role played with "just the right touch of pathos."

Poston, known for his TV comedy portrayals and subsequently for his Broadway appearances in modern-day comedies, plays a buffoon, Trinculo. Liam Redmond is seen in the role of Gonzalo.

Miss Remick portrays Prospero's daughter, Miranda, in a fashion described by one reviewer as "beautiful and perfect," by another as "fresh and utterly lovely." A third spoke of the "entrancing picture she presented." Prior to her appearance as Miranda, Miss Remick had the screen role of the wife in "Anatomy of a Murder" and later, following "The Tempest," starred in the movie version of "Days of Wine and Roses."

Carol Burnett Stars As 'Jane'

"Calamity Jane," 90-minute musical comedy special starring Carol Burnett in the title role, will be broadcast Tuesday, Nov. 12 9:30 to 11:00 p.m., on channel 3. Art Lund co-stars as Wild Bill Hickok.

Featured in the cast are Bernie West as Henry Miller, Beryl Towbin as Katie Brown, and Don Chastain as Lieut. Danny Gilmarlin.

As "Calamity Jane," Miss Burnett portrays a hoydenish young woman of the Old West with a penchant for buckskins and tall tales. Based on the original Warner Bros. motion picture, the production encompasses the film score by composer Sammy Fain and lyricist Paul Francis Webster. Including the Academy Award-winning ballad "Secret Love," plus additional new songs.

"Calamity Jane" is a Bob Banner Associates Production in association with Burngood Productions and the CBS Television Network. Executive producer is Bob Banner. Producer is Joe Hamilton. The production was co-directed by Ernest Flatt and Dick Altman, with musical staging by Flatt. Phil Shuken wrote the television script.

The program is sponsored by Thomas J. Lipton, Inc., and the Chemstrand Corporation, represented respectively by Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, Inc., and Doyle Dane Bernbach Inc.

- Too Many Charity Drives? • Through Darkest Adolescence BY RICHARD ARMOUR.
Next Trip, See Tokyo BY VANCE PACKARD • So You Won't Talk? BY HELEN BOTTEL

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

Growing Pains . . . page 8

Everyone gets through it—although it seems to last forever. It's adolescence—the most baffling kind of sickness, says Richard Armour, author of "It All Started with Columbus." Here he tells how he bore the years of darkest adolescence with his offspring.

Vance Packard, who observed the American scene in "The Hidden Persuaders," etc., urges, "Next Trip, See Tokyo—but Don't Stop There." His enthusiasm may grip you as he spins you through the strange and magnificent places he and his wife enjoyed in the Orient this year.

For Whom the Doorbell Tolls . . . page 16

Now that we're into fall, expect another seasonal change—the annual bombardment of appeals from charity organizations. Do you find there are so many you don't know which ones are the most worthy? Do these agencies limit their effectiveness because of too much competition and too little coordination? Marion Sanders takes a deep look into the problem of consolidation of fund drives.

Speak Up! . . . page 26

If you have ever listened to a speaker and wished that you were on the podium, or if you have been up there but turned to jelly, Helen Bittel has some suggestions that may soothe the frog in your throat and the butterflies in your stomach and start you on the way to enjoying public speaking.

On the Cover

A peaceful retreat from books and teachers and forbidden territory to parents—a tree house, complete with tv, high in a burst of autumn leaves. What a blissful banishment for Mom and Dad, who can look forward to a few quiet hours before the troops storm in for dinner. Nowadays, parents aren't really so dumb.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

DURING A RECENT trip to Europe, Lore Fiedler of Morris County, New Jersey, learned that the German people have their own word for commuters who leave their Vorort (suburb to you) and travel back and forth to work each day to Munich or Frankfurt or Hamburg. They call them Pendlers—and why not? They travel back and forth just like a pendulum.

Boomerang is known around Jefferson County, Kentucky, as the dog with a charge account. When he hears the familiar chimes of the ice-cream truck, he runs out and stretches himself on the street in front of the oncoming vehicle. The driver, an old pal, stops, selects a cup of the dog's favorite ice cream, and jots down the transaction. At the end of the week Boomerang's owner, Joe Fugatte, settles his faithful friend's account.

With Halloween just a few weeks off, the Famous Artists Schools in Westport, Connecticut, is busy helping the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund with a special project. UNICEF, for short, is holding a contest for cartoons, humorous or serious, on the subject of the world's greatest effort by children for children—the Halloween collections made every year now by our little devils and scarers for the sake of their hundreds of millions of contemporaries who don't know the meaning of the word "treat."

Rules of the contest are simple—supplied on request by the Schools. It ends, appropriately enough, on Halloween; the three winners will be announced in December, 1963, and their cartoons will be used in next year's drive.

Prizes are three-year cartoon scholarships at Famous Artists.

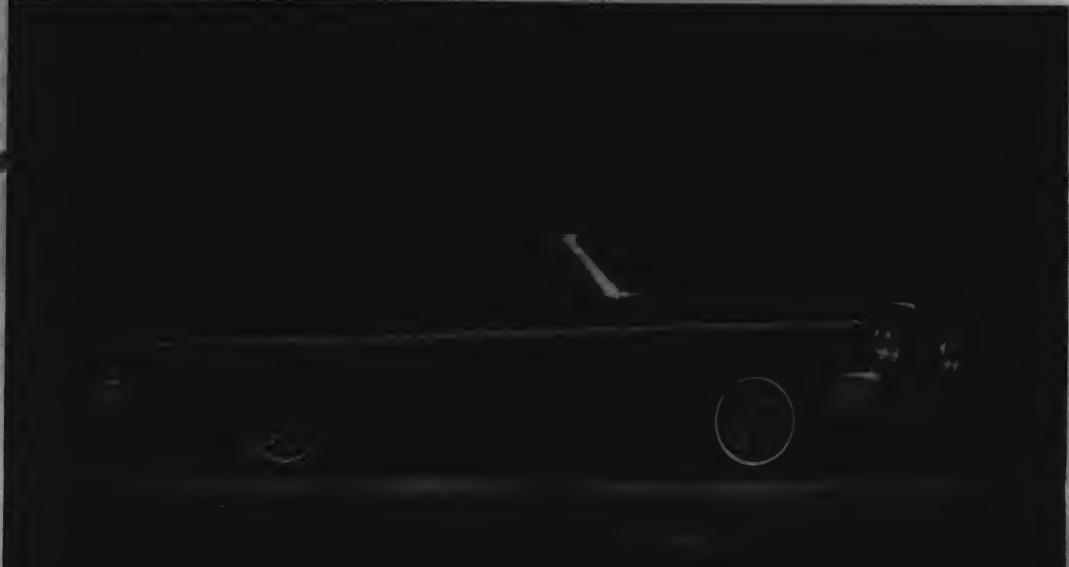

When the children of a family in Dade County, Florida, found themselves with a surplus of puppies, they decided to sell them. So they handlettered a "Puppies-for-Sale" sign and put it in front of their house, complete with this pedigree—"Mother is a full-blooded poodle and the father comes from a good neighborhood."

A photographer in North Hollywood, California, grew tired of sending out past-due notices to his customers and decided to capitalize on female vanity to get his payments. With each bill, he enclosed a note stating he was going to show an unretouched proof of the customer in his studio window as a sample of his work. You guessed it! Each customer rushed to pay her bill before he could carry out his scheme.

First-grade teachers ought to watch their language. Marge Edmondson of Englewood, Colorado, reports that her young grandson returned home from school one day and said in a quivering voice, "Teacher says she is going to give us a black mark when we don't behave. Will it hurt? Will she use a big stick?"

Benjie Koslover, another first grader, from Reading, Massachusetts, has it all figured out: The other day his mother overheard him explaining the educational system to his brother Robbie, four. "It's easy, Rob," he said imperiously, "You start in the first grade. Then when you know everything your teacher knows, they let you go to the second grade."

Postmen can unstrap their shin guards and snarl right back at unfriendly neighborhood dogs now, according to Tony Currier of Jefferson County, Louisiana. There is a new push-button spray on the market that stops savage dogs in their tracks, with no lingering effects. The product contains the most active ingredient in cayenne pepper, with a base of light mineral oil. It is squirted in a stream that reaches 15 feet and creates a temporary burning sensation in the eyes, nose, and mouth (giving the sprayer ample time to get over the fence).

And speaking of cayenne pepper, we have a correspondent in Naick, Massachusetts, who writes, "I don't want you to mention my name because I am embarrassed about having had mice in my kitchen. But I know people are very likely to be plagued with them around this time of year, and I've found cayenne pepper is better than any traps or poison. Just shake a little around the edge of the floor and in secret corners and the backs of drawers, and they'll give one sneeze and never come back—even RATS!"

One thing usually overlooked by visitors in Mount Vernon, George Washington's impressive mansion in Fairfax County, Virginia, is a miniature door hardly one foot high. Martha had it cut in her bedroom door so her favorite cat could wander in and out at will.

When Mrs. Betty Jo Patterson of Media, Pennsylvania, a mother of two, was scheduled for a tonsillectomy at Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia; she received these written instructions:

"Bring a pair of pajamas, a toothbrush, a comb, comic books, and your teddy bear."

Have you ever had a quick, involuntary inspiration suddenly checked by closure of the glottis, producing a characteristic sound—like hiccup? Awful, isn't it? Well, some smart people in Kettering, Ohio, have a few suggestions for cures. For instance, one man swears he stopped his by bending over to pick up a book. Another bats the unfortunate victims $1,000 they can't do it again, and with surprising frequency they can't. (He doesn't say how much money he has lost.) One young man turned the garden hose on his girl friend, whose hiccups gave way to fury when she discovered her new dress was ruined.

Well, don't just stand there on your head holding your breath . . . hic . . . hic . . . what's your cure?

Europe this Fall?

Only Pan Am offers you the remarkable new 21-day ticket plus 4 extra benefits

Pan American's new round-trip 21-day* Jet economy Rainbow ticket may well be the best buy in the history of transatlantic Jet travel. Judge for yourself.

You can save $140 to $160 over regular Jet economy fares (and they're not so expensive). For instance, round-trip New York to Vienna, the regular Jet economy fare is $627. 21-day fare: $478. A difference of $149!

From California to London, you pay $639 instead of $779. Chicago to Frankfurt, $505 instead of $655. Washington to Paris, $425 instead of $575. And from Miami to Rome, $609 instead of $772.

The 21-day ticket improves on the old 17-day ticket, too. It's far more flexible. You can plan a European trip of 14 days minimum, 21 days maximum, or any number in between.

THOSE 4 EXTRA BENEFITS?

Extra flights: Pan Am offers you a choice of far more Jet flights to Europe than any other airline.

Extra cities: Pan Am offers you Jets direct to 22 European cities (twice as many as any other airline). See up to 20 cities on a Pan Am round-trip ticket to Rome. And that's only one example!

Extra ideas for itineraries: Pan Am makes it easier than any other airline to go to Europe one way, return another way at no extra fare.

The Priceless Extra: Experience unmatched by any other airline in the world. And you don't pay a penny extra for it.

Others Can Mediate With Christ — For US

Catholics always have believed this, although at times they are criticized for it.

"Christ," some sincere people say, "is our sole Redeemer and our sole Mediator. We don't need anyone else to mediate or intercede for us."

This misunderstanding, we are sure, will be quickly cleared away in the mind of any fair-minded Christian when the Catholic teaching and belief are explained.

Since the time of the Apostles, the Catholic Church has insisted that there is only one Mediator between God and man—our Lord Jesus Christ. The entire Catholic religion, in fact, is founded upon that truth.

But this does not mean that there are no intermediaries between Christ and ourselves. Indeed, the whole Bible takes such mediation for granted.

When Christ commissioned the Apostles to "...teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit..." He was interposing his ministry between Himself and others. In the granting of Sacramental authority to His Church, He was obviously instituting a succession of humans "deputies" to serve as intermediaries between Himself and the faithful.

In the administration of Baptism, for example, Christ dispenses one of the gifts of Redemption through a purely human agent. This is true also in the other Sacraments, and in no wise does the administrator detract from the honor due Christ or interfere with man's direct approach to God.

The Apostles repeatedly asked their disciples to "pray for us," and St. Paul admonished the faithful to "pray for one another...that you may be healed..." Indeed, if Christ did not intend to have intermediaries between Himself and men, would St. Paul have told us that "God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondly prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings..." (1 Cor. 12:28)?

Yes, others can mediate with Christ in our behalf. And their example and prayers can often work a vast miracle in our spiritual lives...for indeed "the prayer of a righteous man availeth much." How much is indicated by the words of St. Paul to Timothy, reminding him that by holding true to the doctrine, "thou wilt save both thyself and those who hear thee" (1 Tim. 4:16).

If you would like to know more about the power of these mediators of Christ to help you, write today for our pamphlet on that subject. It will be sent free and nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. SU-28.

Soon the residents of Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin, can bask in happy thoughts, reason out problems or great decisions, or simply day dream in a new kind of public convenience planned for their community—a "thinking park." As Miss R. Alice Drought, who designed it, explained to the village board when the project was first introduced, "The soil is a great source of spiritual strength." The town fathers, impressed, earmarked a centrally located plot, 120 by 220 feet.

Like the cobbler in the fairy tale, Billy Insley, of Linthicum, Maryland, spreads his own brand of "magic." At least 200 orphaned, needy children, and even some adults have a pair of good shoes today because he remembers what it was like to have to wear old, beat up, hard ones on an Eastern Shore farm. His free-of-charge shoe project originated one day when Mrs. Armon H. Doss, president of the local Women's Club, brought him an expensive but outdated pair to resole and then decided they weren't worth it and asked him to throw them away. "I'll fix them for someone who doesn't have any," he said to her, and so a kindness began. Mrs. Doss spread the word and soon cupboards were cleared and bundles of shoes poured into the shop to be ripped apart and rebuilt by Mr. Insley. It says (!) takes two or three hours a day, he says, and when he is finished, out they go to their needy new owners, making them—and Billy Insley—very happy.

Menus were a constant problem for Parisienne Annie Romano, who visited friends recently in Montgomery County, Pennsylvania, until she discovered a booklet with a section on "How to Handle a Menu in English" and learned these handy phonetic tricks: Upon entering a restaurant remember to leave your coat and hat in the chique rhomus before asking the head outdors for a table. If it's the first mille of the day, you may want to order a stack of oultre quiques, or if you are in Boston, you will certainly try code-fiche quiques. If it's a dinner, you'll want something substantial, of course, like lambé choppe and a baked panettone. If this all seems too complicated best it to a country stream and have a pique-sique. But be sure to bring lots of quoquo-quois and béts (if you intend to fish). "You see," says Annie, "The whole thing is as simple as apple patte."

Here's a flash bulletin for the girls—Anne Arundel County, Maryland, is loaded with single men. The surplus of bachelors (not including those who have been divorced or widowed) is such that there are 218 single men for every 100 single women. Those are hard odds to beat almost anywhere outside Alaska. But you'd better get a move on; word has leaked out about this man-hunting territory and the marriage rate is picking up.

Sign on a church in Louisville County, Kentucky: Ladies—Don't forget the white-phant sale. Here's your chance to get rid of everything not worth keeping but too good to throw away. BRING YOUR HUSBANDS.

Through Darkest Adolescence

There's one consolation: both parent and child are likely to get out of it alive—someday

BY RICHARD ARMOUR

author of "Nights With Armour," "It All Started With Columbus," etc.

ADOLESCENCE is a disease. It may not be listed in the medical books as such, but that is only because doctors are embarrassed to be reminded of something in the presence of which they are so helpless. Like the common cold, there is no cure for it. Unlike the common cold, nothing can be prescribed, such as aspirin, which will give the patient temporary relief. The most that can be done is to give aspirin, along with a shot of whiskey, to those who are unlucky enough to have come in contact with the victim.

Happily, the disease is not contagious. Adolescents do not give adolescence to their parents, even when they drink from the same glass or cough right into their faces. No doubt the reason for this is that adolescence, like chicken pox, is a disease that you get only once, after which you build up an immunity. It is also like chicken pox in that you usually get it early in life, and it goes harder with you if you come down with it after you are 40 or so.

This happens rarely, but now and then one comes upon a case of adolescence in middle age. Such an unfortunate occurrence is usually explained by the patient's having had an extremely mild case in childhood, which failed to develop the necessary immunity. Or it may be a case that never completely ran its course but lay dormant, like diabetes or tuberculosis, ready to reappear whenever resistance was low.

Most middle-aged adolescents, however, are those who initially were struck so hard that they never recovered. They went on living because adolescence is seldom fatal, but they were unable to throw off the disease, which lasted 30, 40, or 50 years. I know a man 43 years old who, since he was 13, has never been free of the disease one day in his life. He wears bright-colored vests and drives a hot rod and yells himself hoarse at the high-school football games and drinks too much and dances the teen-age dances and uses the current teen-age slang. His few remaining friends have considerably stopped asking, "Aren't you ever going to grow up?" They know the answer, anyhow.

BUT NORMALLY the first stages of adolescence set in at about 12 or 13, and the terms "adolescent" and "teen-ager" are therefore interchangeable. Often, however, adolescence begins to show itself at 10 or 11, especially in that peculiarly obnoxious creature, the precocious child (dementia praecox, or precocious little demon). By beginning adolescence two or three years earlier, such a child goes through just that many more years of it, meanwhile brazenly pretending to have skipped adolescence entirely.

It does no good whatsoever to discover the disease early, except to ease your mind about its being what it is. At the same time, it may depress you to realize that your child has something that will drag on for years and years and not be over in a few weeks, like scarlet fever or pneumonia.

As for how it is detected, you might look for the following symptoms:

1. A sudden listlessness and lack of ambition, in some instances accompanied by complete inability to perform such everyday tasks as getting out of bed in the morning.
2. In sharp contrast, and the sort of thing that makes diagnosis difficult, the male may have a sudden desire to lift heavy objects, such as bar bells, so long as the lifting serves no useful purpose to society.

3. Periods of forgetfulness and mental lapse bordering on amnesia, especially regarding anything important to another member of the family, for instance the fact that an urgent telephone call was to be returned as soon as possible.

It might be expressed this way:

A mind? Yes, he Has one of those
It comes, however,
And it goes.

And if, when it
Is called upon,
It mostly happens
To be gone,

Don't fret, don't shout,
Don't curse the lack,
Just wait a while—
It will be back.

Informal diagnosis by a member of the family, without benefit of X rays or laboratory tests, is usually adequate. A thermometer thrust into the mouth will probably come out registering 98.6°, and all that may be achieved is the discovery that there are nicotine stains on the lower teeth and that there is a remarkable depression in the roof of the mouth where a wad of gum may be stored without interfering with speech.

When my daughter is un-understood by us, she exchanges homes with a friend.

A friend of mine, not knowing the above, took his young son to the doctor. Confident that there was something seriously wrong, he requested a complete physical and mental examination. Everything went easily enough, and the doctor thought he had a routine case, until he placed his stethoscope to the boy's lungs and started to listen. There was an odd humming noise.

NEXT TRIP, SEE TOKYO

MORE AMERICANS apparently are hoping to expand their horizons by taking pleasure trips to the Orient this coming year than ever before. One big reason is the attraction of the Olympics in Tokyo. If you're one of these fortunate ones, by all means see Japan—but don't stop there! For another few hundred dollars you can keep on going around the world—Hong Kong, Bangkok, Delhi, Cairo, Athens, Istanbul, Vienna. You name it. When you go around the world, you can just about write your own itinerary at no additional cost.

My wife Virginia and I found that a trip through the Orient impressed us first of all because of the dramatic differences in the people. A Japanese is even more different from a Thai-lander than a Texan is from a Dane.

The Japanese bubble with energy. You sense it in seeing them hurrying up their streets. They are serious-minded in the extreme. I noticed this, for example, as they sat solemnly through four-hour lecture periods (counting translations). They also are restrained and politely deferential from centuries of conditioning; accepting tips in most of Japan is still unthinkable.

THE CHINESE—there are millions of them in Hong Kong—are quite a different breed. They seem relaxed, carefree. They enjoy sparring over money and working you for tips. They take life as it comes and seem to carry their hardships lightly. Indians struck us as seeming completely different from either Chinese or Japanese. They appear reserved, resigned, and still a bit confused by modern ways. There are exceptions, of course. Our hired driver seemed formidable in his beard and turban but proved to be the most delightful person we encountered on the trip. He was gentle, thoughtful, good-humored, articulate, and he highballed through teeming villages—his hand on the horn—in a way that left me breathless. He said he never had an accident in 11 years of driving.

And then for still another contrast there are the Thailanders, gay, graceful, and almost childlike as they wave cheerfully to foreign visitors.

The Japanese people, who since 1945 have been in search of a dream, have seized upon the Olympics as their dream for the present. For many months posters have been proclaiming the great event and urging the nation to strain to get ready for it. Fine new highways and subways were being built, and vast areas have been face lifted in the name of the Olympics.

Japan's International Airport is as modern as any you will find in the world, and you may be surprised to see that the tastefully designed neon

In Japan, you can watch girls in traditional costume and make-up reenact an 18th-century samurai battle.

(BUT DON'T STOP THERE!)

Left: At the fishing village of Aberdeen in Hong Kong you can pick the fish you want caught for dinner. Right: You can take a trip along one of Bangkok's many picturesque canals with its exotic shrines.

billboards nearby are written in the same Roman alphabet we use and contain many English words. The larger hotels use English as a second language so that the traveler feels relatively at home. It is only when you get out into the rest of Tokyo that you see only Japanese characters and need a guide or an acquaintance-in-residence to help you. Another reason you need such help is that most streets have no street signs, even in Japanese. The residents have their points of reference for finding their way around. A good introduction to Tokyo is to stroll through the Ginza, a sort of combined Times Square and Fifth Avenue, and ride up the escalators of the area's many department stores.

Japanese sight-seers ride the escalators. You see the bustling people absorbed in admiring the wondrous wares, such as refrigerators, so new to them. At each floor, near the escalator, a girl in kimono bows sweetly to you. The kimono department is of special interest because most of the mannequins have blond hair. There is probably not a natural blond in all of Japan; but blondness is Western and the younger Japanese are currently in love with Western ways.

THERE ARE many fine restaurants in the Ginza where you, a Westerner, will have little difficulty in ordering steak or the native tempura (meats, shrimps, vegetables individually dipped and served in a very lightly fried batter). For the great dining of Japan, however, you need a Japanese friend or an American who has been in Tokyo long enough to know his way around and be accepted by influential Japanese. The Chinzanso, well out of the heart of the city, is open to non-Japanese, and here, in a lovely forest setting, you sit around open charcoal fires on which attendants broil deliciously seasoned meats and vegetables.

The true flavor of Japan actually is better seen in the smaller cities and villages. If you take one of Japan's fine, clean, swift express trains to the southwest, you will pass the base of the sacred and spectacular Mount Fuji, which shows its magnificent peak approximately 70 days a year. In a few hours you will be in Kyoto, the loveliest and most traditional of Japanese cities. Tokyo is an uptight by comparison. Kyoto is laid out on a grand grid style, and you can take your choice, for visiting, of more than 2,000 ancient villas or temples. The Buddha temples are mostly brown with gold-leaf figures; the Shinto temples are gay in color with bright red predominant.

One villa that is a great favorite is the Golden Pavilion and another is the lovely Katsura villa, once a royal but modest palace, with teahouses (that you crawl into) and many bridges arched over ponds. Popular among the gardens is Ryoanji, famed for its stones placed in a garden of neatly furrowed sand. If your taste for temples is whetted, you should by all means take a one-hour side trip to Nara, which has the most ancient of all Japanese temples along with the world's largest statue of a Buddha. And you will have time dear nibble at your pockets for favors.

To fly into Hong Kong is to be transformed into quite a different world. Visually Hong Kong is the most spectacular and exciting metropolis I've ever seen, and it was one of the pleasantest surprises of our trip.

Hong Kong is a tip of fire world on the south China coast, a British Crown Colony with a few thousand Britons and a few million Chinese. A cricket field is within a short distance of the teeming Chinese jade market. And the mountains of Red China can be seen in the distance. Hong Kong is in two parts. The mainland part is Kowloon. Most of Hong Kong's famed tailor shops are in Kowloon as are most of the well-known old hotels, such as the Peninsula. The proximity of the tailor shops to these hotels is probably not accidental.

You go to the other part by taking the Star Ferry to the island city of Victoria. The ferry was made famous by the movie "The World of Suzie Wong." This trip is colorful, and you might profitably spend most of your stay on the ferry. At least this would spare you the temptation of Hong Kong's fabulous shops. Victoria at night looks, from the mainland, like a cluster of diamonds, emeralds, and rubies strung around the throat of the island's main peak.

IN VICTORIA there are hundreds of open street-side shops offering gold jewelry, jade earrings, and such "delicacies" as 20-year-old eggs. We spent one morning accompanying an American friend as he went from shop to shop pricing, inspecting, and bargaining for a pair of jade earrings for his wife. He had been doing this for a couple of days and had become expert in assessing how close each pair came to perfection (luminous dark green). Finally he bought a pair for $110.

To celebrate, we hired a cab to drive us up over the right shoulder of the peak and down to the fishing village of Aberdeen, where two famous floating restaurants sit out among hundreds of junks on which families spend most of their lives. We went to one restaurant, the brilliantly decorated Sea Palace, and ordered our fish directly from a salt-water pool. I pointed to a striped fish weighing about three pounds and an attendant with a long-handled net flipped it up to a chef.

After a long, fine lunch we returned to the ferry by the round-about route of circling down to Repulse Bay, with its many coves, and then turning up over the high left shoulder of the peak for a sky-high view of all Hong Kong. And then we hurried across the harbor for our next fittings.

Before you come to Hong Kong you laugh at all the talk of visitors building their visits around fittings, but you seem to get caught up in the excitement of irresistible bargains. I bought the first custom-made jacket of my life. It was made of gray raw silk. The price: $27.

Virginia took two switches of brocaded silk she had bought in Japan to a tailor, and in two days his workers had made a beautiful coat and evening gown with matching shoes and pocket-book. The total price including all materials bought in Japan or Hong Kong was about $100.

Because of all these bargains, we were spending too much money and reluctantly tore ourselves off to Bangkok, the hub of Southeast Asia. Bangkok and Venice are probably the two last fairyland cities left on this earth. Venice is all fairyland whereas you must travel through quite a few miles of fairly conventional delta land before you come to the exciting part of Bangkok. This includes the royal palaces, the numerous exotic and colorful temples along the Chao Phraya river, and the many klongs or canals feeding into it. Giant teak logs from upcountry forests float in clusters along the river.

OUR MOST VIVID experience in Bangkok was our early-morning trip by boat through the floating markets along the many canals. There were women in tiny canoes selling fruit, men propelling (by a rear paddle) larger canoes piled perilously high with coal, and canoes hauling woven silk fabric to market. Two stops of particular interest were at an open shed where several clean, smiling girls were weaving brilliantly colored silk stoles on foot-pedaled looms, and a stop at the unguarded shed where the royal barges—really 100-foot-long canoes—are stored for the annual ceremonial trip the king makes up the river.

After two days we were off to Delhi, the capital of the new India and one of the most impressive cities of the world. Its heart is a series of ever-larger circles built around a park. But the Capitol grounds are still more impressive. Vast new government buildings line an uphill mall which surpasses in sweep and grandeur the Versailles palace grounds or the mall in Washington. And fanning out into recently empty fields are rows of embassies. Each foreign government seemingly has tried to outshine the other in the magnificence of its embassy. But none is more beautiful than the tracery-work U.S. embassy designed by Edward Durell Stone.

Very near here we saw a scene so typical of India: the juxtaposition of grandeur and poverty. It was near twilight, and several dozen Indian families in front of their jerry-built huts were cooking their supper over fires made of dried dung.

Since we were in Delhi within 120 miles of the Taj Mahal at Agra, we hired a car and driver and made the pilgrimage. A woman acquaintance back home had warned us: "The Taj Mahal is exquisite, but you have to make a dreadfully long, dull trip to get to it." We found the situation quite different. We were delighted with the perfection of the Taj as a monument of love and even more delighted to visit the Red Fortress along the river two miles to the west, where the Mogul who had built the Taj was later imprisoned in a cell overlooking his masterpiece. And the fortress was also fascinating because it included a layout for maintaining a vast harem.

The greatest treat of the day, however, was seeing the Indian countryside on the way to and from Agra. Some stretches were dramatic pictorially. My wife, an artist, was sketching and photographing all along the route. And the villages—mostly of mud huts—were primitive beyond our belief. But we saw signs of the new India emerging. School classes were being held in tents. And men and women were helping build a super-highway by carrying baskets of stones on their heads.

This was just a sampling, of course, of the subcontinent that is India. My friend T. M. Flowden, a perceptive man whose business has taken him all over the world, says that the other main points of interest to a traveler here are outside the major cities.

He mentioned Udaipur, where the hotel is a beautiful converted palace in the middle of a lake; Srinagar in Kashmir where the hotels are houseboats; and the "pink city" of Jaipur. Among the larger cities that have particularly impressed him are Hyderabad, with its fabulous remnants of the Mogul era, and Benares on the banks of the famed Ganges.

OUTSIDE the Indian area, he feels there are two great spots in eastern Asia that we missed. One was unavoidable. That is Peking, the capital of Red China, which is still out of bounds to Americans. The second was Kuala Lumpur, north of Singapore. It is the bustling capital of the newly proposed state of Malaysia and a city in a thrillingly beautiful tropical setting.

All and all, the Orient, in its infinite varieties, so enthralled Virginia and me that when we returned to the West we felt we had gone through a kind of total immersion which has left us feeling marvelously refreshed.

Whats the difference between a pearl diver and a smart diner?

The pearl diver comes up with a pearl—sometimes. Smart diners can always end up with a pearl—a Cointreau On-the-Rocks Pearl. It's the new way to enjoy Cointreau Liqueur—the crowning touch to a perfect dinner.

The Cointreau Pearl:

Four 2 ounces of Cointreau Liqueur over ice cubes in an old-fashioned glass. Et voilà!

Watch Cointreau Liqueur change from crystal clearness to an elegant, delightfully appetizing pearly opalescence when you serve it the modern way...on the rocks. You may choose to add a squeeze of fresh lime for extra zest. The Cointreau Pearl is only one of the many popular, palate-pleasing drinks made with Cordials by Cointreau. Eating alone? Dine royally on Escalloped Chicken and Noodles. Unexpected guests? Serve 'em sumptuously with Escalloped Chicken and Noodles. Or why not just surprise the family with it some night—for no reason at all but the flavor. Stouffer's blends generous chunks of chicken with noodles in creamy gravy. Tops it off with toasted bread crumbs. Makes it ready to serve in 30 minutes from a standing start. Pick some up next time you pass the quality section of your grocer's freezer. One taste tells you why it's worth a little more.

Too Many.

NOW THAT the wild geese have flown, and the constellation Scorpio is rising with the sun—now that it's October, in other words—you would do well to map your strategy for another seasonal change. The annual avalanche of appeals from noble causes is about to come down on you, by letter box, phone, and front door. As always, the P.T.A., the Cub Scouts, the hospital auxiliary, the library, and a dozen other useful services in your own town demand a piece of your time and money. So, too, do a bewildering multitude of agencies dedicated to wiping out the assorted ills of mankind.

Though their campaigns may not start for months, the big national health organizations are grouping their forces right now, and you are their number one recruitment target.

"The suburban woman volunteer is the key to the success or failure of any campaign," says a veteran of many drives in the Toledo, Ohio, area. "It seems that any cause under the sun can raise $20,000 or $25,000 locally simply by getting enough women to ring doorbells."

Should you be one of them? Conscience says yes. For surely medical research deserves our support. And who can doubt the worth of a great citizen army after the dramatic conquest of polio?

Which cause, then, shall it be? How can you, a layman, decide which is the greater menace among a dozen different diseases, some of which you never heard of before? Which, for instance, of the 19 agencies competing for money to help the blind deserves your contribution? Why are there three organizations for muscular dystrophy victims, three in the mental health business, and three fighting cancer? (There would be four had not the Eleanor Roosevelt Foundation—in a rare gesture—merged with the American Cancer Society in 1961.)

"The public can't possibly decide," says a young lawyer's wife in Chagrin Falls, Ohio, who has collected for three or more drives for the last five years but has now decided to quit all of them. "I think tax-supported research is the only sensible solution. Everybody pays and nothing gets left out."

This is a pretty drastic decision that offends our traditional American faith in voluntary giving. It is a fact, however, that all of us are already making a hefty contribution to medical research with our tax dollars. Federal appropriations to the Institutes of Health for research totaled more than $880 million this year—a better than ten-fold increase since 1953. By comparison, the funds raised by the voluntary health agencies are small, but they and their educational efforts deserve much of the credit for the current Congressional generosity to medical research. In addition, most medical people feel that it would be a serious mistake to leave all responsibility for research to the government. In spite of the tremendous sums raised by taxation, the funds and efforts of voluntary agencies will always be important, in the opinion of the experts gathered at the 1963 National Health Forum.

TO SAY THIS, however, does not seem to justify to many people the $38 local and national fund drives in and around Los Angeles every year nor the competition of some 63 organizations in Boston that are all involved in rehabilitation of the handicapped.

Nor are such situations unique. From the Seattle area comes the word: "Mercer Island is overrun with good causes seeking contributions."

"It seems we are no sooner finished with one drive than we are called on to start another," says an engineer's wife in San José, California.

"When it comes to campaigning for national health organizations, we are close to the point of rebellion," one matron reports from Warson Woods, Missouri.

BY MARION
K. SANDERS

With the annual avalanche of appeals getting underway, opinion is divided on whether they could consolidate drives?" asks a mother of four in Birmingham, Michigan. "Isn't there some way of bringing order to all this chaos?"

Agencies tend to multiply. Half of the large national health organizations that are now active did not even exist in 1945. And virtually all those born earlier are still in operation.

Fund raising in the cause of disease became big business in the 1940s and 50s after the spectacular success of the March of Dimes, which garnered a record $65 million in one door-to-door Mother's March. Adopting a similar technique, the American Heart Association increased its revenues from $100,000 a year to $20 million a year; the American Cancer Society leaped from the $800,000 to the $30 million class.

Before long these old, established agencies were joined by a host of newcomers. In 1945, for example, a young woman named Sylvia Lawry placed a two-line ad in the New York Times asking whether anyone had ever recovered from multiple sclerosis, the rare crippling disease from which her brother suffered. Thus the Multiple Sclerosis Society was born and contributions have zoomed from $46,000 to more than $3 million. There are probably about 500,000 MS sufferers in the United States today. On the other hand, some nine million Americans are afflicted with severe mental illness; the Mental Health Association, however, collected less than $6 million in 1962.

SUCH APPARENT discrepancies between needs and fund-raising efforts stir doubts about the merits of the disease-by-disease approach to health education and medical research. Accordingly, many thoughtful philanthropists today recommend a merger at the top as an ideal way out of the current confusion. Agencies dealing with related ailments might pool their fund raising, research, and educational efforts in, possibly, four maajor campaigns: heart and circulatory diseases; neurological disorders; mental health; and cancer of all types.

This, in effect, is the solution favored by some of the very large agencies. The American Cancer Society, for example, is currently engaged in trying to entice into its fold the relatively new organization formed to combat leukemia which is, in fact, a form of cancer the A.C.S. investigators are also researching.

"A new organization competing for volunteers and for support runs the real risk of mainly financing fund raising instead of financing research," said Dr. I. S. Ravdin, president of A.C.S.

So far this argument has not been heeded by the Leukemia Society whose main impetus comes from people who have had tragic, personal experience with this particular form of cancer. Similarly, neither the National Association for Retarded Children nor the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation show any inclination for merging, even though the National Foundation has now moved into both these fields. The more established agencies suggest that it can only be a matter of time before attrition sets in—the weaker agencies will simply give up.

So far this has not happened. Which leaves the dilemma right where it is—in the public's hands.

Your town may already have a Community Chest or Red Feather combined appeal for all its local health and welfare agencies. You may consider also the possibility of bringing the national health drives into one big campaign. This is now the accepted pattern of solicitation in business, industry, and government offices. Once-a-year federated drives have also been established in more than a thousand communities across the country. They go by various names: United Fund, United Crusade for Mercy, Good Neighbors Fund, etc. Some are called Torch Drives, after the first federated appeal launched in Detroit in 1940 under the joint auspices of management and labor unions. Although the national health agencies did not take kindly to the idea, many of them now let their local chapters decide on whether or not to join.

THE RED CROSS, the USO and a number of the health organizations forego their own drives to share in federated campaigns.

The TB Association, the National Foundation, and the Heart and Cancer Societies, however, have remained adamant, chiefly because they can raise more money on their own. The Cancer Society also argues that its volunteers do an important educational job in alerting the public to the early symptoms of cancer.

If you believe—as many sincere and dedicated people do—that health causes are important enough to warrant a special effort, then you might consider a modification of the federated campaign

—a united health appeal. This plan was born back in 1956 in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, in the town of Gates Mills, where a group of women, weary of making the rounds, decided, on their own, to stage a one-shot combined drive for all the health agencies. And a few years later 16 towns on the outskirts of Cleveland organized a more formal United Health Appeal under the chairmanship of Mrs. George W. Urban of South Euclid. The names of the five cooperating health agencies were printed on special envelopes, permitting contributors to make a choice if they wished. Although the Big Four (Cancer, Heart, National Foundation, and TB) still remain aloof, the Cuyahoga County Health Drive has made steady progress.

It takes time and effort, of course, to organize a federated drive. But those who have done so feel it is well worth while. In the interests of consolidation, the National Health Council and the American Epilepsy Society—the organization of doctors concerned with this disease—have been working for over a year with the four national epilepsy organizations now in operation, exploring ways to merge into a single strong agency.

The desire of volunteers to devote their leisure to something more satisfying than fund raising is the motive behind a very homespun community-chest plan launched a few weeks ago at a party in Wheaton, Illinois. Some 20 local matrons decided to put $12 apiece into a health fund pool. "From now on," said one of these women, "when anyone calls us to contribute or collect for one of the drives that generally gets a dollar from each of us, we'll refer the caller to our treasurer and she can dole out a slice of our pool."

MRS. KARL SEFFEL, who was elected treasurer, isn't sure yet just how the plan will work out.

"But at least," she said, "it will save time for us gals who are always ringing each other's doorbells for a small donation. We are fed up with making the rounds. And this isn't because we don't want to help worthy causes. All of us welcome volunteer service which requires direct contact with patients."

"There should be a single health drive in the spring and our usual United Crusade in the fall," says Mrs. Robert Sibley of Berkeley, California, who is virtually a full time volunteer, working with her local Board of Education, Council of Social Planning, YMCA, and United Crusade. Mrs. Sibley strongly disagrees with the health agencies when they justify their many drives on the grounds that they afford individuals an opportunity to participate in worthwhile activities.

This, too, is the view of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Peebler who live in the suburbs of Omaha, Nebraska. "Though this is a sparsely populated area, we are asked to contribute to a philanthropic cause at least once a month," says Mr. Peebler. "The question for the individual today is to decide which of the causes represent a basic need to which time and money should be contributed."

THE CASE FOR the United Appeal makes sense. But human nature being what it is, will people give the same amount to one appeal as they would, all told, to several? Isn't there a danger that a contribution of $50 all at one time may look sufficient—and even rather handsome—to the donor who would parcel out $10 or $15 to each of half a dozen appeals made in the course of a year?

Only a half-percent of our national income is contributed to charity as it is, so obviously our existing drives are not yet a serious drain on our means—but equally obvious, it is very necessary continually to review the most effective ways of raising and using that half-percent, and hopefully a good deal more!

Someone's going steady with daddy

And why not? A daddy is all fun and fanfare... all chortles and chin-chucking. A daddy can turn into a horse at the drop of a dimpled smile. He's a whiz at games and a master builder with blocks. He's the hero who comes home with a surprise in his pocket... a toss in the air in his arms. Who wouldn't want to go steady with a guy blade like that?

Mom's from a popular dad in his own right, Dan Gerber. "It may interest you to know that here at Gerber your baby's foods are 'custom-cooked' to insure digestibility and better nourishment. For example, some foods require longer cooking than others... some higher temperatures. Fruits are flash-cooked... sweet-potatoes are slow-cooked (to break down starches into easily digested sugars). Egg yolks are treated differently from meats. Whatever the method, cooking time and temperatures are scientifically controlled to preserve the utmost in precious food values."

A bit about blocks. There's something about blocks that absolutely captivates toddlers. With or without dad's inspirational help, they're great fun to stack up and topple down. Interestingly enough, they have educational value, too. Every time your toddler succeeds in getting one block to stay on top of another, his hands and eyes advance in skill. Every time he hits upon a new arrangement, he develops his creative imagination.

More about blocks... the "building blocks" of the body; namely proteins. Gerber High Protein Cereal has a 35% protein content, to say nothing of added iron, calcium and B-vitamins. Add a toasty, nut-like flavor and you've nutrition in the nicest form imaginable.

Toddler tactics. From time to time toddlers go on a milk strike. You can often encourage a reluctant one to drink his milk if you let him sip it through a brightly colored plastic straw. Other ways you can get milk into a toddler: offer extra servings of cereal. Or Gerber Custard Puddings. Or treat him to a nog, using Gerber Egg Yolks as a base and Gerber Orange Juice and sugar for flavoring.

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—Infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

IMPOSSIBLE? THAT'S WHY EVERY FAMILY SHOULD MAKE OUT A HOUSEHOLD INVENTORY BEFORE DISASTER STRIKES.

Close your eyes for a minute, and try to recall everything of value in your living room. Then do the same for other rooms in your home (don't forget the basement and attic). Even with closed eyes, you'll "see" the problem most people face after a fire.

But there's a way to avoid this situation. When you insure your home through a Hartford Agent, or your insurance broker, he'll gladly help you fill out a Household Inventory Form listing your belongings, room by room. Then you keep a copy and he files a duplicate in his office. In the event of fire, it's easy to establish exactly what was destroyed.

Household Inventory has a dual use. In addition to providing a record of your belongings, the Household Inventory enables you and your Hartford Representative to total up their value—shows you at a glance how much insurance to carry.

With an Inventory to guide you in ordering just the coverage you need—no more, no less—you'll find the Hartford Homeowners "package policy" is the best way to get it. Your Hartford Agent will explain how it covers your home, furnishings and personal belongings against fire, windstorm, lightning, vandalism, theft and other perils. He'll point out the important personal liability section which protects you and your family members against claims and lawsuits by other persons for accidental injuries, or damage to their property.

Finally, he'll show you that the Hartford Homeowners provides this protection at substantial savings from the cost of such insurance through separate policies.

See your local Hartford Agent or broker. He can take care of all your insurance needs—for your home, car, life and health. You will find your Hartford Agent listed in the Yellow Pages or wherever you see the familiar Stag trademark displayed. Many Hartford Agents also display this emblem of the National Association of Insurance Agents.

Through Darkest Adolescence

"Strange," the doctor said, not believing his ears, in which he had previously trusted implicitly. "Breathe deeply, Sonny," he directed his patient, and listened intently again, a puzzled look on his face.

The doctor was a thorough, scientific sort of fellow, and he eventually noticed that the humming noise was made only when the boy was exhaling. Now he was on the right track, and soon he was convinced that the humming noise was—a humming noise. Afflicted with nothing more than a severe case of adolescence, it turned out that the boy was merely humming a popular tune. This humming is a fairly common symptom of advanced adolescence, when a craving for music makes it necessary to hum a tune during the short periods when separated from a radio or record player. Otherwise, there is that dreadful quiet which a teen-ager can endure only about as long as he can hold his breath.

As for treatment of the disease, it would be a mistake to put the adolescent in bed, having had such a time getting him out of it. He might stay there indefinitely, getting up only when necessary to go to the bathroom or to the refrigerator. Nor is there any use dosing him with sulfa, penicillin, aureomycin, or cortisone.

Once it is certain a child has adolescence, should you tell him? Or, if you lack the courage, should you ask the doctor to do so? No. Not knowing the seriousness of his illness, not knowing all that lies ahead of him, he will think you unduly alarmed.

"Get hold of yourself," he will say, as you brush away the tears and try to keep your lower lip from trembling too noticeably. "I'll live through it."

Maybe he will, you think to yourself. But will he?

The wise parent will fight back the impulse to tell the teen-ager what is the matter with him. Not only will adolescents never admit they are adolescents (in this respect, as in so many others, resembling mental patients), but they resent having the term applied to them. Call them

"stupid fool" or "nitwit" or "nin-compoop" (which they probably wouldn't understand, anyhow, and would be too lazy to look up), but never, especially in a scornful tone of voice, "adolescent." An adolescent too often called an adolescent may do something drastic, such as run away from home. So you should be careful with the word, unless you have been looking for a way to get the child to move out.

In short, adolescents, however badly stricken, are not only beyond help but do not wish help, especially from their parents. Parents of their friends are something else again.

"Jeanne's mother and father understand me," my teen-age daughter is always saying, "even if you don't."

The interesting thing is that Jeanne's mother and father, who do indeed understand my daughter, don't understand Jeanne. We do. So when my daughter is un-understood by us, she goes to Jeanne's house, and when Jeanne is un-understood by her parents, she comes to ours. It is a fine system, a kind of two-way Lend-Lease. Sometimes our daughter and theirs, each headed for the other's house, pass a few blocks away, at mid-point. The only trouble is that the teen-age girl in our house a large part of the time is not our daughter but Jeanne, and the one who seems to be a regular member of the other household is not Jeanne but our daughter. Guests are understandably bewildered, and we grow tired of explaining. The fact that the two girls wear identical clothes and hairdos adds to the confusion. Sometimes we are not sure ourselves.

BUT I HAVE been using my daughter as an example too much. There is also my son, about whom it might be said:

Our son does little, now, but grow,
And that he does a lot.
He's "shooting up," we say, and so
No wonder we are shot.

Yes, adolescents are sick and not to be held accountable for their actions. Despite what some old-fashioned penologists say, it would be unfair to put them away a few years in a maximum-security prison. It would not only be unfair, but more important, it would be illegal, and you could wind up in prison. You might enjoy the peace and quiet, at that.

"There ought to be a law," I have heard some parents mutter, but it was only wishful thinking. If such a law were passed, it would promptly be declared unconstitutional by some softhearted judge, in all likelihood a bachelor.

As of now, there is nothing to do about adolescence but let it run its course, wear itself out. There are those who optimistically take hope in the advance of science in the parallel fields of poliomyelitis, diabetes, and schizophrenia. Indeed, there may in time be not only tuberculosis stamps but adolescence stamps, and the Cancer Fund may be matched by the Adolescence Fund, aimed at supplying adequate resources for research that may lead to a scientific breakthrough. Should such a fund drive get underway, hundreds of thousands of volunteer workers stand ready to canvass every home in the land, taking with them stickers bearing such forthright, crusading slogans as "Stamp Out Adolescence" and "We Gave."

Some day a Dr. Salk will probably come along with a vaccine for adolescence. If so, the only question will be which Nobel Prize he should get—the one for medicine or the one for peace.

But until then, my advice to parents of teen-agers is to remember that these young people are sick. Be kind. Visit them only during visiting hours and only when bearing gifts of candy, clothing, electronic gadgets, and money—especially money.

As for corporal punishment, you wouldn't hit an invalid, would you?

c. 1700 BRITISH PARADE SIDE DRUM, strikingly emblazoned in 6 colors with the Royal Coat of Arms, reflects the pageantry and color of the British armies of such as Wellington, Kitchener and Clive of India who have heard their roll since 1700. They are massive, heavy, brilliantly colored, stand 15" and are a full 4 feet all around. Less than 100 are produced yearly by hand in Pakistan where it has been a family art for 2 centuries. Intricate, detailed Coat of Arms reveals crawling lion and chained unicorn topped by a gold crown set with jewels over a cap of crimson velvet and turned up ermine. It bears the mottoes of England and the Order of the Garter. A thin veneer of glistening gold covers the back half of the drum, and both top and bottom are covered with hand-stretched sheepskin. As a reminder of yesteryear, as decoration, a coffee table or bar, it is unique, colorful and rarely seen. $65 shipping charge. Regimental Imports, Dept. ST-10, 887 Second Ave., N.Y. 17.

OLD-TIME IRON HAWS like these were mechanical wonders of the 1870s, cast iron contraptions guaranteed to "swallow coins" and encourage the virtues of thrift. Now, as then, they are hand-poured into individual sand molds, hand-painted in a rainbow of colors. A joy for young and old—big, colorful, heavy, indestructible, and both with authentic working action. "Trick Day." Place coin in dog's mouth and he'll jump through hoop and drop coin in barrel. "Bitch's," $14.95 ppd. "Performing Clown." Insert coin and down whirrs around on ball, then stands on his head. Gaily painted clown sets on antique footed base. "Red." $21.95 ppd. Antique Toy Co., Dept. ST-10, 122 East 42nd St., N.Y. 17.

OLD FASHIONED DUTCH COLONIAL DOORBELL—$2. Just can't be improved! Twist the knob and a musical bell tinkle announces the caller. It's so easy to install in a few minutes on any door. And of course it's virtually indestructible. Non-electric. Solid brass construction. 2 1/2" x 3" face plate. Greenland Sales, 139 Greenview Bldg., Miami 47, Fla.

GRAND PRIX RACERS—Slot imported scale models of Mercedes-Benz (top) and Ferrari racers are only 4" long, yet go 20 mph on a slingshot-mounted, beautifully detailed, laser precision steering, brake, five-swinging, rubber tires, etc. Remarkable for $3.95 ppd.; both, $6.95. Davis Co., Dept. ST, 607 Second Ave., N.Y. 17.

HIDDEN TREASURE BOOK SAFE looks like a book, yet when opened is a safe to protect your valuables. Changeable combination lock. Has leather-like gold-stamped binding. Its innocent appearance will fool anyone. Safe measures 6 3/8" x 2 1/2". $2.30 ppd.; 3 for $6.30. Scott-Mitchell, Dept. ST-10, 415 S. Broadway, Yonkers, N.Y.

FOR MY MONEY, the world is divided into two camps: the talkers who enjoy themselves and the listeners who wish they had the nerve to make a speech in public. Most people end up on the listener bench because it's easier that way. They envy their "speaking" acquaintances—that special breed who know exactly what to say and never falter, whether emceeing a banquet or chairing a meeting.

I can see the "listeners" now, back in the corner with their little circle of friends or over behind the club's coffee maker. I was there, too, until I learned you can jump the fence into the "talking" group, if you're given the right push.

The push came for me in 1958 when King Features Syndicate bought my column of family advice, for international distribution. One day I was a country newspaper correspondent (and, incidentally, the best darn "listener" in southern Oregon). The next, I was a syndicated columnist, and I found myself suddenly and frighteningly in demand as a public speaker. For you, the push may be when you become president of the P.T.A. or chairman of your church club—or any time that you have to stand in front of an audience and make a speech or give a report. The important thing is that I'm not green with fright any more—and my experience proves that any scaredy-cat can speak in public—if you have to.

WHEN my first invitation—for a tv interview—came, I felt like a modern bride caught with unexpected company and no package mixes. After it was over, though, I didn't think I'd done too badly—smile the next day when a friend gushed, "I saw you on the air yesterday. Boy! Did you look awful!"

That did it. "To heck with public speaking," I said. "It isn't that I can't; it's just that I do not choose..." Which is the same old dodge that I had used all my life, with one big difference: before, no one was asking; now they were, and I have trouble saying 'no'.

The second invitation came to my mailbox in a typewritten envelope with an official-looking return address. "We read about you in a national magazine," the letter began. "Could you appear on a panel for our Penwomen's conference?" And, immediately, my resolutions went akimbo.

Thrilled and flattered by the recognition, I persuaded myself that speaking might be fun, and a panel was an easy way to start. So I accepted with only small qualms, made a few notes, pecked my bag, and rolled up my sleeves for a new career in public speaking—and fell flat on my face. The clever things I'd planned to say never squeezed past my thick tongue. Half my introduction was lost in an agony of stage fright. My mouth became cotton-dry, but I couldn't reach for the water because my shaking hand would have spilled it. And my voice squeaked and faltered like a teakettle under half-steam.

In short, I was terrified and I blushed it. So I vowed that this was the last time I'd ever flub in public because I'd never open my mouth again in public.

And I didn't, either, for three miserable weeks. Every morning I woke up thinking, "You big, dumb, quivering coward. Are you going to admit failure?" And every morning I hated myself a little bit more.

So when our family doctor met me on the street one day and remarked, "Helen, you look tired; you've got to get away from that typewriter," I was ready for his next line: "What you need is a change of pace. I'm scheduling you to speak next Thursday at the Rotary Club. It'll do you good." I accepted on the spot.

THIS TIME, I didn't mess around with a few notes and confidence that "the Lord will provide." I formed Rule No. 1 for my public speaking: I wrote out my talk and practiced and practiced it. I came to hate the very sound of my voice. I mumbled my speech over the ironing board and to the kitchen stove. It went with me down to the small stream on our place where I gabbled while our small daughters angled for trout. And it was here that I got my classic deflator. "Please," said our seven-year-old, "don't be so noisy. You're disturbing the fish."

At this point, I learned Rule No. 2: Don't say your speech aloud in front of your children. They pick up all the catchy lines. Luncheon-club jokes repeated at a small-town Sunday school class somehow cease to be funny.

By Thursday, I was letter-perfect. And do you know what happened? I stood before that audience of familiar faces and turned to ice water. I wanted to run, and it didn't help one bit with my husband Bob there, displaying that in-stock look he gets when I drive the car and he's in it.

Then a lucky break saved me and brought the first faint inkling that, given time, I might even enjoy this speaking caper. I made a mistake. Describing how my syndicate requires an inventory of 30 columns before publication, I slipped in a part of my Penwomen's speech and asked those extremely male Rotarians, "Have you ever had labor pains that lasted for a month?"

A pause; a double-take; then laughter and a lessening of tension. On the spot, I formed Rule No. 3: The best way to get people on your side is to laugh at yourself.

I was feeling better about my public speaking until later that day when I asked my husband how I'd done. "Your nose quivers like a rabbit when you're scared," he observed. "You mumbled in spots. You swayed. You said 'and-uh' 21 times. You repeated yourself and you looked at the ceiling.

"And," he ended, "You talked too long. Cut it by 10 minutes."

With these comments in mind, I took the advice of a friend and joined the Toastmistress Club. I heartily recommend it to any "listener." Those tactful ladies can say 'you stink' in such glowing phrases that you think you're only slightly inferior to Helen Hayes—until you rehash all the "don'ts" they've dealt you.

The club took me apart piece by piece and put me back together again with all the ragged edges turned inward. They criticized me for "eye contact" (look at people, dear, not over or around them); inflection; rapid speech; breathlessness; swaying; slurring; and a hundred other faults. And they taught me to live with stage fright by showing that it is the problem of every speaker.

SO MY RULE No. 4 is: Start talking now, not next week. To find your voice, you must make yourself use it. If you keep trying, there will come a day when you're proud of it. That day came for me last year at a service-club banquet.

I'd barely started my ice cream when the introduction came, and I arose, expecting the weak knees, shaking hands, and quivering nose that go with my first moment before a group. They didn't come. From the start, the audience and I enjoyed each other, and I talked far longer than my allotted time.

"Well, let's face it. How did I do?" I asked Bob afterward. And I knew I'd arrived when he pulled on his pipe for a moment and then tossed back the highest compliment a husband can give:

"Okay," he said, "but did you have to cut it so short?"

COLIFLOR ACAPULCO

- 1 large head cauliflower
- Marinade (see recipe)
- 1 14-oz. can garbanzo beans (chick-peas), drained
- 1 cup pimiento-stuffed olives
- 1 4-oz. jar pimientos, drained and cut lengthwise in strips
- Lettuce
- 1 1-lb. jar sliced pickled beets, drained and chilled
- 1 large cucumber, thinly sliced and chilled
- Radish roses
- Guacamole (see recipe)

1. Cook the head of cauliflower in boiling, salted water about 10 min., or just until tender; drain. Place cauliflower, head down, in a deep bowl and pour the marinade over it. Chill several hours or overnight; occasionally spoon marinade over all.

2. Shortly before serving, thread garbanzo beans, pimiento-stuffed olives, and pimiento strips onto wooden picks for decorative kabobs (see photo). Set aside.

3. Drain the cauliflower. Line a chilled serving plate with crisp lettuce and place cauliflower in the center. Arrange the pickled beet and cucumber pieces around the base, tucking in parsley sprigs and the radish roses (see photo).

4. Spoon and spread Guacamole over the cauliflower. Decorate with cashew nuts and the kabobs. Serve cold.

6 to 8 servings

Marinade—Combine in a screw-top jar 1½ cups salad oil, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1½ teaspoons salt, and 1 teaspoon chili powder. Shake the marinade well before pouring it over the cauliflower.

GUACAMOLE

- 1½ cups mashed ripe avocado
- 2 to 3 teaspoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons minced onion
- ½ cup finely chopped, peeled and seeded ripe tomato (optional)

Mix thoroughly. Cover with moisture-vaporproof material and chill until ready to serve. About 2 cups

Note: When featuring Guacamole as a dip, serve tostaditas as dippers.

SANGRIA

- ¾ cup lemon juice
- ¾ cup orange juice
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 bottle (½ qt.) Burgundy, chilled

1. Combine juices and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved.

2. Pour wine into a pitcher half filled with ice cubes or crushed ice. Add mixture of juices and stir until blended. Serve at once.

About 8 servings

Note: The proportion of fruit juice mixture to wine should be about 1 to 3.

CHILES RELLENOS EN NOGADA

- 6 medium-sized green peppers
 - 3 tablespoons lard
 - 3 cloves garlic, minced
 - 1/4 cup chopped onion
 - 1 lb. lean ground pork
 - 1/2 lb. ham with fat, ground
 - 2 cups chopped ripe tomatoes
 - 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
 - 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
 - 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 4 whole cloves, crushed
 - 5 peppercorns, crushed
 - 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 - 1/4 teaspoon powdered saffron
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped almonds
 - 1/4 cup dark raisins
 - 1 teaspoon chopped capers
 - 2 tablespoons chopped candied lemon peel
 - 1/4 cup pitted chopped green olives
- Lard for deep frying, heated to 365°F
- Flour
- 2 eggs, beaten
- Nogada (see recipe)
- Pomegranate seeds

1. Cut out stems of peppers; remove seeds and membrane. Place peppers in a large saucepan; cover with boiling water, bring to boiling, and cook about 2 min. Drain and invert on absorbent paper.

2. Heat the 3 tablespoons lard in a heavy skillet; add garlic, onion, and ground meat. Cook until meat is browned, stirring occasionally. Blend in tomatoes, parsley, vinegar, extract, and a mixture of the next five ingredients. Then stir in nuts, raisins, capers, lemon peel, and olives.

3. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until mixture is almost dry (30 to 40 min.). Meanwhile, heat lard for deep frying.

4. Spoon filling into peppers, packing lightly so mixture will remain in cavities during frying.

5. Roll peppers in flour, coating entire surface. Dip in beaten egg.

6. Fry peppers in hot deep fat until coating is golden. (Or fry in 2 in. of hot fat in a deep skillet, turning to brown evenly.) Remove peppers with a slotted spoon and drain on absorbent paper.

7. Arrange on serving plate and top with the Nogada. Sprinkle with pomegranate seeds. 6 servings

NOGADA

- 1 cup walnuts, ground
- 1/2 clove garlic, ground
- 5 peppercorns, crushed
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 6 to 8 tablespoons water

Mix first six ingredients with vinegar. Stir in enough water until mixture is the consistency of a very thick sauce. Let stand at least 30 min. to blend flavors.

CHICKEN ENCHILADAS

- 3 cups shredded cooked white meat of chicken
 - Green Sauce (see recipe)
 - 12 tortillas, fresh or frozen
1. Lightly toast chicken with 3/4 cup Green Sauce.

2. Dip one tortilla at a time in the hot Green Sauce, spoon 1/4 cup of the chicken down the center, and roll up. The place, open edge down, in a baking dish, then spoon hot Green Sauce over enchiladas; cover dish.

3. Set in a 400°F oven to heat thoroughly, about 10 min.

4. Garnish enchiladas with dairy sour cream and serve with Mexican Rice and Frijoles. 12 enchiladas

GREEN SAUCE

- 1/4 cup cooking oil
- 2 large onions, sliced
- 2 large green peppers, sliced
- 2 tablespoons coarsely snipped parsley
- 5 cups hot water
- 5 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 4-oz. can peeled green chiles, drained and finely sieved (discard membrane)
- 1 cup cold water
- 6 to 7 tablespoons cornstarch

1. Heat cooking oil in saucepan. Add half of the onion and green pepper slices; cook until tender, stirring occasionally. Put into container of electric blender with snipped parsley, 1 cup of the hot water, and chicken bouillon cubes. Blend until the mixture is smooth.

2. Turn into saucepan with the remaining 4 cups hot water, onion slices, green pepper slices, and the sieved chiles. Bring to boiling and simmer about 10 min., or until vegetables are tender.

3. Blend cold water with cornstarch and add gradually to sauce, stirring constantly. Heat the mixture to boiling and then boil 1 to 2 min., continuing to stir throughout the cooking time. About 8 cups sauce

MEXICAN RICE

- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1/4 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed in a garlic press, or minced
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/2 cups water

1. Heat olive oil in a heavy saucepan. Add onion, garlic, and rice; fry about 3 min., or until golden, stirring occasionally.

2. Stir in a mixture of the chili powder and salt.

3. Add water, stir, and cover tightly. Bring to boiling and simmer until rice is tender, about 30 min.

About 8 servings

FRIJOLES

- 1 lb. pinto beans
- 6 cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup lard*

1. Wash beans; put with water in saucepan, bring to boiling, and boil rapidly 2 min. Re-move from heat and cover tightly 1 hr.

2. Add salt, bring to boiling, and simmer 1 to 2 hrs., or until beans are tender. Drain beans, reserving liquid.

3. Heat the lard in a large, heavy skillet and add some of the drained beans. Mash them well; add a little of the liquid and blend. Continue adding remainder of beans and liquid alternately, mashing and blending after each addition. Continue cooking over low heat 15 to 20 min., or until very thick, stirring frequently. 3 to 10 servings

*¼ cup bacon drippings may be substituted.

FRIJOLES REFRITOS

To reify Frijoles, heat with additional lard in skillet, stirring until beans are thoroughly heated and fat is completely absorbed.

MANCHA MANTELES

Mexicans have given this incomparable crea-tion its strangely apt name, Tablecloth Stainer!

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 lb. lean boneless pork, cut in 1-in. pieces
- 2 2½- to 3-lb. chickens, cut up (see Note), seasoned, and floured
- 1 large onion, sliced
- 1 green pepper, sliced
- 1 6-oz. can tomato paste
- ¾ cup unblanched almonds, toasted
- 1 tablespoon cocaine soap, toasted
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 3 whole cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- 3 cups cubed raw sweet potato
- 1 cup fresh pineapple pieces
- 1 cup dried tart apple

1. Heat half the butter and half the olive oil in a large skillet. Add pork and brown well; remove to a large sauce pot. Set aside.

2. Brown chicken evenly in skillet adding the remaining butter and olive oil as needed. Transfer chicken to the sauce pot.

3. Add onion and green pepper to drippings in skillet and cook about 5 min., stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and spoon into blender container. Add tomato paste, nuts, and sesame seed; blend until smooth.

4. Return mixture to skillet; stir in 4 cups hot water and next six ingredients. Bring to boiling; simmer, uncovered, about 15 min.

5. Pour the sauce over chicken and pork in sauce pot. Bring to boiling and simmer, covered, about 30 min. Add the sweet potato and cook 15 min. longer. Stir in the pine-apple and apple; heat thoroughly. Before serving, if desired, stir in 1 sliced banana.

6. Serve in soup plates. 3 to 10 servings
Note: If available, use a 4- to 5-lb. chicken and adjust the cooking time accordingly.

BEEF TACOS

- 3 tablespoons lard
- 1 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- ¼ cup lard for frying
- 12 canned or frozen tortillas, dried at room temperature about 3 hrs.
- Finely shredded lettuce
- Finely chopped onion
- Shredded Cheddar cheese

1. Heat 3 tablespoons lard in a large, heavy skillet. Add onion and garlic and cook until tender. Blend with beef and a mixture of salt, chili, and cumin; brown meat lightly.

2. Fry tortillas, one at a time, in ¼ in. of lard heated to 375°F in a heavy skillet. When tortilla becomes limp, fold in half with tongs and hold edges apart while frying to allow for filling. Fry 1½ to 2 min., or until crisp and golden. Drain on absorbent paper.

3. To serve, spoon 3 or 4 tablespoons of beef mixture into each toasted tortilla; top with lettuce, onion, and cheese. If desired, serve with a Mexican chili sauce—salsa picante. Garnish each plate with a tomato wedge and radish rose. 12 tacos

Note: For variety, substitute Frijoles, Guacamole, or melted cheese for the beef mixture.

TORTILLAS

In place of bread at the table, pass warm tortillas in a napkin-lined basket. Have guests spread their own with butter and salsa picante, roll, and fold bottom-end-up.

TOSTADITAS

Dry tortillas at room temperature about 2 hrs. Cut into quarters with scissors. Heat ¼ in. lard to 375°F in a skillet. Fry tortilla quarters about 1½ to 2 min., or until crisp. Remove and drain on absorbent paper.

CHALUPITAS

Spread each tostadita with 1 tablespoon Frijoles. Sprinkle with 1 to 2 tablespoons shredded Cheddar cheese and broil about 3 in. from heat source just until cheese melts, about 1 min. Top with a dollop of Guacamole; serve hot.

CHALUPAS

Follow procedure used for Chalupitas substituting tostadas for tostaditas; increase amounts of Frijoles, shredded cheese, and Guacamole. Garnish plate with a tomato wedge and radish rose.

MEXICAN CHOCOLATE

Combine in a heavy saucepan 4 oz. sweet chocolate,* 4 cups milk, and 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until chocolate is melted and mixture is thoroughly heated. Beat with a rotary beater or mix in an electric blender until frothy, about 1 min. Serve steaming hot in Mexican pottery mugs. 6 to 8 servings

*Mexican chocolate with its cinnamon flavor can be purchased in Mexican food shops.

The Woman I Design For

BY BONNIE CASHIN

famous sportswear designer and winner of the New York Fashion Critics' Award

AN OPEN MIND and an open heart—the woman I design for has both of these qualities. She's the marvelous anonymous one you occasionally spot swinging her youngster in the playground or boarding a plane—the one with grace of movement, her face illuminated by an inner something. She isn't a press-agented name. She's rarely seen in "the places to be," although she doesn't shun them. She's natural; she's real. Because beauty and taste are natural elements in her life, she also loves clothes. But they don't dominate her. On the contrary, they have to suit her life in Paoli, Pennsylvania, or Sav- age, Minnesota. They have to come pretty close to home, the clothes I design for her—and for you.

Snug! A hand-knit helmet tucks into a mammoth fleece coat that folds in back for double warmth.

Plant Now for February Bloom

*How to force bulbs for a burst of fragrance and color
when it will do you the most good*

BY JOHN BRIMER

ILLUSTRATIONS BY ROBERT DESCHAMPS

HERE'S A BIT of gardening hocus-pecus where a slight effort will be rewarded, for once, by spectacular success. Any day now, pot up a collection of bulbs, and later on, in the dead of winter, dig them up and bring them into the house to bloom.

Daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, crocuses, snowdrops, grape-hyacinths, scillas, all of these are good subjects; most other bulbs require greenhouse culture for real success. You'll get best results by using named varieties of tulips and hyacinths which are known to force well, and for forcing, always get first-quality bulbs—plump and sound.

Bulbs will grow in many kinds of containers, but they'll do best in squat pots called "bulb pans," wide at the top and shallow-sided. Plant in clusters of one variety to the pot, six, eight, or 10 to a 6- to 10-inch pan, any time from now through December. Remember, the later you plant, the later they'll bloom. Take advantage of this and keep planting every two weeks so that you'll have replacements to bring in when early-planted bulbs finish blooming. Most bulbs can be saved after forcing to plant out of doors next autumn, with the possible exception of tulips, which may not give good outdoor bloom afterward. Never try to force any bulb two years in succession—the strain is too great.

IN WARM CLIMATES, pre-cooled bulbs are increasingly obtainable at garden centers. Many southern gardeners buy bulbs in autumn and store them in the bottom of the refrigerator for six to 10 weeks, then take them out and plant them in December or January. In southern California and other warm areas it is hardly worthwhile planting in pots because spring bulbs bloom so quickly and well from outdoor planting. Although extra-deep planting is frequently advised—good results at a depth of 16 inches have been reported—recent tests by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that soil temperatures may be cooler at four inches than at eight, so there's a case for shallow planting, too.

Almost any good garden soil, pulverized and sifted, may be used for potting; add coarse sand (up to ¼ by bulk) to insure good drainage if your soil is heavy clay. To one part of this mixture add an equal quantity of peat moss. For each half-bushel of the resulting blend mix in a quart of dehydrated cow manure and a pint of bonemeal. Now you are ready to proceed using the sketches, right, as a guide.

Begin with a layer of gravel or broken bits of clay; cover with dry leaves. Plant bulbs in loose soil, tops 1" below rim. Remember, good drainage and generous watering are musts.

Allow about 12 weeks' rooting period for tulips; 11 for daffodils; 10 for hyacinths; four to six for small bulbs. Afterward, dig up pots unwatered and bring inside. Sheets should be up about 2".

Keep dig-up pots in cool semi-dark place (under a table in a closed porch, for instance) for a week or 10 days to allow plants to adjust and grow. Water them well every day.

After a week or so, bring them in the house to a sunny window. When buds open, keep pot out of direct sunlight, and leave overnight at 40°-50° to make the blooms last longer.

After flowering, reduce watering but keep in a bright room so leaves stay green and healthy. Crocus sprigs, plant out of doors, or store as shown in cool place till autumn planting time.

STUDY OF TOLL ROAD TO NAG'S HEAD TO BE UP-DATED

VIRGINIA BEACH—Virginia's newly revived Coastal Turnpike Authority is seeking an up-to-date feasibility study of a toll road linking Virginia Beach and Nag's Head, N. C., Political leader Sidney S. Kellam, chairman of the three-man authority, said Monday that Wilbur Smith & Associates, a Norfolk engineering firm, had been contacted about making the study.

Sidney S. Kellam

Kellam was named chairman of the group Saturday when Gov. Albert S. Harrison, Jr. revitalized the authority by appointing two new members to fill long-vacant seats.

Cox Appointed
Appointed was Roland Chandler, general manager of ferry operations for the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel Commission and Frank W. Cox, superintendent of Virginia Beach public schools. Both are Virginia Beach residents. Chandler will fill the unexpired term of former chairman Sidney Banks who resigned when he moved from Virginia Beach to Florida. Cox was appointed to the seat held by the late Fred A. Haycox.

The authority is empowered to finance and operate a toll road along the Virginia coast to the North Carolina line and will co-operate with a similar toll road authority created by the North Carolina legislature last June.

A previous attempt to put the road through collapsed in 1957 when a two-state joint authority found itself unable to sell bonds to finance the project.

In 1959 North Carolina dissolved its toll road authority until last June when a new group was named consisting of Vernon James, Master T. Williams and chairman George R. Goodwin of T. A. Loving & Co., general contractors with offices in Raleigh and Goldsboro.

An 18-month delay to the road is anticipated due to an agreement between North Carolina and a rocket propellant firm conducting experiments at Corolla just south of the Virginia state line. The agreement stipulates that no highway may be built through the area during a three-year period which began with the start of the experiments.

Kellam said feasibility studies were made during the previous attempt to build the road but that a new study would be needed to bring information up to date.

Petersburg Shows Need of Polio Vaccine

NORFOLK — Petersburg is a prime example of what can happen if a community doesn't have an effective polio immunization program, a spokesman for three medical societies said here.

The three medical societies are sponsoring a mass oral immunization program in Tidewater in an effort to prevent such an outbreak of polio as that suffered by Petersburg last week.

Public health officials called the Petersburg epidemic the worst in the nation this year. There were 13 cases there. One person died: All those stricken were Negroes.

The immunization program to rid Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and Chesapeake of polio was planned by local physicians before the crippling disease hit Petersburg.

Sunday, November 10 is the date of the first "feeding" of oral vaccine to residents of the four Tidewater cities. A second dose is scheduled for January 12.

"Many people did not get Salk vaccine shots," said the spokesman. "Many others didn't get their boosters. That's why we are sponsoring the mass oral vaccine program. If we can reach half a million people in the four cities we can wipe out polio and not have to worry about what's happening in Petersburg."

The Public Health Service flew 80,000 doses of Sabin oral vaccine into Richmond last Thursday for use in a series of clinics to try to stop the spread of polio in the Petersburg area. The clinics were set up in 14 locations on Saturday.

The object of the mass immunization program both here and in Petersburg is to knock out the polio virus in one massive blow. The program in the four Tidewater cities is being sponsored by the Norfolk County Medical Society, the Portsmouth Academy of Medicine and the Virginia Beach Medical Society.

Physicians hope to immunize half a million people in the program. More than 6,000 volunteers will be needed to help administer the vaccine. Two drops on a cube of sugar will constitute a dose. Meanwhile, the medical societies announced the appointment of a community relations chairman for Norfolk and one for Virginia Beach.

The chairman in Norfolk is Paul O. Hirschbuhl, senior vice president of the Seaboard Citizens National Bank. The chairman in Virginia Beach is Edward T. Canton III, councilman and attorney.

The chairmen will direct the thousands of volunteer workers. Such organizations as Parent-Teacher Associations, Boy Scouts, women's and civic clubs will be asked to help.

Hospital Gets Old Papers By Truckload
VIRGINIA BEACH—The newspaper drive for the General Hospital of Virginia Beach received a boost last week with the donation of a full truckload of old newspapers.

The donation was made by Elias Codd, a Norfolk delicatessen owner. The drive is being conducted through the month of October by the Auxiliary to the hospital. Proceeds will be used to buy air-conditioning units for the present building and equipment for the pediatrics service of both the old and proposed hospital. Donations may be made Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at the paper booth at 33rd St. and Atlantic Avenue. The Auxiliary has asked that donations be tied in bundles.

Hospital president George D. Brooke signs contract.

Contract For Hospital Is Finalized

VIRGINIA BEACH — A contract to build the new 105-bed General Hospital of Virginia Beach was signed at 10:00 a.m. Monday by George D. Brooke, president of the new hospital.

The contract was made with J. A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte, N. C. for a total cost of $2,169,965. Construction is expected to begin at once and be completed in about 20 months.

Plans call for a three phase development. The first phase will provide central facilities, expandable to serve an estimated capacity of 171 patients with immediate facilities to accommodate 105.

Future expansion is planned to raise the capacity to 300 beds as dictated by needs. In signing the contract Brooke said, "To me, this is a mile stone of great significance. At the outset raising so large an amount to build this new facility seemed impossible but the people of this community persevered and, with a great humanitarian impulse succeeded in accomplishing what at first seemed to be impossible.

"It is my fervent hope that this most satisfactory experience may provide the confidence for the people in a growing community to face up to their future problems with similar determination and success."

It had been announced earlier that although agreed upon, formal signing of the contract occurs after approval of the bid and specifications are received from the Public Health Service and State Health Department. Such approvals have been received and it is contemplated that construction will commence at once, hospital officials said.

JUNIORS BUSY ON ANNUAL FOLLIES

VIRGINIA BEACH—Members of the Virginia Beach Princess Anne Junior Woman's Club are once again caught up in the busy schedule that goes into the successful making of the annual Cabaret Follies.

The popular event will be held this year Nov. 1 and 2 at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center. The hours will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Following a "Really Big City" theme, in keeping with the city's new status as the largest resort city in the world, the follies will be produced and directed by the Jerome H. Cargill Company of New York. Dance music will be provided by Ziggy Harrell and his orchestra.

The circular walls of the Civic Center will be decorated with advertising billboards sponsored by local merchants. Billboard Chairmen are Mrs. G. C. Malbon and Mrs. Thomas Couch. Painting work is under the supervision of Mrs. Donald Jefferson.

Tickets are now on sale at Alexander-Beagle Men's Store on 31st Street, or from any club member. Tickets for the Saturday night performance have been limited. Proceeds from the show will be used for charitable organizations and welfare work with the largest portion going to the new General Hospital of Virginia Beach.

Council OK's Second Hilltop Nursing Home

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council Monday afternoon approved a second nursing home for the area bordering the General Hospital of Virginia Beach site near Hilltop.

The use permit was issued to Grayson M. Whitehurst and will permit him to build a 100-bed home on Fris Colonial Road in the general vicinity of another home to be built by Ray Cassett.

The move met some opposition from Cassett who asked them to defer action until the need of additional beds could be established. He pointed out that he already has a considerable investment in his $700,000 project, which was approved by council about 2 1/2 months ago. He said he had originally planned for 50 beds but later increased the number to 118 to accommodate present welfare cases.

Dr. Harold Goldman, administrator for the home Cassett plans to build, said he did not believe that two such homes would benefit the community. Attorney Edwin C. Kellam, representing Whitehurst, said he felt that council's action should depend on whether the location of the homes is suitable, not whether two homes were needed. Councilman John McComes said he didn't think council had the right to limit competition. Cassett also pointed out that plans for his home had been designed to complement the proposed hospital which, when built, will face Cassett's nursing home across First Colonial Road. Council approved Whitehurst's application with only one abstaining vote, that of Lynhaven Councilman James Darden.

FOP CANCELS BOWL PLANS

PRINCESS ANNE—The Oyster Bowl festivities planned Saturday by the FOP Clubhouse have been canceled, Mrs. Kay Riggsbee, manager, said Monday.

However, the dining room will be open and the regular dinner menus and breakfast will be available, if desired.

The regular Saturday night dance will also still be held with George Core and his group providing music from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

BROWN IS NEW CARRIER SKIPPER

NORFOLK—Rear Adm. John J. Hyland, Jr., who has been Commander Carrier Division Four for the past year, will be relieved by Rear Adm. Samuel R. Brown, Jr. Saturday.

The ceremony will take place aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Forrestal at pier 12, Norfolk Naval Station at 10:00 a.m.

Educator Defends State System At Meet Here

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Educational System has received too much criticism and educator told the Women's Club of Chesapeake Beach last week.

Miss Anne Dobie Peebles, a member of the State Board of Education and a former president of the Virginia Educational System at the club's 23rd anniversary luncheon Tuesday at the Bay Harbour Club.

"We have had problems, as has every state," Miss Peebles said, "but I feel that, in the face of problems such as our tremendous growth and others peculiar to our times, we have certainly come a long way down the path of progress."

Kellam, Cox Bands Going To Williamsburg

VIRGINIA BEACH—Two Virginia Beach high school bands will participate in the Williamsburg Kiwanis Day festivities in that city on November 2.

Local schools represented will be Frank W. Cox High School on Great Neck Road and Kellam High School at Princess Anne. Williamsburg Mayor H. M. Striker has proclaimed Nov. 2 as Kiwanis Day in recognition of the Williamsburg Kiwanis Club's work in the area of Youth Services.

The bands will participate in a grand parade up Duke of Gloucester Street during the William and Mary - V.M.I. football game. Judging of the attending high school bands will cover drill, musicianship, discipline and appearance of uniforms.

Both the Frank W. Cox and Kellam High School Bands have appeared in many functions throughout the state.

FRIENDS PRINCIPAL GUEST SPEAKER

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mrs. Robert Wilson, principal of Friends School at Virginia Beach, was guest speaker for Friends School Day Monday in Haddonfield, N. J. Her topic was "Dynamics of Quakerism in Education."

More than 600 elementary teachers gathered at Haddonfield Friends School to hear Mrs. Wilson's address. Monday afternoon small groups discussed the topic. Mrs. Wilson was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Alan Harvey and Mrs. Richard McQuillan, also of Virginia Beach. Today the three women will visit and observe in Moorestown Friends School.

Pungo Man Auto Victim

PUNGO—Joseph Samuel Walters, 79, of Sigma Road in Pungo Beach, was pronounced dead on arrival at Virginia Beach Hospital Sunday at 1 a.m. of injuries received in a traffic accident.

Police said Walters, a retired carpenter, was a passenger in a car driven by Willard L. White, 63, of Princess Anne Courthouse.

The accident occurred Sunday at 12:49 a.m. on Virginia Beach Boulevard at London Bridge, near the intersection of Va. 1132.

Police said White's car struck the rear of a truck driven by Andrew V. Goffigan, 40, of Carvan Road. The truck had run out of gas and was coasting to the side of the road when it hit.

Investigating officer was A. E. Gregory.

Art Group Lists Events

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Reitha Sedel will present a demonstration of portraiture to members of the Virginia Beach Art Association Wednesday at the Cavalier. During the demonstration Mrs. Sedel will use a live model.

The event is the first in a series of lectures, demonstrations and exhibits scheduled by the association throughout the new season. Highlights of the 1963-64 year will be:

* The Fall Exhibit, Oct. 25-27 at the Laskin Road Shopping Center. This will be a membership exhibit plus a loan exhibit by non-artist members.

* A lecture on "Trends in Art," Nov. 20 at the Cavalier by Dr. Wellington B. Gray, Dean of the School of Art, East Carolina College.

Seatack Center Seeking $3,000

SEATACK — A fall drive to raise $3,000 for the Seatack Community Center got underway Monday.

The door-to-door solicitation is under the direction of the Center Committee and will continue through Nov. 1.

A Community Ball will be held Nov. 1 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. for the benefit of the center. Music will be furnished by the Impalers of Virginia Beach. The event will be held at the Town Club. Tickets at $1 each, may be purchased from any committee member.

Mrs. Smith Speaks

DAR Chapter Defense Dinner Meeting Held

NORFOLK—The Sarah Constant Chapter DAR held its Annual National Defense Dinner Meeting, last week, in the Leo Room of the Monticello Hotel. Guest Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Julian C. Smith, State Chairman of National Defense, Virginia Daughters DAR.

Mrs. Smith (known as "Happy" to most) stated that her talk, the administrator of the organization with the combined forces of the world under his control," she stated "and an important step to implement this program was the establishment by the Congress in September of 1962 of a permanent agency known as the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency whose mission is to deal with the problems of reduction and control of armaments looking toward ultimate world disarmament."

Mrs. Smith stated that these speeches which she makes to DAR groups on defense are her "contribution in the attempt to wake people up". Her appeal is for the preservation of the sovereignty as a Nation and God given rights, as set forth in the Constitution of the United States of America. She said "we should make it clear to our law makers that we do not intend to become a satellite nation to any world power, lest we become another Hungary or Tibet." In conclusion, Mrs. Smith summed her work with a quote from a long treasured verse, "I am only one," she said, "but I am one!"

would be about National Defense, however this general term was certainly no indication of the depth of the powerful and timely speech that she gave.

The subjects covered in Mrs. Smith's strong commentary included communist infiltration, "the communist leaders have declared that they will take over the United States economically, morally, politically and militarily; while peddling co-existence, the Soviet Union is continuing its plans to take us over."

Mrs. Smith pointed a fiery finger at the State Department publication 7277 entitled "Freedom from War: The U. S. Program for General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World" and the United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency publication called "Blue Print for the Peace Race—Outline of Basic Provisions of a Treaty on General and Complete Disarmament in a Peaceful World" (which superseded publication 7277). "This proposed treaty lists among its objectives," she stated about the Outline, "the disbanding of armed forces; dismantling of military establishments, including bases, cessation of the production of armaments; elimination of all stockpiles of nuclear and other weapons; abolition of the organizations and institutions to organize the military efforts of states; cessation of military training, and closing of all military institutions (there goes your West Point and Annapolis) and the discontinuance of military expenditures."

She urged members present to investigate and understand the work being accomplished in the United Nations toward test ban treaties and national disarmament. She appealed to the members to learn a true definition of the organizations being formed in the United Nations. She stated that Publication 7277 called for a program of disarmament but it is really a plan to transfer all national armaments to an international organization within the United Nations and that the test ban treaty is the first step in the program of total national disarmament. She said "the words World Government are carefully avoided in the pamphlet, but this program would lead to a United Nations so strong that it would in fact, if not in name, constitute a world government with the institution of an International Disarmament Organization within the framework of the United Nations which shall have a general Commission and (quoting directly from the Pamphlet 7277) "an administrator who will administer the Organization subject to the direction of the Commission and who will receive the necessary staff and financial resources to assure effective and impartial implementation of the provisions of the Organization". Mrs. Smith said, "Here is your

TEEN TOPICS . . .

Do you pack your lunch for school? If you don't now, are you interested in starting?

Preparing and taking your own lunch may be one way of assuring you that you will have something to eat that you will like. Then too, it is one way of cutting down on excess calories and unwanted pounds.

Whatever your reason for packing your lunch, there are lots of ways to make what you prepare more appetizing.

I came across some tricks to brighten your lunch box menu that both you and your mother might be interested in.

Sandwich tips:
Keep a supply of different breads in the freezer, packed in plastic wrap they will hold for several months. Spread the bread without thawing and the bread will help keep the sandwich cold until lunch time.

Lucy Oliver Crackers with cheese, peanut butter, or any favorite filling will add variety to your lunch box. Have you tried this—it is good! Slice apples or pears and spread them with peanut butter, ham, or date filling.

In the interest of both time and variety, it might be a good idea to mix up and keep on hand several sandwich fillings. Here are some sandwich filling recipes that are different, and in quantity amounts for six servings. Try one or all of these:

Honey-Sweet Peanut Butter Sandwich
1/2 cup peanut butter 12 slices enriched bread
1/4 cup honey Butter or margarine
2 teaspoons shredded orange rind 6 lettuce leaves
1/2 cup chopped ripe banana

Blend peanut butter, honey and orange rind until smooth. Add banana and mix lightly until blended. Spread bread with butter or margarine. Spread peanut butter mixture on 6 slices with remaining bread slices.

Hawaiian Ham Sandwich
1 cup ground ham
1/2 cup drained crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/8 teaspoon cloves

Mix well.
Cheese Pimiento Sandwich
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons salad dressing

Mix well.
Your fillings should be moist, substantial, and varied. Butter or also margarine fortified with Vitamin A should be softened and spread on both slices of bread, all the way to the edge. Never use melted table fats because these soak into the bread.

Here is a time-saver—keep all of your lunch-making equipment, tools, bottled or canned foods, packaged cookies and crackers, paper or foil dishes and napkins on a shelf or two for a sandwich center right where you pack your lunch.

What you plan for your sandwich filling is still not a complete lunch. As you well know, your lunch is one of the three meals in your day, and as such, it needs to be planned to give you nutrients that you need for good health and lots of energy. Not only that, what you pack, especially if you are a girl, should be dainty and appetizing. Otherwise, you may lose your appetite. Your meal should not only nourish but also please and satisfy. It has great moral potential.

As a final note, use this check list for the lunches you prepare.

1. One-third or more of the food needed for the day.
 2. One-half pint or more of milk, preferably in bottled form, though it may be in soup or cocoa.
 3. One-half cup or more of a vegetable or a fruit—preferably raw, though it may be cooked.
 4. One serving of protein food—eggs, cheese, meat, lentils.
 5. One tablespoon or more of butter or enriched margarine.
 6. Two slices or more of whole wheat or enriched bread—rolls, biscuits, or muffins made of enriched or whole wheat flour may be used. Cornbread and finger rolls vary variety.
- For example here is a complete menu you might use—
Cream soup—any kind—in vacuum bottle
Cottage cheese and parsley sandwich on whole wheat bread
Orange—Oatmeal cookies
And for those of you who are interested—National School Lunch Week began October 13.

Dried Material Meeting Theme At Birchwood

BIRCHWOOD—"Dried Material and Driftwood" was the subject of interest to garden members of the Birchwood Garden Club, recently at their October meeting, held at the home of Mrs. C. J. Evenson, Edinburgh Drive in Virginia Beach. Co-hostess was Mrs. G. O. McCool.

Mrs. J. Tuley Wright, guest speaker, lectured and demonstrated the uses of "Dried Material and Driftwood" for use in flower arranging.

In choosing driftwood to select a piece for your arrangement that will balance nicely with the container and plants you are going to, if the piece is large and particularly interesting in shape, perhaps curved and twisted, consider using fewer and smaller plants or greens, let the driftwood dominate. If it is small or simple, let the plants assume the major role.

Mrs. C. B. Harris, Vice and News Chairman, announced that tickets were now on sale for the $50.00 gift certificate which will be awarded to the winner at our December 2nd contest.

The winner will be able to redeem the gift certificate for merchandise at the Store Department store in the Princess Anne Plaza shopping center.

Tickets can be obtained from any member of the garden club or at Friday's gift shop, 2302 Atlantic Avenue, Virginia Beach.

Ribbon winners were as follows: In the arrangement class, Mrs. B. Hudson, Mrs. A. D. Sauer, Mrs. Howard Tippo, Mrs. C. B. Harris.

In the horticulture class: Mrs. G. Kilpatrick, Mrs. C. J. Evenson, Mrs. H. W. Niswander, and Mrs. E. Tippo.

When we consider the highly miraculous state of surgery today, it is difficult to understand the low esteem in which it has been held at varying times down through the centuries.

In the middle ages, for example, surgery was considered an unfit occupation for a gentleman or scholar. As a result, surgical operations were performed largely by barbers or valet practitioners who set up shop in any likely locale.

A trip to the tonsorial parlor in those early days was likely to be a grim excursion which might call for anything from a shave and a haircut to an appendectomy.

P.A. Race Meet Set October 27

VIRGINIA BEACH — The fifth annual Princess Anne Race Meet will be held again at Aldo Farm on Sunday afternoon, October 27, the Tidewater Horse and Pony Association has announced. The seven-race program will feature thoroughbreds and the popular quarter horses.

Quarter horse racing, once the favorite sport of colonial Virginia, has become increasingly popular throughout Virginia and North Carolina in the last few years and is now regularly included on the cards at Deep Run and The Virginia Gold Cup Races at Warrenton.

This year the Princess Anne Race Meet will feature a 440 yard race for registered quarter horses with jockeys in racing silks. These compact and powerful little horses are bred and trained for such short racing, and because of their quick starts and extreme speed can generally beat a thoroughbred at this distance.

Two other races are scheduled for western type horses, an open race in western saddles at 350 yards, and a ladies western race at the same distance, both of which will be closed to registered quarter horses and thoroughbreds.

Annual Feature

The annual feature is always the seven furlong Tidewater Derby for thoroughbreds which usually attracts a number of two-year olds from Virginia training farms which are looking for an unofficial race as a warmup before sending their prospects to the major tracks.

Also included in the day's racing will be a one-mile race for hunting horses, a thoroughbred race at three furlongs for lady riders, and a pony race.

Entries should be made with Hardy Shippis KI 5-3823 or Richard B. Spindle, III, MA 7-3641 not later than October 21 to be included in the program.

Hawks Defeat Kellam Knights

VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach's surprising Seahawks rode the fortunes of fleetfooted Chris Hanson to a 19 to 6 victory over Kellam High School in what proved to be a close football contest Friday night on the local gridiron.

Hanson ran for 78 yards in the second quarter after fielding a punt and later ran for two more scores. The Hawks led 7-0 at the half and tallied once in each of the final two periods.

The Black Knights gave a good account of themselves and scored late in the final quarter on a 12-yard pass play.

With the win over Kellam the Seahawks made their conference record stand at 3-0 and places them in a tie with Southampton and Franklin for second place.

BOAT BOTTOMS HOLD KEY TO PERFORMANCE

By Hank Bowman

A boat's performance depends on a combination of power and hull design and the most important feature of any hull is the shape of its bottom.

Pleasure boats today, aside from houseboats and some of the larger luxury yachts are of the semi-planing type which, at cruising speed or faster, largely ride over, rather than through the water. However, the bottoms of semi-planing hulls vary considerably in shape and the contours applied to a good boat are the result of its architect's intent. He may have planned a fast boat, a soft riding boat, or a rugged, rough water boat. All three features are desirable but they are seldom successfully combined in any one boat.

Features you should look for are the shape of the hull at the chine, the type of planing surface from the transom forward for approximately a third of the boat's length and the shape of the forefoot, that is the forward most section of the V-ed, semi-V-ed or rounded part of the boat that will be in the water when the boat is at rest.

Commonly, the under surface of a boat that rides through or on the top of the water is smooth. There are exceptions. The true lapstrake hull starts its overlapped planking at the keel outward. The hull is made up of a series of longitudinal steps. The semi-lapstrake hull utilizes a smooth bottom with strikes or overlapped planking starting at the chine, where the bottom and the sides join.

There are other non-smooth bottoms—those with athwartship breaks or steps, bottoms that have tunnels and deeply V-ed hulls with longitudinal planing strakes. A flat after-plane with chines at, or nearly at right angles to the sides of the boat is often a fast design, but it may be hard riding, and less safe in fast turns than a soft or rounded-chine hull. There is no all-purpose design. The round-chined hull offers a smoother ride, though since it has more wetted surface, it will be slower. The lapstrake hull is a desirable rough water boat since each strake tends to throw spray outward rather than allowing it to follow up the sides of the boat and blow back into the cockpit. A blunt bow usually accompanies a hull designed for high speed. The blunt bow lifts over, rather than cuts through waves. It may give a jaw-jolting ride in rough going. The sharp propped boat slices through waves and cushions impact shock. Built-in hooks are usually designers' after-thoughts, corrections to hulls that fail to perform properly with their intended powders. Wedges are an indication that the builder is offering a boat with a broad selection of power, and has corrected hull characteristics for excess power not compatible to the boat's overall design, weight, length and bottom configuration.

Golf Roundup

CAVALIER — Jordan Ball was a guest who played the Cavalier course like a charter member Sunday. He shot a three-under-par 66, low round of the two days, and teamed with Jim Coates to win the member-guest tournament with a 36-hole best-ball net score of 281.

Ball carded a 71 in the opening round Saturday and finished with a 96-hole gross of 136, low for the tournament. Tom O'Neil Miller had a 141 for the two—undr. Cox Jones had the 36-hole gross score among Cavalier members, 72-77—149, and Bob Davis the best low net, 141.

B-R Romps

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Barry - Robinson Rangers upped their record to three wins against a lone defeat when they ripped the Knapp, N. C., High School football team, 32-7 Friday afternoon.

The Rangers rang up five sustained drives for touchdowns in the one-sided victory, one of the scores coming on a sparkling 90-yard run by their 190-pound fullback, Mike Zoby.

PRINCESS ANNE — Frank Portlock (88-16—72) and J. W. Halstead (85-13—72) shared first place in the blind bogey Sunday and J. W. Halstead was next with (83-10-73).

EAGLE HAVEN — J. L. Hughes won the Eagle Haven blind bogey for the sixth time Sunday, with 88-13—75.

HIGHLAND LINKS — The team of Henry Fluty, V. D. Simerson, E. Burke and Hunter Camp won the men's blitz tournament with a best-ball 57. Artie Fisher shot the best gross round of the day, 74, and M. T. Holland had 77.

POWDER PUFF

GAME TO S. A. B.

GREAT NECK — The first annual Powder Puff football game was recently held at Cox High School between the Sigma Alpha Beta and the Kappa Delta Phi Tri-Hi-Y groups of the school.

Under the outstanding coaching of Johnny Bolger and Frank Owens, the Sigma Alpha Beta squeaked out a 6 to 0 victory on Pam Moore's 75 yard winning touchdown.

The halftime activities included the crowning of a boy cheerleader as Powder Puff King.

Beach Golfer In Nationwide Golf Tourney

VIRGINIA BEACH — David H. Jackson, 840 Deary Lane, Virginia Beach, is one of 27 golfers selected in the nationwide "Beat Bing" contest to compete in the playoff at the Tucson National Golf Club, Oct. 25 and 26.

Should Jackson win first place in his class at Tucson, he and his wife will be invited to attend the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., in January, and will be spectators at the big time competition with many of the greats of golf and show business.

Jackson was selected after a round of play in the contest, which is sponsored by the 3M Co.'s Duplicating and Microfilm Divisions for their "Thermo-Fax" products dealers, in which he scored 65, beating Bing Crosby's net 70 which the crooner-actor entered at the White Bear Yacht Club, Minn., on Aug. 24.

In addition, if Jackson is first in his class at Tucson, Arthur Shu, pro at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club, will be Bing's guest at the Pebble Beach Tournament. By having certified the winning card, Shu would become eligible for the trip if his player wins.

As a recipient of a Western Golf Assn. Evans' Scholarship, Jackson completed four years at Northwestern University, graduating in 1951 as a marketing major. He then attended the University of Florida where he received his masters degree in economics in 1952.

He is a systems representative for the Burroughs Corp. Mr. Jackson and his wife, Margaret, have two children, Elizabeth Ann, 8, and David, 4.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Clarence Wade Kornegay

The recent passing of Clarence Wade Kornegay has removed an outstanding civic leader from the Virginia Beach scene and a man much respected and admired by his friends and business associates.

started in 1925 when he opened an auto mobile agency here, but he is best known for his more than 30 years spent in the fuel oil distribution business that bore his name - The Kornegay Oil Company.

Just A Few Facts

How important is the role of the railroads in this nation's incredibly complex life? A few facts, sans editorializing, help to answer that question.

police departments, and all the other local and federal government services. Their investment, after allowance for depreciation, is $26 billion, and represents invested savings of over 925,000 stockholders and thousands of bond-owners.

A Dam That Won't Hold

Four major consolidation cases are now before the Interstate Commerce Commission. And 25 major railroads are engaged in merger negotiations.

studies are made—in the face of the fact that the railroads have been almost studied to death. As for the job argument, it is empty.

STATEMENT REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AS AMENDED BY THE ACTS OF MARCH 3, 1933, JULY 2, 1946 AND JUNE 11, 1960 (74 STAT. 208) SHOWING THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, AND CIRCULATION OF VIRGINIA BEACH SUN-NEWS, published twice weekly at Virginia Beach, Va. for October 15, 1962.

MRS. ROBERT SOPER SPEAKS TO CLUB

GREAT NECK — The regular meeting of the Great Neck Garden Club was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert T. Soper, 1401 Harbor Court, Great Neck Manor, Co-hostess was Mrs. P. M. Lyons.

SORORITY PLANNING MODEL MEETING

NORFOLK — Beta Sigma Phi, Alpha Rho Chapter will hold its model meeting Oct. 16th, 8:00 p.m. at the home of Jane Combs, 1044 Little Bay Ave., Norfolk.

IT NEVER FAILS

Mrs. Townsend Will Represent College Group

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. R. E. Townsend will represent the Virginia Beach Branch of the American Association of University Women at a fall workshop of the Virginia Division of AAUW October 26 at the Holiday Inn in Newport News.

She will also be one of the speakers and will discuss the topic "The Volunteer Woman in Her Community."

Playground Program Is Top Attraction

VIRGINIA BEACH — One of the largest playgrounds, both in number of students and activities, is being held at W. T. Cooke Elementary School. This is the first year for the playground and much interest and participation on the part of the children is being shown.

Starting at 10 a.m., the workshop will be designed around this year's theme, "The Educated College Woman as a Member of a Community," which was selected by the state's 31 branches.

Attending the meeting will be representatives from Norfolk, Richmond, Petersburg, Hampton, Suffolk, Newport News and Virginia Beach.

PINEWOOD GARDENS FAMILY MOVE TO CALIF

PINEWOOD GARDENS — A set of orders from the U.S. Navy has taken the Bacle family from their home in Pinewood Gardens and sent them across country to San Diego, California.

AMC Ben Bacle and his wife, Nellie, left Saturday afternoon, with children, Bennie, Mike, and Neva Lynn, and Boxer pet, Rowdy, traveling by station wagon.

Their many friends "left behind" wish for them a safe journey, a pleasant duty in California, and a quick return back home to stay.

BAYNES TO ATTEND CHIEFS MEETING

NORFOLK — Virginia Beach Fire Chief E. B. Bayne and Mrs. Bayne of 603 21st St. will attend the 90th Annual Conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, which has been announced.

The conference will bring together fire chiefs from all parts of the United States, Canada, and a number of countries abroad. About 2,000 are expected to attend.

CARDINAL CLUB AWARDS RIBBONS

BIRDNECK — The Cardinal Garden Club held its first meeting of the year last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. D. Golden on Cardinal Road. Mrs. John Field, president, presided.

Members of the club brought arrangements depicting "Fruits of the Field" and "Summer's End." Mrs. D. J. Dee Sr. judged the arrangements and gave constructive criticism. Blue ribbons went to Mrs. Harold Webb and Mrs. Gordon Potter.

Record Bridge Ready for Road

NORFOLK — The Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, prepared to install the roadway structure of the record-setting link between Brooklyn and Staten Island. Fifty-one thousand tons of steel will be suspended from the four recently-completed main cables—"spun" from 145,000 miles of special steel wire—in a new construction phase scheduled to start by mid-October.

Birthdays Should Come More Often

From the looks of little Keith Hartman's face, he thoroughly enjoyed his first birthday cake and apparently jumped into the festivities head first when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Hartman, entertained him with a party at his home, 401 Cummings Road, Birchwood Gardens. Cathy Lynn Drews gave Keith a helping hand in cutting the cake. (Tippo Photo)

Salon Francais Meeting Sunday

NORFOLK — The first meeting of the season of the Salon Francais of the Norfolk Woman's Club will be held Sunday, at 3 p.m., at the Club House, 524 Fairfax Ave.

Chairman of the Salon, Mrs. Galliford is Mrs. Walter Galliford, Jr., a long time resident of Portsmouth; she was born in Paris, and is a graduate of the Paris School of Law, and has given a number of talks for the Salon. The Salon Francais is open to all interested in the conversational use of the French language. It is sponsored by Mr. Pierre Schmitz, French Consul Students and teachers of French are especially invited, and asked to remain for the social hour which follows the lecture.

Funerals

ARTHUR L. DUNCAN VIRGINIA BEACH — Arthur L. Duncan, 81, of 32nd Street and Holly Road died in a Norfolk hospital Thursday at 10:10 a.m. after a long illness.

A native of Norfolk, he was a son of Layman and Mrs. Amelia Murden Duncan and lived at the beach 35 years. He formerly was a meat cutter. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. A. F. Baughan of Miami, and a brother, Alex Duncan of Williamsburg.

The body was taken to Maestas Funeral Home. A funeral service was conducted Saturday at 2 p.m. in Edgewood Cemetery, Norfolk, by the Rev. Edmund Berkeley of Galilee Episcopal Church.

LADIES AUXILIARY PLANNING DANCE

PLAZA — The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Plaza Volunteer Fire Company will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Turner, 252 Stancil Street. Plans will be made for a dance at the FOP Club on Kempsville Road Nov. 15 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Music will be provided by the Statesmen. Tickets will be $5 per couple. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Gordon Hill, 341-1049.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir: Just a note to express our appreciation for publicizing our training convention in Newport News, Virginia this past weekend. Today with racial, political, and religious differences running rampant, many are asking for Bible answers to the problems besetting this generation.

Our whole organization is geared to training our people to be Bible teachers fully qualified to point others to where the Bible speaks on these matters.

The publicity provided by our newspaper always encourages many in our community to ask questions when our ministers call at their homes.

Please express our appreciation to your staff. Earl H. Jacobs, Jr. Presiding Minister Va. Beach Congregation Jehovah's Witnesses

By: Paul B. Maestas "Better a free bird than a captive king..."

How fortunate we are in this country to be able to express our views and move about as free agents. No matter what our station in life—from the humblest to the richest in material things—there is one commodity we all share in common, our freedom.

The opportunity of dictating our own lives is a privilege we should never allow to slip away from us by taking it for granted. It is a privilege worth striving for.

THEY ARE TALENTED

Bob and Newton are professional entertainers who are well-known to thousands of radio listeners in the greater Virginia Beach area. Both have extensive and knowledgeable musical backgrounds. Bob has appeared in a number of variety shows and music concerts as both performer and producer, and Newton, a talented jazz pianist, has been featured with his popular trio in night clubs and music festivals locally and along the East Coast and in the Mid-West.

THEY HAVE PERSONALITY

Bob and Newton possess distinct styles, and each has a relaxed approach that makes them a "welcomed" companion to every kind of radio listener. Both rely on a worldly and intelligent background to help them provide listeners with entertaining and informative features. Among them: music, news, sports, human interest, comedy and humor, community reminders and weather (for the boat owner as well as the man leaving for work in the morning).

Council Hears Plea To Save Historic Homes

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Beach Historical Commission has asked City Council for the power to require the owners of historical homes to keep their houses in order.

At its Monday meeting council heard a report presented by commission chairman Edwin Kellam and aimed at the preservation of landmarks which are of historic and architectural significance. The report was turned over to City Attorney George Vagos for his recommendations.

The committee asked for preservation of the 17th century Wishart, Webber, Keeling, Fairfield, Lovett and Cornick houses.

Eighteenth century structures on the commission's list include Rose Hall, Pallets, Old Donation and Nimmo churches, Cape Henry Lighthouse, Pembroke Manor, Greenhill Farms and the following structures in the Kempsville Borough: the jail, the courthouse, the Peter Sinclerson House and the Emmanuel Church Rectory.

The 19th century structures are Whitehead, Bayville and Princess Anne Courthouse.

Many of the above are privately owned and kept in excellent shape by their owners.

Kellam asked that the commission, a temporary body set up to study the question of preserving the sites, be made permanent with the power to see that the historic dwellings are properly maintained by their owners.

The report also recommended that plaques or appropriate markers be put at the sites of the first Indian skirmish, the first Indian village, Switzer's Wreck at Lynnhaven inlet, and other places.

April 26 would be designated as Princess Anne County Founders Day and celebrated by school children studying local history. This is the anniversary of the first landing of white settlers at Cape Henry in 1607.

The report asked that a standard projector slide series be made, visually depicting the history of the area with a recorded sound track providing the narrative. The slide show would be available for use in the city's schools.

NEWSPAPER DRIVE

VIRGINIA BEACH—The call is out for old newspapers for the hospital drive being conducted by the Ladies Auxiliary for the new Virginia Beach General Hospital.

Anyone wishing to donate old newspapers may take them to the building at the corner of 33rd street and Atlantic avenue.

Rev. Hughes watches new construction at Princess Anne Plaza Baptist Church.

Church Groups Oppose Service Station Plans

PLAZA—Members of a Baptist and a Presbyterian church appeared before the City Planning Commission Monday night to jointly oppose construction of a service station between their churches on the west side of Rosemont Road.

An application by Aragona Enterprises, Inc. seeks to have the site rezoned from residential suburban to general commercial to accommodate the proposed station.

The Rev. Melvin Hughes of Princess Anne Plaza Baptist Church and John Harris, elder of Bow Creek Presbyterian church, presented a petition signed by 105 residents and church members opposing the station.

Rev. Hughes said when his church bought the land, Aragona Enterprises said the property in the area would be for residential development.

He said the traffic created by the station would be a hazard to children attending church functions, the noise would interrupt services and the station would devalue property.

Both churches are engaged in building programs which Rev. Hughes has estimated as totaling a half-million dollars apiece.

The 21-month-old Princess Anne Plaza Baptist Church recently began construction of an educational unit to cost about $75,000 alone. It will contain 24 classrooms, assembly rooms, a kitchen and office space, made necessary by the area's rapidly expanding population.

Rev. Hughes said Sunday School enrollment at the church now totals 608.

He said he hoped the new building would be completed by January 1.

Attorney Floyd Kellam, representing Aragona Enterprises, said a Cities Service station wants to locate on the proposed site.

Rev. Hughes said he felt if one new business opened there, others would be likely to follow.

"It would detract from the entire community as well as the church," he said.

The Planning Commission's recommendation will be sent to City Council at a future meeting.

Mrs. Rea New Grand Chief Of Pythians

RICHMOND — Mrs. Jeanette Rea of Virginia Beach has been elected to grand chief of the Grand Temple Pythian Sisters of Virginia.

Mrs. Rea was named to the position Tuesday at the annual convention of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Virginia.

Del. B. Sigmon of Roanoke is the new grand chancellor of the organization. Each group elected one new officer, and the others rose to the next higher rank.

The lodge elected Harry Gosper of Fredericksburg grand officer and the sisters named Mrs. Evelyn Stultz of Martinsville grand guard.

Other grand lodge officers are R. A. Scarborough, Petersburg, grand vice chancellor; Herbert M. Drury, Lynchburg, grand prelate; E. L. Kingery, Roanoke, grand master-at-arms; and Jack Murden, Norfolk, grand inner guard.

The grand temple's other officers are Miss Hazel Murphy, Crewe, grand senior; Mrs. Jean Toms, Waynesboro, grand junior; Mrs. Edith Cliborne, Blackstone, grand manager; and Miss Alice Malcolm, Portsmouth, grand protector.

Wild Goose Is Weird Guest

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. — Jack Yates, manager of The Americana is hoping that people will take a cue from the song "I will go where the wild goose goes", for here, literally "out of the blue" came a wild goose last week.

Furthermore Henry, (or Henrietta), the goose, shows no inclination to leave.

The Canadian "feathered friend", the way Yates figures it, saw The Americana and dropped out of the "W" winging south to take a closer look.

The look decided Henry (or Henrietta) that there was no point in going further, he'd like to winter at the six story new motor lodge and there he is.

Corn or ordinary goose food doesn't interest Henry. He likes bread. Don't ask us to plug the kind. He (or she) wanders around the lawn on the oceanfront, suns on the terrace and sleeps in the servants quarters at night.

Jack Yates reckons that the right mating call (provided this is the season) may take their mascot off to join the flock going over, but so far nothing has proven more alluring than The Americana. Maybe Henry goes along with the song—

"Wild Goose, Brother Goose, which is best—a wandering soul or a heart at rest?"

Costumes to Lend Atmosphere at Antique Show

Members of the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach model the period costumes they will wear when the club presents its 5th annual Antiques Show and Sale Oct. 24-27 at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center. Over 25 antique dealers from as far as Connecticut and Florida will display their merchandise. It is anticipated that proceeds from the event will complete the club's contribution of $17,500 for a chapel at the new General Hospital of Virginia Beach. Pictured above are (left to right): Mrs. R. W. Whitehurst; Mrs. M. F. Camp, co-chairman of the show and Mrs. Richard L. Counselman, costume chairman. (Baldwin Photo)

Ann Henry In Theatre Lead

VIRGINIA BEACH — Casting has been completed for the next Virginia Beach Little Theatre production, "Glass Menagerie", it was announced this morning.

Ann Henry has been cast in the lead role of Amanda in the Tennessee Williams drama to be presented November 21, 22, 23, 29 and 30 at the Courtyard Playhouse.

Others in the cast are, Foy Shaw, Judy Berns, and John Haffling. The play will be directed by Larry Williams, who did "Palm Tree in a Rose Garden" for the Little Theatre last season.

Season and Patron's tickets are still available for all three plays, "Happy Birthday" now running at the Playhouse, "Glass Menagerie", and "The Waltz of the Toreadors" to be presented February 13, 14, 15, 21, and 22, according to Bob Maul, Box Office.

Dr. Kahn At Penn. Meeting

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Dr. Howard D. Kahn, practicing Optometrist in Virginia Beach, is attending the 25th annual Middle Atlantic Congress October 13th - 15th at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, where four of the nation's outstanding lecturers, plus the director of the Optometric Extension Program in Denmark, are bringing their listening colleagues recent developments in the field of vision.

This popular seminar attracts Optometrists from several states. This year they will hear Dr. A. M. Skeffington, Director of Education for the Optometric Extension Program; Dr. Nathan Flax, who is associated with the New York Optometric Center; Dr. George Slade, practicing Optometrist from Barnesville, Georgia, and author of the book "Modern Clinical Optometry"; Dr. Ralph Barstow, world renowned author and lecturer on Economics and Communications; and Dr. Jorgen F. Nielson, Optometrist from Copenhagen, Denmark.

Rates Explained

Norfolk Working On New Water Contract

NORFOLK—A proposed water contract, presented to Norfolk City Council Tuesday, provides uniform increases for residents and non-residents alike in the event Norfolk decides to up its present water rates. The proposal, as outlined by City Manager Thomas F. Maxwell, was turned over to city attorneys who were directed to draw up a contract whereby water would be supplied to residents of Virginia Beach and Chesapeake for five years.

Once the contract is drawn—incorporating many of the points outlined by Norfolk and Chesapeake officials recently—it will be sent to the joint Virginia Beach-Chesapeake water negotiation committee for its consideration.

The rate to be charged residents in the new cities has been a main point of contention since Norfolk made a new offer on water Oct. 3.

It was anticipated by many that in the event of a rate increase, Norfolk would insist that out of town residents continue to pay double the rate to Norfolk residents as in the past.

Charles B. Cross Jr., chairman of the joint water negotiating committee and clerk of the Chesapeake Circuit Court, contended that out-of-town residents should pay the water rate now charged by Norfolk—72 cents per 1,000 gallons, double the rate charged Norfolkians — during the contract's life.

But Maxwell said in his water report Tuesday that the City Council legally cannot guarantee to individual consumers that water rates will not be increased.

The stipulation that Norfolk would agree that any rate increase would not be doubled for out-of-town customers appears to be another concession by the city in an effort to reach a settlement of the 18-month.

AD EXECS VISIT

LITTLE CREEK — Approximately 25 members of the Norfolk Newspaper Market Study Group will visit here Friday, Oct. 18.

The group is composed of executives of advertising agencies in large Eastern and Midwestern cities.

During their visit to Little Creek, they will observe a cast and recovery demonstration and static display by Underwater Demolition Unit Two, and an amphibious assault evaluator presentation.

They will also tour the Norfolk Naval Station and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel project.

old water dispute. Maxwell recommended to the council, which adopted his suggestions unanimously, that:

● Norfolk city attorneys prepare the contract and submit it for approval to the councils of Chesapeake and Virginia Beach.

● The five-year contract would not be approved until a new bulk water contract with the Borough of Virginia Beach is signed. This contract has been pending for more than a year.

● Both the bulk contract and the pact defining overall water supply policies have the same termination date.

Chesapeake and Virginia Beach for months have been talking about setting up their own joint water supply system using bulk water bought from Norfolk and Portsmouth.

But engineering surveys prepared for the two cities showed that such a system would be extremely costly to set up and operate. Estimates ran to well over $10 million for the bulk system and $27 million if the two cities established their own sources of water supply.

Under the proposed five-year contract, Chesapeake and Virginia Beach residents would continue to buy water from Norfolk which would maintain the lines and bill the out-of-town customers as has been done for years.

TWO STATES TO DISCUSS OCEAN TOLL ROAD SOON

VIRGINIA BEACH—Virginia's Coastal Turnpike Authority will meet within a month with the three-man North Carolina Toll Road Authority to discuss the proposed turnpike linking Virginia Beach and Nags Head, Sidney S. Kellam and Tuesday.

Kellam is chairman of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel project, Virginia authority which also includes Nolan D. Chandler and School Supt. Frank W. Cox of Virginia Beach.

Kellam said earlier this week that a new feasibility study was already being sought on the oceanfront route.

Originally conceived over 15 years ago, plans for the road have remained dormant since 1957 when an attempt to build the road was snagged by financing difficulties.

The idea was revitalized Saturday when Gov. Albertis S. Harrison named Chandler and Cox to fill long standing vacancies on the authority and named Kellam as its chairman.

New interest in the route has developed with the impending opening of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

One side effect of such a highway would be to open up a 4 1/2-mile stretch of ocean front for Tidewater recreational use. This is the seashore area of the 9,180-acre federally-owned Back Bay National Wildlife Refuge.

Similar federal oceanfront property elsewhere has been opened up to the public with restaurants, cabanas, rest rooms, bathhouses, parking areas and other public conveniences furnished for day use. This would go a long way toward solving part of Tidewater's serious shortage of recreation areas as public beaches grow more crowded each year.

Both the former Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors and the Currituck County Board of Commissioners have gone on record opposing establishment of a National Park Service installation on the adjoining beachfronts of Virginia and North Carolina. However, in recent weeks several members of the present Virginia Beach City Council have said privately they would favor the opening up of the Back Bay Refuge beachfront for recreational use if a road could be built to it.

A NECESSITY

Women's magazines urge wives and mothers to beautify themselves for their husbands, their families and their bosses. Members of the business and professional women's clubs—the independent women—read in their magazines that they should beautify themselves. The farmer's wife reads it in the farm journals, and the young women read it in "Seventeen." All women read that story in a host of magazines delivered monthly to their readers.

MRS. CULPEPPER IS NEW HEAD OF GARDEN CLUBS

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Council of Garden Clubs of Virginia Beach met on Wednesday, October 9, at 10 a.m. in the old city council chambers. Thirty-two members representing thirty Virginia Beach garden clubs were present. Mrs. G. L. Tibbrook installed Mrs. A. H. Culpepper as the president of the organization. Others installed were Mrs. Spencer Lott, vice - president; Mrs. Quentin E. Marlow, recording secretary; Mrs. Stanley Howard, corresponding secretary and Mrs. D. P. Murphy, treasurer.

The council representatives voted to investigate the need and requirements for future beautification of the new Virginia Beach Hospital. A committee was appointed to work with the Ladies' Auxiliary and other civic organizations in this study. The Council also voted to sponsor the Second Annual Flower and Garden Show to be held in the Convention Dome in the early spring. The dates of the show will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. Culpepper announced that Council Yearbooks will be available to the member clubs in the near future and that a Speakers and Judges List was being compiled for the use of member clubs. It was announced that there will be a cash award at the end of the Council Year to the individual garden club which conducts the best area litterbug project.

Mrs. M. J. Schwartz, Therapy Chairman, gave a preliminary report on proposed therapeutic projects that the garden clubs will be able to pursue during the next few years. A Special Committee reported its findings concerning the recent trend to commercialize the Christmas Season as early in the year. It was decided by Council representatives that the fault in this early commercialization of Christmas lies not so much with the merchants as with the purchasing demands of the general public.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Donald Bahlman has returned to her home on 75th St. after spending a week in Sea Girt, N.Y., visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. Douglas Stewart, former residents of Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Culpepper made the following committee appointments: Beautification, Mrs. Arthur Winder; Civic and Public Relations, Mrs. G. L. Tibbrook; Conservation, Mrs. Russell B. Davis; Club Extension, Mrs. C. L. Hershberger; Flower Show, Mrs. E. F. Blake; Horticulture, Mrs. Curtis Diggs; Hospitality, Mrs. William Linde-

CHRISTMAS IN OCTOBER AT THALIA RESIDENCE

THALIA—It was Christmas in October at the home of Mrs. John M. Birsch, on Cedar Lane in Thalia, recently, when the entire first floor of Mrs. Birsch's home was decorated in original Christmas designs and decorations made by the members of the Cavalier Jr. Women's Club, for their annual preveue of their bazaar.

The 6th Annual Bazaar will be held on November 16th, at the Princess Anne High School.

All the club members have been busy since summer working on this special decorations consisting of wall hangings, hearth decorations, table runners, centerpieces, place mats, tree skirts, candy jars, and decorated baskets.

Mrs. W. Alan Brigman, Spokes-

wood Avenue, Norfolk; and Mrs. E. G. Middleton, Jr. also of Norfolk, were the originators of these items and assisted by forty members who will be kept busy not only with the items for sale at the November 16th bazaar, but with the many orders taken at the preveue.

The conversation piece was a Christmas Tree Skirt, designed as a complete band with all the figures completed covered with sequins and gold braid on a white felt background. Each figure was designed carrying a different musical instrument.

Another splendid tree skirt was made of red felt, covered with snow men made of white felt, street lamps entirely sequined in black, and covered with snowflakes made of pearls and crystals.

There were beautiful felt wall hangings with colorful figures of the "Three Wise Men", the "Madonnas" and others designed in beautiful Christmas colors, shining with sequins and jewels.

Felt and burlap were used on wall samplers, Christmas tree door hangings, reindeer mantle decorations, felt boots used as candy holders or mantle decorations, snowman candy jars, hearth toy bags, decorated baskets to be used for plants, sewing, fruit or nuts, napkin ties, ruffled pin cushions, childrens aprons and bibs, Christmas card holders and many other items.

There were framed samplers with interesting motifs, popcorn trees, and another conversation piece with their "Candelabra Centerpieces" made of red felt, applied with black sequins and edged in gold fringe.

It was interesting to note that five of these originals created by the members talents will be featured in the Better Homes and Gardens Christmas Idea Book which will be on sale at the news stands on October 20th.

Sendoff To Women Of Business Group

VIRGINIA BEACH — The National Business Women's Week received a big kick-off recently when the Women's Division, Chamber of Commerce, held their Women of Achievement Show at the Norfolk Municipal Area.

The District VI Booth was manned by B&P W Club members Mrs. Josephine A. Turrentine, Co-Director District VI; Miss Lynnall Ross, and Mrs. Dorothy Franklin.

All through the day and evening the booth was manned by members of B&P Clubs in the District, from the Princess Anne Club of Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Tidewater, Virginia Peninsula, Suffolk and Franklin. Truly a Good Neighbor Day of B & P Clubs.

Time out was taken to attend the Fall District VI meeting at the Chamberlain Hotel. Old Point Comfort which was attended by many members of the eleven Clubs in the District.

Director Mrs. Prudence Tedder of Franklin then led a cavalcade of cars, decorated with the National Business Women's Week stickers on front and rear bumpers thru the tunnel to the Arena to participate in the Show and man the booth.

GARDEN CLUBBERS HOLD WORKSHOP

ALANTON—The Alanton Garden Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Alexander Donnan. Co-hostesses were Mrs. L. B. Walker and Mrs. John Albino.

A workshop was conducted by Mrs. John C. Cale with instructions in the different techniques used in flower arranging.

Judges were Mrs. Cale, Mrs. M. F. Camp and Mrs. B. O. Colonna.

Blue ribbons for arrangements were awarded to Mrs. C. W. Jernigan, Mrs. A. E. Branch, Mrs. W. R. Johnston, Mrs. Cale and Mrs. Henry Folk. Red ribbon winners were Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. J. M. Wood, Mrs. Donnan, Mrs. Folk and Mrs. Wayne Daring. Horticulture awards were presented to Mrs. Donnan, Mrs. Wood, and Mrs. Folk.

PLAZA GARDENERS MEET OCTOBER 23rd

The next meeting of the Princess Anne Plaza Garden Club will be held at the Bow Creek Country Club at 7:30 p.m. October 23.

Guest speakers at the Sept. 25th meeting were Mr. Yon of the Plaza Volunteer Fire Department who spoke on the progress of the Volunteer Fire Department in the Plaza.

Mr. Robert Uray spoke on trees and shrubs, after which he concluded with a question and answer session.

Ribbons were awarded as follows: Blue, Mrs. Sam Table; Red, Mrs. Cool DeLo; and Yellow, Mrs. Russel Crist.

Wednesday, Oct. 23, 9:30 a.m.—Fifth Ladies Day Out Classes, Bayside Christian Church; 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.—Ladies Swimming Classes and Synchronized Swimming for Ladies 12 years and over, Cavalier Pool.

About one hundred ladies have been getting together for a day out these last two Tuesdays. I'm speaking of the Kempville area Ladies Day Out Series.

We meet at Emanuel Episcopal Church for instruction guest speakers, and delicious lunches. We are just four weeks away from achievement day, but already our projects are well under way.

Mrs. Virginia Allen's class is making beautiful sweaters and I suspect many will be Christmas gifts.

Down the hall, the bridge class is quietly concentrating. That in itself is an unusual fete for ladies.

Last week there were sweet peas all over. All over the cakes that were being decorated that is. Husbands of these girls never mind her "day out."

The partially finished millinery is beautiful. They are working with feathers, and luxurious fabrics this year.

There has been no report from the bowling class but if you see a gay group at Plaza Bowl each Friday morning you can bet it's the Y.W.C.A.

It's too late to join us for this session but be thinking about it for the spring. Watch the Y column for dates and take advantage of all the Y.W.C.A. offers.

The Hunt Country Garden Club of Carolanne Farms met October 9, at the home of Mrs. J. E. Johnson.

Mrs. C. R. McLean was speaker for the evening and her topic was Japanese Arrangements.

Judges from Tanglewood Garden Club awarded nine blue ribbons for symmetrical arrangements.

Mrs. R. A. Lupton received a tri-color award.

Plans for a Christmas tree workshop and turkey raffle were approved by the Club.

Mrs. W. P. Smith, therapy chairman, asks that members dig up and pot their outdoor plants for distribution to the area nursing homes.

BARNES SPEAKER FOR CLUB MEET

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Cavalier Garden Club will hold its second meeting of the year at the Princess Anne Country Club Wednesday at noon.

After luncheon, Mr. O. Barnes, Assistant Superintendent of Parks for the City of Norfolk, will speak on "How to Grow and Groom Plant Material For Exhibition."

Mrs. L. O. Clark, Jr., president, will preside.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Work vs. Cookies

Is it true that PTA groups trouble themselves with trivia, that they work over everything except what can be done to make schools better, that parents and teachers avoid each other at the meetings, and that parents do not get anything and do not give anything but cookies?

That's what a psychiatrist who is also a PTA member said in a panel discussion at the 100th anniversary celebration of the Kansas State Teachers Association the other day.

There are PTAs so busy with parliamentary procedure, board meetings, committee reports, plans for Fun Night, and desperate searches for speakers, that they somehow never get around to attempting to help give children a sound education.

"We must emphasize that our schools are a joint proposition," the psychiatrist said. "Why shouldn't parents take over the school lunch hour supervision and help supervise in the library and during playground periods? I urge that we find a way for parents to give at least five hours a year to the school system."

If parents did as he suggests, it would not only "free" teachers for more academic pursuits, but it would give each parent a sense of involvement in the schools that should result in heightened interest and increased efforts to improve them.

This is not to say that there are not many devoted and tireless PTA members and officers. But there are also many bored and ineffectual members who would like nothing better than to feel with reason that they were doing something really useful through their organization.

Paving The Way

Stimulation of this nation's export trade is a major national goal, shared by both of the political parties and by representative American industry. It would be desirable at any time; it becomes critically important in the light of our unfavorable international balance of payments situation, which has been characterized by a severe and potentially critical decline in our gold reserves.

Big concerns with an interest in foreign markets develop elaborate internal organizations staffed with experts, to perform their often-complicated administrative and sales functions. Smaller concerns haven't the resources to do this. But the way is open for them, too. As an outstanding example, REA Express has in late years performed an efficient system to aid such concerns in developing existing markets, in finding new ones, and in handling shipments with a minimum of trouble to consignors and consignees. An unprecedentedly simple bill-of-lading aid is a key to it. REA Express representatives, found the world around, provide all manner of valuable services.

Trade follows when a rocky road is paved and problems, which might appear next to insuperable to a relatively small company if it had to deal with them without outside aid, are eliminated. That is the REA Express' intention and achievement. It is another constructive example of non-political initiative and enterprise.

Garden Club Award To Mrs. Herman White

LYNNHAVEN — The October meeting of the Cape Henry-by-the-Sea Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Ackiss on Bobolink Drive, Birdneck Point, on Monday at 11:30 a.m. Mrs. D. J. Dec, Sr., president, presided.

The meeting was opened with the Garden Prayer by Mrs. Charles L. Hunter. It was announced that Mrs. C. L. Ackiss, Mrs. Pauline Baitley and Mrs. Herman White will represent the Club at the Tidewater District Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs Fall meeting today at the Chamberlain Hotel, Old Point Comfort.

Mrs. White will receive a life membership in the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs. This honor is given to her by this Club for her outstanding work. The Ways and Means Chairman, Mrs. Watson, announced the Pansies and Daisies will be delivered Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The money from this project will be used for the patients at Eastern State Hospital, Williamsburg.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Ackiss served a delicious luncheon with a theme of "Halloween Surprise". Mrs. Dec served as co-hostess.

After the meeting, Mrs. Dec conducted a judging session, making constructive criticism of the arrangements and horticulture.

Blue ribbon winners for arrangements were Mrs. Baitley, Mrs. Ackiss, Mrs. Nordlinger, Mrs. Standing and Mrs. H. White was awarded a red ribbon.

Blue ribbons for horticulture were won by Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. H. White, Mrs. Ackiss, and Mrs. Burrell.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. W. ...

Army Training At Little Creek

LITTLE CREEK — A warm welcome awaited some 2,000 Army troops of the 2nd Infantry Division from Fort Benning, Ga., as they arrived at the Little Creek Amphibious Base Tuesday to begin two weeks of amphibious training.

Under the direction of Rear Admiral James C. Dempsey, Commander Amphibious Training Command, U.S. Atlantic Fleet, the troops will get extensive training in amphibious warfare which will include a week of ashore training in such areas as net embarkation, vehicle waterproofing, and equipment storage. The second week will be devoted to acquaint the Army troops with shipboard life and the embarkation and debarkation procedures for an amphibious assault.

In his welcoming remarks, Rear Admiral Dempsey said that this training would be highly valuable to the unit, as they might someday be called to participate in an amphibious assault during a crisis.

The training, which has been made as realistic as possible, will be culminated Friday, October 11 with a landing exercise by the 2nd Division on the shores of Camp Pendleton, Va.

The Second Division units presently participating in this training are: the 1st Battalion, 38th Infantry, 1st Battalion, 15th Artillery, and individual companies from the 1st Battalion, 72nd Armor, 2nd Engineer Battalion, 2nd Supply and Transport Battalion, 2nd Medical Battalion, 702nd Maintenance Battalion, and the 264th Terminal Services Company from Fort Story, Virginia.

Funerals

MRS. ADA ROUNTREE
 VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. Ada Elizabeth Horton Rountree, 86, formerly of Suffolk, died Sunday night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Hofer of 738 Pine Tree Drive.

She was a native of Nansemond County, a daughter of David and Mrs. Sarah Russell Horton and widow of Charles William Rountree. She was a member of Thalia Lynn Baptist Church.

Survivors are another daughter, Mrs. Kathryn R. Looney of Norfolk; three sons, Timothy O. Rountree of Richmond, David V. Rountree of Richmond, David and Willie H. Rountree of Whaleyville; a brother, Walter Horton of Whaleyville; 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

A funeral service was conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Hill Funeral Home, Suffolk, by the Rev. C. Bailey Jones of Suffolk and the Rev. E. Irvin Mosher of Norfolk. Burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery, Suffolk. The family will be at the home of Willie H. Rountree in Whaleyville.

MICHAEL E. LEMASTER
 VIRGINIA BEACH — Michael Edward Lemaster, two-day-old son of Edward H. and Mrs. Carol J. Lemaster of Davisville Trailer Village, died in a hospital Sunday.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Angelia M. Lemaster, and a brother, Anthony Wayne Lemaster, both of Virginia Beach.

The body was taken from Simiele Funeral Home to Princess Anne Memorial Park for a funeral service Wednesday at 10 a.m.

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I have a friend who tells me from time to time that I shouldn't talk about my age in this column. She allows as how my age is nobody's business, and that furthermore it calls attention to a tiresome fact of life: that we all ain't gettin' any younger. I suppose a psychologist could write three million words about why I talk about my age. He would explain it all in terms of my hidden motives and inner compulsions and so on and so on. This should come as no shock to anyone who reads the newspapers, since psychologists have been known to write three million words about anything!

Nowadays it is considered very bad form just to have an opinion about anything unless you make an attempt to explain it away in psychological terms. I have just about reached the conclusion that most people know just barely enough about psychology to be very dangerous. Heck—a man can't even hate anyone any more with a fine hatred. He has to hate on account of he hated his Father because his Father wouldn't give him two pieces of chocolate cake on his second birthday—or some such far-fetched nonsense.

Mercy! Everything we do today is obscured by our tendency to explain everything to death. I dunno about you, but I think it is a carry-over from how modern man solves his problems. He doesn't really solve them, he forms a committee and talks about them until everyone is slightly sick to his stomach. The heck with it! I didn't want to talk about this anyhow. What I started to say was that I was forty-four last Sunday. I was feeling very good about it, too. My son, whose birthday was the next day, was unwrapping his presents while I watched him. He's eleven. I sat there in a sort of rosy glow as he examined the loot—when it came to me with the force of an atomic explosion that I was FOUR TIMES AS OLD AS HE WAS!

This kind of nerve-shattering experience shouldn't happen to anyone at 6:30 in the morning like it did to me. Even if it happens at a more agreeable time of the day, you should be in excellent physical condition when the blow falls.

My Mother never uttered a word until she'd had her coffee. I'm gonna get her one better. I'm not going to even talk at 6:30 a.m. about anything, and NEVER ON MONDAY!

KIWANIS, NAVY PROVIDE THRILLS FOR KIDS

OCEANA (NAS) — Four hundred and ten lucky youngsters took a close look at some of the Navy's newest jet fighters recently as guests of the Navy and the Virginia Beach Kiwanis Club.

This is the second year that Tom Follary, chairman of the Kiwanis Boys and Girls program has arranged such a tour with the help of Lt. J.G. Gerald Jacobson, public information officer at the Océana Naval Air Station.

The children included several groups from local scout troops and Campfire Girls and six buses were used to take them from the Alma H. Shepard Civic Center to the air station.

During the tour the group saw movies, ate lunch and toured the station's facilities under the guidance of Lt. J.G. Caldwell.

The following week the Kiwanis Club arranged another children's outing, this time sponsoring a trip for 80 boys and girls to the Westland Farm in Moyock, N. C.

The farm, operated by A. Warren Wood, provided a day of recreational activity including horseback riding, archery, hiking and boating.

Holland Tells Lions Of New Roads

Richard S. Holland

Holland, himself a charter member of the Norfolk Lions Club, addressed a near-capacity crowd at the Black Angus Restaurant.

His talk dealt with the impending construction of major traffic arteries in the Virginia Beach area including Independence Blvd., a four-lane route to connect Virginia Beach Borough with Princess Anne Courthouse, the coastal toll road which would connect with Nags Head, N. C. and the Virginia Beach-Norfolk toll road.

Holland said he anticipated no delay in the latter, describing plans for its construction as "on-schedule."

GRID FANS CRITICAL OF KELLAM-VB GAME

October 12, 1963

Editor, Sub-News:

Dear Sir,
 Last Friday nights football game between Kellam and Virginia Beach high schools certainly did nothing to uphold the standards of fair play and good sportsmanship.

It was evident from the opening play No. 32 and 21 were not only told to "rough up" the quarterback at every opportunity, but that was their sole mission in the game.

If Mr. Desaro and Mr. Tepo have nothing better to do than teach these boys such standards of sportsmanship, then we certainly need to take inventory and find out why high school football is played. Perhaps, it is "win at any price," is that what we want as parents?

I make no claim to being a qualified official, but I do know that participants cannot "grab" a face mask, that the offensive team cannot "loop the elbow" up and over, that piling on after the whistle, are all violations—these are but a few of the violations not called by the officials but were evident to me as well as a good many others.

A week ago we saw two good football teams, James Blair and Virginia Beach, play a "whale" of a ball game. Sure it was hard clean football. These were two penalties called; (1) 5 Yards for off side or illegal procedure; (2) 15 Yards for clipping. These were two well coached teams, a credit to any high school "win or lose".

It certainly is no credit to our school and is an insult to our intelligence to permit high school sports to be allowed to sink to the standards as people stressed in the Kellam-Virginia Beach High football game.

What ever happened to the real issue—it is not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game.

Very truly yours,
 James W. Batcheler

Editor, Sub-News:

Dear Sir,
 Last night I witnessed what was supposed to have been a football game between Virginia Beach High School and Kellam High School. It was obvious from the first time Virginia Beach received the ball on offense that the Kellam football team had been instructed by their coaching staff to do everything they could to get the Virginia Beach quarterback out of the game.

After ten minutes of the ball game the Virginia Beach quarterback had taken all of the punishment that he could from being roughed up, and he came up swinging and was ejected from the football game. This was the only way the boy knew how to protect himself, as the officials had not called a personal foul on Kellam at this time, it was evident to everyone in the stands what was going on.

Last week Virginia Beach played a very fine team, the James Blair Williamsburg, and there was not a penalty called until the fourth period, this being an offside penalty. This should indicate the type of football Virginia Beach aspires to play.

If our children are to be instructed not to play the games by rules of fair play and good sportsmanship, it is high time that an aroused public should do something about it. I not only think that the coaching staff of Kellam should be reprimanded but should be instructed by our school officials that if this practice continues that they should discontinue athletics at Kellam High. The desire to win is fine, and as it should be, only when the game is played by the rules and good sportsmanship. Two parties are responsible for this situation last night. First, I would say that it is the coaching staff of Kellam High and, secondly, a very poor job done by the officials.

This is the first time that I have ever written a letter such as this but I do feel that it should be brought to the attention of the proper parties. I might add that I do not know the coaching staff on either side personally.

Branch Named To Softball District Post

RICHMOND — Richard (Dick) Branch, athletic director of Virginia Beach's Department of Parks and Recreation, has been appointed Virginia Beach District Softball Commissioner for 1964. Virginia Amateur Softball Association Commissioner Hank Wolfe of Richmond announced today. If plans materialize, Branch will conduct district fast and slow pitch tournaments next Summer and the teams that qualify will advance to State playoffs in August.

Wolfe also announced that Julian I. (Mac) McGinty has been appointed Norfolk Military Softball Commissioner for the balance of 1963. He will be named the 1964 commissioner officially after the first of the year.

McGinty, 38, athletic director of the U. S. Naval Station in Norfolk, succeeds Lt. Col. Richard H. (Dick) Kern, who, with additional responsibilities scheduled in the near future, resigned recently. Colonel Kern directed fast and slow pitch military tournaments at Norfolk the past three years. McGinty will conduct his first pitch tournament on June 24-25-26, 1964, and his slow pitch event on August 15 at McCormick Field. The teams that qualify will advance to State playoffs next August.

Colonel Kern has filled an important role in Virginia ASA the past three years, said Wolfe. "He provided excellent leadership and teams that qualified from his tournaments were a credit to the U. S. Armed Forces in our major State events. He cooperated 100 percent with the State Softball Office."

A softball meeting, which will be open to Tidewater Recreation Department officials, District Softball Commissioners in Norfolk, Chesapeake, Portsmouth, Suffolk and Virginia Beach, managers, players (men and women) and umpires, is scheduled at 1:30 P.M. Sunday, October 27.

The session will be held at the Coca-Cola plant in Portsmouth, with John S. (Buck) Campbell Jr., director of the Portsmouth Recreation Department, presiding.

Wolfe will speak on "How to Keep Fast Pitch Softball Alive." He also will discuss district, State, regional and world fast and slow pitch tournaments, which come under the jurisdiction of the Amateur Softball Association of America.

Virginia, with 38 tournaments, conducted the most diversified softball program in the world this year. In addition to the standard 12-inch softball, special tournaments were held in which the 14-inch overcup and 16-inch flatseam softballs were used.

MIDGETS
The 6 and 8-man Midget Leagues will not play this Saturday because of the Oyster Bowl game in Norfolk. Their schedule will resume next week.

Reversible Bath Mats
Getting more mileage out of household fabrics is a hobby with Mrs. Anne Sterling, Director of Consumer Relations for the American Institute of Laundering. For instance, you can make bath mats reversible and extend their life by sewing a Turkish towel on the bottom side.

Seatack Playground Busy Area

Contests and tournaments highlighted this past week's activities at Seatack playground with different age groups being offered separate games and competitive situations.

Sixth, seventh, and eighth grade girls participated in a two-day volleyball contest and outstanding players were: Gloria Hilliard, Gloria Macer, Linda Johnson, Jesse Woodhouse, Janice Macer, Carolyn Campbell, Evelyn Ferebee, Hester Chestham, Omeida Wilson, Mary Harrington, Gail Moses, Theresa Diggs. These same girls were also involved in continuous play in another popular net game—paddle tennis.

For primary children four-square contests crowned Robin Harrington, a first grader, the champion. The passing - for - distance contest (for boys) was divided into three age categories with Ervin Hoggany (midjet); Jerry Walker (junior) and James Shaw (senior) declared champions.

Football practice for the athletic leagues continues as a daily part of the program and the midjet team has developed into a defensive unit unit for only 6 points have been scored on them in four Saturdays. Rounding out the weeks activities is play in a "pick-up" league of half-court basketball with Tom Johnson, Cozelle and Arthur Woodhouse leading the teams.

Directors Mrs. Charlene Cooper and Mr. Waverly Williams have scheduled future contests in foul shooting, punting and handball to feature the coming weeks.

Elsewhere on the playground there were three football games.

At Pembroke the Colts lost to the Dragons 18-0, and the Vikings tied the Chargers 14-14. In an intra-playground game the King's Grant Lions beat Thoroughgood 22-0 for their fourth victory.

NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK
Oct. 13-19

Sixteen million school children buy economical, nutritious noon meals at school every day under the National School Lunch Program, through which the U. S. Department of Agriculture provides about 20 percent of the total cost in cash and food. In recognition of the efforts of local citizens who run the program in 68,000 schools across the Nation, the President has proclaimed National School Lunch Week, October 13-19, during which school and community activities will point up the contributions of school feeding to the health and well-being of tomorrow's citizens.

Ocean Park Club Observes 9th Birthday

BAYSIDE—The Ocean Park Woman's Club held their "birthday luncheon" Wednesday, Oct. 9th at the Row Creek Country Club with approximately seventy members present.
Special guests of honor at the meeting were: Mrs. Larry Marshall, wife of the guest speaker; Mrs. Phillip Russo, State Community Improvement Chairman, for the UFWC and Mrs. C. L. Mercer, Tidewater District Improvement Chairman.
Guest speaker for the meeting was Mr. Larry Marshall, Bayside Borough Councilman. His theme was "Virginia Beach Then and Now."

He commenced his talk on the highlights of what was Princess Anne County, history. How in the late 1600 Grace Sherwood was tried for witchcraft and ducked in the Lynnhaven River and that is how Witchduck section got its name.
He brought out a little known fact that in 1736 what is now Ocean Park and Bayside Farm was a British Collecting Station and what is now Baylake Pines was the site of an Indian village.
He also said in 1790 the first lighthouse was built at Cape Henry and it was the first lighthouse on the East coast. The people who built it decided it would be a good idea to collect a toll from the ships who passed it. However, that idea was very unpopular and the British protested the charges and refused to pay them and so launched a sea attack. They were thoroughly defeated by the American forces at what is now Sea Tack.
In 1822 the first Court House was built and is still in use today.

In reading a roster of the Princess Anne Cavalry of the War Between the States it would sound like a list of many prominent citizens of today, with the names of Bonney, Land, Ewell, Simpson and Fentress to name just a few of the old families.
When Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, He pointed out that Sears' new store which will be located at Pembroke Manor will have 25,000 more square feet than the present Norfolk store which points out what business thinks of Virginia Beach as a potentiality.

He said that the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel would have a two-fold purpose. It has been written up in one of the National Magazines as one of the wonders of the modern world and that people will come to see it as an attraction like they do Niagara Falls or the Grand Canyon. He urged the club women to be "good will ambassadors" and help tourists in the area, who will of course spread the news. He also said that President Kennedy has been invited to attend the opening of the Bridge-Tunnel.

Marshall also pointed out that ground will soon be broken for the new Virginia Wesleyan College which will bring large numbers of students, professors and their families into the area. Two hundred of the two hundreds and seventy square feet of the campus will be in Virginia Beach but Norfolk is trying to claim it!

He also touched on the water situation and said there was high hopes that Virginia Beach would get water and that the Ocean Park Borough would be the first section of the city to get city water. Their need is desperate. The majority of the home owners have to bring in their drinking water since the Ash Wednesday Storm. With the coming of city water an influx of business and industry is expected.

Mr. Marshall said "I would be very remiss if I closed my talk without touching on one subject I think the Ocean Park Woman's Club project, "Kellam Park" is only slightly less miraculous than the building of the Bridge-Tunnel." The clearing of the ground for Kellam Park has meant the clearing of mosquito from the area and also the city engineers have made a topographical study of the area to take care of the drainage problem that besets that area.
According to Mrs. Cam Farmer and Mrs. Rhoda White, co-chairman of the Kellam Park project what is so miraculous about the park that so far not one penny has been spent on this project. People volunteered their services, materials, and equipment.
However, it was a big day for the chairman when a $50.00 donation came in from Frank Tarrell and Mr. Edwin Kellam to be used on the Kellam Park project. The chairman hopes that more people will see fit to make donations. Those wishing to do so are asked to send checks addressed "Kellam Park Project" c/o Virginia Beach Sun-News, Virginia Beach, Va. The Sun-News will be glad to forward checks to the chairman.

By Doris Padrick

You either like them or you don't... antiques, that is. But those of you who do not feel any interest in old things, may have been looking in the wrong places. Or just take it for granted that antique shops are the same as second hand stores, or worse yet, junk dealers. Antiques are not junk. Rare and beautiful antiques are apt to be rather expensive, but not all.

The word antique covers a lot of territory, and just because a thing is old does not necessarily put it in the category of being an antique. A few antiques can not, in this day and age, be put to the use for which they were created, but can add much to the decor of the modern home. Antiques are and can be made quite lovely and useful. With a little imagination on your part, and with the friendly interest of your antique dealer, you could contrive unusual and different adornment to smarten up your home.

Shomier Antique Shop on Virginia Beach Boulevard in Lynnhaven can open your eyes to the truly magnificent of antiques when restored and used properly. This is an early American style home with more things in it than you would ordinarily have in yours, but there is no clutter. You are struck by the feeling of warmth and beauty surrounding you. They specialize in early American pine, and the pieces of furniture, either restored or reproductions are so gorgeous you'd like to have everything! Upon the walls, which are papered with colonial prints, hang many samplers, wrought iron pieces as planters, and ornaments. There are shelves and cupboards filled with fragile china, sparkling crystal, various figurines, candlesticks, vases, and other precious things.

Many unusual treasures and collectors items can be found at Jean N. Miller's shop at 18 Laskin Road in Virginia Beach. Fascinating glassware of every imaginable item—tinted, glowing, iridescent—the craftsmen of yesteryear gave much of their time and talent to leave us heirlooms to love and cherish. Bottles from the bottom of the sea are crusted with centuries of mystery. Toys were made for the children of our ancestors with painstaking care and even a touch of humor as her little Country store (in which everything works in miniature) will attest. This particular item is priceless and she feels it could best be enjoyed if it was on display for everyone to see rather than in an individual's collection.

Marie Richardson on 1053 Laskin Road can decorate your home in refined taste with her stock of fine antiques and magnificent candeliers and fanciful whimsies.

If you are particularly interested in Civil War mementoes, you will find old rifles, Confederate flags, historical books, etc. at Aladdin's Lamp in London Bridge, and many other gems for collectors.

Antiques are old things... but they are more than just old. They have stood the test of time which proves their worth. They are tangible objects from our past which help to give us a clearer picture of our heritage. They show the character of the men of yesterday who cared about the things they created.

To understand antiques you must love them... and to love them, you must understand them. In all these shops you will also find many inexpensive gift ideas which would be classed as unusual rather than antiques. It is fun to visit, even when you are not seriously "antiquing". You will be surprised at what is to be found, if only you take the time to look.

P.S. Don't miss the Fifth Annual Antiques Show and Sale to be held at the Civic Center on Oct. 24-27.

Seniors Honored At Country Day

VIRGINIA BEACH—Two seniors at Country Day School have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school receives a formal Letter of Commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Mrs. Charles M. Lovitt, the school's Headmistress has announced that the commended students are Dale Anna Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale W. Dean, and Linda Masterson, daughter of Cdr. and Mrs. C. R. Masterson.

The commended students were among the high school juniors in approximately 16,500 schools who took the test last March. The test is a three-hour examination that covers five separate areas of educational development.

Hardin School To Hold Recital

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Bristol Hardin School of Music will present its first formal piano recital of the season Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Performing students of Elizabeth Cornick, Charles Hardin and Bristow Hardin will include: Dianne Ferrell, Jan Haffling, Mary Jo Kellam, Pam McKittrick, Roberta Sadler, Robin Gregory, Liza Silla, Dale Anna Dean, Cathy Dean, Mary Dekker, Leighton Meredith, Carol Lee Wilde, Jane Marshall, Pamela Hogan, Cherry Lassiter, Mary Keys Ferebee, Alan King, Peg Hubbard, Robert Rice and Beth McKittrick.

The public has been invited to attend the recital and to remain for a social hour, including refreshments, which will follow.

VMI Board Will Meet Here

LEXINGTON, Va.—The Board of Visitors of the Virginia Military Institute will hold its fall meeting at Virginia Beach's Bay Harbour Club it was announced Tuesday. The meeting marks one of the few times the VMI Board has ever met at any location other than Lexington or Richmond.

Main items on the agenda are election of the Board president and secretary. Other items deal with routine institute business.

Edmund Penleton of Wytheville is the current president of the Board while Lt. Col. R. Marlowe Harper, VMI treasurer, serves as secretary.

PLAYHOUSE'S 'BIRTHDAY' PROVES HAPPY INDEED

The Virginia Beach Little Theatre opened the doors of its new Courtyard Playhouse Thursday with its presentation of Anita Loos' "Happy Birthday." The event was indeed happy as theatre-goers welcomed both the production and the new surroundings.

The intimate cabaret type theatre lent itself particularly well, it seemed, to the play at hand whose action all took place in a Newark, N. J. cocktail bar.

Jane Garrison, in the lead role of Addie, made the evening lively for both the audience and her fellow patrons of the Jersey Maca bar as she transformed herself, drink by drink, from a mousey librarian to a stunning bundle of feminine fascination.

George Snediker, in the role of Paul Bishop, who eventually succumbs to Addie's charms, handled the part with a flawless and highly convincing manner.

The handling of the play was especially impressive considering that the cast played practically in the audience's lap. A curtain isn't used at the new playhouse and the viewers sit at small tables, some of which are but a few inches from the stage.

Any serious mistakes would therefore be painfully obvious and it is a credit to the entire company that there were none.

The Little Theatre also displayed an amazing resource of good amateur talent by its casting of no less than 20 roles in the production, most of whom remained on stage throughout the performance.

Deedie Jessup, who comes to the Little Theatre from the Atlanta Theatre Guild, turned in a beautiful performance as a seductive man-trap whose faithless juggling of boyfriends lands her in hot water.

Some of the most uproarious lines of the show were delivered by Alice DuBois and Billie Atwill as two gossipy habitues of the bar, always on the lookout for a little more excitement in their declining years.

Although the show for the most part is straight comedy, it sports a few notable musical highlights in the two vocal offerings of Jane Garrison, the barroom piano of Clark Graves and some excellent dance numbers woven nicely into the action by Walter Clark and Shirley Pentress.

Among the supporting roles special mention should be made of the excellent performances of Anne Penington, Frank Ferrigno, Bob Furniss and Bill Britton.

The limited size of the new theatre (seating capacity of just over a hundred) should prove to be the ideal setting for the Little Theatre's productions. All of the season's shows are scheduled for two weekends so a sold-out performance doesn't necessarily mean missing the show. In addition, a small but well-filled house can go a long way to establishing rapport between audience and cast. It certainly did in this case. The show will be seen for its two final appearances this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

HENDRICKS NAMED BY COFFEE FIRM

NORFOLK—The appointment of Thomas L. Hendricks as institutional sales supervisor for Gill's products in the Tidewater area was announced Thursday by James G. Brockenbrough, executive vice-president of the James G. Gill Co., Inc., blenders and processors of coffee and tea.

Hendricks and his wife, the former Miss Mary Jane Perego of Christiansburg, Va., live with their two sons at 139 Cayuga Road, Kempsville.

NAVY HOSTS ARMY AT LITTLE CREEK

LITTLE CREEK—The Navy will again play host to the Army this week, as some 1,500 soldiers from the 2nd Brigade, 5th Infantry Division (MECH), of Fort Devens, Mass., arrive at the Little Creek Amphibious Base to begin two weeks of amphibious warfare training.

Some 5,600 troops from many Army posts have already trained at Little Creek this year.

Under the combined direction of Rear Admiral James C. Dempsey, Commander Amphibious Training Command, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, and Brigadier General John C. Miller, Jr., Commanding General of the Landing Force Training Unit, the Navy and Marine Corps team will join together to give the Army troops extensive training in amphibious warfare which will include a week of shore training in such areas as net embarkation (climbing up and down nets); vehicle waterproofing; loading and stowage of equipment. The second week will be devoted to acquainting the Army with shipboard life and the embarkation and debarkation procedures for an amphibious assault.

"Better Than Chicken"

Dam Neck Officer Is Leg Fancier

By Bill Woessner

DAM NECK—With a purse of his lips and a smack on his fingers tips, the Navy officer exclaimed, "Ah, there's nothing in the world finer to eat. There's no way of explaining the wonderful taste."

Who is the officer and what is he relishing? He is Lt. Cdr. Jack W. Gordon, USN, Security Officer of the U. S. Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center here, and he is talking about frogs.

"They taste better than any fried chicken," he continued, "but the most fun is hunting the frogs."

No tenderfoot, Gordon is an active outdoorsman and has been hunting the hopping amphibians for the past 20 years. And what could be a better place than Dam Neck which is in and surrounded by swampland.

According to the frog hunter there are three popular ways to get frogs: (1) shoot them with a 22 short rifle using hollow point bullets, (2) use a frog gig which is a tension-loaded trap-like mechanism on the end of a pole, or (3) use a spotlight and bare hands. Gordon prefers the latter.

Hunting time begins just after sundown when he puts on a pair of hipboots and straps a machete and snub-nosed 45 to his belt. This paraphernalia is for protection against water moccasins and cottonmouths which share the swamp with the frogs. The only other equipment needed is a flat-bottomed boat, a spotlight and a container to put the game in.

"It doesn't take nerve to go into the swamp, only you have to be a person who never lets snakes bother you," he said.

Once in the swamp he paddles along the banks, poking the shining spotlight into the dark grass to find one or two eyes shining back. When the quarry is attracted by the light, Gordon slowly reaches around behind the frog with his free hand and grabs it as "fast as lightning."

"If it turns out to be a snake you have to work fast," Gordon explained. "You have to keep a hard grip on it and take the machete and chop its head off."

He pointed out that grabbing a snake happens infrequently because at such short range you can tell the difference. Usually when he sees a snake, he chops it in two and moves on.

It is not unusual for the Dam Neck snakes to be six feet long and up to four inches in diameter.

"If it's a frog I just keep a firm grip and crack his skull against the boat's gunwales," he said.

There are two types of frogs in the Dam Neck area—black and green. Some grow as large as two feet long when stretched out.

In preparing the frogs to eat, the legs are cut off after skinning and then deep-fried like chicken. From larger frogs it is possible to eat the loin section off the back.

"Frog hunting is a great sport, but I wouldn't recommend it to an amateur," Gordon said with a serious tone.

Juniors Plan Show Decorations

Mrs. John Haffling steadies the ladder while Mrs. Mason Gamage takes measurements for decorating the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center for the forthcoming Princess Anne Jr. Woman's Club Cabaret Follies. Title of this year's show is "The Really Big City," referring of course, to Virginia Beach's new boundaries. The show will be held Nov. 1 and 2 at the Civic Center from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets for the popular event are now on sale at Alexander Beegle men's store. Proceeds will benefit the new General Hospital of Virginia Beach and other charitable organizations. (Baldwin Photo)

Completes Life Ins. Course

NORFOLK — Luther K. Wagoner, Norfolk representative of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., has just completed a two-week advanced course in life insurance underwriting at the firm's Agents' Training School at Glenwood, Minnesota.

Northwestern National's home office school, held quarterly, is one of the oldest training schools in the life insurance business—the latest session being its 84th in 20 years.

The school is designed to equip its graduates with a broad knowledge of the many fields in which life insurance is used—including family protection, business insurance and pension and profit sharing plans.

Upon completion of his training, Wagoner was assigned specific sales and service responsibilities in the Norfolk area under the direction of Harry J. Hann, Jr., general agent for the company at Norfolk.

P-TA MEETING

ARAGONA—The Aragona Elementary School PTA will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Phillip Meekins, Elementary School Supervisor, will speak on "The Elementary School Curriculum." Refreshments will be served.

Art Work Will Aid Fair

VIRGINIA BEACH—Leading artists in the Virginia Beach area are already at work on the Art Auction and Crafts Fair to be held at the Star of the Sea Recreation Hall November 30.

Sponsored by the Parent Council of the United Cerebral Palsy Association, the affair is being held to benefit the Scholarship Fund for palsied children.

Organizing the art segment of the fair is Miss Betty Crawford who has recently been devoting her painting time to plans for the auction.

Another local artist busily involved is Mrs. Ruth Laako, chairman of the committee hanging the show. Mrs. Laako, director of the Studio Gallery, has offered her studio as a collecting point for the donated paintings.

In addition to art, the fair will feature booths selling gourmet foods, Christmas decorations and handicrafts. The Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Junior Woman's Club will operate a Parcel Post booth with packages from far-away places to be sold unopened.

Other attractions include a Country Store, a Fish Pond, door prizes and a Snack Shop. It is hoped that the funds raised will be sufficient to assure many physically handicapped children the opportunity to attend the Day Care and Development Center.

Included in the many church and civic groups assisting in the project are: the Ladies Sodality of Star of the Sea; the Executive Committee of Naval Officers' Wives; the Norway Methodist Youth Group; Fort Story Officers' Wives and NCO Wives; Oceana; Secretaries from Dam Neck; the Squires Club, Star of the Sea; The Catholic Daughters of America.

D.E. Club Elects David Mitchell

LYNNHAVEN — The Princess Anne Chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America, DECA, recently held election and installation of its officers for the coming year.

The officers and their positions are as follows: David Mitchell, president; Gloria Gilliam, first vice-president; Chuck Midkiff, second vice-president; Elaine Johnson, secretary; Jeanne Wilkerson, treasurer; Linda Wagner, reporter; and Larry Dowdy, historian.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America began in Roanoke, Virginia in 1941. There are now over one-hundred programs in the state, the largest being at Princess Anne School, with an enrollment of eighty-five members. The coordinators at the Princess Anne Chapter are Miss Sue C. Lassiter and Mr. Vernon R. Cherry. The supervising coordinator is Mr. George L. Coffey.

D.E. is a phase of vocational education designed for those engaged in distributing goods and services to the public, including all retail, wholesale, and service occupations. The program includes classroom training in the many facets of distribution and is related by the student to his on the job training.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Teacher: "Tommy Smith, what is wrong with this sentence: 'The horse and cow is in the pasture?'"

Tommy: "Because one ought always to put the lady first."

WEEKLY CROP REPORT

Full crop harvest and preparing land for small grain and cover crop seeding made the best progress of any week this fall. Recent rains supplied moisture for plowing and disking and these jobs made top speed. Late hay harvest was active.

Corn harvest for grain made a big step ahead by the weekend ranged about 80 percent complete. Yields are better than expected on many farms but extremely low on others.

Soybean combining has not started. Many fields are turning yellow but still held leaves. Much of the late acreage is green and pods are immature. Prospects vary widely and warm weather is needed.

Sweet potato harvest is getting into full swing with good yields of top quality sweet potatoes. The Centennial and Gold rush varieties are giving much better yields on the average than is Porto Rico, our old established variety. Quality of the Centennial is really good this year.

Barley and oats seeding jumped to 50 percent complete, about on schedule. Wheat planting was getting underway. Seeding of mixed grains and grasses for grazing and cover crops made good progress.

Late hay cutting continued. A fourth cutting of Alfalfa made good quality, but yields are low. Pastures improved during the week but the cool nights made grass go to seed with little growth. Fescue looks best.

PETERSBURG FEEDER CALF SALE

The results of the Feeder Calf

sale are encouraging. Prices paid for calves at Petersburg were equal to prices paid in the Richmond sale, and better than some other sales in the more productive cattle areas.

Choice Hereford and Angus Steer Calves ranging from 300 to 400 pounds brought $27.75 to $28.75 cwt. Four hundred to 550 pound choice steers brought $28.25 to $27.75. Choice steers weighing over 550 lbs., $23.25 to $24.50.

Good rage steers brought about the same prices in the respective weight groups as choice, with medium bringing 1 to 2 cents per pound less.

Helpers of good and choice grades brought $23.00 to $24.00 cwt.

SMITHFIELD FEEDER SALE
On Saturday, October 19, at 1:00 p.m., there will be a special feeder sale at Smithfield. Cattle should go in the stockyards Saturday morning.

WINTER SHRUB PROTECTION
A plastic spray is one of the best ways to protect broadleaf evergreens from winter injury. Such sprays should be put on between mid-November and early December.

Apply a thin film to leaves and twigs. A repeat spray on a warm day in January may be needed for additional protection, as the material tends to "weather off" the foliage.

This type spray gives excellent protection from winter sun which often causes a burning of the foliage on broadleaf evergreens. It will also reduce transpiration of moisture in the leaves which will help the plant come through the winter in better condition.

For half-hardy or newly planted shrubs, a wind screen will provide some protection. Such a screen may be made of any material which will remain in place and which will not rot. Snow fence and burlap are often used to protect shrubs. Mats of straw are made commercially for this purpose. They may be rolled up and put away at the end of the season for use another year.

Do not remove winter screens in the spring until all danger of a return of winter has passed. March, with its wind and brilliant sunshine, is one of the most trying months. However, as screens are used to protect against wind and sunshine as much as against cold, they should remain in place until the weather is spring-like and settled.

Water plants adequately in the fall, so the soil is well supplied with moisture.

ELECTRIC CIRCUIT PROTECTION

Do you often have to replace a fuse in your wiring system? Are you limited in the number of appliances that can be used at one time without blowing a fuse? Have you installed fuses of larger capacity to prevent blown fuses?

If your answers to these questions are "Yes," take a new look at your wiring system! A "yes" answer shows that your wiring is not adequate, and you may have some safety hazards present.

When a fuse blows, it's a sign of trouble! It's a warning that something is wrong. There may be too much electrical load connected to the circuit, or there may be a short circuit caused by faulty wiring or defective appliances. If there is too much load on the circuit, the best solution is to add additional circuits to your wiring system.

Many families have added appliances with little regard for expanding their wiring system.

The result is often inadequate wiring. If your home has a good wiring system, you should rarely have to replace a fuse and you shouldn't be limited in the number of appliances used at one time.

Circuits in a wiring system are protected by one of two devices—fuses, or circuit breakers. Every circuit in your wiring contains one of these protective devices. They have only one function, safety!

When too much electricity flows in the circuit, it cuts off the electricity before damage is done. When a small wire carries too much current, it may get hot enough to start a fire. With proper circuit protection, the fuse or circuit breaker opens the circuit before the wires get hot enough to cause trouble.

The size of wire in the circuit governs the size of circuit protective device to use. For example, a circuit of number 14 wire should be protected with a 15 ampere fuse or circuit breaker. The device can have a rating of 20 amperes if number 12 wire is used in the circuit.

When a fuse blows there's always a tendency to replace it with one of a larger size. It is unsafe to use oversize fuses or to tamper with fuses in any way to restore service. Remember, it's the size of wire in the circuit that governs the size of fuse to use.

If your wiring system is protected with circuit breakers, you don't have to worry about someone's increasing their capacity.

Circuit breakers are available in different ampere ratings, such as 15, 20, 25, 30, etc. To change the rating it is necessary to replace the entire device.

This isn't true with fuses. For example, you can buy plug fuses in sizes up to 30 amperes. So, it's possible to install a 30 ampere fuse in a circuit of number 14 wire which shouldn't have a fuse larger than 15 amperes. Over-fusing is an unsafe practice.

Don't forget that fuses and circuit breakers are a part of your wiring system to provide needed protection. If you have trouble with blown fuses or tripped circuit breakers, consider adding additional circuits to your wiring system.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leaf springs. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

Chevrolet truck engines—fours, sixes, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.

Quality trucks always cost less!

THE MIXING BOWL
"It's Fun To Cook"
Give Sparkle to Autumn Salads

These glistening individual Party Pear Salads with their colorful pink dressing are sure to make your Autumn meals more festive and flavorful.

Fresh Bartlett pears used here are now in season. Mountain grown and harvested at the peak of their maturity, Pacific Bartletts are individually wrapped and carefully packed to reach your local market in superior condition. Their beautiful size and luscious juiciness make them a delicacy for out-of-hand eating and lunchboxes.

For a change of pace at the end of a busy summer, feature fresh Bartlett pears frequently, as in this recipe for Party Pear Salads.

- Party Pear Salads
- 4 fresh Bartlett Pears
 - 4 pineapple rings
 - 3 ounces cream cheese
 - 2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries
 - 2 tablespoons chopped nuts
 - Pineapple juice
 - Crisp greens
 - Party Pink Dressing
- Peel, halve and core fresh pears leaving stems on. Drain pineapple. Cream softened cream cheese with cherries and nuts, adding just enough pineapple juice to make good spreading consistency. Fill center and spread out side of pear half to edges with cream cheese filling. Top with second pear half and arrange over pineapple ring on crisp greens on individual salad plate. Top with Party Pink Dressing. Makes 4 servings.
- Party Pink Dressing
- 3 eggs
 - 1/2 cup pineapple juice
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter
 - 1/4 cup lemon juice
 - Maraschino cherry juice
- Combine eggs, pineapple juice, sugar, salt and melted butter in top of double boiler, beating until blended. Slowly beat in lemon juice. Stir and cook over boiling water until thick. Chill. Thin and tint with maraschino cherry juice before serving.

Three cheers for the quick-to-fix snack! And a bonus cheer for the snack that includes wholesome, refreshing fresh Bartlett pears from the Pacific Coast States. Adaptable Bartlett pears form the basis of many good eating treats. Pair them up with crackers, an assortment of cheeses and ever-popular popcorn, hot and buttery. Just perfect for a fall evening's refreshment.

Make a place now for luscious Pacific Bartletts at the top of your shopping list. Grown in the mountain valleys of the Pacific Coast States, Bartlett pears are a premium fruit. They have been washed and sorted and carefully packed for shipping to assure each home-maker she is purchasing superior fruit. These beauties make a perfect centerpiece for a table or fill the bill when a quick gourmet dessert is needed. Simply add assorted cheeses, give everyone a fruit knife, and dessert will be a sure success.

The climate of the mountain valleys of the Coast States is perfect pear-growing land. Warm, sunny days, cool nights, rich volcanic soil and just the right amount of rainfall provide excellent growing conditions for the pears. Fresh Bartletts are harvested at the peak of tree maturity but while they are still green in color. If the Bartlett pears you buy are still green in color, simply hold them at room temperature for a few days until they turn golden yellow.

The cheese chosen here to complement fresh Bartlett pears are Edam, sharp Cheddar and Roquefort. Crisp crackers and freshly popped and buttered popcorn are the crunchy partners selected to complete this popular fresh party snack. Whatever the variety of crackers and cheese you choose, they're sure to be popular when you serve them with juicy fresh mountain Bartlett pears.

DRY MACAROONS—ROLLED FINE CHERRY GARNISH—
Spread rim of cut side of pear with softened cream cheese, fill cavity of pear with jelly—place half pear on this, making a whole pear held together with the cream cheese. Coat with the fine macaroon crumbs. Chill—serve upright in a lettuce cup—and top with cherry blossom. To make the cherry blossom (if using at Christmas time call it a poinsettia)—Use a sharp knife and make 6 or 8 cuts in a maraschino cherry from pitted end to within 1/8 in. of round end—Flatten cherry, outside up, on paper towel. Press carefully in center to separate petals.

Pretty—eh?

GOOD LUCK SALAD
6 canned pear halves (drained)
Currant jelly to fill center of pear
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
Place pear cut side up on individual lettuce lined salad plates. Fill center of each pear with jelly. Soften cream cheese with little milk or fruit syrup. Use a cake decorator, and make horseshoe around outer edge of pear leaving smaller part open—with the softened cream cheese—it's pretty & it's good.

WEDDING BELL SALAD
12 canned pear halves
Softened cream cheese
Currant Jelly

OF INTEREST TO VETS

By THOMAS A. MOORE
Division of War Veterans' Claims
Area Director

The Veterans Administration reports that thousands of high school volunteers did a group-up this past summer as non-paid volunteers at VA hospitals throughout the nation. They filled the gaps left at the hospitals while older volunteers were on vacations.

Boys and girls worked in pharmacy, dietics, dental service, hospital libraries, therapy activities, recreation and radio programs, and in escort service taking disabled veterans to and from clinic and therapy rooms. They shopped and wrote letters for patients and did errands such as delivering books and flowers to wards.

These high school volunteers usually spent one day a week at the VA hospitals, but many turned up for additional duty. The minimum age for volunteers at most of the hospitals is 15. Those 16 and older do most of the tasks performed by adult volunteers. The younger volunteers are usually limited to tasks not involving direct contact with the patients.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th Street & Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursday of each month, between the hours of noon and 4 P.M.

Your Social Security

About 11% of the applicants for disability determinations under the social security program are being selected for possible rehabilitation services. For when you apply for disability benefits, your case is referred to your State Vocational Rehabilitation Agency for possible assistance.

It is recognized that social security insurance benefits cannot take the place of earnings from productive employment. Therefore, the social security people are working together toward full utilization of all rehabilitation resources so that every applicant may receive the services needed to enable him to regain his ability to earn his own living.

To encourage the disability beneficiaries to return to work, the law provides benefits for a 9-month trial period of work. At the end of this nine months, a new determination will be made. If the beneficiary is found no longer under a disability, he will be given an additional 3 months of benefits before he is dropped from the rolls. Because of this provision, beneficiaries need not fear "losing their benefits" while testing their abilities to work.

Additional information may be obtained at the Social Security District Office, 220 W. Brambleton Ave., Norfolk, Va. Their phone number is 627-6436.

How wonderful is enthusiasm. Mom and Dad will forgive this noise. They catch the spirit and joy of their young drummer boy.

Enthusiasm is not limited to small fry. But as we grow older, these joyous moments when our spirits ride high, wear thin and are diluted by everyday cares.

This is true of our religious experience. Often we are filled with eager enthusiasm when we pray and worship. Our church can guide this energy in channels of service and love.

But often our religious enthusiasm fails. In these moments when our spirits lag, we are sustained and encouraged by the enthusiasm of our fellow Christians.

How wonderful is enthusiasm. Come to church to have it renewed — Sunday and always.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Survey Sought On Stock Car Track Location

VIRGINIA BEACH—Members of the Virginia Beach Planning Commission are reportedly worried that roads leading to the site of the proposed 1.5 million stock car racetrack near Nimmo's Church will be unable to handle the anticipated 70,000 spectators.

The commission is awaiting a traffic survey to be obtained by track agent Douglas I. Shelton.

The site for the 1 1/2-mile asphalt track and the 50,000-seat stadium is at the northeast corner of Princess Anne and Sandbridge Roads. Identity of the track's financial backers is not publicly known.

The commission has discussed the track, but left the proposal with a committee until the traffic survey is made and analyzed. When the survey is finished, it will be reviewed by the city traffic engineer, then given to the committee for its report to the commission.

This means the application for the track probably will not come before the commission until its Nov. 11 meeting. If the planning commission makes its decision that night, its recommendations could be sent to the Nov. 25 City Council meeting.

However, the council usually acts on commission recommendations only at its first meeting of the month.

A spokesman for the commission said he felt the question of the track's feasibility has largely

Capt. Wyse In New Position

Captain F. C. Wyse

U. S. NAVAL AMPHIBIOUS BASE, LITTLE CREEK—Captain Frederick C. Wyse today assumed duties as Chief of Staff and Aide to Rear Admiral James C. Dempsey, Commander Amphibious Training Command, Atlantic Fleet.

Capt. Wyse formerly commanded the attack transport USS Telfair, homeported in Norfolk.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1935, served onboard the battleship USS Texas, and was appointed to the Naval Academy in 1937 by the Secretary of the Navy.

In 1941 he was graduated from the Academy, commissioned Ensign, and ordered to the battleship USS New Mexico as assistant navigator and anti-aircraft control officer. He participated in the occupation of Iceland in the summer of 1941, and took part in North Atlantic neutrality patrols prior to the U. S. entry in World War II.

The Captain took part in five war patrols in the Southwest Pacific and South China Seas areas while with the Baya.

Captain Wyse is married to the former Miss Esther Harwood Beebe of Spartanburg, S. C. They reside, with their two children, in Married Officers' Quarters "G" on the Amphibious Base.

narrowed down to the traffic problem.

Planning officials and some commission members studied a similar stock car raceway last Sunday at Charlotte, N. C. The race was attended by 53,000 fans.

A spokesman for the group that went to Charlotte said they were favorably impressed by the behavior of the crowd and the lack of disturbance from the noise of cars and people. However, he noted that although Charlotte has major roads to the track, it took considerable time for the spectators to leave.

He said that Virginia Beach would like to have the track, but city officials are not sure the proposed site, a quarter mile south of Nimmo Church, is the right location for it.

Shelton has requested that the 350 acres be rezoned from suburban and agricultural to commercial. Construction costs are estimated at $1,286,000 and land cost is $386,000.

Two races would be conducted a year, one in the spring and one in fall. They would have the sanction of the National Association of Stock Car automobile Racing (NASCAR), a necessity for getting the nation's best cars and drivers.

Three Virginia Beach groups have come out in favor of the track. They are the Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Beach Automobile Dealers Association and the Hotel, Motel, Cottage and Apartment Association.

About 15 people living near the proposed track objected to it when the application first came to the planning commission Sept. 9. They argued that the noise would decrease property values in the area.

Dr. Joardar A.R.E. Speaker

VIRGINIA BEACH—Dr. Nomi Gopal Dev Joardar will speak on "Mysticism in the East and West" Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at the Association for Research and Enlightenment.

Dr. Joardar lived, worked and studied with the late Mahatma Gandhi in India.

Born and brought up a Hindu, he came to Christianity of his own accord at the age of 28. He was educated in universities in India, Europe and America, receiving his doctorate in sociology from Yale University.

Dr. Joardar has served as a professor in Lucknow Christian College in India, has lectured at Yale Law School, served as professor of Sanskrit and linguistics at Georgetown University, has travelled around the world on an assignment to study communism and currently lectures informally at John Hopkins University.

He holds the position of Director of Cultural Studies at Koinon, a Foundation where people are trained for overseas service.

A question period will follow the lecture.

The Association for Research and Enlightenment is located at Atlantic Ave. and 67th St.

Beach Bank Exceeds Bond Quota

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Bank of Virginia Beach has been singled out and commended for its outstanding record in the sale of E and H Savings bonds for the year, according to Bruce W. Challen, area manager of the savings bonds division of the United States Treasury Department.

According to Challen the Bank of Virginia Beach through September had exceeded its sales quota for the entire year. Challen presented a certificate of commendation to E. H. Church, the bank's president, in ceremonies last week.

The certificate read: "In recognition of patriotism in strengthening the Nation and its citizens through the United States Savings Bonds Program." The certificate of commendation was signed by Douglas Dillon, Secretary of the Treasury.

Similar recognition was also paid the Plaza and Bayside branches of the Bank of Virginia Beach.

Second Bond Issue School Need - Owens

VIRGINIA BEACH—School Board member, Cornelius B. Owens told fellow members at Tuesday's board meeting that now is the time to get started on a new bond issue.

Owens said the board should seek a bond referendum next June because, if it waits until June 1965 it will be a year behind in its building program.

He said Kempville Junior High School is in bad shape. "We have to do something there. We should get started on a new bond issue now. We have just had one and now we are at rock bottom," he said.

At the meeting, Supt. Frank W. Cox predicted an end to split shifts in the city's schools, with one possible exception, by next fall.

At present five elementary schools in Bayside and Kempville boroughs are on double shifts because of overcrowding, but Cox said that school construction projects would relieve this.

"Our construction projects are moving along with the fine weather. Completion is expected on the scheduled time," he said.

The only school which may have split shifts next fall is Lynnhaven Elementary, opened this fall in Princess Anne Plaza but already near capacity enrollment.

A high school and several additions are under construction at present. The board hopes to receive bids on Arrowhead and Robbins Corner elementary schools by December, Cox said. The two schools are authorized under the recent $4.5 million bond issue but have not yet been built.

VNB Planning Another Merger

DANVILLE—John S. Alfried, Chairman of the Board of Virginia National Bank, and R. Paul Sanford, Chairman and President of the Southern Bank of Commerce of Danville and Martinsville, have announced plans for the merger of their two banks.

Decision to merge came after action by the Boards of Directors of each bank. Virginia National Bank voted unanimous approval of the merger at a meeting on October 9 and similar approval was given last week by the Board of Southern Bank of Commerce.

CAROLYN BOSHER IS HOMECOMING QUEEN AT VIRGINIA BEACH HIGH

VIRGINIA BEACH—Miss Carolyn Bosher has been selected as this year's Beach Bowl Queen to reign over Homecoming festivities Friday at Virginia Beach High School.

The celebration will get underway at 4:00 p.m. with a parade along Atlantic Ave. from 17th St. to 31st St. Miss Bosher will be crowned at half time when the Seahawks meet Cox High School. The half time theme will be "The Good Ship Virginia Beach."

Following the game a dance will be held in the school gym from 10 p.m. to midnight featuring the music of the Rondelles.

Bridge-Tunnel Opening Date Is April 15

NORFOLK—Contractors and consulting engineers Saturday set April 15, 1964, as the date the giant new Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel can be opened to motor traffic.

The prospective opening date was predicted by the consulting engineers, Sverdrup & Parcel, in a progress report on the 17.8-mile crossing now being completed between the Virginia mainland and the tip of the Delmarva Peninsula. The actual opening date remains to be set by the Bridge-Tunnel Commission.

In their quarterly report to the Commission, the engineers noted that completion of the physical structure between the two shores this month eliminated the chance of future delays being caused by winter storms on the bay.

The time needed to complete and equip the tunnel ventilating building on the northernmost of the four man-made islands is now the determining factor in opening the project, the report said. The joint-venture contractor, Tidewater-Merritt-Raymond-Kiewit, estimate they can finish this phase by April 15.

Sverdrup & Parcel, who designed the bridge-tunnel and are supervising its construction, reported: "We have examined the contractor's proposed schedule for the completion of this work and, in our opinion, the estimated date of April 15, 1964 for opening the project to traffic is realistic."

Other work to be completed includes the ventilation buildings on two other islands, approach ramps, tiling and interior finish on the Chesapeake Channel Tunnel, electric power installations, and the completion of construction of the toll plazas and administration building.

STATE C of C IS PUSHING TRAVEL

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce Committee on Travel Promotion met October 8th at The Mermaid Tavern, Festival Park, James-town, for the discussion of upcoming events concerning tourism.

Committee member attending from Virginia Beach was Laura Lambe of Laura Lambe Advertising, agency handling the resort advertising program and publicity.

Mr. Parke Rouse, Chairman presided at the business session following lunch at which time various persons gave their report on the travel business at his or her attraction through September of 1963.

Douglas P. Smith, Richmond, reported on the activities of the State's Chambers Travel Promotion and Public Relations Department. In promotion of Dulles International Airport he noted that the September issue of "The Commonwealth" featured a cover article on Dulles and that Mr. Arven Saunders, manager of Dulles, will speak at the November meeting of the Richmond Public Relations Association. He said the industrial tours brochures would be revised for 1964.

Mr. Rouse reported that 24 sailing vessels from all points of the world had accepted invitations to come to New York in June, 1964. In line with inviting the vessels to Hampton Roads, the communities of that area are being asked to underwrite entertainment for personnel of the ships. This is in connection with the International Sailing Review.

The State Chamber's Annual Luncheon in New York City will be held on Friday, November 15th for Travel Writers at which time Governor Albertus Harrison will be the Key Speaker. The group will include travel writers, editors, and directors of tourist and travel bureaus.

Thomas G. McCaskey reported on plans for the Governor's Travel Conference, scheduled Thursday, November 21st at the Hotel John Marshall in Richmond. Speakers include Governor Harrison, Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service; and Russell Singer, executive vice president of the American Automobile Association.

A study of Virginia's travel industry has begun under the auspices of the Advisory Council on the Virginia Economy, it was reported by J. Stuart White. The first meeting of the study committee met recently in Richmond.

Mr. White said that progress reports would not be made by the committee since the group felt the report should be studied in its entirety. He said the group would announce the name of the individual or firm hired to do the research study when the decision is made.

Several members commented that Virginia should be planning now to tie in its promotion with next year's World's Fair in New York. Also, Mr. McCaskey noted that the opening of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel in 1964 will be a national event and should be publicized accordingly. Discussion ensued on this and a committee was appointed to study the methods of capitalizing on the World's Fair and the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel.

CITY BUSINESS GROWTH AHEAD OF U.S. PACE

NEW YORK—Judging from the rate at which new businesses have been springing up in what used to be known as Princess Anne County in the last few years, the spirit of individual enterprise continues to be very much alive locally.

The area's non-farm business population has been raised to a new high as local residents, with an urge to be on their own, have been embarking on new ventures.

Past experience shows that not all of them are likely to succeed the first time. The mortality among new businesses is high. Some of them are under-capitalized to start with. They do not have the financial strength to weather an unprofitable first year.

Others fall because of insufficient experience, because of heavy competition or for other reasons. Enough of them do succeed, however, to warrant the risk.

The figures on new business formations, just released, are contained in a Census Bureau report, prepared with the assistance of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. They are based on tax reports submitted during the past year.

They show that the number of new firms established in Princess Anne County since 1959, when the previous count was taken, exceeded the number that were discontinued.

By virtue of this net growth,

Guadalcanal Starts Shakedown Cruise

LITTLE CREEK—Amphibious assault ship Guadalcanal will depart Norfolk Monday, to conduct underway training in the Caribbean.

This newest addition to the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force will conduct six weeks of engineering and gunnery training with the Fleet Training Group at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

During the shakedown cruise, Guadalcanal will be subjected to the rugged pace that each new Navy ship must face. Exercise will keep the ship's crew on the alert 24 hours a day, at general quarters and other drills designed to train the men to act during emergencies.

Molster To Speak To TAHB Members

Nov. 8-9-10

CIVIC CENTER TO BE SCENE OF ANNUAL AUTO SHOW HERE

VIRGINIA BEACH—Gene Meekins, President of the Virginia Beach Automobile Dealers Association, has announced the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center as the site of the 3rd annual Auto Show, Nov. 8, 9, and 10.

Meekins said the show is expected to draw more than 25,000 persons to the Dome, and that one of those attending will win his choice of nine compact automobiles—one from each participating dealer.

In addition to displaying the 1964 model cars, the show will feature live entertainment nightly, automotive and military displays, music and fun for the entire family. On tap Friday night is a fashion show by Rose Hall women's shop. Saturday, go-cart races and a Country Music Show are planned for the afternoon, and the Harmonica Rascals with the Little midget will entertain that evening followed by the William and Mary Minutemen. Sunday Poop-Deck Pappy will be on hand to greet the children and later another Country Music Show will be staged.

Members of the association are Alphin Motors, Inc., Brooks-Shorter Motor Co., Inc., Coates Motor Co., Inc., Emrhue Ford, Inc., Everest-Jordan Motor Co., Holt Buick, Inc., Malbon Motor Co., Marshall Rambler, Inc., and Meekins Pontiac Corp.

It represented a 9.9 percent increase over the 1959 total of 789. By comparison, the United States as a whole had a gain of only 1.3 percent. The South Atlantic States had a rise of 2.2 percent.

As is the case generally throughout the country, small-size businesses predominate in former Princess Anne County.

The breakdown lists 465 of them with from one to three people employed, 195 with from four to seven employees and 146 with eight to nineteen.

As of last year, they provided gainful employment for 6,900 workers, the figures show. At the time of the 1959 survey, 5,471 employees were reported.

According to the latest findings of the Office of Business Economics, about 437,000 new business firms are established per year in the United States and nearly 400,000 are discontinued.

ASC Members Announced

PRINCESS ANNE—Results of the election of ASC community committeemen for Virginia Beach were announced Friday by Russell Dudley, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

The election was held Oct. 15 by mail and ballots were tabulated publicly by the incumbent ASC county committee Friday at City Hall.

Farmers elected to the four committees are: Blackwater—W. H. Gilbert, J. J. Contos, Joe Pescek, Stuart Ives, L. E. Gilbert.

Kempville—George Ferrell, Rufus Jordan, Harold Jackson, A. C. Brown, R. H. Deford. Pungo—Melvin Williams, Stanley Williamson, Jimmy Bright, F. E. Bonney, C. O. Freeman.

Seaboard—Alvah Dawley, Edward Upton, Norris Shirley, Claude Brown, Woodrow White. The ASC community committee chairmen are the delegates to the county convention where the ASC county committee will be elected. The county convention will be held Thursday at the ASC office.

The ASC county and community farmer - committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the food grain program, the National Wool Program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, commodity loans, and storage facility loans.

TEEN TOPICS . . .

By Lucy S. Oliver
Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

After high school—what then? For most teenagers this is a real problem. Of course not everyone can go off to college. Many students would profit by some additional training though.

An example of further training after high school are secretarial schools for girls and technical schools for fellows. As you already know, your high school guidance teacher can be of invaluable help to you.

Money need not stand in the way of your education if you have the ability. You that have thought of going to college—take note—there are lots of scholarships every year that are not even applied for.

Some information that you may not have heard about has just come across my desk.

The National Defense Education Act passed in 1958 is composed of ten titles and 55 sections. Title II, which covers loans to students in institutions of higher education, is the one of primary concern to college-bound students. This is a very important portion of the Bill because it directly aids promising students who are strong on brain power, but short on finances, assuring them of as much as $1000 per year for five years if he or she fulfills the conditions of the Act.

Funds are appropriated among the states according to their college enrollment and no one college or university can receive more than $250,000 in any one fiscal year.

Who can apply for a loan? Well, anyone who can show a need for financial help is capable of good grades, and has been admitted by the institution.

Each institution selects those who will receive the loan, giving special attention to persons with superior academic background and whose interests are in teaching, science, mathematics, and foreign languages.

A person interested in obtaining a loan should first find out whether the school he or she is interested in has the established loan fund. Virginia had 22 institutions under such an agreement in 1961.

Since this is a loan it must be paid back. However, the interest is at a low 3 percent a year, with payments starting one year after graduation. Payments are spread out over 10 annual installments.

High school seniors wishing to negotiate a National Defense Student Loan should write directly to the colleges and universities they plan to attend. Requests for general information about the Student Loan Program should be addressed to: Student Financial Aid Branch, Division of College and University Assistance, U. S. Office of Education, Washington 25, D. C. 20250

I realize that scholarship offers always sound like something for someone else, never like something that you could earn or win. But—that is just the point! You can never know for sure unless you apply. If you really want to help yourself through college, don't miss a single opportunity to apply for a scholarship.

Just be careful of one thing—that when you apply for a scholarship you know what the stipulations on its use are. For example, I know of one type of scholarship that prohibits the user from accepting any other type of financial aid while in college. You can see how this would prevent you from getting the maximum help available. Of course, as has already been mentioned, loans educational are also a good source of funds. Here, too you have to be careful to know what the terms of the loans are and how the interest on the loans are calculated.

Needless to say, scholarships and loans are not only the source of funds for those who are truly earnest about getting more education after high school. Many young people will work a few years and save to pay for their schooling before they enroll. Then too, many people go to night school or work while they are in school. They saying that you really learn to appreciate your money when you earn it certainly holds true in this case.

There is no doubt about it, working your own way through school takes real perseverance, but—the reward is great.

Don't forget, all the reasons—or excuses—in the world have yet to tear down the truth in the statement that goes, "you can achieve anything—if you want it bad enough." I say—if you do it, you will never be sorry that you did your best but you will always regret not having gotten more education if you wanted it and did not go after it.

“Woman-Of-Year”

Mrs. Steinhibler Honored

By Cape Henry Women

VIRGINIA BEACH—Mrs. Robert J. Steinhibler, a past president, was named Bi-annual “Woman of the Year” by members of the Cape Henry Women's Club last week. Mrs. Steinhibler was presented the award by Mrs. Arthur James, the club president.

Mrs. Steinhibler is one of the organizers of the club which was organized with 100 charter members February 1954. Mrs. Steinhibler helped to establish the policies of the club. Her primary concern is to create an interest among the women of Virginia Beach for the promotion of educational, literary and artistic growth and matters relating to home and civic improvement.

Mrs. Steinhibler has certainly done all this as over the past ten years she has missed only two club meetings and has been instrumental in raising over $25,000.00 from the Annual Lotus Festival (club project) which has been returned to the community in welfare. Scholarships for young people and donations for civic improvements. She has served the club as president, the first secretary, historian and as chairman of music and fine arts for four years winning the State Penny Arts Award. She has served the Tidewater District Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs as chairwoman and Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs as Chairman of Music for State Convention. Through her efforts the Cape Henry Women's Club recognizes some musical young person of the community at each club meeting.

Mrs. Steinhibler's other activities include organist and music Director of Our Saviors Lutheran Church, Bayside.

She is an honorary life member of Lutheran Church Women, an active member of Virginia Beach Music Club, Thalia Garden Club and participates in many fund raising projects for humanitarian services to her community such as Red Cross, March of Dimes, Community Fund and etc., truly a woman of accomplishment.

Clinical fellowships are awarded by the American Cancer Society directly to local institutions which appoint the individual fellows. Interested physicians or dentists who have completed at least one year of residency in their specialty can apply for fellowships directly to the institutions where training is desired.

Weddings

LANKFORD—VENABLE VIRGINIA BEACH—The Chapel of the First Baptist Church at Virginia Beach was the setting Friday at 8 p.m. for the wedding of Mrs. Margaret Baxter Lankford and Samuel Woodson Venable.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Carl Elliott Baxter of Virginia Beach. Mr. Venable is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Armistead Venable of Castle Hayne, N. C.

The Rev. H. Wadell Waters, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and friends.

Mrs. Walter A. Page, the bride's cousin, served as matron of honor and Mr. Venable's best man was his brother, Paul C. Venable of Milburn, N. J.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given in the church social hall by Judge and Mrs. Walter A. Page for the newlyweds.

Engagements

STEEL—SNOW VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. John David Steele announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sandra Lee Steele, to Airman 2C John Harrison Snow, USAF.

Airman Snow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Haston M. Snow of Norfolk.

The wedding will take place in April in the First Lutheran Church.

Miss Steele graduated from Princess Anne High School.

Airman Snow graduated from Maury High School. He is stationed at Dow Air Force Base, Maine.

Table decorations were done by Mrs. John P. Parker and Mrs. B. N. Fallwell. Mrs. R. J. Steinhilber and Mrs. Graydon D. Early were hostesses.

Mrs. R. J. Steinhilber, past president and civic worker, was elected Bi-Annual “Woman of the Year”, and presented with an engraved silver tray.

Mrs. Arthur James and Mrs. Leonard Hiteschew will represent the club at the Fall District Meeting of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs held in Williamsburg, Va., on Wednesday.

Cancer Society Awards Go To State Centers

RICHMOND—Fifteen clinical fellowships have been awarded by the American Cancer Society to three Virginia medical institutions, it was announced today by James W. Rawles, president of the Society's Virginia Division.

Six of the one-year fellowships were awarded for the current year beginning July 1, 1963 and nine of the fellowships were awarded for the following year beginning July 1, 1964. Recipients of the fellowships are taking part in the Society's nationwide program to bring to cancer patients the latest methods of cancer detection and treatment.

The six Virginia physicians currently participating in the Society's clinical fellowship program and their fields of specialty are Dr. Cecil Robert Burkhardt, surgical pathology, and Dr. James Edward Powers, surgery, at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond; Drs. William C. Branscome, internal medicine (hematology), Richard E. Boden, pathology, Stanton P. Nolan, surgery, and Francis B. Teague, surgery, at the University of Virginia School of Medicine in Charlottesville.

Virginia institutions which received clinical fellowships for the year beginning July 1, 1964 and the fields of specialty are DePaul Hospital, Norfolk, pathology; Medical College of Virginia, surgery, surgical pathology, and urology; and the University of Virginia School of Medicine, internal medicine (hematology), pathology, radiology, and two fellowships in surgery. Recipients of these additional nine fellowships will be announced at a later date.

Clinical fellowships are awarded by the American Cancer Society directly to local institutions which appoint the individual fellows. Interested physicians or dentists who have completed at least one year of residency in their specialty can apply for fellowships directly to the institutions where training is desired.

Space Theme Of University Women's Meet
VIRGINIA BEACH — Local members of the American Association of University Women heard at their regular monthly meeting at Country Day School Wednesday how NASA plans to put men on the moon, and the scientific projects of research connected with this venture.
John Nesbit, Spacemobile lecturer, illustrated his talk with actual models of the space vehicles to be used.
Nesbit described cooperative space research programs being carried on with over fifty foreign countries and commented that there are many opportunities for women scientists to enter the new field of space science.
At the November meeting, Nov. 20, the local group will have book reports and discussions on how a layman can better understand modern science. The next item in the branch's science study program for this year will be a field trip to the Navy's Computer Center at Dam Neck Jan. 24.
Membership in the local branch is open to all women graduates of approved institutions of higher learning. Those interested may obtain additional information by calling membership chairman Mrs. R. E. Townsend (428-7860).

Wildlife Areas Owned By Those Who Use Them
Sportsmen who hunt on the state's many Wildlife Management Areas this fall should treat them as if they were their own because, in reality they are, the Game Commission reminds. A total of 1,866,348 acres is managed currently by the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, in cooperation with state, federal and private agencies, to provide hunting for Virginia sportsmen. This totals over six acres for each licensed hunter in the state. Big game, upland game and waterfowl hunting opportunities are included in the network of management areas which stretches from the Atlantic to the southwestern mountains.
There is no daily charge for hunting on these management areas, but season stamps or permits are required on some. A $1 National Forest Stamp is required to hunt on National Forests, a $1 State Forest Stamp is required of hunters on the State Forest lands, and a $2 season permit is a prerequisite to hunting on 5,845 acres of Chesapeake Corporation lands opened to the public under agreement with the Game Commission.

SPORTS

Local Teams Carver Nips Win, Lose And Draw
VIRGINIA BEACH — Virginia Beach's Seahawks won a thriller from Northampton, Princess Anne trounced a strong Oscar Smith eleven, Cox tied Kecoughtan, and Kellam bowed to Ferguson on last Friday night's prep football action.
The Hawks nearly tasted defeat at the hands of a fired up Northampton club. The final score was 34-33 with Chris Hanson leading the way with three touchdowns.
Coach Pete Sachon's powerful Princess Anne Cavaliers romped in their game with Oscar Smith. The Cavaliers won a 34-6 victory with Buster O'Brien, Charlie Carr and Bill Boves taking the bows in the scoring department. However, the highlight of the game was the PA defense, best in the conference. Oscar Smith gained a net eight yards rushing and made only six first downs.
Kecoughtan scored in the first period against Cox and led 6-0 through much of the game. But, Mike Drye plunged five yards for a score midway of the final quarter to give Cox a hard earned tie.
Kellam bowed 27-0 to a stronger Ferguson team at Virginia Beach stadium. The winners scored once in the second and third periods and twice in the final quarter.

Hunters! Let's Make It A Safe Season
The 1962-63 hunting season set quite a few records not the least of which was a 50% reduction in the number of hunting fatalities in Virginia. The Game Commission reminds hunters however that as the number of people enjoying outdoor recreation swells, each individual will have to exercise more caution to avoid a proportionate increase in hunting season tragedies both in the field and on the highways.
Careful planning is good insurance against mishaps which often occur when we get in a hurry. Allow adequate time for driving, setting up camp, travel from camp to the hunting territory and return. Remember that your fellow outdoorsmen will be out "en masse" on the highways, at the camp grounds, and in the woods. Take it easy and learn to live with it. Irritation with your fellow man adds nothing to the hunting season except perhaps a statistic in the highway or hunting accident book. Relaxation is the first step in full enjoyment of the outdoors.

Most Wildlife Protected By Game Laws
Only five species of wild birds, other than those classified by law as game birds, may be legally hunted or killed in Virginia. The five, on which there is no bag limit or closed season, are the vulture, bluejay, crow, starling and English sparrow. All other birds not classed as game birds are fully protected by state and federal laws. Hunters noting any of these are subject to the same penalties as for shooting game birds out of season, according to a reminder issued by the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.
Included in the protected group are hawks, owls, blackbirds, woodpeckers, meadowlarks, seagulls, mocking birds, and others which sometimes become the targets of unscrupulous or thoughtless nimrods. Most animals not classed as game or fur-bearers are not afforded this same protection. Notable among the unprotected mammals are bobcats, skunks, weasels, and woodchucks. Red and gray foxes are protected in many Virginia counties during part of the year. Check your game laws to be sure.

Archery Season In Full Swing
Deer had better be getting in shape for their longest arrow-dodging session since the days of the Indians as the state's archers prepare to take full advantage of their first 30 day season this year. The entire state with the exception of Buchanan, Arlington and Northampton Counties will be open to the bow hunters.
Archers may shoot either bucks or does, but must stay within the numerical limits for the county being hunted, i.e., one deer in one deer counties and two deer in counties with a two deer limit. Of course, no Virginia hunter may legally take more than two deer in any license year and the second animal must be killed in a county with a two deer limit. Deer taken during the bow and arrow season count at part of the hunter's "license year" limit should he decide to go after the whitetails with a gun later on.

Landing Ships To Canal Zone
LITTLE CREEK—Two Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force tank landing ships will depart here Tuesday, October 15, for the Panama Canal Zone.
While in Panama, they will conduct amphibious training exercises with U. S. Army battle groups stationed there.
The departing ships are the USS Cheboygan County, commanded by Lieutenant A. E. Buchanan, and USS Talbot County, commanded by Lieutenant Commander J. H. Bres. They will relieve the tank landing ships USS Middlesex County and USS Dodge County, which have been conducting similar operations in that area since July.
Cheboygan County and Talbot County are scheduled to return to Little Creek in January 1964.

Bay Fishing Film Is Slated For Showing
CHINCOTEAGUE, Va. — "Old Rock... Champ of the Chesapeake," the first color film devoted to Chesapeake Bay rockfish, had its world premiere at the Mason-Dixon Outdoor Writers Association fall conference here Saturday.
Produced by the Theo. Hamm Brewing Co., the film shows various ways to fish for the popular rock and explains why the Chesapeake is an angler's paradise for young and old alike.
The film was produced in cooperation with the Maryland Department of Tidewater Fisheries and the U.S. Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.
Among its highlights are spectacular action scenes of many Tidewater attractions, including Kent Island, the Chester River, Tighman Island, the Choptank, Sharp's Island Light, Deal's Island, Ocean City and other shore and Bay landmarks.
Civic clubs and sports groups may inquire about booking films through the Hamm Brewing Company, 1101 S. Conkling St., Baltimore 24, Md.

E.C.C. Honors Past Grid Stars
GREENVILLE, N.C. — East Carolina College rolled out the red carpet for two former ECC football teams Saturday as part of its Homecoming Day celebration. Among those attending was former halfback Jim Stanley of 1321 Baltic Ave., Virginia Beach. Stanley was a member of the Pirates' 1953 squad.
Besides Stanley, approximately 39 other ex-Pirates from the 1953 and 1963 teams were in attendance. They were guests of honor at a luncheon in the Bucaneer Room on campus.
Following the luncheon the former players had the pleasure of watching the 1963 Pirates trounce Western Carolina by a margin of 50-0.

The Consumer's Protection

The late Senator Kefauver was a devoted advocate of an Office of Consumers. He believed that... the consumer hardly exercises a formative influence in the market.

business bureaus, also play effective roles. Of great significance is the fact that the typical modern consumer is a pretty sophisticated individual these days.

No one denies that all manner of blandishments, some dubious in the extreme, are employed in an effort to induce the consumer to buy this product or that, or to avail himself of the wonders of this service or that.

Retail merchants also offer a valuable consumer protection. The merchant gets the blame if a product is unsatisfactory, though he had nothing to do with its production.

As a footnote, it may be observed that a whole new school of jokes has grown up around some of the more blatant television advertising. This, by itself, indicates that the consuming public does not consist of sheep, ready for a mercantile shearing.

Funerals

JAMES WESLEY HILL — James Wesley Hill, 63, died in a Norfolk hospital Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. after a long illness.

A native of Norfolk, he had lived since June at 448 Lynn Shore Road, Brethwood. He was a son of James H. and Mrs. Pearl Snowden Hill and the husband of the late Mrs. Estella Banks Hill.

He was a retired painter of Virginia Electric & Power Co. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson of Jacksonville, Fla.; and two sons, Richard D. Hill of Virginia Beach and George Wesley Hill of Richmond.

The body was taken to Simiele Funeral Home where a funeral service was conducted Saturday by the Rev. H. H. Filton of Willowood Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Rosewood Memorial Park.

MRS. MARGARET B. FINLEY — Mrs. Margaret B. Finley, 101, died in a Norfolk hospital Wednesday at 6 p.m. in her home at 4625 Harlie Ave., Sherry Park, after a brief illness.

A native of Ireland, she lived in the Virginia Beach area two years and was a member of St. Matthew's Catholic Church. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. J. F. Gibson and Miss Dorothy Schmitt of Fairfax; two sons, George G. Schmitt of Fairfax and Thomas P. Schmitt of Virginia Beach; and 18 grandchildren.

The body was taken to Pearson's Funeral Home, Falls Church, Va., for a funeral service Saturday. Burial was in George Washington Memorial Cemetery, Hyattsville, Md.

INFANT BROWNING — Christopher Patrick Browning, 1 month, son of Michael B. and Mrs. Ann E. Skees Browning of 518 Virginia Ave., died Friday in his home.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lois Browning of Santa Ana, Calif., and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Skees of Big Clifty, Ky.

The body was taken to Maestas Funeral Home. A funeral service was held Monday at 11 a.m. in Princess Anne Memorial Park by the Cndr. Ralph E. Handran of the Navy Chaplain Corps, Oceana.

MRS. MARGARET B. FINLEY — Mrs. Margaret B. Finley, 101, died in a Norfolk hospital Wednesday at 6 p.m. in her home at 4625 Harlie Ave., Sherry Park, after a brief illness.

A Norfolk native, she was a daughter of Joseph M. and Mrs. Ellen Rigby Bamberger and the widow of Lowery D. Finley. She was a member of Star of the Sea Catholic Church, Virginia Beach.

Surviving are two sons, James D. Finley of Norfolk and Lowery D. Finley Jr. of Virginia Beach; and five grandchildren. The body was taken from H. D. Oliver Funeral Apartments to Blessed Sacrament Church for a funeral service Monday at 10 a.m. Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Parked Cars Mean Danger, Says AAA

VIRGINIA BEACH — AAA urges drivers to get the "big picture" when driving: "When passing parked cars, always remember that someone may suddenly step from between them into the street," says AAA.

Frank Cox, Local Director of Tidewater Automobile Association warns that "Parked cars, in shopping areas, around schools, at the sides of streets, and even in commercial parking lots, are a potential danger to pedestrians and drivers. They create blind spots from which a pedestrian, unaware of an on-coming car, can spring up, giving a driver little or no time to stop. Both children and adults, in alarming numbers, have been killed or injured in the dangerous practice of stepping from between parked cars."

"Our children are being taught traffic safety," Mr. Cox continued. "But this in no way frees adults of their responsibility. Since adults, too, are victims in many such accidents, and since the instruction of children must be supplemented by good examples, there is an increased responsibility placed upon all adults to adhere to the rules of traffic safety. We remind each citizen that he, too, sets an example for every child and, if it is a good one, it could mean the life of that child!"

The poster, Keep from Between Parked Cars, a first-place winner in the AAA National Traffic Safety Poster Contest, designed by Jane Fisher, 14, Surfside High School, Royal Oak, Mich., is being distributed to school by Tidewater Automobile Association for the monthly traffic safety education program.

Alfriend Steps Down As VNB Chief Officer

NORFOLK — At a meeting last week the Board of Directors of Virginia National Bank received and favorably acted upon the request of its chairman John S. Alfriend to be relieved of his duties effective December 31, 1963.

The Board then elected Alfriend chairman of the Bank's Executive Committee and elevated R. Cosby Moore to the post Alfriend will vacate—both effective on January 1, 1964.

This marks the second time Alfriend will relinquish these duties. He retired from them previously in July 1962 but was recalled shortly thereafter by the Board of Directors of the then National Bank of Commerce to lay plans for a statewide banking system, which came into being when Commerce was consolidated with Peoples National Bank of Central Virginia, and subsequent mergers were effected with banking institutions in Suffolk and Abingdon.

In a formal report to the Board, Alfriend made several significant points regarding the growth of Virginia National Bank in the year preceding September 30, 1963. Comparing the total figures of all the institutions which are now a part of the Virginia National system as of September 30, 1962, and those of the statewide system a year later, he pointed out that current total resources now exceed $376 million, an increase of more than $23 million from growth and not through mergers.

Alfriend then said that a great part of the task for which he was recalled, from retirement—"that of laying the basic groundwork for a statewide banking system"—had now been accomplished. He included in this pending merger between Tidewater Bank & Trust Company of Franklin and Farmers and Merchants Bank of Staunton, which will be voted upon by the shareholders of the three institutions on October 31st.

"When these pending mergers are approved by the shareholders and the regulatory authorities concerned—and we expect they will be by the end of 1963," Alfriend said, "then our total resources will exceed $400 million. And, I might add, that other mergers are already contemplated for next year."

The Board then gave its approval to the sale of its present bank building and parking lot in the City of Chesapeake to the South Norfolk Redevelopment & Housing Authority. By prior agreement, the Authority will sell to Virginia National approximately three acres of land located directly across the street, on which the Bank will construct in 1964 a completely modern banking office with drive-in teller windows and ample space for parking.

VEPCO Names Mod. Director

RICHMOND—Virginia Electric and Power Company has announced the appointment of Dr. William S. Dingleline as its medical director.

Dr. Dingleline, a native of Harrisonburg and a 1931 graduate of the University of Virginia School of Medicine, succeeds the late Dr. Maynard R. Enlow.

Since 1957, Dr. Dingleline has been on the staffs of Richmond Memorial and Johnson-Willis hospitals, and he is a clinical associate in medicine at the Medical College of Virginia. Prior to 1957, Dr. Dingleline trained at hospitals in Georgia, Massachusetts and Michigan, and conducted a private practice in Roanoke, Va.

Dr. Dingleline, married and the father of four children, holds membership in several national and local medical societies, including the American Medical Association, the American Federation for Clinical Research, the American Thyroid Association, the American Heart Association, the Virginia and Richmond Societies of Internal Medicine and the Medical Society of Virginia. He is a member of the board of directors of the Richmond Area Heart Association.

What Is A Heart Attack?

Public Service Feature Provided by Tidewater Heart Association "WHAT IS A HEART ATTACK" Lots of people have them, even more people talk about them, but how many really know what a heart attack is? To compound the confusion, many different diseases of heart or blood vessels are sometimes lumped under the term "heart attack."

Put very simply, a heart attack occurs when the heart muscle does not receive an adequate supply of oxygenated blood, according to your Tidewater Heart Association. Like all pumps, your heart has valves and chambers but the actual pumping force comes from its thick muscular walls. When this muscle contracts, blood is squeezed out of the chambers and forced into the arteries to carry nourishing food and oxygen to every cell of the body. All body tissues must be continually nourished by the blood.

For its size, the heart muscle does a fantastic amount of work. Even when you are asleep, it pumps an estimated five quarts of blood a minute, 75 gallons an hour (enough to fill the gas tanks of four standard model automobiles). When you are up and about it pumps more, and during strenuous activity—like running for a train—it may pump at the rate of 14 barrels per hour.

To do this work, the heart muscle itself requires a large and constant supply of blood. Its pipeline are the coronary arteries and their branches, which branch and penetrate the heart muscle. If one of these channels becomes clogged, blocked or narrowed, an area of the heart is deprived of blood. The result is a heart attack, often called a

Progress Brings On Problems

Suburban development produces silt that affects every household, it was stated this week by Tom F. McGourin, State Conservationist, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, headquartered at Richmond, Virginia.

"The silt load produced by the building of suburban homes, shopping centers, parking lots and other structures can be tremendous," McGourin said. "Around a big city it can amount to 121,000 tons per square mile annually. This erosion occurs when vegetation is stripped from the building area and the bare soil is washed away.

The erosion damages the building site. The silt clogs and pollutes streams, damages fish life and adds to the cost of clarifying household and industrial water. It results in flooding and damage to roads and highways. All of this involves extra expense to undo the damage. The cost has to be passed on to the householder."

Much of the erosion can be controlled by advance planning on the use and treatment of land, McGourin emphasized. Because of this, he said, many planning commissions and zoning boards now include silt control in their land use planning. Developers, builders and architects also are becoming aware of the need of considering silt control before building starts, he added. "The Soil Conservation Service is cooperating in providing consultative service and our accumulated information that's of use in planning the control of silt," McGourin said.

Ed Miles Is Fraternity Pledge

BATON ROUGE, La.—Edward T. Miles from Virginia Beach is among the 667 men pledged to fraternities following rush week activities on the Louisiana State University campus here.

Twenty-one groups, all affiliated with national fraternities, welcomed new pledges at the close of a week-long period of parties and rush "dates". Miles was pledged by Sigma Pi coronary." Far and away the most common cause of heart attacks is blockage of a coronary artery by atherosclerosis, a form of hardening of the arteries. In atherosclerosis, fatty sludge gums up the arteries which should be clean as a whistle for smooth passage of blood. The blood flow is slowed down; deposits build up on artery walls and the stage is set for clot formation inside the vessel. Heart attacks caused by coronary atherosclerosis are the most important medical problems in the country today. The Tidewater Heart Association has been emphasizing this and other facts about heart attacks in a special educational campaign it is conducting in the Tidewater area. In some cases heart attacks may be "silent" that is, they are only detected when an electrocardiogram (EKG) is made. This is one good reason why everyone should have a complete physical examination at regular intervals. If the EKG shows that a "silent" heart attack has occurred, the doctor can take steps to help prevent a more serious episode.

VAN GOGH PROGRAM WILL BE REPEATED

"Vincent Van Gogh: a Self-Portrait," a prize-winning NBC News color special retracing the life of Vincent Van Gogh through the artist's own words, drawings and paintings, will be repeated on "NBC News Encore" Sunday, Oct. 27- (3-4 p.m. EST).

The program features Lee J. Cobb speaking Van Gogh's words and Martin Gabel as narrator. Originally telecast Nov. 17, 1961, and repeated Aug. 6, 1962, the program received an Emmy Award for its writer-producer, Lou Hazam, and the George Foster Peabody Award and a citation by the National Association for Better Radio and Television as the best single program of the year. The program also has received Certificates of Merit from the Vancouver, Edinburgh and Venice film festivals.

Veteran's Official Here Thursday

Maurice J. Hunger of the Division of War Veterans' Claims, a free service operated by the State of Virginia, will interview veterans and their survivors in Virginia Beach between noon and 4 p.m. on Thursday, October 24, 1963 at the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th St. & Pacific Avenue.

Hunger's Norfolk area office is at Suite 218, Professional Arts Building, 142 West York Street; Telephone 622-9671 and 625-4170.

37th APPLE BLOSSOM FESTIVAL TO BE HELD IN WINCHESTER, VA.

WINCHESTER, Va.—The 1964 Shenandoah Apple Festival will be held in this Apple-land capital on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 30-May 12. The official dates for the 37th Annual Apple Blossom fest, widely recognized salute to spring, have been announced by the Festival's executive committee.

Plans for the 1964 Festival are already being made and inquiries from both prospective parade participants and visitors reach the headquarters office here daily. Departments of the blossom celebration dealing with entertainment, finance, the parades, communities' participation, apple industry, publicity and public service are being organized for first-of-the-year activity.

Highlights of the 1964 fest will include an elaborate coronation ceremony for Queen Shenandoah, a colorful Pageant and the Firemen's parade on Thursday, April 30; Friday's program will be topped by the 3 1/2 hour Grand Feature parade, with an entire division of antique automobiles, more than 50 floats, 75 bands and scores of marching units. Another Friday feature will be the "Miss Shenandoah Apple Blossom" beauty and personality contest, with entrants from Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Saturday's program, May 3, will include the all-day Shenandoah County Music Jubilee, the all-day Apple Blossom Twirling event and the Shenandoah Region Antique Automobile Club of America car meet. The three-day fest program will also include an apple pie baking contest, concerts,

THEY ARE TALENTED

Bob and Newton are professional entertainers who are well-known to thousands of radio listeners in the greater Virginia Beach area. Both have extensive and knowledgeable musical backgrounds. Bob has appeared in a number of variety shows and music concerts as both performer and producer, and Newton, a talented jazz pianist, has been featured with his popular trio in night club and music festivals locally and along the East Coast and in the Mid-West.

THEY HAVE PERSONALITY

Bob and Newton possess distinct styles, and each has a relaxed approach that makes them a "welcomed" companion to every kind of radio listener. Both rely on a worldly and intelligent background to help them provide listeners with entertaining and informative features. Among them: music, humor, community reminders and weather (for the best owner as well as the man leaving for work in the morning).

Antique Show Opens Today

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Fifth Annual Antiques Show and Sale opens at noon today at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center under the sponsorship of the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach.

The event has gained in popularity over the past four years until it now ranks as one of the most outstanding antique shows in the state.

One of the highlights of this year's show will be the large number of antique clocks, especially the highly prized old "banjo clocks", being brought by dealers to the show.

Another popular feature this year will be the outstanding collection of old coins to be presented by dealer Sam Mary of Winter Park, Florida.

Mrs. Foster I. Gilbert, president, Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs will assist Judge Robert S. Wahab in opening ceremonies today as the show gets underway.

A group of 16 children from W. T. Cooke School will lend a touch of colonial atmosphere to the proceedings by dancing a minuet.

Display areas have been reserved by dealers all over Virginia and surrounding states and some from such distant states as Connecticut, Ohio and Florida.

Among the more valuable displays will be an original Whistler etching, an original George Inness oil painting, signed and authenticated, items from the estate of Civil War Governor John Gregory Smith, authentic presidential china with the seal of the United States and many, many more.

The displays will also feature large and small pieces of furniture, guns, pewter, glass, silver, brass and other antique pieces as well as old carnival glass which, though not considered antique, are a fad this year with buyers.

Mrs. Zida Artrip, lecturer and consultant on shells and fossils, will demonstrate the painstaking work of restoring marine "antiques." Mrs. Artrip, owner of the Nautilus Shell Shop, is also a poet of some renown.

Proceeds from the show will be used to complete the club's pledge to the planned General Hospital of Virginia Beach which will construct and furnish the new hospital's chapel.

The show will be open from noon to 10 p.m. through Saturday and from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Beach Guide
To Go Abroad

VIRGINIA BEACH—"The Virginia Beach Guide," published during the summer months by the Chamber of Commerce, has been selected as one of about 180 guide magazines to be placed in U. S. Travel Service offices throughout the world.

The offices are located in London, Paris, Frankfurt, Rome, Sao Paulo, Bogota, Mexico City, Sydney and Tokyo.

The 180 magazines are represented by Guide Magazines Group which includes similar publications in other parts of the U. S., Canada and Latin America.

Robert F. Black, president of the organization in a recent letter to "Virginia Beach Guide" editor Roy LeMere quoted U. S. Travel Service deputy Paul Jehman as saying, "your publications are one of the most valuable pieces of literature we can provide in our overseas offices for potential visitors. Besides being topical and timely, they contain a wealth of information and maps of the locale the traveler will visit while in America."

LeMere said Wednesday, he had been assured that the guide would also be distributed next year in the offices of the U. S. Dept. of Commerce throughout the U. S. and the world.

The Virginia Beach Guide last month was chosen to receive the Guide Magazine Group award as "Guide of the Month" next July.

Mrs. R. L. Counselman (left) and Mrs. W. C. Powell, members of the Princess Anne Woman's Club, show the authentic period costumes they will wear at the opening of the club's Antiques Show today.

Independence Boulevard
Plans Draw Criticism

VIRGINIA BEACH—The proposed eastern leg of Independence Boulevard as it is now planned received strong criticism at a joint meeting of the Bayside Businessmen's Association and the Thoroughgood Civic League Tuesday night.

Opposition to the route was confined to a proposed stretch which would pass in front of Thoroughgood and connect with Pleasure House Road.

This section of the route would be the eastern part of a "Y" type of extension considered by the city planning commission as the most feasible way of extending the road through the Robbins Corner area while preserving business there.

Planning Director F. Mason Gamage and Public Works Director Richard Webbon explained that the only portion of the proposed boulevard route definite at this time is the area in which the city already owns the 100-foot wide right of way. That is primarily in the new Pembroke Manor development or along the city's existing Bayside Road, part of which will become Independence Boulevard.

The two city officials appeared before some 75 persons in the Robbins Corner and Thoroughgood areas who questioned the need for the eastern leg of the route.

L. Charles Burlage, a Thoroughgood resident and civic leader, voiced approval of the major part of the proposed road but opposed placing more traffic in front of Thoroughgood.

"We already have too much," he said. Plans for the boulevard are considered to have been an important factor in the recent decision of Sears Roebuck & Co. to build a new store at Virginia Beach Boulevard near Pembroke.

Gamage noted, however, that planning for the road was begun two years ago, long before Sears announced its plans.

Webbon said he doesn't believe the proposed routing of Independence at Robbins Corner will hurt business there or in the Bayside area. He predicts it will help because it will be the major north-south highway in the city. The only north-south corridor on the western side of the Lynnhaven is the outdated and heavily traveled Bayside Road, he noted.

Garland Layton, president of the Bayside Businessmen's Association and Lyman H. Stone, president of the Thoroughgood league, received assurances from the city officials that the suggestions of residents and businessmen would be taken into consideration before the final plan is drawn.

VFWC Meet

Kellam Discusses New Industry In State

"Virginia gets most of her income from agriculture, industry, and the tourist trade—and I've never heard of any conflict among them," Sidney S. Kellam, Chairman of the Board of Directors, Tidewater Virginia Development Council, told the more than 300 clubwomen who were in Williamsburg October 16th for the 41st annual fall meeting of Tidewater District, Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Speaking on the afternoon program, "What's New In Virginia?", he called attention to Virginia's increasing success in attracting new industries (445 new plants acquired between 1950 and 1962; 50 new plants, plus 50 additions to existing installations, in the past 12 months) and gave credit for this progress to Virginia's people, Virginia's type of government, and the cooperation that both state and local governments give industries who come into the state.

While noting that "certain areas in Virginia—among them, Virginia Beach and Williamsburg—may not particularly want any more smoke stacks," Kellam emphasized the importance of local adjustments to present-day conditions, since it will require state wide cooperation if more new industries are wanted. To illustrate advantages they bring, he pointed out that a plant employing 100 factory workers means a yearly income of $710,000.00—and "every time we bring in another plant, we're cutting down on our future taxes." Also, he said, there are today many areas in Virginia with no unemployment, as a result of increased industrial development.

He said plans "under consideration include transferring support of Virginia's Division of Motor Vehicles and State Police from the Highway Commission to the "General Fund" freeing those funds for use on highway construction.

"This next General Assembly must find funds to take care of these urgent needs in Tidewater," Ames emphasized.

The meeting's morning session was devoted to business and included addresses by Mrs. Giles C. Engledove, president; Mrs. Alvah E. Riggins, 1st vice-president; Mrs. W. A. Watson, III, 3rd vice-president and Mrs. Cam Farmer, state chairman, Permanent Headquarters Fund.

GIRLS INJURED IN PLAZA CRASH

PLAZA—Five girls were injured Tuesday as a result of a traffic accident in which a car jumped the curb near which they were standing and plunged into their midst.

Police gave the names of the injured girls as Mary Withen, 12, Sandra Hartless, 14, Debbie Kemp, 12, Lynn Shray, 14 and Patsy Blanton, 12, all of Virginia Beach.

The Withen girl suffered a broken leg and abrasions about the body. She was taken to Portsmouth Naval Hospital where her condition Wednesday was described as "good." The other four girls received bruises and abrasions about the body.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Rain Tree Rd. and Basin St. near Princess Anne Plaza. According to police a 1956 Chevrolet driven east on Rain Tree Rd. by Arthur H. Wahl of 347 Crossett St., Virginia Beach, was completely into the intersection when it was struck in the left rear by a Ford sedan driven by Mrs. Pauline D. Jones.

Following the crash Wahl's car was knocked into the group of girls near the southeast corner of the intersection, police said.

Mrs. Jones, a housewife, of 428 Hannibla St., Virginia Beach was driving south on Basin St. when the crash occurred. She has been charged with failing to yield the right of way.

The crash was investigated by patrolman J. M. Hughes of Virginia Beach Police.

16 In Junior
Miss Finals

VIRGINIA BEACH—Sixteen local girls will compete in the finals of the Virginia Beach Junior Miss Pageant, sponsored by the Princess Anne Junior Chamber of Commerce, Saturday at 8 p.m. at Princess Anne High School.

The entrants will be judged for talent and their appearance in sportswear and evening dress. They will be judged for personality at an informal gathering with the judges prior to the pageant.

The Junior Miss title winner will compete in the State competition at Roanoke in November. If she wins there, she will represent the state in the National Contest at Mobile, Ala. in March.

Tickets for the Pageant may be obtained from any Jaycee of Jay-C-Elite, at the Virginia Beach or Princess Anne High School offices or at the door. Admission is 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Entrants for the pageant are: Marianne VanNieuwenhuise, Sandra Ann Nipper, Linda Kay Pearman, Patsy Roach, Elaine Rosendaal, Darlene Wilber, Nancy Kay Williams, Clara Kestias, Christine Hemming, Judith Carol Martin, Sandra Exon, Maureen Craft, Jan Darlin Bozarth, Sharon Jane Braun, Diane Burbank Britton and Barbara Flowers.

Local Student
Honored At R-M

Carolyn Perry Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Richardson, 208 53rd St., has been selected to participate in a unique "Freshman Colloquium" at Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

Thirty-three of the College's most outstanding Freshmen were chosen for the course, which is designed to provide a challenging academic situation emphasizing independent study and the examination of ideas through group discussion.

The course replaces Freshman English for the selected students. It is divided into two sections, with three faculty members from different departments in each. The main topic this year is "Contemporary Images of Man" as viewed by scientists, psychologists, anthropologists, and so on.

College officials hope that the course will bridge in some measure the gaps between the several academic disciplines—especially those between the sciences and the humanities.

PRAYER RETREAT SLATED

VIRGINIA BEACH—The W.M.S. of the First Baptist Church is planning a Prayer Retreat for Monday, November 4th from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

This retreat is for all members of the W.M.S. and their guests (either prospects or inactive members).

A retreat is God-centered and provides time and opportunity, individually and as a group, to withdraw to pray, meditate, search the Scriptures—to be still and know God.

Jaycees And Sports Club Plan Beach Bowl

When a truck pulled up to deliver a ton and a half of old newspapers to help raise funds for the new General Hospital of Virginia Beach, hospital auxiliary members Mrs. R. S. Wahab and Mrs. Preston Hix wondered if they were seeing things. The truckload, largest contribution so far to the auxiliary's paper drive, was collected by members of the Teen Club at County View Mobile Court and delivered by Carl Ridgway who volunteered his truck. Left to right are: Mrs. Wahab, Mrs. Hix, Eddie Brock, Thomas and Peter Ballweg, Eddie Every and Ridgway. Bundles of old newspapers may be brought to the collection station at 33rd and Atlantic Ave. Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. through N. v. (Baldwin photo)

Thoughts turn to wool garments as the weather begins to get cool. Woolens will last longer and their appearance will be neater if they are cared for properly. Some tips on how to get maximum life and attractiveness from these garments are:

First, notice the way the garment is placed in the closet. Hang it on a well-shaped hanger so the contour of the garment falls into place. Allow enough space in the closet for the garment to hang free. This avoids unnecessary wrinkles.

Air woolens frequently by placing them near an open window or on an outside clothes line. This makes the fabric "bounce back" and have a fresh, new look. Brush away dust particles often.

Rotate wool wearing apparel to give it at least 24-hour rest periods. This allows the garment to return to its original shape.

One of the most important things to do in care of garments is to read the labels and follow the manufacturer's instructions for care. Some garments must be dry cleaned, but new developments have made some woolens washable.

Regardless of the method recommended it is always advisable to wash or dry clean the garment before it becomes too soiled. Pay particular attention to collars and cuffs, and clean as soon as they show soil.

Wool garments will need frequent pressings, and special procedures should be followed. Steam and a press cloth are always necessary when pressing wool. A steam iron with the temperature control set for wool is the easiest way to get the steam.

If a steam iron is not available or if additional steam is needed, use a dampened press cloth. Place a piece of wool next to the garment and then a dampened piece of cheese cloth or other lightweight cotton material.

When pressing, use a lifting and lowering motion of the iron. Moisture should never be applied directly to the garment and the iron should never be placed directly on the garment.

Watch carefully for any needed repairs. Check for buttons or any fasteners needed and darn or patch holes and stitch rips as soon as possible.

If you are interested in sewing and particularly in wool fabrics, a Better Dress Workshop will begin Thursday, October 31. This class will be for the experienced sewer who would like to know more about working with wool and also about such techniques as bound button holes, interfacing, linings and finishes for wool.

Please contact the Extension Service Office (340-8030 or 426-2521 Ext. 6) if you are interested in registering for the class or would like more information.

Thalia Garden Clubbers Learn Fundamentals

THALIA — "Arrangements and Design" was the topic at the October meeting of the Thalia Garden Club, held recently at the Thalia Methodist Church in Virginia Beach, by Mrs. Malcolm Todd, guest speaker.

Mrs. Todd stressed the point that "After you establish your line follow it". That the three essentials in every arrangement are line, target and filler.

Hostesses were Mrs. Graydon Earl, Mrs. C. R. Maples and Mrs. D. S. Williard.

Mrs. F. B. Bromley was welcomed as a new member to the club.

Ribbon winners in the Artistic Arrangements class were Mrs. N. P. Amato, Mrs. E. K. Eakes, and Mrs. Williard.

In the Horticulture class ribbon winners were Mrs. A. T. Castleman, Mrs. J. D. Matthews, Mrs. W. C. Moore and Mrs. R. S. White.

Mrs. H. O. Freeman, Chairman Ways and Means gave a progress report on the Christmas Bazaar to be held November 16th, at the Thalia Elementary School, from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M.

Part of the proceeds from the bazaar will be used for the annual scholarships to sponsor two girls to send to the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs Nature Camp, located in the mountains at Vesuvius near Afton, Virginia.

LINLIER CLUB TO HOLD PLANT SALE

The October meeting of the Linlier Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. J. B. James, 864 Winnwood Drive.

The club voted to sponsor a sale of camellia and azalea plants on November 8th at Bowden's Nursery on Virginia Beach Boulevard, Route 58A, near London Bridge.

The club also decided to participate in Contact Incorporated, which is being sponsored by clubs in Virginia Beach in connection with visiting Convalescent Homes.

Bird slides were shown by Mrs. L. E. Burford.

Arrangements were brought by Mrs. J. H. Doyle, Jr., Mrs. R. L. Branch and Mrs. F. L. Fentress.

Horticultural specimens were brought by Mrs. W. A. Wood III and Mrs. F. L. Fentress.

FULCHER-TILLMAN
VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. Shanklin S. Fulcher of Thalia Manor announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Fulcher, to Billy L. Tillman.

Mr. Tillman is the son of Mrs. Earl Wilkerson of Falls Church and the late Billy L. Tillman of Columbia, Va.

Miss Fulcher graduated from Virginia Beach High School and attended Patricia Stevens Finishing School in Washington, D.C., and Chicago. She is employed by the L. E. Myers Co.

Mr. Tillman graduated from high school in Frankfurt, Germany, and attended Virginia Polytechnic Institute where he was a member of Delta Kappa Sigma social fraternity. He is associated with the Edward Don & Co., Chicago.

A November wedding will take place in Thalia Methodist Church.

DAR HOLDS GUEST TEA

LYNNHAVEN — The Princess Anne County Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution held their guest day tea Saturday October 12 at the Eastern Shore Chapel. Eighteen guests were present. Mrs. Owea Moore, Jr., regent, introduced the guest speaker, Dr. G. William Whitehurst, Dean of Students at Old Dominion College.

Dr. Whitehurst gave a most interesting lecture on communism the world over.

Mrs. Marian Rawls of the Fort Nelson Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution presented several very enjoyable recitations. Mrs. William Joy gave the invocation. Mrs. Mary Schuster led the salute to the flag and the American's Creed. Mrs. Rawls played the piano for the members and guest to sing the Star Spangled Banner. Afterwards these present were invited to the tea table.

Cotton Council Suggests Fall Wardrobe For School

Signs of fall in the air mean one thing to mothers... time to plan back-to-school wardrobes. Since children seem to shoot up several inches every summer, new outfits for school can be as necessary as new books.

If you're shopping for little girls, the National Cotton Council suggests the following basic wardrobe additions:

1. Several dark cotton dresses. Plaids, calicoes, and madras types are all good this year.
2. A wide wale corduroy jumper, or a corduroy skirt and jacket. Either choice has mix and match possibilities.
3. Two or three blouses. For variety, choose a striped cotton knit, a gay provincial print, and a solid-color broadcloth.
4. If it's time for a new school coat, look for an all-weather cotton poplin coat with zip-in piling.
5. A party dress is another optional outfit. Your best and most fashion-right buy: a Pastel-colored velveteen frock with relaxed

A-line silhouette.

In dark cottons, plaids and prints are especially good buys because they don't show wrinkles or stains. Many are treated with wrinkle-resistant and stain-repellent finishes to further prolong the garment's wear life. Food and oily stains can be blotted away from new stain-repellent finishes which are not affected by repeated washings.

Mix and match outfits are also excellent choices for back to school, because they cut down on wardrobe needs. To help your little girl develop a sense of taste in clothes, buy color-coordinated separates, and let her mix and match them herself.

This fall, the most popular fabric choice for separates is wide wale cotton corduroy. This sturdy, washable fabric is used for jumpers, reversible wrap skirts, pleated and A-line skirts, and weskit vests.

Children usually like bright, happy colors, so the color chart for fall should appeal to your youngster.

Vivid berry tones are the most stylish colors. For example, cranberry red and blueberry blue are tops. Favorites among muted shades are dark olive green and new browned greens. Gray and navy are grown-up colors that are increasingly popular in children's wear.

From first grade to junior high, the best clothing investments for back-to-school wardrobes are washable, simply cut garments that will take months of hard wear in stride. New classroom cottons rate A's on all points.

PERFECT FORMULA—For back-to-school wardrobes, dark cotton plaids move to the head of the class. A-lined for top performance are these big and little sister versions, styled with contrasting Peter Pan collar and cuffs, elbow-length sleeves. Pearl buttons and corded accent the waist. By Cinderella.

CLASSROOM COTTONS—Off to school for that first big day, sisters wear hand-in-hand fashions of Peppercorn denim chambray in a new fall color—smoke-rose. The three-piece dresses feature low-slung rope belts, A-line skirts, and striped blouses. By R.A.R.—Moppets.

Girl Thinks She's Old Enough To Have Company

ARE YOU EXPECTING COMPANY? WE'RE OLD ENOUGH

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 15 years old. A friend of mine lives in another state. She came to see me. We talked about lots of things and then she asked me if I was expecting company. I said, 'no.' Then she told me we were old enough to have company. I told her I thought I was too young. My mother said I was too young, also. Right or wrong?"

OUR REPLY: Don't be in a hurry to have company and to get aboard the dating merry-go-round. Your mother is right and so are you. Don't concern yourself with what others do.

There is a pretty standard argument teenagers give when their parents tell them they are too young to have dates or go steady. It goes something like this, "Why not? Jeane and Jill have dates and they are no older than I am." This is no argument. Maybe Jeane and Jill have dates without their parents being aware of the fact. Maybe their parents know it and don't care. This is a sad state of affairs. This writer is unable to understand how a teenager can be happy with the knowledge that his or her parents just don't care what they do, or what happens to them.

Most parents do care, fortunately, and that is why one of the biggest problems a teenager faces is becoming "old enough" to date with parental approval.

At fifteen, a girl is old enough to go to parties and socials that are properly chaperoned. Whether she is old enough to have "dates" is another question entirely.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, FRANKFORD,

The Big Push Is On

The big push for $1,618,221 is underway. This means the annual United Communities Fund campaign that was kicked off on Monday. The UCF serves agencies of Norfolk, Virginia Beach and East Chesapeake.

As the area served by the UCF grows so grows the total number of dollars needed each year to support the many agencies of the UCF. And, in keeping with the progress of this great area the goal this year is the largest in the illustrious history of the area-wide UCF.

Volunteer workers are out in force canvassing the many business establishments and homes in the area. The job is a thankless one but one that must be done and these workers are laboring for all of us. Their task can be made easier with the elimination of "call backs" which are time consuming. Each individual doing his part for the UCF campaign should be prepared to give or make a pledge on the first call by a volunteer worker. And, should a person be missed they should make their contribution to the UCF headquarters.

The drive is scheduled to close on November 1 at which time a "victory" dinner will be held. The UCF has never failed to reach or surpass its goal. We know that this year's drive will be no exception. If everyone does his fair share the success of the UCF drive is assured. Be prepared to do your part.

The Water Question Seems Near Settlement . . . But

The water question or problem that has existed these many months between Norfolk and Virginia Beach seems quite close to settlement, but we wonder, in looking back, why there ever existed a question in the first place.

There was little Virginia Beach could do about the matter since Norfolk City controls the supply. Had not Norfolk cut off this supply to some areas of Virginia Beach the selfishness of the problem would never have reached the proportion that it did during the ensuing months.

Since a problem was created over the question of water we are glad that it is finally reaching a settlement so that the entire area may move ahead without further delay. The water question had begun to hurt the area and it certainly has not benefited the City of Norfolk. In fact, denying water to newly developed areas of Virginia Beach during these many months has cost the Norfolk taxpayer money. We are happy that the whole affair is about to be settled.

It appears now that the settlement may be short-lived since it covers the next five years. Time passes quickly and we hope that the new cities of Virginia Beach and Chesapeake will not wait until the end of that period to begin thinking of a future water supply or that an agreement with Norfolk can be affected well ahead of the five year period.

It is good to see the problem solved, but again we say there should never have been any "water trouble" between the cities.

VNB Report Given Award

NORFOLK—Virginia National Bank's 1963 Annual Report to Shareholders has been named to receive an Oscar-of-Industry Award in this year's Annual Report Survey sponsored by FINANCIAL WORLD, the nation's oldest business and financial weekly. The award is for distinguished achievement in annual reporting.

The award will be presented at the Annual Awards Banquet on October 30, in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton at Rockefeller Center. Senator Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona will make the principal address at the function.

Approximately 1,000 business, industrial and financial leaders, their associates, wives and friends from throughout the United States and Canada will be in New York for the annual awards presentations.

Only 12 of the nation's 14,000 banks have been named to receive awards in the four banking categories. Virginia National's report placed third among all national banks in the United States with deposits of under 300 million dollars. The report covered the 1962 activities of National Bank of Commerce prior to its consolidation with Peoples National Bank of Charlottesville, Virginia and change of name to Virginia National Bank. Deposits of National Bank of Commerce average 179 million during 1962.

Announced deposits of Virginia National totaled more than $23 million on September 13, 1963.

Virginia National Bank has received seven successive annual Merit Awards from the FINANCIAL WORLD Annual Report Survey. However, this is the first time the bank's report has received recognition in the final judging to determine the best reports in various industrial categories. Copies of the Annual Report, with other winners, will be exhibited throughout the country.

Reports were selected on the basis of content, design and typography by experts in the field of finance and graphic arts. Chairman of the awards jury which made the selections is Dr. Joseph H. Taggart, executive dean of the Schools of Business, New York University. Other members are Gerald L. Wilstead, president, New York Society of Security Analysts, Inc.; Ivan Chernyavsky, president, American Institute of Graphic Arts; Rudolph C. Lawrence, vice president, New York Stock Exchange, and Charles M. Sievert, financial-business columnist, New York World Telegram and Sun. In addition, 27 investment analysts from the New York Society also served on the panel.

The report is illustrated by photographs of early and modern Norfolk. One of the most interesting is an 1867 photograph of the Main Street area and Commercial Place, the center of business activity in Norfolk at that time. This was the year National Bank of Commerce, predecessor of Virginia National Bank, began. Chartered as The Peoples Bank the initial capital was $50,000.

The Virginia National report was prepared by Noma Brice, assistant cashier and James D. Ballard, Atlantic National Advertising Agency.

Thalia School Carnival Set For Oct. 26th

THALIA—Thalia Elementary School will be the scene of the annual "Carnival" sponsored by the Thalia PTA on Saturday, October 26th, from 11 A.M. to 5 P.M.

Mrs. Donald Harvey, Carnival Chairman will be assisted by the following chairmen: Mrs. R. D. Fasig, Mrs. L. E. Jalbert, Mrs. James Spargos, Mrs. F. W. McFarlane, and Mrs. C. E. Stratton.

The seventh grade students participated in a "Poster" contest advertising the "Carnival" and first prize was awarded to Carolyn Carrier for her poster "Let's Buy Books" and "Come to the Carnival motif". Second prize went to Scott Denham; and two third prizes to Sandy Marchione and Mike Moss.

The Carnival this year will feature many outdoor activities, such as bowling, the fish pond, a fortune teller tent, the game of Ring Toss, the game of Pitch The Penny and horse shoes.

Also held outside will be the Balloon Basket contest, the Candy Man, Bean Bag and Clown Toss, Popcorn Rides, Popcorn Machine and a Cotton Candy Machine.

A raffle will be held and the winning donor will receive either a girls or boys bicycle as first prize; a croquet set as second prize; and for the third prize, a combination volley and badminton set.

Hot dogs, barbeque, cole slaw and potato sticks will be served all through the day.

Booths will be decorated by room mothers and room teachers with crepe paper and streamers.

A nursery will be available for young children free of charge.

The Bake Sale will feature home made goodies, cookies, cakes, candies, layercakes and cupcakes.

In the large cafeteria will be the "White Elephant" Booth, and many bargains will be on hand for sale. The Post Office will feature inexpensive items for sale from various states, an especially interesting feature for the children.

There will be a movie, doll contest, bingo, cake-walk, pep-student novelties booth with grab bags and novelties for sale.

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

I thought that the do-it-yourself craze had just about worked itself out until I picked up the New York Times Magazine last Sunday and read an ad about a little gem recently published. Title of this book? "How to Get a Divorce." Aint that nice? Now they publish books to let people know how to go about it. I'm sure the ministers are crazy about such books, and I'm certain that the American Bar Association has about flipped. Lawyers will now have to contend with people who have read the book and will want to tell them how to go about their business.

The ad for this family-smasher states that if you order it that it will be mailed in a plain wrapper, and labeled "Educational Material." I'll bet it will! If I decided to order this little number, I would certainly want it to arrive in a plain wrapper. Puts me in mind of some of the things I used order when I was a boy. They arrived in plain wrappers too, and I imagine that the contents are about the same. I dunno what you used to do with them, but I used to hide them under the mattress and hope that my Mother wouldn't find them.

I guess the member of the family who orders the present book will want to hide it also. I suggest, however, that under the mattress isn't a safe place.

I sort of object to the fact that the wrapper is labeled "Educational Materials." I don't know whether this book meets educational standards or not. Besides, the children might open it in the hope that it was a new Walt Disney book and get the wrong idea.

I have about decided that this latest book is THE END. I know that it isn't, though. Any day now some ol' guy will come up with a book entitled, "How To Give Yourself an Appendectomy." This will not only be shipped in a plain wrapper, but will come complete with a knife, and sewing needle.

The worst part of it is that someone will buy the book and try to follow the instructions. In case they are interested, they better check the packing slip. Every time I've tried to follow instructions that come by mail, I discover that some vital piece is missing.

Chief Johnson Warns Of Halloween Hazards

"Halloween is just around the corner, and the traffic goblins will get you if you don't watch out!"

This isn't an idle threat from the kindergarten set, it's a deadly serious warning from Chief Reeves E. Johnson of the Virginia Beach Safety Bureau.

"Sure, I believe in goblins," Chief Johnson said today as he discussed the dangers that lurk in Virginia Beach streets on Halloween. "But don't get me wrong. I'm not talking about the spooks that bring scared squeals from the youngsters. The goblins I fear are the traffic goblins who victimize unwary kids as they go about their 'haunting' on Halloween."

The Chief spoke in support of the Night Traffic Hazards program which the Virginia Beach Safety Bureau is conducting during October.

Chief Johnson pointed out that youngsters are likely to let rules go by the board in the excitement of scaring and being scared on Halloween. He said many of the child fatalities and injuries that occur on this holiday are caused by youngsters dashing out into the street, often dressed in

MRS. MARY J. WERLE
VIRGINIA BEACH—Mrs. Mary Juell Werle, 97, of 9912 Rumford Lane, Thalia, wife of Navy Cmdr. Joseph F. Werle Jr. and daughter of Benjamin and Mrs. Pearl Baker Costigan, died Saturday in Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

A native of Shepherdsville, Ky., she lived in this area three years.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Misses Donna Marie Richardson, Mary Jeanne Werle and Sandra Jo Werle, and three sons, Nicholas J. Werle, Christopher P. Werle and Joseph P. Werle III, all of Virginia Beach; four sisters, Mrs. Virginia Boyd, Mrs. Viola Brewer, Mrs. Lottie Boyd and Mrs. Marge Keith; and a brother, Roy Owens, all of Kentucky, Ky.

The body was taken from H. D. (Home) Funeral Apartments for a funeral service at St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Burial was in Rosewood Memorial Park.

THOMAS LESTER SR.
VIRGINIA BEACH — Thomas Lester Sr., 73, of Sandbridge Road died Monday at noon at 8932 Virginia Beach Blvd. after illness of three months.

A native of Brooklyn, he was a son of Thomas and Mrs. Agnes Brash Lester and husband of the late Mrs. Margaret Allen Lester.

He was a member of Sylvan Grove, N. Y., Masonic Lodge and lived in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach 26 years. He was a retired carpenter.

Surviving are two sons, Thomas Lester Jr. of San Diego, Calif., and Allen Lester of Virginia Beach; two brothers, Alfred Lester and Steve Lester of Chicago; and nine grandchildren.

A funeral service was conducted in Graham Funeral Home, Chesapeake, Wednesday at 2 p.m. by C. L. Longenecker of First Church Christ, Scientist, Virginia Beach, which he attended. Burial was in Willow Wood Cemetery, Virginia Beach.

Gavitt New Commander Of USS Wilson

PHILA., Pa.—Commander Kenneth W. Gavitt, of Virginia Beach, has assumed command of the destroyer USS ROBERT L. WILSON (DD 847).

He relieved Lieutenant Commander Armen Chertavian in ceremonies on October 16 aboard the ship at the Philadelphia Naval Base. Chertavian, who held temporary command during the last three months, will assume permanent duties as the ship's executive officer.

Commander Gavitt, a veteran of 23 years' Naval service, was ordered to WILSON from the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, U. S. Atlantic Fleet. His previous assignments also include command of the destroyer escort USS JOSEPH K. TAUSIG, and Commander Mine Division FORTY THREE.

Commander Gavitt is married to the former Lillian McDeasid, of Great Bridge, Va., and is the son of Mrs. Louis Gavitt, of Wakefield, R. I. The Gavitts presently reside with their two children in Virginia Beach.

Lieutenant Commander Chertavian is married to the former Miss Janet Dancausa, of Lowell, Mass. They and their son reside in Stratford, N. J.

WILSON arrived in Philadelphia on March 1, 1963, to undergo an extensive overhaul. She will be homeported in Norfolk upon completion of the overhaul next month.

Seahawks' Point For Cox Game

Frederick To Face Catawba In Beach Bowl

VIRGINIA BEACH—Frederick College will meet Catawba College at Princess Anne High School Stadium Saturday, Nov. 9 in the second annual Virginia Beach Bowl.

The game is also played as a memorial to the late Coach Bill MacDonald, Frederick College's first coach. A memorial trophy will be awarded to the game's outstanding player.

Tickets for the game are available at Coaches Sporting Goods on Pacific Ave. Prices are $2.50 reserved and $2.00 general admission.

COX vs. HAWKS HERE THIS WEEK

VIRGINIA BEACH—Virginia Beach's Seahawks meet newcomer Cox High School Friday night in the Virginia Beach stadium and the contest will be the big Homecoming game for the Hawks.

Cox, in its first year of varsity competition, has given a good account of itself. Last week they tied Kecoughtan 6-6 and earlier defeated Kallam, another new member, by a 12-7 score.

The Hawks, co-defending champions of the district, have lost only once and that was to Group One Ferguson in the first game of the season. Otherwise, they have rolled over five foes since that time.

The Seahawks feature a dazzling offense with Chris Haney, the district's leading scorer, as the big running threat. He is quarterbacked by Rick Nolan, one of the district's prep field generals in the state.

Lack of reserve strength is probably the Seahawks biggest weakness. Game time Friday is 8 p.m.

TOP HORSES ENTERED IN P. A. RACE MEET

LONDON BRIDGE—The fifth annual Princess Anne Race Meet will be held at Aldo Farm just South of London Bridge Sunday afternoon with the first race scheduled to go to the post at two o'clock. Added to the usual races will be a registered quarter horse race which has already drawn entries from all over Virginia and North Carolina.

Quarter horse racing, once the popular sport of Colonial Virginia has been revived in recent years and now these compact speedy horses are being bred and trained just for these events. The name is derived from the fact that these horses are the fastest in the world at one quarter of a mile. At this distance they are faster than thoroughbreds.

The annual feature race if the meet is the Tidewater Derby which this year has drawn some of the finest thoroughbreds from Northern Virginia training farms. Five thoroughbreds all of which have raced successfully on the major tracks are expected to go postward. Jockeys will be in the racing silks of their training stables. A. T. Taylor, owner of Aldo Farm, will have one of his experienced campaigners entered and this entry should be the favorite of local horsemen.

One of the most colorful races of the afternoon, as always, will be the Princess Anne Hunt, a one mile race for hunters, in which the riders will be dressed in full hunting attire, pink coats and all. This year's race shapes up as a duel between Railing, the winner of the event in 1960 and 1961, which is owned by Stanton Wilson, the Master of Fox Hounds of the James River Hunt; and June Queen, the mare which won last year and which is owned and to be ridden by Gerry Ashburn of Great Neck Stables. Completing the seven race card will be a pony race, and open race for western horses, a ladies race, for thoroughbreds at three furlongs, and a ladies western race. The placing judges will be K. C. Johnson, John S. Gregory, and Paul W. Kear, all ex-masters of fox hounds of the old Princess Anne Hunt which has been revived this year on the old Carleton Farm on Nimmo Rd. Stewards will be Richard Woodward of Suffolk, V. Alfred Etheridge, F. S. Royster, and A. T. Taylor, Racing Secretary and Clerk of the Course will be Richard B. Keeley. Timer will be Miss Antoinette Darden of Suffolk, and Patrol Judges will be Robert Brown and Matt Davis. Starters will be Ralph A. Midgett, Jr. and Shafter Williams.

"Subi," owned by A. T. Taylor, is pictured at Shenandoah Downs with jockey Joseph French. Subi is one of the favorites to run at the Princess Anne Race Meet Sunday.

P.A. Golfers Enter Bermuda Winter Event

HAMILTON, Bermuda—The Princess Anne Country Club of Virginia Beach has entered a four-man team in the 11th annual International Goodwill Golf Tournament here Dec. 6-8.

Assistant Professional Tom Kernan and three club members will be competing in a record field of almost 100 teams from the United States, England, Canada, Scotland, Barbados and Bermuda.

Scheduled to make the trip with Kernan are Roy R. Charles and James G. Parke, both of Norfolk, and Albert Kouri of 125 Crystal Lake Drive, Virginia Beach.

The Goodwill is a 72-hole tournament in which the pro and his amateur partners establish a best-ball score for each hole.

Princess Anne last competed in the event in 1961.

Another team entered from Virginia is the Country Club of Virginia in Richmond.

On Dec. 7, Kernan and the other professionals will compete in a separate tournament—the Goodwill Professional Championship.

Senior Tennis Meet At Capes This Weekend

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Tidewater men's senior tennis championships will be held at the Capes Motel courts here this weekend.

Tournament chairman Dr. Frank Wells announced Tuesday that play will start Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Any man who will be 45 by Dec. 31, 1963 is eligible to compete, Dr. Wells said. Balls will be furnished and trophies will be awarded the winners and runners-up. No early entry is required. Contestants may enter by arriving at the courts by 1 Saturday.

The tournament will conclude Sunday. Play will be supervised by Capes pro Milton Abbot, who recently conducted the State senior championships here.

1961 and Lewis Dillon, International Counsellor, who was an officer in the Southside Lions Club at the time, and was the "father" of the Bayside Club, both talked about the history of the club.

Dr. Tom Royer, first president of the club was among the guests. Seven charter members still in the club were presented Lion Emblems—George Lyon, Mac Wilkins, Gene Caldwell, Ivan Mapp, Hugh Barnes, Bill Slade and Dick Dunaja. Thirty-two members of the club were awarded 100% attendance pins.

Dist. Governor Perry inducted two new members, Vernon Bryan and Sam Martinette. He gave the club an interesting talk about the work of Lions Clubs throughout the world. There are now over 700,000 men in Lions Clubs located in 122 countries or geographic locations. According to Perry in the month of August 73 new clubs were chartered. The Dist. Governor said that over 340,000 activities have been reported with countless others which have not been reported during the years that Lionism has been active.

View Of Virginia Beach

By Doris Padrick

You have passed by many times as you drove along Virginia Beach Boulevard, and no doubt have planned to stop in sometime to "see what it is like."

The sign proudly proclaims ROSE HALL. Circa 1720, Lynnhaven, do you know it is of historical nature... but it also reads Shops for the Ladies and their Daughters, which adds an elegant modern touch.

Rose Hall was one of the original plantations of the Tidewater area. Construction of the manor house was begun long before its 1720 date, and it was built almost entirely from materials at hand produced and grown on its over a thousand acres. Self-supporting and prosperous, this historical site portrays today the gracious Queen Anne period of Virginia's history and it has furnishings from that period.

Carpentry was not a trade then, therefore houses were put together in the same fashion as sailing vessels, with the flooring tied into a keel. No subflooring was used and light shines through the cracks in the floor.

With the passage of time and the everchanging progress of modern ideas, its acreage has shrunk considerably, yet its still productive farmland is leased and crops are grown.

Colin and Mary Studds bought Rose Hall in 1954, they being its fifth owner, and they have painstakingly restored much of its original charm. Mr. Studds is understandably proud of his home, and will entertain you with its history—both fact and legend. He is a gracious host to all visitors.

He is equally pleased with the acceptance from fashion-minded women of the area of the dress shop which has expanded greatly in just a few years.

In the cellar of the original manor house is found sportswear and maternity clothes—quite a change for its use as a prison during the Revolutionary and Civil Wars. The walls are thick with brick and masonry but the bars of the windows have long since been removed. There are two fireplaces. One is restored to its original use, and the other often contains blouses hanging on a pole inserted within!

A wing was added a few years ago, and just recently another wing completed their expansion program. Now ladies, their teenage daughters, sub-teen daughters, and even pre-school girls can be outfitted from inside out and from head to toe. It is a complete one-stop fashion store.

While high fashion and one-of-a-kind gowns are a feature of this unique ladies shop, there are also many selections that are moderate in price.

Whether you come to absorb historical nostalgia or to look for a fashionable outfit, you should make Rose Hall a must on your list of places of interest to visit in Virginia Beach.

AN INVITATION — There are many historical sites, interesting areas, unusual businesses, outstanding personalities, and humorous facts that YOU may know about and would like to see written up in this column. Feel free to drop a suggestion in the mail or call the Sun-News, I will be most happy to hear from you.

CONCERT TICKETS

VIRGINIA BEACH — Tickets for the Norfolk Symphony Concert to be presented here Sunday, Nov. 3, will go on sale at local schools next week. The concert, conducted by Edgar Schenkman, will be presented at 3:30 p.m. at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center.

Tickets are priced at 75 cents for children and $1.50 for adults. The tickets may be purchased Tuesday by children at Linkhorn Park, W. T. Cooke and Country Day School for Girls.

On Wednesday they may be bought at John B. Dey and Trantwood elementary schools, Virginia Beach High School, Friends and Everett.

Knight Going To WMAL-TV

Fred Knight, a member of the WAVY-WAVY-TV air personality staff, has resigned his position with Tidewater Teleradio, Inc. to accept a position with WMAL AM-TV in Washington, D. C.

Knight, a native of Charlotte, North Carolina, has been associated with WAVY for the past six years. He has been an announcer on WAVY Radio and a weather reporter on Channel 10. He also portrayed the character of Captain Shipwreck on WAVY-TV.

Prior to his association with WAVY he was associated with WTAR. He attended Carlisle Military Institute and Presbyterian College, both in South Carolina. He is a graduate of the Southern School of Radio Technique, Nashville, Tennessee.

In his new post at WMAL he will appear as an air personality on both radio and television. He will do weekend weather shows on WMAL-TV.

He is married to the former Pamela Mungo of Pageland, South Carolina. The Knights' and their two children, who currently reside in Chesapeake, will take up residence in Chevy Chase, Md.

Mr. Knight will assume his duties with WMAL on November 1.

Red Cross To Conduct Water Safety Course

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced it will hold a water safety instructor's course in the near future.

The evening course, to be held at the Cavalier pool, will be open to those holding an up-to-date senior lifesaving certificate as well as to those wishing to up-date their instructor's cards.

Mrs. Nancy Betchelder, Red Cross water safety chairman, said that those interested may call 428-1902 for additional information.

It is important that those interested call promptly so we can get an idea of how many people will be enrolled, Mrs. Betchelder said.

D.E. Conference Meets At Beach High School

The new officers of the Distributive Education Club of Virginia Beach High School recently attended the area Distributive Education Club leadership conference held at Princess Anne High School. These officers are as follows: President, Scott Husted; Vice President, Mary Anne Chesley; Secretary, Betts Miller; Treasurer, Lydian Ash; Reporter-Historian, Bill Hollands; and Parliamentarian, Jo Garrington.

The conference was conducted for the purpose of acquainting the new officers with their duties and introducing each group. The evening's activities included a speech by the Princess Anne Club President, David Miller, and a dinner in the school cafeteria. From this meeting, the various clubs participating have laid the foundation for the coming year's activities and are hoping for a successful 1963-64 school season.

Recreation Dept. Program

Playgrounds Offer Many After-School Activities

Text and Photos by Bob Baldwin

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Slaying after school" used to mean a dreary time after the other kids had gone home when those who misbehaved in class had to pay for their mistakes.

But to hundreds of Virginia Beach schoolchildren it means a period of happy, vigorous physical activity provided by the afternoon playground program of the city's Dept. of Parks and Recreation.

The department maintains its afternoon program at 11 of the city's elementary schools and sponsors a variety of intramural sports at the five high schools.

Approximately 800 children participate in the program each day according to its director, W. E. Garrison, co-ordinator of health and elementary physical education.

The activities include team sports such as basketball, football and volleyball and a wide variety of new equipment provides physical exercise in many forms.

At some schools the department has installed what it calls a challenge course: a series of parallel bars, obstacles and hand ladders through which children climb and swing their way to physical fitness.

Another popular piece of equipment, to be found at most of the playgrounds, is tether-ball. The apparatus consists of a pole, about five feet in height, to which a volleyball is attached by a length of rope.

An energetic pair of youngsters, evenly matched, may spend hours swatting the ball in opposite directions in an attempt to wind the rope around the pole.

The recreation dept. employs schoolteachers to direct the playground activities in their after-school time. Each playground emphasizes particular activities according to the interest of the teacher in charge.

TAHB Women Sale Is Success

Tidewater Association of Home Builders Women's Auxiliary's monthly luncheon was held October 16th at the Admiralty Motel. Mrs. Rachel Sancillo was auctioneer for our White Elephant Sale. Proceeds will be used to send the 1964 Auxiliary president as Virginia's representative to the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago.

Ricky Doss, 4, learns how to "chin" at W. T. Cooke school.

Youngsters must climb obstacles like this to complete challenge course.

6,000 Workers Sought For Polio Shots

NORFOLK—About 6,000 volunteer workers are being sought to man the 100 "feeding stations" which will administer oral polio vaccine for the two Sabin Oral Sundays, Nov. 10 and Jan. 12.

The feeding stations will be set up at schools in Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Chesapeake. Doctors hope to reach half a million people through the program.

The plan is sponsored by the Norfolk County Medical Society, the Virginia Beach Medical Society and the Portsmouth Academy of Medicine.

A volunteer staff of about 30 persons including a doctor, a druggist, and a nurse, will process people through the clinic at each school.

Other volunteer workers will be drawn from scout troops, P-T-A members, women's and civic clubs.

The drug is taken on a cube of sugar. It is pleasant-tasting. The hours of the program for the public are from noon until 6 p.m. each of the two Sundays.

The volunteer workers, however, will operate on two shifts from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. and from 3 p.m. until 7 p.m. The two additional hours will be needed to prepare the station and to clean it up after the vaccination program is over.

Those wishing to help out should call Bob Versprille, program coordinator, at 622-9268.

General Formally Opens New Club

FORT STORY — The formal opening of Fort Story's new L-2-3 Club was held last Tuesday. Among the dignitaries invited to the ribbon-cutting ceremony were Major General John J. Lane, commanding general of the US Army Transportation Center and Fort Eustis; Colonel James W. Caughey, commanding officer of Fort Story; and Lt. Colonel Frank B. Case, commander of the 10th Transportation Battalion at Fort Story, including:

All company commanders, sergeant majors, and first sergeants were also cordially invited.

The special guests were given an opportunity to see the new club, which has been created for the use of Fort Story enlisted men, grades E-1 through E-3 exclusively.

Local Firm Gets Gov't Contract

The Defense Petroleum Supply Center, Washington, D. C., an activity of the Defense Supply Agency, announced today that the Princess Anne Petroleum Co., 1807 Highway No. 13, Virginia Beach, has been awarded a contract for $41,400 to provide 18,000 barrels of No. 6 fuel oil for the Armed Forces.

The contract was awarded after competitive, formal advertising. One hundred nineteen companies were furnished invitations to bid. Seven responded.

The Defense Petroleum Supply Center is the oil industry's biggest customer. It procures more than $1 billion worth of fuel and chemical products annually for the world-wide requirements of the Armed Forces.

Beach Man Is Kiwanis Leader

VIRGINIA BEACH — C. E. Thurston Jr. of 8808 Ocean Front, newly elected governor of Capital Kiwanis District, is attending the annual fall council meeting of Kiwanis International through Thursday in Chicago.

The gathering will train the 30 new district governors. Thurston will take office Jan. 1.

WEEKLY CROP AND LIVE-STOCK REPORT

Excellent weather conditions continued during the week, allowing farmers to make rapid progress towards completion of the fall work. Moisture conditions are adequate for most crops, but at this writing an inch of rain would be helpful to fall seeded crops.

Pasture

Pastures continue their excellent recovery of the last three weeks with conditions much improved over the summer. They are now at their best for the year.

Supplementary pastures of rye, rye grass, oats, and mixtures of the same are showing excellent growth and a few farmers are green chopping these pastures now.

New seeding of permanent pasture for horses, and beef cattle will be completed shortly.

Sweet Potatoes

The very light frost last week in some areas of the City was the cue to farmers to hurry with sweet potato harvest. A beautiful scene along Pungo Ridge, which extends from the Chesapeake Bay to North Carolina, were literally thousands of bushels of the famous Princess Anne Yam. Harvest will be completed on most farms by the week-end.

Small Grain

The seeding of oats and barley is completed with wheat expected to be completed by the end of the month. Farmers report that they are planting less acreage of wheat than last year.

Pumpkins

There is a tremendous demand for large pumpkins for use both as dessert and to scare the ghost and goblins away on Halloween. We need to know who have them for sale.

Corn

Price of corn holds stable as completion of harvest nears. A few acres are still in the field but we expect corn harvest to be completed and cover crops seeded on all farms by November 1.

Soybeans

Farmers started harvesting soybeans last week, about a week earlier than expected. Yields now vary on the limited acreage harvested. According to reports, the Hill variety is giving yields of 30 to 40 bushels per acre. Prices are declining somewhat but remain about 2.70 at the close of last week. Later varieties, Lee, Hood, Ogden, and Jackson have not ripened to point of harvest yet.

Hay

Limited supplies of hay for the winter are causing farmers to harvest crab grass, pasture clippings, and even sometimes weeds. The purchase of hay is active, especially for peanut hay. Dairy farmers should have all hay which they purchased tested for residue. Bring hay to my office.

Vegetables

Collards and Kale look especially good. They are growthy, and clear. Snap bean harvest is active with good sale prices.

Hogs

Marketing of hogs continues regardless of prices since they must go to market between 180 to 240 lbs. Prices are slow, mostly $16.50 - 18.75.

Beef Cattle

Marketing season for beef calf crop about over in organized sales. Few private treaty sales continue on late calves. Very few feeder cattle remain here as Virginia Beach is breeding area rather than feeding. Over the past years only two to three farmers feed steers. This year Chris Krahmbill, M. R. Adams, and Billy Oliver will be feeding a total of about 200 steers.

LAWN SEEDING

This fall has been an ideal time for seeding new lawns and renovating old lawns. Our department has assisted many home owners and developers by providing technical information for this work.

Lawn grass variety selection, fertilization, and maintenance of the lawn depend upon many factors. However, of all the factors which should be discussed, I believe that the most important is the type of soil. Second most important factor to be considered is shade or sunlight, and third, in order of importance is your personal likes and dislikes.

These three factors most certainly should be considered together, but fitting a grass to the soil and the location is most important. This is the area which our department has largely assisted in. One point to remember, and most often forgotten, is that you can change the grass variety to suit the soil, but you can't change the soil to fit the grass.

Another important factor to consider is the use to be made of the turf area. Naturally, you wouldn't plant the same grass on a golf green that would be planted on a football field. Likewise you would not plant a grass in the sun that likes shade and vice-versa. To come back to the soil, you shouldn't plant a grass that likes well drained soil or soil that is poorly drained.

But—it is often done, and then the problems come. To help solve these established problems and to help prevent them, I am offering you the educational services of the Department of Farms and Home Demonstration in planning your lawn needs.

HUNTER-LAND OWNER RELATIONSHIPS

The rural landowners in our city, as the 1963-64 hunting season begins, again faces the problems usually associated with farmer-hunter relations. I am very interested in these problems and would appreciate your passing on to me the observations and experiences that reach you this season.

The number of hunters is increasing at about the same rate as the population. There is no evidence that hunting will decline as a popular outdoor sport. However, more and more private lands are withdrawn from public access. The game populations on these lands are usually under-harvested. This is the poorest kind of conservation in which the resource is wasted and man is denied a recreational opportunity.

A cash reward system for the rural landowner is badly needed if we hope to encourage on the land employment of wildlife management techniques and the opening of these lands to hunting. There are two current possibilities for the landowner deriving monetary benefits from wildlife populations: (1) the landowner may lease the hunting rights on his land to an individual or group

in the collections of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

Jenny Lind

Singer Jenny Lind, the famed "Swedish Nightingale," is embodied at the Virginia Museum in Richmond by this life-size American wood carving from the mid-19th century. The sculpture is obviously related to wooden Indians of the same era; but instead of serving as an advertisement for a cigar store it was an ornament for a Barnum and Bailey circus wagon. (Miss Lind had performed under contract for P. T. Barnum in 1850 with tremendous success.) This unusual carving of the famous entertainer joined the permanent collection of the Virginia Museum in 1962 as the gift of an anonymous donor.

New CHEVELLE!
by Chevrolet

Only this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. The Chevelle is a highly polished car on a trim 115-inch wheelbase. With its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. All of which makes it a sweet-handling, easy-to-manuever automobile. But it's roomy and relaxing inside, with the kind of ride you'd expect in a bigger car. And it's styled with a lively grace and refinements (note the curved side window and pillars, for example) that make its modest price all the more remarkable. A neat trick? We agree. But not so difficult really when you have the skills of seasoned Body by Elmer craftsmen to draw upon. And the advantage of Full Coil suspension developed by the same engineering talent that came up with the Jet-smooth Chevrolet's ride. And that irreplaceable Chevrolet spirit in a choice of four engines—V8 or 6—including optional-at-extra-cost versions all the way up to 220-hp. Small wonder this one turned out the way it did. Did we say one? Actually there are 11 models—wagons, sedans, sport coupes, convertibles—in three series. Even some cars that have been around for quite a long time don't give you a choice like that. Sound like something you ought to check into further? Consider this your invitation for a real hood-raising, door-slammng, seat-bouncing, wheel-turning time of it at your Chevrolet dealer's.

"TRICK OR TREAT GOODIES" RATE HIGH FOR HALLOWEEN

Prepare yourself for the Trick or Treat crowd with an array of ghostly goodies. Edible smiling Jack-O-Lanterns, Hobgoblin Cookies and Witches Hats are both centerpiece and refreshments for a Halloween party.

- JACK-O-LANTERNS
1 package Royal Instant Butterscotch Pudding
1 pound box (3 1/2 cups) Confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup soft margarine
1/2 cup evaporated milk or cream
Yellow and red food colors
Green and black gumdrops
- Combine the first four ingredients in the order listed, adding yellow, then red food colors to make an orange color. Mix with a spoon as well as you can; then mix with your hands, about 2 minutes, to make a smooth ball. Break off pieces of the mixture about 2 1/2 inches in diameter; shape each between your hands to make a pumpkin; make top-to-bottom grooves with a spoon handle. Insert a bit of green gumdrop for the stem; bits of black gumdrop for the eyes and mouth. Refrigerate until served. Makes 7.
- HOBGOBLINS
1 package Royal Butterscotch Pudding
2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats
1/4 cup Royal Pecans, finely chopped
1/2 cup (1 1/2 sticks) soft margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Ghostly Glaze, below*
3 teaspoons cocoa
- Blend the first six ingredients with your fingers. Shape into rolls about 1/4 inch thick, and 6 inches long; then arrange 3 inches apart on ungreased baking sheets, curving slightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool on baking sheets; remove carefully. Frost bottom with Ghostly Glaze*, reserving 1/4 cup of the frosting. Add cocoa to the reserved frosting; use in a cake decorator with a plain tube to make faces. Makes about 20.
- *GHOSTLY GLAZE: Beat until spreading consistency, 2 cups of confectioners' sugar sifted; 2 egg whites; a pinch of salt; and a few drops of vanilla.
- WITCHES' HATS
12 to 14 ice cream cones
1/4 cups milk
1 cup heavy cream
1/4 cup crunchy peanut butter
Brown Frosting, below
- 1 package Royal Instant Butterscotch Pudding
12 to 14 cookies, 3 to 4 inches in diameter
Brown Frosting, below
- Set the ice cream cones into paper cups, so they stand upright. Pour the milk and cream into a mixing bowl. Add peanut butter; beat until blended. Then add instant pudding; beat until well mixed, about 1 minute. Pour into cones. Set the refrigerator control for fast freezing; freeze the cones until the ice cream is firm, 2 to 3 hours. At serving time, invert the cones on the centers of cookies. With the Brown Frosting in a cake decorator, and a ribbon tube, quickly make a "hat band" around the cones. Serve at once. Makes 12 to 14.
- BROWN FROSTING
Combine 1 cup of sifted confectioners' sugar, 1/4 cup of cocoa, 1/4 cup of margarine, and 2 teaspoons of milk.

"Youth is our best national product"

If this nation is to advance in wisdom and strength and character, then every young person growing up today must have the opportunity to develop his talents, to acquire and display leadership abilities, and to gain a realization of future responsibilities. This is not the business of parents alone; it concerns all of us. I ask you, therefore, to think seriously about making a United Way contribution. Your gift will give many an unfortunate child and many a puzzled teen-ager a much better start in life. Your one gift will also provide a wide range of services for families, the aged, the lonely and the handicapped. In short, the one gift that you make will work many wonders. This is of value to every one of us. One gift works many wonders / GIVE THE UNITED WAY

2 eggs
1/2 cup apple sauce
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup raisins (chopped)
- Empty cake mix into bowl, add water, eggs, apple sauce, spices and raisins. Beat 4 minutes. Bake in well greased sheet cake pan—at 350°, until cake springs back when lightly touched—(time for baking always indicated on cake mix package).
- Frosting
3 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 lb. (3 1/2 cups) confectioners' sugar
Beat egg whites until stiff—Add sugar of tartar, gradually add cream, beating until frosting holds its shape. Cover with damp cloth until ready to use to avoid crust forming. Use few drops of desired vegetable coloring—yellow of course, for Halloween.
- Better be good or the Goblins'll get you!

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER
AWAY PESSIMISM

IT IS quite possible that the world is better than the majority of people believe it is. When it is considered that the wondrous new media of the present, bring us daily reports from nearly every quarter of the world and from uncounted millions of people, we did not hear from years ago, the small percentage of wrongdoers among the millions of people over the world may not seem so ominous.

JUST A THOUGHT:
The eye will sometimes deceive; particularly if it is turned in the direction of something one really doesn't want to see.

Let us also consider the fact that the news media may bring us evidence of goodness to block out the stories of wrong. Think of that cosmic disaster in which three men were trapped 300 feet under the earth, how it drew many neighbors and friends to labor day and night for the rescue. Aside from special incidents which might be mentioned further, consider the agencies of assistance and healing that are employed around the earth, such as the Red Cross and the missionary establishments of the different churches.

To let us thank God that the situation with ourselves and the world is as well as it is. There is a story of Booker T. Washington to the effect that he was speaking about pessimism one day when one of his hearers took a vague view of pessimism but assured Brother Washington that he wasn't sure about as pessimist but in the fall, when the sweet potatoes were in the bin, and the frost was on the fields, he was a POSTUMIST. Let us be Postumists all the while.

OF INTEREST TO VETS

By THOMAS A. MOORE
Area Director

Division of War Veterans' Claims

Two weeks ago I wrote a paragraph for this column that it appeared almost certain that widows whose veteran husbands died from service-connected causes would soon receive about a 10% increase in dependency and indemnity compensation.

Under the terms of two bills signed into law by the President that increase has been realized and became effective October 1, 1963. The minimum increase is $8 monthly, and the average increase is about $15.

The VA says that to avoid any holdup in payments to widows the regular October checks will be mailed at the usual time, to be followed by separate checks soon afterward for just the October share of the increase. Starting with November the regular payment checks to widows will include the increase.

Payments to widows of veterans who died of non-service-connected causes are not changed in any way by the two new laws.

Please visit my office on any claims or problems regarding benefits for veterans and their survivors.

Maurice J. Hunger, my associate, visits the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, 19th Street and Pacific Avenue, on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, between the hours of noon and 4 p.m.

Jim Branch works in our local bank. I've known him for years. We went to school together. But I never felt I could come right out and ask him why he never goes to church. One night when we both happened to get into a confidential frame of mind, the words came easier.

He told me that — of all things — it was because he hated this business of passing the plate for money. He said he saw enough money at the bank all week without seeing it worshipped on Sunday too.

I admit this shocked me. That's why I told him, frankly, that I thought he'd completely missed the point. I told him our minister once said that it gives him a good feeling when he receives the collection; not because this is money but because the people are giving the fruit of their own efforts to God. In the old days, it might have been a sheep, or the choicest fruits and vegetables from the harvest. Today, it's dollars and cents. But the motive is still the same, and it's a good motive.

I saw Jim at the morning service a couple of weeks ago, and something tells me that it won't be long before he'll be getting the point . . . not missing it!

THIS RADIO STATION HAS BEEN SAYING TO YOU, OVER THE AIR, THAT

"Every community should support a local newspaper"

THIS WE GLADLY REPEAT IN YOUR ONLY LOCAL NEWSPAPER

ALSO

SPEAKING FOR OURSELVES - IN THE SAME SPIRIT

"Every community should support its local radio station"

HOW? YOU MAY ASK, CAN WE DO THIS—

OUR ANSWER:

1. By regular listening to WBOF—make WBOF of a daily companion in your home—it'll be real good company,
2. By patronizing your local businesses, particularly the customers of WBOF who make it possible for us to serve you sunup to sunset—seven days a week

REMEMBER—1550 on your AM Dial—

TUNED TO GOOD TASTE

In fact there is hardly a community of as few as 2500 population, in the United States, that does not do just exactly this.

it's no secret...

ROCK HUDSON

Featured In Saturday Movie

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHT

OCT. 26

"Something of Value," based on Robert Ruark's novel and starring Rock Hudson, Dana Wynter and Sidney Poitier, will be presented on "Saturday Night at the Movies" Oct. 26 (NBC-TV, 9 p.m. EDT to conclusion). The M-G-M film, released in 1957, also features Wendy Hiller, Juano Hernandez and William Marshall.

In the storyline, Peter McKenzie (Hudson), raised in Kenya Colony with a native boy, Kimani (Poitier), is upset when his boyfriend friend becomes an outlaw leader of the Mau Mau, sworn to destruction of the white man. Though McKenzie knows Kimani's reasons, the slaughter undertaken by Kimani's men turns McKenzie, too, to drastic action. His wife, Holly (Miss Wynter) leaves him and he continues his tracking of Kimani, by treaty with the hope of effecting a peace. After Kimani agrees, other white settlers ambush him and kill his wife. He escapes with his infant son and when McKenzie once more finds him, he refuses to believe he has not been betrayed, and the men clash.

Society Ball On NBC-TV

APRIL IN PARIS BALL: OCT. 27

The TV audience will see the costly and highly original decor of the ballroom, designed by Mrs. Alfred Levitt and centered about this year's theme "La Femme."

Other facets of the event include an elaborate banquet with a variety of French wines, dancing to Lester Lanin's music, prizes, and, for each guest who has purchased a ticket to the affair for $150, a box of specially chosen presents as a memento of the evening.

The excitement of the arrival of guests, including delegates to the United Nations, American and European social leaders, and current debutantes, will be shown on camera. Gentlemen will wear either white or black tie and the ladies will be seen in couture ballgowns.

In the past 12 years, nearly $2,000,000 has been raised for charitable and cultural causes, including cancer research, in which the American-French Foundation Charities, sponsors of the event, are concerned.

The "April in Paris Ball" will preempt the "Du Pont Show of the Week" telecast on Oct. 27. The 12th annual "April in Paris Ball," marking the opening of New York society's 1963-64

Youth Charged In Auto Death

VIRGINIA BEACH—A pedestrian was killed early Saturday when he was struck by an automobile on Great Neck Road near Frank Cox High School.

The victim was identified as Roy Neal Molloy, 34, of 8345 Chesapeake Blvd., Norfolk.

Police said a 17-year-old Virginia Beach youth was charged in the case with involuntary manslaughter and reckless driving.

The victim was walking south on the east side of Great Neck Road when he was struck by a small foreign car, travelling north and driven by the youth, at about 2:30 a.m., police said.

According to police, the car skidded at least 20 feet to the point of impact and then travelled about 348 feet before coming to a stop.

The driver of the car was released on a juvenile petition. Court date has not yet been set.

Police said Molloy was identified by a raffle ticket, the only identification found in his clothing.

Moloy was the son of Mrs. Harriet C. Moloy and the late Rodrick P. Moloy.

He was employed as an electronics specialist at Ft. Story.

He was a native of Bristol, Pa., but had been a resident of Norfolk most of his life.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Shirley M. Lee of 123 West Bayview Boulevard, Norfolk.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Holman-Brown Funeral Home Dr. Arthur Parks Roach, pastor of Colonial Avenue Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

'Instructor Of Year' Named At Dam Neck

DAM NECK—Robert E. Smithson, fire control technician senior chief, has been named the U. S. Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center Instructor of the Year.

He received a letter of commendation and award plaque from Commander Training Command, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, at personal inspection October 18.

Chief Smithson, an instructor in the Center's Gunnery Department, was cited for his many hours spent in research and discussion which led to a revised ballistic concept.

His studies have been submitted to the Department of the Navy and it is felt this new information will greatly benefit the Fleet not only in increasing accuracy of gun fire but also will assist in locating discrepancies with fire control systems.

Chief Smithson entered the Navy in 1946 and before reporting to Dam Neck in December 1959 he served in the destroyer escort USS Basilone.

He resides at 213 N. Oceana Blvd., Virginia Beach, with his wife, the former Alice Ferebee of Oceana, and their three children.

Ladies Aux. To Meet Tonight

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Virginia Beach Fire Department will hold their regular meeting tonight at the Fire Station.

Special entertainment will be after the business meeting. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. Virginia Jessup, president, will inform the members about the Halloween Party at the Convention Center to be held by the Auxiliary and the Exchange Club for the public.

Water Department Gets 6th Safety Award

The Virginia Beach Water Dept. for the 6th consecutive year has received the Award of Merit made by the Virginia Section of the American Waterworks Association for outstanding safety performance.

Closings On Blvd. Prove Effective

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Beach Safety Bureau's plan to reduce traffic accidents on Virginia Beach Blvd. by eliminating three openings in the median strip has worked out well, according to bureau chief Reeves E. Johnson.

The openings were sealed off six weeks ago to prevent motorists from crossing from the feeder road to the through traffic lane on the opposite side of the Boulevard.

Two of the boulevard's fatalities this year occurred at the first and third openings before they were closed.

Feeder lane access openings were not affected by the plan; only the openings in the concrete strip down the middle of the highway.

Johnson said the closings have not caused traffic jams.

P. O. Urges Early Mailing

VIRGINIA BEACH — Postmaster J. T. Crosswhite, Jr. has announced that he is starting his annual "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign immediately since he is faced with the knowledge that the 1963 Christmas season will set an all time holiday mailing record for the new City of Virginia Beach.

He urges postal patrons to prepare and plan the mailing of Christmas cards and gifts now. Bring your Christmas card and gift address list up to date. Be sure you have the correct name, street number, city, state and ZIP CODE number.

The Postmaster suggests that you send your Christmas cards by first-class mail and put your return address on the envelopes, including your ZIP CODE number, so that they will be forwarded or returned if undeliverable.

The period November 1 to November 20 has been designated for the mailing of Christmas parcels by surface transportation to members of our Armed Forces overseas. For airmail parcels the period is December 1 to December 10.

Greeting cards for the Armed Forces overseas should be mailed within the periods designated for parcels if they are to have a reasonable expectation of delivery prior to Christmas.

"Buy your postal supplies early," Crosswhite says. "Don't wait until the last minute when long lines form at the service windows. The 5-Cent Christmas Postage Stamp will go on sale at the Virginia Beach Post Office on November 2, 1963."

The Postmaster is making advance preparations to handle the 1963 holiday mail rush and is confident that, with your continued cooperation the mails will go through on schedule.

Oral Sundays Proclaimed

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mayor Frank A. Dusch has called on all against polio.

His proclamation is in connection with Sabin Oral Sundays, November 10 and January 12, Doctors in Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Chesapeake hope to vaccinate half a million people.

The vaccine will be taken orally, two drops on a cube of sugar. The program is being sponsored by the medical societies of the communities.

The proclamation follows: WHEREAS, we the citizens of Virginia Beach are vitally interested in the prevention of polio and in saving life in our community; and

WHEREAS, the physicians of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and Chesapeake hope to immunize some half million persons against dreaded polio Sunday, November 10 and Sunday, January 12; and

WHEREAS, the physicians of the City of Virginia Beach will join with the hundreds of others in the other three cities in combating this disease through immunization;

THEREFORE, I, FRANK A. DUSCH, Mayor of the City of Virginia Beach, Virginia do hereby proclaim Sunday, November 10 and Sunday, January 12 as Sabin Oral Sundays and urge all parents to help K. O. polio by having their children and themselves immunized against this crippling disease.

FRANK A. DUSCH Mayor

Council Names Three To Aid School Board

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council at its Monday meeting approved the establishment of a three-man committee which will work with a school board committee to acquire land for future school sites.

Named to the committee were city purchasing agent Carroll Clough, planning director F. Mason Gamage and city engineer Charles S. Kiley.

Council acted on the recommendation of City Manager W. Russell Hatchett in naming the committee members, who, Hatchett said, were "a little closer" to the problems involved than the school board committee alone.

K. G. School Will Stage Carnival

KING'S GRANT — Trant Field will be the setting for a Halloween Carnival for King's Grant School on Thursday, October 31st from 4 to 9 P.M.

A country store, game booths, sack racing, a cake walk and pony rides may be enjoyed. Prizes for costumes for the pre-school, as well as school age children will be awarded.

The proceeds will be used to purchase new record players for the class rooms and an overhead projector for school use.

Council Asks U.S. Approval Of City Canal Plan

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council voted Monday to ask the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service for its approval of the city's proposed canal system. Cooperation from the federal agency is desired by council in order to construct the canals with federal funds for drainage and recreation.

The Fish and Wildlife Service has recently completed a series of studies on the effects of salt water on aquatic plants in Back Bay, revealing that some additional salinity is needed for plant growth there.

Council approved a letter to be sent to Fish and Wildlife biologist John Sincok, stating that a canal from the ocean at Rudee Inlet to Back Bay could provide some of the increased salinity.

The letter states that an informal check with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers revealed no precise answer as to how much salinity the canal would provide. An Engineer Corps spokesman reportedly said that to provide an accurate estimate would involve time-consuming and costly experiments with scale models.

However, the letter says that if, after the canal is dug, an excessive amount of salinity is brought into the bay, a lock could be provided to control the flow of salt water.

Top Priority for Rudee Link Plans for the canals give top priority to the linking of Rudee Inlet and Back Bay. Two other canals included in the plan are:

* A route from Lynnhaven Inlet to the Albermarle and Chesapeake Canal just west of Pungo, given second priority by the plan's proponents.

* A canal to be dug in the vicinity of North Landing. It is planned to construct the first two canals to a depth of minus eight feet below mean sea level with a width of 60 feet. Bridges of sixteen feet clearance, to allow boats to pass under, would be provided at highway crossings.

Part of the canal system has already been dug to a depth of minus two feet below sea level and twenty feet wide. This section is along the route of the link between Lynnhaven Inlet and the Albermarle and Chesapeake Canal.

Ask Prompt Action In its letter, council asked for prompt consideration since "the longer these projects are delayed, the more costly right-of-ways will be to acquire."

The city plans to co-sponsor the construction of the canals with the Virginia Dare Soil Conservation Service under the Small Watershed Bill, Public Law 568.

The letter states that the Soil Conservation Service is willing to reactivate the Small Watershed Project providing the Fish and Wildlife Service will cooperate with the plan.

County Committee Elected

VIRGINIA BEACH — On Thursday October 24, the Chairman of each Community Committee met to elect the County Committee for next year.

The newly elected county leaders are:

Chairman, Chris Krahenbill Vice-chairman, L. J. Furlough Member, Russell Dudley 1st Alternate, John Potter 2nd Alternate, Jimmy Morris

All Committeemen will assume office on 1 November 1963.

Teen Topics

Cool days seem to be on the way. By now I imagine most of you have already broken out your winter supply of sweaters. Some of you may even have washed a few.

Most of the young people I know own a wide variety of sweaters in all styles and colors. Some of you have to care for your own sweaters, and even if you don't your mother probably does.

I am sure you will agree that washing sweaters can be a real problem. Nothing can be more discouraging than washing a nice sweater and having it shrink. But—believe it or not—you can prevent this by using some care and the right methods when you launder sweaters.

Of course you may be saying "Oh, this does not interest me, I just send my sweaters to the dry cleaners." However, the fifty cents or more you spend on dry cleaning each of your sweaters could easily be used for other purposes. After all, if the label on the sweater reads "hand washable" why pay for having it dry cleaned!

The "hang tags" and labels on all your garments are valuable because they tell you how to care for your garment. Save them.

Of course at one time, all the sweaters on the market were 100% wool. We all know that this is no longer the case since Nylon, Banlon, and Orlon came into the sweater picture. It is important to know the kind of fiber in your sweater so you can launder it and get good results.

Nothing takes the place of day-to-day care for your sweaters, or any other garments either for that matter. A good airing following each wearing is helpful to keep them smelling fresh. Recommended storage of sweaters—fold them and put them in a drawer or on a shelf.

Man-made fibers in sweaters have changed washing procedures. Generally, pure synthetic fibers dry faster than wool because the individual fibers are not penetrated by moisture.

Improvements in synthetic fibers mean that blocking the wet sweater is no longer necessary because the shrinking problem is not so great. However, some types of synthetic fibers are weaker when they are wet and will stretch when weight is put on them. For that reason, it is always a good idea to spread your wet sweaters out on a towel to dry regardless of their fiber content.

Cold water soaps are coming into wide popularity for laundering sweaters. At first it may be hard to reconcile yourself to the fact that cold water and soap will get your sweaters clean. However, most people seem very satisfied with the results. (An additional hint here is that cold water soaps are excellent for laundering dark cottons because the fabric comes out less faded-looking and more lint free.) Cold water soaps seem to be equally good for both man-made fibers and wool.

In the actual washing process, squeeze the suds through your sweater. Avoid any type of twisting or wringing both during the washing and rinsing. Any pressure tends to set wrinkles in your sweater.

If you have hand knit sweaters you need to be especially careful. Even with regular wool sweaters it is good idea to prevent shrinkage by making an outline of your sweater in pins on a towel before you wash it. Then spread your wet sweater out to dry on this towel, stretching the sweater to line it up with the pins.

All the excess moisture in sweaters can be taken out by gently rolling them in a towel.

Good luck with your washing adventure!

Economy four-door sedan unveiled today by Eastern Auto, features new disc-brake system on all four wheels on both manual shift and automatic transmission models. The standard gearbox model also boasts a 25% more powerful engine—a 40-horsepower, four-cylinder rear-mounted powerplant which achieves mileage in the 35-40 mpg range. The automatic transmission version has a 32-horsepower engine which gets mileage in the same range. Both models have improved interiors, including more luxurious upholstery and front-door map pockets, plus a luggage saving trunk liner.

Now on Display at EASTERN AUTO In Norfolk & Hampton 1022 Granby 4009 W. Mercury Blvd.

Gift From Thunderbirds

Members of the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds give models of the jet planes they use in their sensational demonstration flights to Bobbie and Kerrie Whitaker, national poster children for Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America. The presentation took place at Hanescom Air Force Base, near Boston, to which the youngsters were invited for a day of festivities. They are touring the country on behalf of the March for Muscular Dystrophy, MDA's annual fund raising drive.

Adams New Head Of Little League

VIRGINIA BEACH—The American Little League held its annual election of officers Tuesday at the home of out-going president Newton Thomas.

Elected president for a one year term of office was Rhoe W. Adams.

Acting on a proposed resolution by the nominating committee, the league increased the number of vice-presidents from one to selecting Mrs. V. K. Almond, O. J. "Red" Donahoe, and W. M. Norrie Martin to fill these posts.

Mrs. Nellie P. Matthews, secretary, was re-elected for her third consecutive term and Max Moore, treasurer, for a second term.

The American Little League includes players who live in the area north of 31st St. to Fort Story.

The new officers will be installed at the league's next board meeting.

COX TIES HAWKS IN FINAL MINUTES

VIRGINIA BEACH—With a little more than three minutes left in the game, a fighting Cox high school team scored on a pass play and converted to shock the Virginia Beach Seahawks Friday night in a 14-14 football game.

Cox surprised in holding the favored Hawks to a tie, but they Seahawks led 14 to 0 going into the final period.

Cox ripped off an 80-yard drive early in the fourth and quarterback Tom Gallagher ran the last two yards for the touchdown.

It was 14-7 when the Falcons began their final TD push, a 65-yard drive following a Virginia Beach punt. With 3:30 left in the game and the ball on the Hawks two, Gallagher hit halfback Mike Drye in the right corner of the end zone for the score. Podlesni's second conversion kick tied the score.

The Hawks led, 7-0, at halftime on Nolan's two-run scoring run and Hanson's extra point run. Hanson scored from three yards out in the third period and Nolan ran over for the conversion.

Cavaliers Rout Deep Creek

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Princess Anne Cavaliers can do more than just pass and kick a football. Deep Creek's Hornets found this out Friday night as the Cavaliers presented a running game to turn back the Hornets, 27-6.

In fact the Cavaliers threw a total of 22 times for eight completions and a mere 119 yards. On the ground they churned up 336 yards. The P.A. defense held Deep Creek to 54 yards on the ground.

Charlie Carr, the all-state Cavalier end, led the scoring with nine points on a touchdown and three extra point conversions.

Cavalier Halfback Bruce Wilkerson led the winner's ground game and scored two touchdowns in the process. It was the sixth straight triumph for Princess Anne since the opening game loss to Great Bridge.

It was homecoming for Princess Anne and Pete Sachon's Cavaliers did not disappoint the old grads. Charlie Carr, in addition to playing his usual fine game, crowned the queen during halftime ceremonies.

B-R Victor Over Manteo

MANTEO, N.C.—The Barry-Robinson Rangers came from behind in the last quarter with two long sustained drives to take an 18-7 decision over Manteo, N.C. Friday night.

The winning margin actually came on two long runs during a 58-yard march by the Rangers. Fullback Mike Zoby dashed for 33 yards to spike the excursion and halfback Bobby Hahne skirted left end, cut to the middle, picking up a bevy of blockers and sped 26 yards for the touchdown.

The "Good Arithmetic" of Giving

THE UNITED WAY

+ Adds hope to the lives of the ailing and the aged, the forgotten, and the handicapped.

— Subtracts crime and delinquency by providing wholesome recreation for more of our young people.

X Multiplies over and over again the good it does in the form of medical research and disaster relief.

÷ Divides the pledge you make among the greatest number of services and agencies helping our community!

|| Good arithmetic, we think you'll agree. Give now, give generously.

Baby Dies In Fire Caused By Heater

DAVIS CORNER — A space heater, outlawed by the city's fire code, caused the death of a 4-month-old baby Tuesday about 6 p.m. when it ignited the bedroom in which the child was lying.

J. D. Roach, chief of the Davis Corner Volunteer Fire Department, identified the dead girl as Odele Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Fletcher.

The fire occurred in the Fletcher home at 6735 Coney Lane, just off Newton Road, while the parents were away.

A 17-year-old neighbor, Alice Barnes, pulled four other children, ranging in age from one to five, from the burning building. The teenager lives across the street from the Fletcher home.

Roach said that all four children were out of the house before firemen arrived but it was impossible for either the girl or firemen to reach the infant because she was in the bedroom where the fire started.

The Davis Corner department, backed up by units from Kempsville, battled the blaze for about 40 minutes, Roach said. He described the house as a "total loss."

An unvented kerosene space heater with an attached fuel tank was in the front bedroom where the fire was believed to have started. Roach said the tank ruptured, spreading the fire into the adjoining living room and four other rooms in the six-room frame structure.

He said the entire building, except the kitchen at the rear, was aflame when firemen arrived at the scene.

Roach said the Barnes girl dashed into the burning building while the alarm was being called in shortly before 6 p.m.

This frame house, now gutted by fire, is where a 4-month-old girl died Tuesday. (Baldwin Photo)

New Motel Going Up Six Stories

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Councilman W. Hugh Kitchin Jr. announced Monday that he plans to construct a modern, six-story motel at 26th Street and Oceanfront.

Plans for the foundation of the new building are already being driven.

The 48-room motel will be constructed of brick veneer structure and will feature balconies, air conditioning, swimming pool and restaurant. It will cost approximately $557,000.

The deluxe building, to be called the Sea Hawk, will be designed so that the restaurant will be located directly on Atlantic Avenue. Kitchin, who is also owner of Kitchin's Restaurant, will operate the motel.

The new facility was designed by Waller & Britt of Portsmouth.

Kitchin says he hopes to have the motel open by May 1. His present restaurant, on 26th Street at Atlantic Avenue, will be torn down to make way for a parking lot to serve the Halifax Hotel, which is owned by his mother, Mrs. W. H. Kitchin.

Questions Answered On Oral Vaccine

NORFOLK—The three medical societies sponsoring the Sabin Oral Sunday, Nov. 10, have set up an information station to answer questions regarding the program.

Persons desiring further information on the mass immunization plans may call MA 2-1421 or MA 2-9614.

"The idea of the telephone is to remove all doubts from anyone who wishes to know first-hand about the program," said a spokesman for the Norfolk County Medical Society, the Virginia Beach Medical Society and the Portsmouth Academy of Medicine.

"Someone who knows all the answers in connection with the program will be at the telephone each day," the spokesman said. "We want everyone to be convinced of the effectiveness of the oral vaccine."

The program will be administered in 100 schools in Norfolk, Portsmouth, Virginia Beach and Chesapeake.

Next School Bond Issue May Be In '65

VIRGINIA BEACH—School Superintendent Frank W. Cox indicated Tuesday that Congress will determine when Virginia Beach voters will be asked to approve another school bond issue.

The school board may not have to ask for a bond issue in 1964 but there will probably be one in 1965, Cox said.

Whether or not Congress extends the aid program for federally impacted areas, and the extent to which Virginia Beach benefits from such action, will be the determining factor, Cox said.

Former Princess Anne County has received about $1 million annually in such aid for the last six or seven years and Cox said it is reasonable to expect Virginia Beach to continue getting this amount if Congress extends the program without major changes.

Cox also said the General Assembly may take action increasing state aid, and this could affect local school costs.

Last January Cox told City Council an additional $9.5 million would be needed for a school building program over the next four years. Council trimmed this total to $4.5 million and voters approved the school bond referendum last June by a margin of 7-1.

In accepting the lower figure last February, Cox told councilmen the school board might have to return to the council for more money in the summer of 1964. He added, "certainly by the summer of 1965."

Bridge-Tunnel Manager To Lecture at ODC

NORFOLK — P. Z. Michener, project manager for Sverdrup and Parcel on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, will be the opening speaker for the current Old Dominion College Lecture Series, Sunday, at 4 p.m. in the Hughes Library Assembly Hall. The film, "Over and Under the Sea," will be a part of his presentation.

Prior to the bridge-tunnel Project, Michener was in charge of the company's Washington office for three years. Between 1946 and 1950 he was construction manager for the company's engineering projects in Saudi Arabia and other Middle East countries, directing public works constructions including piers, harbor development, railroads, highways, and power plants.

During World War II, Michener served as an officer in the Corps of Engineers with the rank of colonel. His assignments included that of district engineer at Edmonton, Canada, and executive officer of the "Canal" oil pipeline and refinery project in northern Canada and Alaska. He later commanded port construction groups in the southwest Pacific on the construction of port facilities including the rehabilitation of the port of Manila in the Philippines.

Prior to the war, he served with the state of Illinois, Division of Highways, in various capacities including assistant engineer, bureau of bridges on design, construction, and research on highway bridges.

Michener received his B.S. degree in civil engineering from the University of Illinois. He is a registered professional engineer and a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and National Society of Professional Engineers.

Other lectures scheduled for Sundays at 4 p.m. in the Library Assembly Hall are: "The Bible—Human or Divine", Dr. Andrew C. Tunyogi, December 8; guest lecturer, Dr. Fredson T. Bowers, Chairman of the Department of English, University of Virginia, January 12; "Goethe and C. P. Snow", Dr. Ann W. Kurtz, February 2; "The Age of the Earth", Dr. Michael Louis Bottino, March 1; "Physical Fitness for Youth in Today's World", Coach Louis G. Plummer, April 5; and "Democracy in Action—The Consumer and the Citizen Speak", Professor T. J. Reed, May 3.

Professor Robert L. Stern is chairman of the lecture committee. Other members are Dr. T. Ross Fink, Professor C. S. Sherwood, Dr. E. A. Stevenson, Dr. G. William Whitehurst, Professor W. M. Beck, Jr., Professor T. J. Reed, Mrs. W. F. Spencer and Mrs. Lawrence W. Lipincott. Light refreshments will be served following each lecture. All lectures are free and the public is invited.

Two From Here Practice Teaching

GREENVILLE, N. C.—Two Virginia Beach residents are among a group of 177 East Carolina College students assigned to practice teaching in North Carolina during the current school term.

Anthony Katsias of 612 23rd St. and Linda Touchton of 219 Chevenne Rd. are carrying out their teaching assignments in New Bern and Camp Lejeune schools respectively.

Each student is assigned a practice-teaching job through the office of Dr. Thomas A. Chamberlain, director of student teaching at East Carolina. The students conduct regular classes under the direction of supervisors. They are given a grade for their on-the-job performance.

This Trick's A Real Treat

For the seventh straight year trick-or-treaters who drop by the William H. Phillips residence at 3600 Holly Road tonight will be treated to the quips of a talking pumpkin.

This Halloween antic has been pulled by the fun-loving Phillips' ever since they moved here seven years ago and its popularity grows each year.

"The first time we set up the talking pumpkin we only had about 15 children drop by," Bill Phillips said, "but last year we counted over 75."

The Phillips' neighborhood does not have many children but, much to the delight of Jean and Bill, parents have now started bringing the youngsters to see the pumpkin by the carloads.

Stationed in front of the house, the pumpkin is wired so that Bill can hear the kids' questions and comments and he can answer them back.

The Halloween decorations also include a skeleton hanging in a tree that lights up for the youngsters.

What do most of the kiddies ask the pumpkin? Anything from "Do you read Peanuts" to "What makes you talk?" But whatever the question, the gay old pumpkin has a quick answer and he's eagerly looking forward to tonight's onslaught of costumed and bag-totin' visitors.

Pops Concert Here Sunday

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Norfolk Symphony Orchestra will present its Family Pops Concert Sunday at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center at 3:30 p.m. with Edgar Schenkman as conductor.

This marks the second year the Norfolk Symphony has appeared at Virginia Beach.

Featured at this season's appearance will be a display in the lobby of outstanding paintings by children in the area. The paintings represent the children's impressions of some of the musical selections to be heard at the concert.

Program for the event is as follows:

Saint-Saens' "French Military March"; Rossini's "William Tell Overture"; Mozart's "Turkish March"; "Invitation to the Dance," Weber-Berlioz; Dvorak's "Slavonic Dance No. 8"; selections from Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story"; "Pizzicato Polka" and "Thunder and Lightning Polka" by Strauss; and Polovetzian Dance from Borodin's "Prince Igor."

Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $0.75 for children and may be purchased at the civic center, Alexander-Beege, Capt. Jim's Imports, Hardin Studio, Aragona Hobby Shop and the B&M Delicatessen.

Pest Control Group Will Visit V.P.I.

BLACKSBURG, Va.—Members and non-members of the Virginia State Pest Control Association who are engaged in the pest control and termite control industry will attend the VPI Pest Control Operator's Short Course Wednesday through Friday.

Attending from Virginia Beach will be: George Aldridge and Lee Chambers, Aldridge and Chambers Exterminating Co.; Earl Duval, Duval and Payne Exterminating Co.; and M. O. Payne, Oceana Exterminating Co.

Speakers will include George Aldridge, Sr., of Virginia Beach and others.

The PCO Short Course sponsored by the V. P. I. Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Virginia State Pest Control Operators' Association, is designed to bring participating pest control operators up-to-date on the latest methods of pest control and to provide an opportunity to discuss problems and trends in the industry.

Safety Congress Elects Newnam To Two Posts

VIRGINIA BEACH—Gaither T. Newnam of Virginia Beach has been elected to two posts of the National Safety Congress. The elections were held Wednesday in Chicago, Ill. during the Council's annual convention.

He was elected to serve as a member-at-large of the Industrial Conference of the Council and nominating chairman, executive committee, of the fertilizer section.

Newnam is manager of insurance and safety for Smith-Douglas Company, Inc. in Norfolk. He resides at 104 Ivy Drive, Virginia Beach.

The National Safety Council is a federally chartered, nonprofit association dedicated to safety in all fields of accident prevention.

Six Candidates Run Unopposed In Tuesday Election

VIRGINIA BEACH—Six candidates, two for the House of Delegates and four constitutional officers, will run unopposed on the organization ticket in Tuesday's election.

William P. Kellam and P. B. White will run as delegates. It will be the first time Kellam has run for public office. He is a candidate for the city's new second seat in the House.

Virginia Beach is in the 1st Senatorial District with Accomack and Northampton counties on the Eastern Shore. The city was allotted the second seat after a re-apportionment by the 1962 General Assembly.

White, who holds a seat on the House Appropriations Committee, is running for his third term.

The four constitutional officers are Commissioner of Revenue Ivan D. Mapp, Treasurer V. Alfred (Jack) Etheridge, Commonwealth's Attorney Robert L. Simpson and City Sergeant John E. Marr.

It will be the first time Marr has run for city sergeant, a post he was appointed to after Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach merged on January 1. He formerly was sheriff of Princess Anne.

Also running in the election will be Sen. E. Almer Ames Jr., who has represented Virginia Beach in the Senate since 1956.

Though all candidates are running unopposed, city officials are hoping that a large turnout of voters show up at the polls Tuesday.

Voting will take place at the following precincts:

Local Schools Again Top UCF Quota

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Beach School System has again gone over the top in the United Communities Fund.

Under the leadership of Gordon Baskin, Linkhorn Park School principal, the school administrators were the first to turn in 100 percent participation in the annual drive.

Their contributions totaled $8,597 which was 118.6 per cent of their goal.

The Virginia Beach School System has headed the UCF list in its first report for the past several years.

Also listed in the first report was the City of Virginia Beach with $1,200 or 29.3 per cent of its goal.

Beach Youth In Lead Role

HAMPDEN - SYDNEY, Va.—Dave Muggleworth of Virginia Beach, a freshman at Hampden-Sydney College, will play the male lead in George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara" to be presented in Jarman Auditorium, Farmville, this week.

The play, presented by the Longwood Players and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs, will be seen Nov. 7-9.

Muggleworth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Muggleworth, Jr. of 203 23rd St., Virginia Beach.

Coast Guard Rescues Ocean Park Man

OCEAN PARK—H. S. Braithwaite of Ocean Park was rescued Tuesday by the Coast Guard from his grounded fishing vessel.

Two patrol boats were sent to free the vessel when it went aground off Lynnhaven fishing pier. A section of Braithwaite's boat broke off under the strain of tugs from a patrol boat and he had to be rescued from the vessel.

Rescuers were plagued by nearly 30 mile an hour winds during the operation.

The fishing vessel was described as a total loss.

Jury Makes $50,000 Award

VIRGINIA BEACH—A Virginia Beach Circuit jury awarded a $50,000 settlement Tuesday to a five year old girl for permanent injuries she received in an auto accident last spring. An additional $8,000 was awarded the girl's father for medical expenses.

The girl, Brenda F. Jones of Virginia Beach, was injured during the night of May 31 while riding in a car driven by her mother in the vicinity of John B. Dey school.

The car struck a car belonging to James Wright which was stalled on the road without lights. As a result the girl was thrown against the dashboard, causing permanent injury to her throat, according to attorney Richard Brydges who represented her.

Goodwin Will Address C of C Annual Meet

VIRGINIA BEACH—Virginia's Lt. Gov. Mills Goodwin has accepted an invitation to address the annual membership meeting of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce to be held on the night of December 3, it has been announced.

The annual dinner-meeting of the Chamber will be held this year at the Bow Creek Golf and Country Club at Princess Anne Plaza.

According to the announcement a social hour will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. and dinner will follow at approximately 7:15 p.m.

Reservations for the annual dinner meeting may be made through the Chamber office at 25th Street and Pacific Avenue or by calling the office at GA 8-1922.

Perrenot Now With Duck's In Realty Field

VIRGINIA BEACH — Hal F. Perrenot, of 1128 Chumley Road, an active real estate broker in this area for several years, has recently been appointed as an officer in the firm of Duck's Real Estate, Inc., 323 Laskin Road, according to W. S. (Duck) Braithwaite, President.

Braithwaite indicated that Perrenot's joining the company is the first step in an expansion program for his organization which has served Virginia Beach and old Princess Anne County for more than 25 years. Two new branch offices have been opened — at London Bridge, and at 3704 Atlantic Avenue, in order to serve better the real estate needs of this fast growing resort and residential city.

FOLLIES PRI. & SAT.

A few tickets are still available for the Friday night performance of the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Junior Women's Club's annual Cabaret Follies to be held at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center.

For Women Only—If You Ask Me By Audrey Smith Home Demonstration Agent

Since apples are at the peak of their season, why not take advantage of the good buys at the stores and markets. Or perhaps you are wondering what to do with all those apples from the trees in your backyard. There are any number of apple dishes suitable "around the clock."
 Select full-flavored apples that are crisp and firm, not mealy in texture. Wash, peel, and core. Slice medium apples into 12ths, large ones into 16ths.
Sirup pack—Make sirup of 3 cups sugar and 4 cups water. To each quart sirup add ½ teaspoon crystalline ascorbic acid. Slice apples directly into cold sirup in freezer container, starting with ½ cup sirup to a pint container. Press fruit down and add enough sirup to cover. Allow ½-inch space at top. Seal and freeze.
Sugar pack—To prevent darkening of apples during preparation, slice them into a solution of 2 tablespoons salt to a gallon of water. Hold in this solution no more than 15 to 20 minutes. Drain. To retard darkening, place slices in a single layer in steamer; steam 1½ to 2 minutes, depending on thickness of slice. Cool in cold water; drain.
 Over each quart of apple slices sprinkle evenly ½ cup sugar and stir. Pack apples into containers and press fruit down, leaving ½-inch space at the top of each pint, 1-inch space for a quart. Seal and freeze.
Unsweetened pack—Same as for sugar pack, only omit sugar.
APPLE MUFFINS WITH CRUNCH TOPPING
 2 cups sifted flour
 3 tps. baking powder
 ½ cup sugar
 ½ tsp. salt
 3 tps. shortening
 1 egg, beaten
 1 cup milk
 1 cup chopped, peeled apples or 1 cup apple sauce
 1/3 cup brown sugar
 1/3 cup chopped pecans
 ½ tsp. cinnamon
 Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening. Combine egg, milk, and apples. Add to flour mixture. Stir until flour is dampened. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full. Combine brown sugar, nuts, and cinnamon and sprinkle over batter. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.
APPLE-CRANBERRY RELISH
 2 apples pared and cored
 2 cups cranberries
 1 orange
 ¾ cup sugar
 Grind the apples and cranberries through a food chopper. Quarter the orange, remove seeds, and put through chopper. Add sugar, mix well, and chill. Makes 3 cups of relish.
 Note: If you would like the recipes mentioned above and other apple recipes write to Box 6068, Va. Beach, Va. 23456 and ask for the bulletin "Apples Around the Clock."

COOKE P-TA

University Women Attend Workshop
 VIRGINIA BEACH—Three representatives of the Virginia Beach Branch of American Association of University Women attended an area workshop Saturday at the Holiday Inn in Hampton. They were Mrs. R. E. Townsend, Mrs. Charles Lovitt and Mrs. Richard W. Barnes.
 Speakers from the Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Petersburg, Newport News, Hampton and Virginia Beach branches discussed the subject "The College Educated Woman: Her Responsibilities for Family and Community."
 With the Hampton branch members serving as hostesses, the workshop drew more than 21 women who discussed the topic either in groups or separately. Mrs. F. Ray Shields, Jr., president of the Virginia Beach Branch, was one of the workshop chairmen.
 Some of the points discussed were: "The College Woman of the Sixties"; "The College Woman after College—a Homemaker and a Member of the Community"; "Women from Other Countries"; "The Educated Woman as an Individual, As a Professional Career Woman, As a Working Wife and Mother."
 The meeting was presided over by Dr. Jessie L. Brown, president of the Hampton Branch. Mrs. Jerome H. Holland was program chairman.
 At the luncheon Mrs. Robert Thrasher, state president, spoke on "The Educated Woman As An Individual."
Local Woman Spoke
 Mrs. Townsend of Virginia Beach gave an informative talk on "The College Woman in Her Community." She stressed the fact that there should be no prestige jobs; but that a volunteer in her community should concentrate on one or two areas of work and not "spread herself too thin."
 "We should standardize our job, do it well and enjoy it and not be critical nor inadequate just because we're unpaid," she told the group.
 The Virginia Beach Branch will hold its next monthly meeting Nov. 20 at Country Day School at 8 p.m.
 Any college woman interested in joining the group may contact Mrs. Townsend at GA 8-7860 for further information.

Mother Observing 93rd Birthday
 Mrs. Margaret W. Lee, 186 Lake Shore Drive, will celebrate her 93rd birthday, Friday, November 1. She resides with her son, John T. Lee and family.
 Mrs. Lee is very active despite her age, attends Church Services regularly, and just recently returned after having visited her oldest son and family in Youngstown, Ohio.
 Mrs. Lee will have with her on her birthday, her daughter, Mrs. James M. Joyce of Baltimore, Maryland and another son, James C. Lee of Washington, D. C.

Personal Mention
 Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Wood will spend this week-end in Williamsburg where they will attend the William and Mary - V.P.I. football game.
 Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Jeter have returned from Richmond where they were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Carr. While there they attended the wedding of Mr. Jeter's cousin, Miss Ellen Michaux, to Mr. George Cross Jr.

Mrs. Tuzo Honored At Stork Party

The 'Y' of It

Guest Writer: DOUGLAS ARNOLD BARNES
 This column is about the Y W C A of Virginia Beach, but in the past week I have attended three day-long seminars for women in three different cities. One of them, a gathering of 150 women from the Area Workshop of the A.A.U.W. (University Women) had as its overall theme, The Educated Woman: Her Responsibility to Her Family and Her Community. The following topics given by women for women were presented and discussed:
 A. The College Educated Woman in Mid-twentieth Century:
 1. As a College Woman of the 60's.
 2. As a Homemaker.
 3. As a Member of the Community.
 4. As an Individual.
 B. A Panel of Foreign Women.
 C. The College Educated Woman in the Mid Twenties:
 1. As an Economic Producer.
 2. As a Professional Career Woman.
 3. The Working Wife and Mother.
 After listening to 25 different women speakers, and hearing what they did, I came to the conclusion that all women are wholeheartedly curious about the progress of the world today religiously, economically and scientifically. I also learned that we are fighting for equal pay, status and job rights along with men, and that we own a great deal of the world's money, and make its decisions, and seemingly we would like to take over more. As Contrary Marys, we might just get the male population so disgusted that they give up to our dictatorial demands and let us go into combat also.
 But to get back to the subject of the Y W C A of Virginia Beach, I think we are all working toward bettering ourselves and our families. And as one lady said "We may have to peel potatoes, but we don't have to think potatoes." Well that's right along my line of thinking for I always like to think of cabbages as "green roses" (Edna Ferber in So Big).
 The Y W C A girls have truly worked ardently to put their Ladies Day and Night Out Programs over, and while so doing they have not neglected the Hospital Newspaper Drive, the Community Fund Drive, the Antiques Show, the Art Show, Little Theatre, Football Games, Horse shows and Princess Anne Follies rehearsals.
 They managed courses in Art, Art Creation, Sewing Knitting, Stimpastics, Personality, Millinery, Needlework, Cooking, Book Reviews, Nutrition, Landscape Planning, Flower arrangements and Dancing. All this has been made possible because their little ones were being cared for in a well-guarded nursery. And at night the hot meal has been ready when He comes home.
 Well the day of reckoning has come and the Graduation Achievement Days approach. Everyone, instructors, husbands, pupils and guests are invited to these gala luncheons, at which time the eight weeks of training will produce astonishing and rewarding results.
 Here is a schedule of the times places and dates of the Achievement Luncheons. Please, as the young girl on the Airlines Ad in television says, with batting eyelids and wide smile—"We too, fly here at the Y—love to have you!"

ACHIEVEMENT DAY LUNCHEONS
 Even if you aren't a member you may attend the following:
 Achievement Day Coffee—10:00 a.m., Nov. 12 Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Kempsville.
 Achievement Day Luncheon—12:30 p.m., Nov. 6, Bayside Christian Church.
 Achievement Day Luncheon—12:30 p.m., Nov. 14, Virginia Beach Methodist Church.
 No man likes a woman boss; and in the true Y spirit, I will end this column with the following quotation from Proverbs: A virtuous woman is the pride of her husband; her price is far above rubies; her children rise up and call her blessed. We girls of the Y W C A try to be virtuous as well as productive.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mr. and Mrs. William Curtis Miller announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Faye Miller, to Richard Rogers Garrenton.

Garrenton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Garrenton.

Miss Miller is a graduate of Princess Anne High School and is employed by Harrell's Pharmacy.

Garrenton attended Virginia Beach High School. He is employed by Pallette Construction Co.

The wedding will take place Jan. 4, 1964 in Nimmo Methodist Church, Princess Anne.

"Fall Planting" Meeting Theme

MALIBU — The October meeting of the Malibu Garden Club was held recently at the home of Mrs. D. L. Brittingham on Alcott Road in Virginia Beach. Co-Hostess was Mrs. J. R. Driver.

Charles J. Hayes of the Cavalier Nursery was guest speaker and spoke on "Fall Planting". He said that flower beds for spring planting should be prepared in the fall, and that now is the time to put in your winter rye and fertilize the lawn. That lawns should be fertilized three times a year, fall, spring, and early summer. To plant your bulbs now and until Christmas Time.

New members welcomed to the club were Mrs. T. S. Bryant, Mrs. R. E. Chestnut, Mrs. T. B. Semans and Mrs. H. W. Turbeville.

Coffee Crumb Cake a Delight

For breakfast or snack-time, it's good made with margarine.

New margarines made with liquid vegetable oils are providing a boon to diet-conscious homemakers. They're good, and they are poly-unsaturated.

Liquid oils in margarines are important because they retain poly-unsaturation. Hydrogenated oils lose this quality.

Among the vegetable oils used in margarines, safflower oil is by far the highest in poly-unsaturates. It's also light and bland, and helps bring out the natural flavors of other foods.

Saffola margarine is nearly half liquid safflower oil. It rates high in flavor and poly-unsaturates.

COFFEE CRUMB CAKE

(Makes one 8-inch square cake)
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour 1/2 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder 1 egg beaten
1/2 cup granulated sugar 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup finely chopped filberts 1/4 cup Saffola margarine

Sift 2 cups flour, baking powder, 1/2 cup granulated sugar and salt into bowl. Add nuts; mix lightly. Cut in 1/4 cup margarine to consistency of coarse meal. Combine milk and egg; stir into dry ingredients just until mixed. Grease an 8-inch square baking pan with some softened safflower margarine. Dust with flour. Spread batter in bottom of pan. Mix brown sugar and 1/2 cup flour; cut in 1/4 cup margarine. Sprinkle crumb topping over cake batter. Bake in hot oven (400°) 30 minutes, or until cake tests done.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Hallowe'en or Hallowed Evening?

If any celebration can be described as having risen from its pagan origins to an aura of sanctity, only to fall back into devilry and mischief-making, finally to regain a beneficent meaning many years later, that unique festivity must surely be Hallowe'en.

At the dawn of history, wicked spirits and tormenting devils cast their spell on terrified humans on the last day of the tenth month when Saman, the Druidic Lord of Death, assembled the sinful souls. Cemeteries were desecrated, evil deeds committed in the shadows of the harvest moon, and unbridled revelry enabled some among the superstitious populace to overcome their fears.

Allhallow's Evening became the vigil of Hallowmas when Pope Gregory III dedicated a chapel in St. Peter's Basilica to All the Saints, in the eighth century, and designated November 1 as their collective holiday. The feast was extended to all Christians by Gregory IV in 834.

In at least one part of the world, Latin America, October 31 has preserved all its religious significance, giving rise in addition to a melancholy and colorful tradition involving children. On the eve of All Saints' Day, token offerings of small toys and delicate foods are made to "los angelitos," the souls of departed children who are believed to revisit their homes.

Hallowe'en, as we know it, was introduced by the adoption of practices associated with the ancient rites of Ireland and Great Britain, — where some of the original roughhousing is still evident on Guy Fawkes Day, — rather than in its consecrated form.

For much of the rural population of England, Scotland, Wales, and the Orkney and Shetland Islands, the spooky night was one for bonfires, divination, pranks and disguises. Vandalism would be blamed on the roaming spirits, and could be indulged in with more or less impunity. In Ireland, groups of peasants prepared for the night's festivities by collecting the ingredients from door to door — probably the forerunners of children making their rounds chanting, "Trick or Treat!"

This assumption is the more plausible as it was only after the vast Irish immigration of the late 1800's that Hallowe'en became really popular in this county. Mischief and outright destruction plagued village and city dwellers alike, to the point of causing actual concern to public officials. Thus an ancient custom connected with witchcraft had been purged and assimilated by the church only to revert to many of its primitive, meaningless, troublesome implications.

For the first time in 1950, in one small American community, Hallowe'en turned once again into a Hallowed Evening when the pupils of a Sunday school class renounced their "treats" of candy and apples in favor of pennies, nickels, dimes — small coins which they would contribute to the welfare of less fortunate contemporaries in other parts of the world. A donation of $36 was duly acknowledged by the United Nations Children's Fund.

This example was followed by other boys and girls, year after year more numerous and enthusiastic, until the first group's touching venture snowballed into the greatest effort of all times by children to help children. An idea of how many UNICEF Trick or Treaters may be expected to ring doorbells this fall is given by the fact that over $2,000,000 was thus raised for the world's needy children last year on Hallowe'en.

Today not even the youngest child in our midst could be led to believe that on October 31 ghosts rattle their chains and tormented souls moan in the graveyards. Even the Hallowe'en disguises have evolved from the spook to the spaceman. On the other hand, however, modern youngsters do know about some very real evils, namely hunger, poverty, ignorance, fear, disease. They know that of the world's one billion children, 850 million live in areas where malnutrition stunts growth and lowers resistance to illness. They know that such apparently anachronistic scourges as leprosy, yaws, trachoma, malaria and tuberculosis are very real, and constantly threatening, in countries which may have no more than one physician for every twenty or thirty thousand persons.

U. S. adults who supervise or contribute to the UNICEF Trick or Treat program have a more sophisticated knowledge of the same problems. They can visualize the disruptive impact of family life brought about by the mushrooming of industrial cities — and slums — in the developing world. They realize that the rights of the child are completely served by "saving a life" during infancy or early childhood without developing the child's adult potentials, including the potential for satisfactory work. They, and the young Trick or Treaters, are aware of UNICEF's vital aims, and they are proud to participate in UNICEF's work.

Such unanimous feelings were aptly expressed this year by Attorney General Robert Kennedy in the following message to the U. S. Committee for UNICEF:

"The Trick or Treat for UNICEF program for Hallowe'en demonstrates to the young people of the United States that millions of children in other countries are growing up in sickness and need. Our young people learn that the coins they collect as part of their Hallowe'en fun enable UNICEF — the United Nations Children's Fund — to provide food, medicine and services to help build healthier and more constructive lives for their counterparts around the world. "I wish the 1963 UNICEF Hallowe'en program the greatest success."

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I have spent a very large part of my life in the company of kooks. I have not yet figured out how this is so. It could be that I attract them, like some people are accident prone. It could also be, and I suspect this reason is the proper one, that I like kooks. This reason suits me better. I do know one thing. Boy, I can stand a lotta things, but I evermore can't stand stuffy people.

I think that since I am kook-prone, I will enjoy Mr. Yogi Berra being the new manager of the New York Yankees. He is definitely my kind of folks. I hope he is an instant success.

I guess Mr. Berra does not realize that the Kooks-of-The-World are betting on him to redeem our good name. Maybe it is better this way, because if he realizes it, he might tighten up and become un-kooky. I do not mind him not winning the pennant, I just don't want him to tighten up and act like a Yankee.

The Bombers have established themselves as a group of professional men who get on with the job at hand. They play ball like a committee of the United Nations — calm and deliberate. They win, I know; but they sho are dull.

I look forward to the Yankees — under Mr. Berra — having three men on third; having a few brawls at the pitchers mound; having a fly ball hit Mantle in the head (I don't want him killed, only stunned!); and a few other Brooklyn-type things.

I am in favor of the Yankees owning Bowling Alleys, Clothing Stores, Bars, Restaurants, and anything else which will bring in a few odd dollars. After all, everyone I know moonlights, so why not ballplayers.

What I object to is carrying this businesslike attitude to the ball park. Heck, it has gotten so bad that people have forgotten that baseball is a game. Any day now I expect to see the shares in a club for sale on the New York Stock Exchange.

Good luck, Yogi!! I hope you make all us kooks look good. Don't worry about winning — just have a few chuckles. I'll be willing to betcha that if you play it for laughs, that you'll not blow four straight to the Dodgers next year.

LYNNHAVEN—Frederick and Catawba College meet November 9th in the second annual Virginia Beach Bowl at the Princess Anne High School Stadium. This game promises to be one of the most interesting to be played this year in the Tidewater area. Frederick and Catawba are classed as small college powers in athletic circles, but a glance at comparative scores puts them on a better than equal footing with other college teams which have participated here this year.

Comparative scores are somewhat misleading, particularly when traced back through twenty or thirty games, but by going back only six or seven games Frederick emerges as a more suitable opponent for Navy than VMI or than Virginia for N. C. State. Frederick downed Wofford 10-0, Furman edged Wofford 20-19, making Frederick 9 points better than Furman. Furman beat George Washington 29-14, GW beat William and Mary 32-14, W & M downed The Citadel 7-0, Citadel mauled Davidson 28-6, and Davidson tied VMI 10-10. This gives the Frederick Lions a 71 point spread over VMI and 65 points over the hapless UVA Cavaliers.

It is unfortunate that scheduling did not permit a Frederick-UVA battle for this year's game, but Catawba offers an interesting pro type offense that should result in an exciting game. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

The contest is sponsored by the Virginia Beach Jaycees and the Virginia Beach Sports Club. Proceeds go for support of the Virginia Beach Youth Football League. Tickets may be obtained at Coach's Sporting Co-ops, Virginia Beach, Clothes Horse, Portsmouth, and Maury's News Stand in Norfolk.

Raiders in Lead

The previously unbeaten Demons found the going rough when they ran into a band of Raiders, led by Edward McQuilkin. Both squads were keyed to a fever pitch for the battle of unbeaten, and for almost 4 quarters neither team could mount a sustained drive, but with 30 seconds on the clock and the Demons in possession of the ball, they were filling their air with passes in an attempt to score and keep their record intact. With third down and long yardage, Dave Goldschur went back to throw. The Raiders put Chaplin, Moe Walcott, Terry Hines and Steve Townsend took turns romping over the goal as they downed the Panthers 28 to 27 in a wild and woolly offensive battle. Defense was tossed to the winds in this one and extra points were the key to the Charger success. Each team scored 4 touchdowns. Mike O'Brien and George Fulcher were the big guns in the Panther offense and Bucky Lawler led the defense. Cotton Markert led the Chargers on defense.

Hornets Sting Bulldogs

The Hornets, led by the passing of Ken Smith and his favorite target, Mike Triptow, beat the Plaza Bulldogs 13 to 7 and thus moved into the thick of the 8-man battle with the Panthers and Chargers, who also have 3 and 1 records. The Bulldogs, the most vastly improved team in the circuit, got a big game from Johnson and Pete Sachon but were just a shade weaker than the Hornet squad. The 8-man league is now a 3-way affair and the second half will get underway this Saturday.

Joynes Wins in Golf

VIRGINIA BEACH — Head winds on the incoming nine failed to slow Cox Joynes much Monday and he won the Norfolk Sports Club's final golf tournament of the year with a 74.

And as co-chairman of the event with Orion Burkhardt, Cox faced the possibility of having to award a prize to himself.

Babe Pearson shot 75 to be runnerup. Monk Barrett, who prefers to be identified as a possessor of two holes-in-one this year, carded 76.

George Powell and Ray Sparrow tied for fourth with 77s. Low guest was Duff Kiewer with a 78 for the low score among guests. Ryland Motley won the longest drive on the first hole and Bobby Biggs was closest to the pin on the 18th.

Virginia Ready For N. C. State Team

NORFOLK — When North Carolina State meets the University of Virginia Saturday afternoon in the sixth annual Civitan Bowl football game on Foreman Field here, fans should be treated to a closer, more exciting battle than last week's lopsided scores of both teams would indicate.

Virginia, smarting from its 35-0 drubbing by Clemson, has promised some surprises for N. C. State. That this not only is a possibility, but in the realm of probability, can be seen in the two prior games played by the Cavaliers. They pulled a real surprise in their tie with South Carolina and again in beating VMI, while in earlier contests their defensive playing was well ahead of their latest effort.

N. C. State, though a strong team, played at its very best to trounce Duke last Saturday, and certainly got most of the breaks of the game. There also is the possibility of a strong team, having had a big victory over another strong opponent, finding it hard to generate the same drive against what it considers to be an inferior foe.

By all counts, therefore, the N. C. State-Virginia go should be well worth watching. Further interest centers on the game because State's record, placing it in contention for the Conference title, makes this the only game in Tidewater this season with any title bearing.

Although the Civitan Club of Norfolk, sponsor of the event, states that advance ticket sales have gone well, it assures that there are good seats still available to meet immediate demands. Reserved seats are priced at $4.50, and may be obtained by writing or calling the Civitan Bowl Office, 430 West 21st Street, Norfolk; phone MA 7-1400. Game time is 2 p.m., with pre-game ceremonies starting at 1:45. N. C. State is bringing its entire 185 piece marching band, which will play for the ceremonies and at half-time will present a colorful, musical "Salute to Norfolk." Playing on the Virginia side will be the band of the Maury High School in Norfolk, under Nicholas J. Ricardo, band director of the school, with Craig Hackney as student drum major.

The Civitan Bowl game is for the benefit of Camp Civitan and other Civitan charities. These include principally the work which is being done for physically handicapped and mentally retarded children, through the Tidewater Association for Retarded Children which uses the 13-acre camp and its swimming pool for a Summer Day Camp.

CHESAPEAKE BAY BRIDGE TUNNEL

The Virginia Beach Sun-News Will Publish a Souvenir Edition Telling the Story in Words and Pictures of the Longest Bridge Tunnel in the World!

This gigantic engineering project will connect Virginia's Eastern Shore with the great Tidewater area with one terminus of this bridge-tunnel complex located in the great new City of Virginia Beach.

Two tunnels, each more than a mile long, are a part of the great Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. The tunnels will allow ample clearance for the largest ocean vessels. In addition to the two tunnels there will be four man-made islands that will link the tunnels with overwater bridges.

As a tribute to this great project the Virginia Beach Sun-News will publish a special Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel edition early in 1964 prior to the official opening. We know this edition will give an incite as to what can be expected of the impact on the area's economy and future.

Christmas is coming... and soon! Does that thought fill you with dread instead of delight? If the expense contemplated tarnishes your anticipation, turn your thoughts to ways of elevating the added burden crushing your budget. You can earn money. Anyone can, if you really put your mind to it.

Before applying for any job, you should take stock of your own experience, your own talents, and your own interest. For instance, there is no point in looking for any type of job that deals with the public if your temper has a hair trigger! You wouldn't want a position with a large concern either if routine duties bore you. On the other hand, if all work means to you is a paycheck and you are quick to learn, you could try just about anything that has an opening.

All department stores hire extra help during the holiday season, and it is a simple matter to fill out an application. The Virginia Employment Commission has an office on 17th St., and there is no charge for their service in securing you a position. Personnel Consultants is another fine employment agency near Plaza Shopping Center, and they have many openings to offer you. Or you can walk into an office or business that interests you and ask... who knows, you might be just what they are looking for!

If you cannot leave home, or if you do not feel that you have enough training, and that you are too young or too old—again, start with yourself. Everyone has a gift to offer. What may come natural to you would be considered a great talent to another who does not possess your ability.

Handsewn articles find a ready market at Christmastime. Those teenage dolls need complete wardrobes. You can get extra cash from your sewing machine, scraps of material, and your time. Skills in knitting and crocheting can be profitable, too. Can you make a good fruitcake? Real homemade flavor is missing in commercial brands. Gather your ingredients now and start baking. You may be surprised at how many orders you will be asked to fill.

Do you like to tell stories, read aloud, cut out paper dolls, color pictures? If you have lots of patience and really enjoy being around children, you could be the answer to the prayers of many harried mothers who just don't have the time for these wonderful childhood pastimes. Grandmother types are often preferred over teenage girls for babysitting.

And you girls who are tired of babysitting for your spending money can get a change of routine by becoming a "mother's helper". Mother has tried to teach you to be neat at home and she may think you are a hopeless case; yet you can do it and have fun at the same time, in a different house. You might even group together and offer your services for window washing, floor polishing, wall scrubbing, etc. These tasks are difficult to keep up in most households. Such a service would be welcome in many neighborhoods.

Boys, too, can do these things. They can wash cars, and even drive (if licensed) to run errands. Think about what you can do. Anything you can make or a service you can give will find a taker. And if all else fails, remember—it pays to advertise! The Sun-News has a very active Classified section that gets results.

Annual Bazaar At Back Bay Saturday

BACK BAY — The Women's Society of Christian Service will hold its annual Bazaar and supper in the church social hall Saturday starting at 3 p.m. Supper will be served from 5 p.m. and will include a choice of turkey or ham. Price for adults is $1.25 and 75 cents for children.

Helicopter Air Service Year Old

NORFOLK - NEWPORT NEWS — On Sunday, the Go Patrol helicopter traffic safety service in Tidewater celebrated its first birthday. The Atlanticopter, a cooperative service of WTAR Radio and The Atlantic Refining Company, has logged over 52,000 miles during the past year.

The Go Patrol, with pilot Wally Carter at the controls and Mike Schaefer as the radio voice, is well known to the area's population for its periodic reports on traffic conditions during the weekday rush hours of 7-9 A.M. and 4-6 P.M. Many citizens, however, are unaware of the many other duties of the helicopter and its occupants. In addition to traffic reporting, the Go Patrol has performed these services:

Red Cross Appeals To Swimmers

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Virginia Beach Chapter of the American Red Cross has appealed to all interested persons to participate in a basic survival swimming course starting Nov. 4 at the Cavalier pool.

The course is being offered as a means of "drown-proofing" residents of Virginia Beach, according to Mrs. Nancy Batchelder, local chairman of the Red Cross Water Safety program.

"This is a wet area and we all need to learn how to swim and to save our lives and possibly the lives of others in emergencies," Mrs. Batchelder says.

The course will emphasize practical application of strokes and skills rather than perfection of form and no age or preliminary swimming requirements are involved.

The course will be conducted on Monday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. Those interested may call the Virginia Beach Red Cross Chapter (428-1902) or Mrs. Batchelder (428-7918) for further information or registration.

F.O.P. Dance Set For Saturday

PRINCESS ANNE — The Princess Anne F.O.P. Club will hold its regular Saturday night dance Saturday from 9:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Music for dancing will be provided by the Earl Ketchum band.

The club announces that its masquerade ball last week was an overwhelming success with over 176 persons attending.

Door prizes will be offered at this week's affair and breakfast will be available for those who stay late.

spoken on safety to local safety councils, Optomists, Lions and Cosmopolitan Clubs. During the Azalea Festival another helicopter was added to aid traffic and bring reports on events. A special holiday service was added, with the Atlanticopter flying on Saturdays, Independence Day and Labor Day weekends and events such as the Oyster Bowl festival. Schaefer was given an extensive course in first-aid and rescue procedures and special rescue and survival equipment was aboard every time the "copter took to the air. The Go Patrol has aided law enforcement agencies by tracking criminal's autos, photographing from the air scenes of crimes, and joining in a manhunt over Southeastern Virginia woodlands. Several bad fires have been prevented by Carter and Schaefer spotting them before they got out of hand. Over the ocean, the Atlanticopter has aided in sea rescue, searched for (and found) missing persons and boats. Traffic engineers from cities in Tidewater have gone aloft in order to photograph, survey and plan innovations in traffic safety and road construction. Recently newspapers were flown to the nuclear carrier USS Enterprise during its return to homeport Norfolk after seven months of over-seas duty.

In addition to the flight crew of Carter and Schaefer, the Command Center of the WTAR studios is manned by Producer Bernice Melton. Bill Ross is Executive Producer. Other equipment consists of mobile units, which operate in case the helicopter is grounded by bad weather, police broadcast monitors and a telephone hook-up allowing the producer to put live calls on the air.

Jordan New PACC Prexy

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Princess Anne Country Club's annual meeting and election of officers saw the following slate unanimously elected for the forthcoming year:

President, James M. Jordan, Jr.; vice president, Charles H. Slingluff; treasurer, Roy R. Charles; secretary, Nere E. Day, Jr.; directors, William H. Darden, John M. Bratton, W. Cecil Carpenter, S. E. Liles, Jr. and William B. Baldwin.

The election followed the remarks of retiring president William H. Darden, who thanked his many committees for their outstanding efforts. Special thanks were given John Bratton, chairman of the greens committee and his 250 advisors (members) who "so eagerly offered their advice to the operation of the golf course."

Following the meeting, the members enjoyed a buffet dinner, dancing and a presentation of red roses to the Board of Directors.

Wright Joins Princeton Inn

John Wright (left), formerly associated with the Golf Ranch Motel and Cavalier Hotel at Virginia Beach and Golden Triangle in Norfolk, has been named office manager of the Nassau Inn in Princeton, N.J. He is welcomed by Manager William G. Bohm.

Scarecrow Symbolizes Bazaar Theme

Looking forward to the surprise packages "for children only" which will be featured at the Virginia Beach Methodist Bazaar are, left to right, Ronnie Charlton, 9, Doug Haycox, 9, and Jeff Charlton 7. Theme of the bazaar, to be held Wednesday at the church, is "Harvest Time at the Seashore." Featured will be a country store, bake shop, white elephant sale, bargain booth, and a children's booth. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Luncheon will be served from 11:30 to 2 p.m. at a cost of $1.00. (Baldwin photo)

Traffic Death Rate Running Ahead Of '62

RICHMOND, Va. — Colonel C. W. Woodson, Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, reported today that Virginia entered the last and most dangerous quarter of the year with 49 more traffic deaths than were experienced during the last three months of 1962.

As of October 1, 1963, Virginia's score stood at 704 to compare badly with the 675 for the same period of 1962. The 1963 score, he said, would have been far worse had it not been for a drastic drop from 100 deaths occurring last September to 68 this September. As of September 1, deaths were 58 above those of 1962.

Colonel Woodson noted that the average of deaths for the last three months of 1962 stood 24 percent above that for the first nine months and added that such an increase is generally to be expected. Early darkness, increased drinking, football weekends and Christmas shopping traffic were listed as some of the main causes of this seasonal increase.

"However," Colonel Woodson added, "the 299 deaths for October, November and December last year give Virginia a good opportunity for cutting the toll by the year's end," and asked the public not to look upon the reducing of the toll as an arithmetical function but as saving lives.

Noting that the first three quarters of 1963 had seen pedestrian deaths drop from the 140 of the same period of 1962 to 108, Colonel Woodson pointed out that fatal crashes, or those killing more than one person each, were up only to 577 from 571. Here, he explained that bad luck entered the picture, since people die in these who do not contribute to the crashes and cannot prevent them.

The 974 deaths of last year marked the second consecutive year deaths increased and made 1962 Virginia's third highest score in history. The 1110 of 1961 marked the worst with the 999 of 1951 creating the second worst.

Nationally, the 40,600 deaths of 1962 marked the highest score ever recorded. Through August of this year, there were 27,200 deaths, an increase over the 25,900 of 1962.

Sandra McNeil Tri-Hi-Y Head

LYNNHAVEN — Sandra McNeil has been elected president of the Theta Tri-Hi-Y of Princess Anne High School.

Other new officers include Ann Hefflin, vice president; Linda Whitlow, corresponding secretary; Joann Rodes, recording secretary; Kathy Craig, treasurer; Joanne Gibbs, parliamentarian; Karen Parker, chaplain; Mary Bungard and Kathy Bass, co-historians; and Diane Davidson and Kathy Craig, co-chairmen of the float committee.

The group is sponsored by the YWCA and stresses christian development and principles.

The Tri-Hi-Y's homecoming float, using a "Humpy-Dumpy De Hornets" theme, placed third in the school's festivities last week.

Theta Tri-Hi-Y will have as its 1963-64 projects, overseas relief and help to hospital patients. Ann-Kristin Olsen, Princess Anne High School's exchange student from Norway, has joined the Theta Tri-Hi-Y membership.

Ruth Anne Oliver Wins Regional Speech Contest

Ruth Ann Oliver

COLONIAL HEIGHTS, Va. — Ruth Anne Oliver of Virginia Beach won top honors in the regional speech contest sponsored by the Virginia Council of Farmer Cooperatives here recently.

Miss Oliver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Oliver of Witchduck Road, Bayside Borough.

The subject of her speech was "The Place of Cooperatives in Today's Agriculture."

Miss Oliver received a $25 U. S. Savings Bond and will compete in the state finals to be held as a feature of the Council's Third Annual Meeting in Richmond next February.

She was sponsored by the Southern States Norfolk Service. The contest was held in connection with a directors and managers workshop conducted by the VCFP.

2,000 Volunteers For November Drive

VIRGINIA BEACH — Some 2,000 volunteers will take part in the 1963 March For Muscular Dystrophy in Virginia Beach next month, according to Elbert L. Baker, president of the Tidewater Area Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. Virginia Beach Fire Chief E. B. Bayne is city chairman for the door-to-door fund drive, which will be conducted Nov. 15-17.

In all, about 7,000 volunteers are expected to take part in the 1963 March throughout the Tidewater area. Area chairman for the March is Joseph T. Fitzpatrick of Norfolk, an executive of the F. S. Royster Guano Co., Inc.

Muscular dystrophy, a disease whose cause is obscure and for which no effective cure or treatment is yet known, cripples its victims by progressively destroying muscle tissue. More than 200,000 Americans, most of them children, suffer from the mysterious disease. Few of its child victims survive to maturity.

Funds raised by the Tidewater MDA Chapter are used to help scores of MD sufferers in this area through the provision of special services, including a free MD clinic, staffed by medical specialists and physiotherapists, at Norfolk General Hospital.

The chapter also helps support national and international medical research on muscle disease.

Local Leaders Attend Cancer Society Meet

Five volunteers from the Virginia Beach Unit of the American Cancer Society's Virginia Division attended the Annual Meeting of the Division in Richmond this past week.

Attending the meeting were the following: Dr. Howard Kahn, Local president; Mrs. Leo Billey, Mr. W. J. G. Saunders, Mr. William H. Phillips, Mrs. Sam Mason, Mrs. Wyndam Brown, executive secretary of the Virginia Beach Unit.

New officers of the Division elected at the meeting were Dr. Robert J. Faulconer of Norfolk, president; Mrs. Forrest E. Mars of Fauquier County, first vice-president; John D. Buck of Radford, second vice-president; and Mrs. Haines A. Miller of Williamsburg, secretary. Roderick D. Moore of Richmond was re-elected treasurer of the Division.

During the morning session a brief program was presented entitled "Twenty-five Years of Fighting Cancer With Knowledge." Brief glimpses of the cancer control movement in Virginia during the past twenty-five years were presented by Dr. P. Phillips of Richmond and Ed. A. P. Jones of Roanoke, former Division presidents, and Mrs. O. F. Northington, Jr. of Fredericksburg, who has had twenty-five years continuous service with the cancer organization in Virginia.

Rutherford L. Ellis of Atlanta, Georgia, former Chairman of the Board of Directors, American Cancer Society, concluded the Annual Meeting with a talk given at the luncheon session. His topic was "A Layman Looks At Cancer Control."

Mr. William Phillips of the Virginia Beach Unit was elected to the Board of the Virginia Division as a District Director representing the 1st District for the next two years. Mr. Phillips is a past president of the Local Unit and was last years Crusade Chairman.

Polio Shots Take Little Time To Give

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two drops of vaccine on a sugar cube and five minutes of your time... That's all it will take to immunize you against polio on November 10, Sabin Oral Sunday.

The vaccine will be administered at 100 schools in the cities of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake and Virginia Beach.

"From the time you park your car, go into the school and get your dose, until you come out will take only five minutes," said a spokesman for the three medical societies which are sponsoring the mass immunization program.

If you've already filled out one of the immunization program registration forms the trip will take even less time.

Physicians in the four cities expect half a million people to pass their "feeding" tables. About 6,000 volunteer workers — doctors, nurses, pharmacists, Boy Scouts, Parent-Teacher Association members, and bank tellers — will man the "feeding" stations.

To participate in the program, residents need only register, pick up a sugar cube with the vaccine on it and eat it and leave by the nearest exit.

A special table will be set up for feeding infants. Those who have already registered before visiting the schools need only pick up their sugar cubes.

A second "feeding" for complete effectiveness is scheduled at the same locations for January 12.

U-K Holding Homecoming Parade Today

KEMPSVILLE — Union-Kempville High School will launch its annual homecoming festivities today at 4:30 p.m. with a parade originating at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center.

The parade will proceed south on Pacific Avenue to 17th Street, west on 17th to Washington Avenue, from Washington to 22nd Street extended, then up 22nd to Cypress Avenue and 19th Street where the parade will end.

The second phase of the homecoming activities will come at 8 p.m. when the Union-Kempville Tigers will meet the Booker T. Washington High School grid team from Suffolk at the school's athletic field in Kempville.

A dance at the gymnasium immediately following the game will round out the evening's festivities.

Halloween Carnival Tonight

Making plans for the Halloween Carnival to be held tonight at King's Grant School are, left to right, Mrs. G. E. Hughes, Jr., Mrs. O. R. Gilliken and Mrs. Elvin Sholar. The carnival which will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. will feature game booths, refreshments, pony rides and a country store. Prizes will be given for the best costumes. Proceeds will be used to purchase new record players for the class rooms and an overhead projector for school use.

NOTES FROM YOUR AGRICULTURAL AGENT

MECHANICAL BUNK FEEDERS
Electrically operated mechanical bunk feeders are taking most of the hard labor out of feeding silage these days.

Many farmers have installed bunk feeders that mechanically deliver the silage from the base of the silo to the animals. Such feeders can often be installed in existing feed bunks.

It's desirable for bunks to be made so cattle can eat from both sides. Feed bunks may be made of poured-in-place concrete or of pressure-treated wood, pre-cast masonry blocks. Wooden bunks have been used extensively in Virginia.

Several types of mechanical bunk feeders are on the market. The auger type is probably the most popular. Two versions of auger feeders are available. One uses an auger that operates in an open-bottomed trough or channel that's set above the floor of the bunk. Feeding rate is regulated by the space between the auger and the floor.

The other type has an auger that turns in a tube. Openings in the tube allow silage to drop into the bunk. Openings are designed so silage is deposited along the entire length of the feeder.

Winter weather has little effect on the operation of auger feeders. Other types may freeze up in bad weather unless they are protected.

Mechanical feeders are usually installed in straight bunks. Models are available, however, for delivering silage to a circular bunk around the base of the silo. Another make conveys silage to a semi-circular bunk located some distance from the silo.

Deflectors may be installed between the auger and the bunk so different rations can be fed on each side. In this case the bunk serves as a feed-lot divider. Equipment is also available to blend concentrate with the silage as the feeder operates. The auger mixes the feed as it's conveyed to the animals.

Two lines of bunk should be installed for each animal to be fed. However, if they eat from both sides, only one foot of bunk length per animal is needed.

Mechanical bunk feeders will cost from $10 to $15 per foot of length to install. An auger feeder needs about one horsepower for each 20 or 30 feet of bunk.

Farmers should consider fixed and operating costs both before converting to mechanical silage feeding. It's true that operating costs are low, but fixed costs may be high if the farmer feeds only small amounts of silage per year.

Free Weather Service By C&P Begins Dec. 1

L. Floyd Patrick, local manager of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia, has announced that beginning December 1 telephone customers in the Norfolk, Portsmouth, Chesapeake and Virginia Beach exchanges will be provided free weather service through C&P facilities.

The weather service provided by C&P is free to customers who will dial 999-1212 on and after December 1. This is another added service provided by the telephone company.

According to manager Patrick the special equipment required in providing weather service to customers in most of the Tidewater exchanges is being installed now.

The C&P will obtain its weather information from the Norfolk weather bureau. Periodically during the 24-hour day, a C&P employee will record pertinent weather data on a specially designed answering device that will provide the information to the caller.

Patrick said that C&P is spending more than $137,000 to provide this new weather service to its customers.

ARITHMETIC CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE
Arithmetic — if you'll apply what you learn — can save you from a corn picker accident this fall.

Two facts make it dangerous to try to clean stalks out of a picker while it is running. First, it takes you nearly half a second to let go of a stalk after you see it going through snapping rolls.

And when you multiply that time by the speed of the rolls — they'll pull in seven feet of stalks per second — you have a situation that can spell injury or death. Even if you grab the stalk at the end you're still taking a big chance.

The solution? Shut the picker off! If it clogs so often that this is not practical, better find out whether or not the machine is to blame.

BLIND ENTRANCES CAN CAUSE TROUBLE

Blind entrances at driveways can result in serious accidents. If plant material is the culprit, lose no time pruning it back.

When plants block the view of the highway, you have a dangerous situation. You or your family could be the victims. So prune plants to insure a good view entering and leaving the driveway.

WINTER VITAMIN DEFICIENCIES OF CATTLE

Pity the poor cow! She can't go to the nearest drug store for her vitamins as you can — though she needs them just as much.

The picture is not all black, however. Among the most important vitamins are A and D. They are supplied by sunshine, green grass and hay, and yellow corn. Of course, in the winter sunshine does not supply as much vitamin D as at other times of year. Also, when weather is cold, cattle stay inside more.

Except in years when the weather has been extremely dry (and this has been the case in Virginia Beach this year!) most cattle go into the winter with a reserve of vitamin A in their bodies.

Hay that was cured slowly in the sun and became bleached has lost much of its vitamin A. And if animals are fed white corn, they won't get much vitamin A. Even yellow corn stored more than a year will be short of vitamin A. Deficiencies of this vitamin may be especially serious in young cattle.

Signs of vitamin A deficiency include a nasal discharge, watering eyes, a cough, and a reduction in gain. The animal may also be an easy victim of some chronic infections such as colds. Some of these changes are also signs of other diseases so it is important to get a veterinarian's diagnosis when vitamin deficiencies are suspected.

The most common sign of vitamin D deficiency is rickets. Indications of rickets are deformed bones — the result of an imbalance in the use of calcium and phosphorus in building bones. First signs of the condition may be a swelling at the joints and a stiffness.

Farmers should be on guard against vitamin deficiencies in their herds this winter.

MINERALS FOR MEAT ANIMALS

When your animals become lame, give birth to dead or weak offspring, or show some other notable signs of illness, you become immediately worried.

Less likely to attract your attention, but often just as disastrous to your pocketbook, are other signs of mineral deficiency.

Livestock producers should keep a watchful eye on proper nutrition. Mineral deficiencies can play havoc with your profits. However, don't use complex mineral mixes unless they are needed. Call your veterinarian when you suspect deficiencies.

A complete run-down on what minerals your animals need, when and where deficiencies are likely to occur, and other information, is available in a newly revised bulletin, "Minerals for Meat Animals." Call my office for a copy of this bulletin.

SHORT COURSE

Pest control operators will gather on the VPI campus November 6-8 to be issued new ammunition in their battle against the bugs.

New developments will be discussed by faculty members of the entomology department and off-campus authorities.

Robert and Bird control will be the topic of F. Nelson Swink, Jr. of the Branch Predator and Rodent Control office at Harrisonburg. Wednesday afternoon will feature a panel discussion on termite control. Participants will be Vernon E. Thomas of the Beadler Termite Control Co., Washington, D.C.; Charles C. Barnes, Terminix Co., Inc. Norfolk; and R. J. Kowal, Division of Forest Insect Research, Asheville, N.C.

C. L. Baker of the Fennak Chemical Corporation, Philadelphia, Pa., will speak on aquatic weed control. A. H. Kates, VPI weed control specialist, will discuss weed control in lawns, and Dr. J. O. Rowell and John M. Amos, VPI entomologists, will speak on insect and mole control in lawns.

On Thursday, Dr. R. G. Henderson, of VPI, will discuss identification and prevention of structural wood decay. Arnold Mallis of the Gulf Oil Research Laboratory, Pittsburgh, Pa., will discuss miscellaneous household pests.

Dr. J. M. Grayson, head of the VPI entomology department, will wind up the short course Friday morning with a progress report on VPI insect resistance studies.

we took this big V8 and put it in the '64 Chevy II...

Chevy II Nova 4-Door Station Wagon. Luggage carrier rack shown, optional at extra cost.

WOW!

A pretty potent mixture.

The car's the same size. Just as trim and easy to handle as ever.

But now you can have a full-grown V8 in it. A Turbo-Fire 233* that turns out 195 hp.

It's the kind of machine that doesn't take much coaxing to set in motion. (Especially when you consider it has over 60% more power than the Chevy II that won North America's toughest rally last spring—the Shell "4,000.")

And we've also added a choice of a 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission* with a floor-mounted shift.

But in case your tastes run somewhat milder, we should point out you have a pick of three other engines as well. The standard 4 (on 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6*.

And, of course, whatever one you decide on, you're getting a car with the pure and simple integrity of a Chevy II. (Upkeep has been even further reduced this year by such refinements as larger self-adjusting brakes.)

It's a simple matter to spot one of these '64's by styling touches like the new grille design and trim accents. But we'd like to suggest a more memorable way. Drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

Navy Accepting Men For OCP

NORFOLK — Applications are being accepted at the Naval Reserve Training Center, Norfolk, and the Navy and Marine Corps Training Center, Portsmouth, for the 1964 Reserve Officer Candidate Program.

College freshmen, sophomores and juniors are particularly desired for this program, according to Commander Harvey Greenberg, commanding officer of the centers.

Successful ROC candidates will take part in two eight-week summer cruises. They will be commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve upon receiving their college degrees.

Prospective ROC applicants may visit the training centers for further details. The telephone numbers are KI 5-7941 and EX 9-7431.

Beach Student Is Among Select

— Robert J. Morgan of 110 70th St., Virginia Beach, is among twelve Niagara students who have been accepted for membership in the school's Basilian Literary Association.

Those chosen were selected on the basis of application and personal interview by an acceptance board of the society and its moderator, the Rev. Daniel J. Sullivan, C. M., chairman of the school's English department.

Membership in the organization is limited to 25 students. Its purpose is to instill a deeper appreciation of literature through reports, discussions, speakers, readings, recordings and field trips.

TRADITIONAL ELECTION DAY CAKE

Election Day Cake has been served on voting day for more than a century. Traditionally it's raised with yeast, and filled with plump raisins and crunchy nuts. The recipe below for this old-time dessert modernizes the preparation but retains the character of the dessert our great-grandmothers made. Serve slices of Election Day Cake with mixed canned fruits heated in their juice, as a snack to be enjoyed while listening to the returns come in.

ELECTION DAY CAKE

- | | |
|--|-----------------------|
| 1½ cups warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast) | 2 eggs |
| 2 teaspoons sugar | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed | 1½ teaspoons cinnamon |
| 4½ cups sifted enriched flour | ¼ teaspoon cloves |
| ¾ cup margarine or butter | ¼ teaspoon mace |
| 1 cup sugar | ½ teaspoon nutmeg |
| | 1½ cup raisins |
| | ½ cup chopped citron |

Measure water into a mixing bowl (warm, not hot; water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed). Add and stir in 2 teaspoons sugar. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add 1½ cups of the flour and beat well. Cover with a cloth and let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until very bubbly, about 30 minutes. Cream margarine or butter with 1 cup sugar. Add and beat in eggs. Combine with bubbly yeast mixture. Sift together salt, spices and remaining 3 cups flour, and add to yeast mixture. Beat until smooth. Use mixer or beat by hand. Add and stir in fruit and nuts. Turn into 2 well-greased loaf pans, 9 x 3 x 3-inches. Cover with a cloth. Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Bake at 350° F. 60 to 70 minutes. Cool in pans 5 minutes. Turn out on cake rack. Cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting if desired. Makes 2 loaves.

THE FISH
IN ONE of McGuffey's readers there is a lesson about a boy who went fishing with his uncle who placed him at a good spot. Soon the boy felt a great pull on his line and yanked up a fine pickerel that wriggled in the sun. Before bringing him to shore, he called to his uncle to see what he had caught. "Not yet," his uncle said, just as a pickerel who had somehow slipped from the hook shot into deep water.

JUST A THOUGHT:
The hardest thing in the world for some men to do is to put forth a real effort when he has already convinced himself that he is taking on a job that just can't be done.

Afterward the boy often thought of his lost prize and fell to musing about the fish he didn't catch. A few days ago, I read in our local daily paper about something that a fisherman had failed to catch. And it has seemed to me that I have read more about the big fish that got away than about the big ones that have been caught.

So I write to deny that this is true for though I am not a fancy fisherman I have caught some good ones in my time. There was the day when I filled all the bottom of my pirogue with big goggle-eye perch which I pulled from a dark still spot where three drifted logs had formed a triangle, and the fisherman that I reeled in a four and a half pound black bass which I had snagged with a Shannon bucket and twin spinner. In these and other instances I could relate, I am convinced that while there are as good fish in the sea as have been caught out there, there have been caught as good fish as are still in the sea.

Your Social Security

Lifetime protection — that's what social security provides for you and your family. It provides benefits not only for your retirement in old age, but also payments for you and your family if you become disabled and payments for your family if you should die.

Changes in the law over the years now make it easier to qualify for these benefits. The length of time an employee or self-employed person must work in order to qualify for benefits was reduced. To qualify for benefits, the worker must have credit for one calendar quarter of work under social security for each year after 1950 up to the year he becomes age 65 or dies. For a woman, the time is figured up to the year in which she becomes age 62 or dies. For example, a man who becomes age 65 during 1963, meets the time requirements for being insured if he has credit for 12 quarters or 3 years of work. Similarly, a woman who is 62 in 1963 needs credit for the same amount of time to be insured.

Pamphlets explaining the protection against the risks of death, disability and retirement are available free of charge at the Social Security District Office, 220 W. Brambleton Ave., Norfolk, Virginia.

AMAZED
I tell a few war stories — just like the rest. The censorship of good taste and modesty makes my experiences pretty drab, but Jerry thrills to them. He's proud of his Dad's Purple Heart!
My son would be amazed if I were to tell him the stories we never tell; our thoughts as we hit the beach... what it was like in those jungles... what war does to its dead... and its living.
And in other ways Jerry would be amazed; for he doesn't know me as a man who prays often. He can't realize the depth of my Faith. He has never met the brave chaplain who brought me in when I was hit. I'll never tell Jerry all of it. I don't think God wants me to!
I pray that Jerry's may be a different world. I want him to learn day by day, step by step, what his religion will mean to him!
That's why we're a church-going family!

Golf on Ice

Contrary to popular belief, the "royal and ancient game" of golf (or kolf) began not in Scotland as a diversion for shepherds, but in the lowlands of northern Europe. This detail from Dutch artist Aert Van der Neer's larger panel painting of "Winter Sports on a Frozen Canal" shows that Dutchmen playing a cold weather version of the game in the 17th century. Even though such detailed Van der Neer paintings of everyday scenes were invariably popular, they provided insufficient income for the artist who was forced at one point in his career to operate a wine shop. Signed with Van der Neer's monogram, and bearing the date 1645, the painting is a recent acquisition of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond.

Garden Club Gives Awards

BAYSIDE — The Lake Shores Garden Club met Monday night, October 28, at the home of Mrs. M. O. Peoples, Lake Shores Road with Mrs. L. F. Willett and Mrs. D. H. Boyd as co-hostesses.

Guest speaker was Mrs. A. H. Culpepper who did oral judging of flower arrangements. She awarded ribbons for arrangements to: Mrs. D. L. LaGana, Mrs. R. D. Dunaja, Mrs. J. W. Parrott, Mrs. D. H. Boyd, Mrs. D. C. McWaters, Mrs. H. T. Marshall, Mrs. J. B. Wright, and Mrs. R. L. Cannon.

Ribbons for horticulture were awarded to: Mrs. M. D. Adams, Mrs. C. M. Bugle, Mrs. R. L. Cannon, Mrs. G. A. Dowling, Mrs. R. C. Dunaja, Mrs. F. A. Epps, Mrs. G. F. Heuser, Mrs. D. C. McWaters, Mrs. H. T. Marshall, Mrs. M. O. Peoples, Mrs. N. Y. Rowe, Mrs. G. Sappario, Mrs. M. R. Sumner, and Mrs. J. W. Parrott.

Ocean Park Club Aiding Eastern State

BAYSIDE — The Home Life Department of the Ocean Park Woman's Club met Wednesday, October 23, at the home of the Department chairman, Mrs. C. J. Hiller at Ocean Park.

The Department wrapped over 200 packages as a start of their program of working for and with the patients of Eastern State Hospital. Among the items wrapped was a large number of slipper socks, which either men or women could wear, made by Mrs. Hiller. Toilet kits were also made and fitted out for the patients. Hard candy was also included in the packages. The ordinary boxes which were collected by the members were attractively decorated into Christmas boxes by Mrs. Hiller.

The Department made plans at their meeting for their annual bake sale which is held at the December club meeting. Different members who are noted for their own particular "goodies" have promised to make them for the sale this year.

Committees were selected to decorate the tables during the balance of the club year. Mrs. John Bowman and Mrs. W. E. Anderson will serve on the decorating committee for November.

Texan Visits Bayside Home

BAYSIDE — Mrs. W. Robert Browne, of Garland, Texas was the recent house guest of Mrs. Cam Farmer at her home 2117 Blackbeard Rd. Bayhake Pines. Mrs. Browne, has long been active in club work, serving as the 1963 Chairman of the Committee on Administration of the Garland Branch of the Y.W.C.A. working as a volunteer with the Mental Health, Auxiliary of Garland Memorial Hospital and a chairman for Women and Retired People. She attended the fall District meeting of the Tidewater District of Women's Clubs which was held recently in Williamsburg.

Following the meeting at the Williamsburg Inn she expressed a desire to see the "Simple home." Which she did see, from the outside, as it was occupied as a residence. Mrs. Browne told the Ocean Park Woman's Club members, who she accompanied, that on leaving Mrs. Farmer's she would visit friends in Alexandria whose house was a replica of the "Simple home."

While she was here Mrs. Farmer went over her plans for forthcoming "Kellam Park" which is expected to be opened in spring of 1964. She was asked her opinion on recreation for senior citizens and very wisely said it was not a good idea to shove them off in a corner. Put their activities where they could see what was going on.

Pilgrim Group Aids UNICEF

BAYSIDE — Twenty-four members of the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Bayside Christian Church went collecting last Sunday night for UNICEF. When they returned to the church they had collected a total of $62.00.

During their collection period their counselor, Mrs. D. B. Smith, Jr. and Miss Barbara Messick and Miss Barbara Smith had prepared a Halloween party for them.

Delegates from the Bayside Christian Church will attend the one hundred and forty-third annual session of the Eastern Virginia Conference which will be held at the Eure Christian Church, Eure, N.C. Thursday, October 31.

Delegates will also attend the annual meeting of the Christian Missionary Association which will be held Thursday night, October 31, at 7:00 P.M. at the Suffolk Christian Church.

World Community Day will be observed Friday, November 1, beginning at 10:00 A.M. at the Lynnhaven Colony Christian Church.

OIL BURNERS ADJUSTED

Comprehensive burner service contract covers annual check-up and adjustment plus other cost-saving services

OUR COMPREHENSIVE BURNER SERVICE CONTRACT helps guard you against heating worries. And it can lower heating costs these three important ways:

1. By making sure your burner is cleaned and adjusted for peak efficiency—to help give you maximum heat from every gallon of fuel.
2. By catching little troubles before they can become big ones. A small adjustment or repair in your heating system now may save you many dollars later on.
3. By insuring you against unexpected repair bills — by helping to protect you against heat interruption.

For complete details about our burner service contracts—and about our many other services—call us today at the number below.
